UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
JAN 20 1943

The Weather
Today—Moderate temperature; gentle to moderate winds. Yesterday — High, 35; low, 31. Details on Page B-11.
Fuel oil consumption 15 per cent of allotment to date for period ending February 2.

The Washington Post

Noon 3:30 P. M.
Sunday Post Want Ads are now taken until 3:30 P. M. Saturday. NAtional 4200.

NO. 24,313 | Entered as Second Class Matter, Postoffice, Washington, D. C. | Copyright, 1943, By The Washington Post. | WASHINGTON: SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1943 | X* | DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA AND SUBURBAN AREA THREE CENTS ELSEWHERE FIVE CENTS

Early Action On Ruml Tax Proposal Due in House

Roosevelt Gives Qualified Approval To Pay-as-You-Go Collection Plan

Would End Trade Pacts

END OF RECIPROCAL trade agreements sought in House legislation. Page 1.

DAVIS GIVEN foreign relations post in harmonious G. O. P. Senate caucus. Page 3.

REPUBLICANS in House criticize President's Thursday message. Page 3.

FARM GROUPS call for higher farm prices and longer industrial work week. Page 3.

SOCIAL SECURITY data to be sent to Congress by President. Page 5.

WILLIAMS DEFENDS NYA activities at Economy Committee hearing. Page 3.

Difficulties Admitted

One of the first jobs of the House Ways and Means Committee in the new Congress will be to study the Ruml plan of collecting taxes out of current incomes, Representative Doughton (Democrat) of North Carolina, committee chairman, said yesterday.

Talking to reporters after President Roosevelt, at the White House press conference earlier in the day, gave qualified indorsement to pay-as-you-earn income tax collection, Doughton said:

"The sooner we can get at it (the Ruml plan) the better it will be for the Government, the Treasury and the taxpaye .."

Sentiment Appears Overwhelming

The statements by the President and Doughton highlighted signs of overwhelming sentiment for enactment of the principle into law, although differences of viewpoint exist over details.

Mr. Roosevelt and Chairman Doughton joined in opposing one of the features of the tax plan of Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. The plan would forgive taxpayers taxes due on their 1942 income and would apply rates against 1943 earnings. Under the present system taxes which fall due on March 15 are based on 1942 earnings.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that practically everyone was in favor of pay-as-you-go taxes, but a serious objection, he added, is that the Treasury would lose millions if 1942 taxes were forgiven.

Favors Early Consideration

"I was very glad that the President said he was in favor of pay-as-you-go taxation, but I was also glad that he said he was not in favor of skipping a whole year's taxes," Doughton stated.

"I think that pay-as-you-go taxation will be one of the first things we (the Ways and Means Committee) take up. I think we ought to take it up at an early date."

The real problem in all pay-as-you-go plans and their modifications, he told a press conference, is whether the Government will forgive a part or all of current taxes due.

If this is done, he said, the poor old Treasury would be out of pocket that much.

There was a lengthy discussion on whether the Treasury would be out immediately, or whether its loss would be spread over a period

See TAX, Page 3, Column 3.

U. S. Bulldozer Stops Shell-Dump Fire in No. Africa

By the Associated Press

An Advanced U. S. Air Base in North Africa, Jan. 6 (Delayed).—Seasoned American fighter pilots who usually use every opportunity to disparage ground troops dropped their guards the other day and conceded that First Lieut. Robert Parker of the Engineers has "got everything it takes."

The gasoline and ammunition dump at this makeshift fighter airdrome nestling among the hills not far from the Tunisian battlefield was blazing fiercely after a German raid. Shells were just beginning to explode one by one and ground batteries were preparing to fire a 37-mm. gun at the fire in desperate effort to cause an explosion to extinguish the flames.

It was then that Parker intervened.

The youthful engineer, who spent the past six years at March Field, Calif., calmly started a big bulldozer used for leveling the runways. He lowered the blade into the dirt and charged straight at the blazing dump which was beginning to resemble a July Fourth fireworks display.

The daring gamble worked.

The fire was smothered as the earth was pushed ahead, and the bulldozer rolled over the dump.

Parker escaped injury.

Diplomatic Surprise

Flynn Says He's Been Named Ambassador—Australia-Bound

By James M. Minifie
New York Herald Tribune

Announcement by Edward J. Flynn, retiring chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that he had been chosen as President Roosevelt's "Ambassador and personal representative" and as Minister to Australia was received with surprise in American and British circles here yesterday.

Flynn, at a press conference in New York, had issued a statement saying:

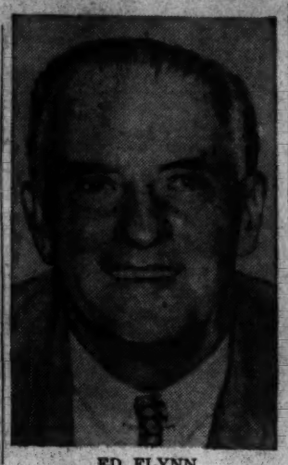
"The President has, today, appointed me his ambassador and personal representative, and will send to the Senate on Monday my nomination as Minister Plenipotentiary to Australia.

"I have called a meeting of the Democratic National Committee for Monday, January 18, 1943, at 10:30 a. m. at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

"At that meeting I will resign as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

"I have also called a meeting of the executive committee of the Democratic County Committee of Bronx County for tomorrow, Saturday, at 11 a. m., at which time I will resign as chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic County Committee of Bronx County."

Flynn said he understood President Roosevelt would give out the text of the letter in Washington yesterday, in which he said it would be explained that "I have more or less a roving commission in the South Pacific as the President's personal representative and ambassador."



ED FLYNN

The White House was obviously a little put out at being beaten to See FLYNN, Page 7, Column 6.

Pleasure-Bent N. Y. Motorists Lose Gas Books

Thousands of Licenses Noted in Campaign to Enforce Edict of OPA

D. C. Traffic Thin

UNDER OPA's BAN on pleasure driving, Washingtonians carried on with traffic at a minimum. Story on page B-1.

Crackdown Impends

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 8.—Gasoline ration books were seized and thousands of license numbers jotted down for possible investigation as the Government sought rigid enforcement today of its ban on pleasure motoring in 17 Atlantic Seaboard States.

Nine ration books were taken up by Office of Price Administration agents here, and police announced that 46,237 license numbers had been listed.

Russell H. Potter, acting OPA district manager, said that owners of an additional 50 automobiles would be called in to explain why their cars were parked last night in the midtown Manhattan theatrical and night club district.

Many Lose Ration Books

Potter said ration books were seized from:

A man whose car was parked outside a restaurant in which he was dining with two companions.

A chauffeur waiting for his woman employer, who was attending a concert in Carnegie Hall.

A youth who said he was a student at a military school in Virginia and had stopped to visit friends.

A patron of a night club who had left his car parked outside.

A man who said he had stopped in a restaurant to visit his sales manager.

A man who said he was entertaining a member of the armed forces.

Meantime, streets were given over largely to taxicabs, buses, delivery trucks and other commercial vehicles.

Deputy Motor Vehicles Commissioner I. James Brody said that 50 motorists had requested refunds for 1943 licenses in New York. Since December 18, he said, 23,500 applications for licenses were filed, compared with nearly 126,000 for the same period last year.

Elsewhere, OPA agents were busy enforcing the ban from Maine to Florida. Forty-three gasoline ration books were seized in Binghamton, Johnson City and Endicott N. Y.

Motorists attending a philharmonic concert in Rochester, N. Y.,

See TAGS, Page 4, Column 3.

Dealers Told To Cease All Oil Favoritism

Violators Subject To Severe Penalties, Henderson Warns

New Price Margins

NEW RETAIL and wholesale price margins on nine food commodities are fixed by OPA. Page 4.

USE OF PAPER for manufactured products and in packaging curtailed again. Page 4.

Discrimination Out

Washington fuel oil dealers and primary suppliers were told yesterday by Price Administrator Leon Henderson that they must cease at once any discriminatory practices they have used in supplying fuel oil to favored customers.

Henderson warned of "severe penalties" if any dealers or primary suppliers were found ignoring this order.

The order was in the form of an amendment to the fuel rationing regulations and was aimed at stopping dealers from discriminating between customers in oil deliveries. The only exception made was where a local emergency developed which could be covered by the priority list recently established by the Petroleum Administrator for War.

The order applying to the primary suppliers stated that: "If a dealer is out of oil and his usual supplier cannot deliver, he is entitled to delivery from any other supplier who has oil in stock."

Concentration of Supplies

Henderson cited the concentration of available fuel oil supplies in the hands of a few dealers and secondary suppliers who have been selling only to certain selected purchasers. He stated that this situation has greatly aggravated the general fuel oil problem.

"This has given rise to such intolerable situations as homeowners,

See OIL, Page 4, Column 6.

Excuse It, Please! Army Bombs Town in Kansas

Reading, Kans., Jan. 8 (AP).—Residents of Reading, tiny town in east-central Kansas, know the actualities of war. They were bombed—by mistake.

On a night practice recently, bombers from the Topeka air base mistook lights of the town for lights of the bombing range. Several bombs fell in or near the town. No property damage was reported, other than craters left by the explosions.

In Justice to Workers

President Explains How Speech Omitted Shipbuilding Record

The difficulties, disappointments and occasional omissions encountered in the writing of Presidential messages were portrayed to newspapermen yesterday by no less an experienced authority than President Roosevelt himself.

Even with the assistance of such an expert as Robert E. Sherwood, author and playwright, it appears, composition of a report to Congress on the State of the Union is an arduous task, including vast deletions of matter that well might be said and calling for strict attention to niceties of sentence structure.

The President called for the assistance of reporters at his press conference, in revealing that in reporting the country's war production accomplishments there had been omitted from his message on Thursday a reference to merchant ship construction during the past year.

He explained that in writing such a message he always overwrites. For Thursday's document he wrote 9000 words, and ended with 4000 to 5000.

Holding up what he said was a page from the eighth draft of the message, he called reporters' attention to a slanting line intended to delete all material in several paragraphs with the exception of the

See BLACK, Page 4, Column 5.

Bill Offered To Terminate Trade Pacts

Knutson Fires First Gun in Republican Attack on President's Reciprocal Program

By the Associated Press

Legislation to terminate all reciprocal trade agreements made with foreign nations by President Roosevelt was introduced yesterday by Representative Knutson (Republican) of Minnesota and referred to the Ways and Means Committee of which he is a member.

Choice of the six new Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee demonstrated anew yesterday the Administration's concern over the future of its reciprocal trade program in the hands of a closely divided Congress.

President Roosevelt's power to write the agreements now in effect with 25 countries will expire in June and the controversy over renewal of the authority is expected to begin in hearings on the measure before the Ways and Means Committee.

That generally was believed to have influenced Administration leaders in their choices for the vacancies—Forand (R. I.), Gregory (Ky.), Maloney (La.), Camp (Ga.), Masielewski (Wis.) and Lynch (N. Y.), all strong supporters of the President in the past.

While declining to commit themselves definitely as in favor of renewal of the agreements, several of the new members declared that they were in favor of the "principle" of reciprocity i trade.

Forand said the "present program is working very satisfactorily." Maloney declared that he had supported it previously, and expressed belief it had proved "fairly successful." Forand said he realized that there "is a lot to be done to bring nations together."

An added indication of the Democratic leadership's determination to provide a favorable reception for the renewal-of-authority measure came in a compromise agreement with the minority on the ratio of Democrats and Republicans on House committees.

While granting the Republicans increased membership on nearly every other committee, the Democrats refused flatly to change the 3-to-2 ratio on Ways and Means, and its membership will stand at 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

Gas Bootlegger Jailed for Year And Fined $2000

Justice James M. Proctor denounced the "black market" in gasoline yesterday, as he sentenced a confessed gas bootlegger to a year in prison.

Alvin Milton, who ran a filling station at 22 Florida Avenue Northwest, pleaded guilty to four violations of the rationing regulations. Besides the jail term, he and the filling station company were fined $2000 jointly.

"The sentence in this case should be taken as a warning," Justice Proctor said.

Reds 60 Miles From Rostov; Japs Lose Another Troopship, 20 Planes But Reinforce Lae

Operations Cost Foe Complete Toll Of Three Transports And 38 Planes

Bombed at Both Ends

AMERICAN bombers raid Jap bases at Kiska in the Aleutians and Munda in the Solomons. Page 2.

New Guinea Battle

By the Associated Press

Allied Headquarters in Australia (Saturday), Jan. 9.—Another transport and 20 Zeros have been destroyed in attacks on the New Guinea-bound Jap convoy but some troops may have reached Lae, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The destroyer transport raised to three and the downed Zeros to 38 the price paid by the Japs for the reinforcement effort.

"Our air force of all categories continued its ceaseless attacks both by day and night on the enemy convoy during the seventh and eighth, pursuing it into the harbor of Lae," said the noon communique.

"In addition to yesterday's transport losses, our heavy bombers scored two direct hits on the stern of a transport and our medium bombers sank a transport.

Landing Area Strafed

"In the meantime our fighters and attack types strafed the landing area, barges and beachhead, causing numerous fires, explosions and heavy personnel losses. Two medium bombers and two fighters were destroyed on the (Lae) airdrome. Throughout the operations, our fighters incessantly engaged the enemy's air forces.

"In addition to his losses of yesterday, 20 enemy fighters were shot down, seven probably destroyed and 15 damaged in air combat with our bombers and fighters. Our losses were not heavy. Such troop elements as were landedby the enemy were believed to have been fragmentary."

General MacArthur, on returning to his general headquarters from the campaign in the Papua Peninsula, where a Jap army of approximately 15,000 now has been virtually destroyed, highly praised the work of the American Thirty-second and Forty-first Divisions and the Fifth American Airforce.

First Sighted January 6

The Jap convoy first was sighted by an Allied plane January 6 when about 30 miles off New Britain, in whose harbor of Rabaul the Japs have been known to be concentrating considerable shipping.

MacArthur's noon communique of January 8 announced that a 14,000-ton transport, heavily loaded with troops, had been sunk along with another transport and that a

See GUINEA, Page 2, Column 5.

Reds Close In on Rostov

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

REACH RIVER JUNCTURE—Russian army forces reportedly pushed on across the Don Steppes last night after reaching the juncture of the Don and Donets Rivers. Other forces were within 65 miles of Rostov after the capture of Zimovniki on the west bank of the Sal River. Arrows indicate major Soviet drives toward Rostov. Solid black line indicates approximate current battle front. Nazis in the Stalingrad area were still in a "pocket" close to the Volga city

Ersatz Rubber Setup in Peril, Jeffers Warns

Fears Transportation 'Disaster' Unless Work On Plants Is Speeded

By Sterling F. Green
Associated Press Staff Writer

Rubber Director William M. Jeffers said yesterday the synthetic rubber program needed a clear priority go-ahead on at least 65 to 70 per cent of its plant construction to avoid a "disaster" in military and industrial transport.

Right now the delayed program is in such pecarious balance, he said, that "a few bad breaks would spell catastrophe."

Nevertheless, Jeffers said in an interview that he did not believe the new East Coast ban on pleasure driving—necessitated by the petroleum shortage—should now be extended to the rest of the country to save tires.

While asserting that this opinion might have to be revised next summer "when people start driving to the ball parks and beaches and places," the rubber chief said he thought people generally would "cooperate without coercion" in keeping tire wear to a minimum.

600,000-Ton Rate in 1944

If possible, he said, he would like to preserve such freedom of movement as is now permitted in areas where the petroleum supply makes this feasible. Moreover, he added, passenger cars can use reclaimed rubber for recaps and even new tires, while trucks and military vehicles require crude and synthetic rubber.

If 65 to 70 per cent of the synthetic plant program were given unhampered preference in the competition for equipment and materials, the program could still hit a production rate in 1944 of 600,000 tons, Jeffers said.

This would suffice to keep the military machines of this country and the United Nations rolling, as well as essential trucks and buses, he observed. But it doesn't leave any for the rank and file of motorists. These, he said, would have to get along with recaps and reclaim until completion of the remaining 30 to 35 per cent of the program for which no special

See RUBBER, Page 4, Column 2.

U. S., French Camel Corps Routs Italians

Seize Settlement Near Libyan Frontier Southwest of Tripoli

By Wes Gallagher
Associated Press Staff Writer

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Jan. 8.—The capture by a French and American camel corps of Tanout Maller, a settlement 14 miles from Tiaret in the southern Tunisian desert near the Libyan frontier about 200 miles southwest of Tripoli, was announced today by a French military spokesman as bad weather again limited Allied ground operations in the northern Tunisian sector.

The corps, thrusting to the south of the main enemy line through northeastern Tunisia, attacked against heavy odds, the spokesman said, and put Tanout Maller's 400 Italian defenders to flight, killing about 250 of them.

South of the Fondouk-El Aoureb area, about 50 miles southwest of Sousse, Axis forces made an attack with tank support, Gen. Henri Giraud's French headquarters reported, but was repulsed.

"The attack was a complete failure. The enemy suffered heavy losses," said the announcement.

Increased patrol activity also was reported south of Pont-Du-Fahs, 30 miles south of Tunis, the French said.

Rommel Army Bombed

It now is apparent that the Germans and Italians are being squeezed from all sides—by the British Eighth Army in Libya, by the French in the south, and by the Allied forces in Tunisia—and they now control only a comparatively narrow strip along the coast from Tripoli south, then leading northwest toward Tunis and Bizerte.

(British headquarters in Cairo announced during the day that Allied planes, attacking Field Marshal Rommel's Libyan army in its retreat to the west, had machine-gunned his transport along a stretch of coastal road only 40 miles short of Tripoli.

(This indicated to some British observers that Rommel was preparing to abandon his previous

See AFRICA, Page 2, Column 1.

Russians Gain Open Country Leading to Vital Don River City

By the Associated Press

London (Saturday), Jan. 9.—Russian troops smashing along the lower Don River and rolling up the vulnerable Nazi salient deep in the Caucasus captured more than a score of villages and railway points yesterday, including Zimovniki, 125 miles southwest of Stalingrad, two Soviet communiques announced early today.

[Russian troops under General Rokossovsky have reached the junction of the Don and Donets Rivers in their push across the Don Steppes, the International News Service quoted the London Daily Express as saying in a Moscow dispatch.]

A special bulletin broadcast by Moscow and heard by the Soviet monitor said Zimovniki, 30 miles beyond Kotelnikovs' on the Stalingrad-Tikhoretsk Railway, fell after a stubborn fight.

The regular midnight communique that followed said 20 settlements and railway stations had fallen to other Russian troops pushing westward along the Don River valley, and northward from the Caucasian Mountain foothills.

Speed Directly West

The Russians now were believed to be less than 60 miles short of Rostov at the mouth of the Don River after capturing Strakhov and pushing directly westward toward the Nazi communications hub whose capture would cut off huge Nazi forces retreating in the Caucasus approximately 300 miles to the south. Capture of Strakhov gave the Red army entrance to low-lying plains leading to Rostov.

Ten more populated places fell to the advancing Russians in the lower Don valley yesterday, the midnight communique said, and an equal number of points were taken in the Caucasus.

Among the latter points were the railway station of Zolsky, only 10 miles short of Georgievsk, a large town on the Baku-Rostov line. Nikolskoye, 45 miles northeast of Georgievsk, also was taken, representing an 18-mile advance since Thursday in that sector when one Red army column occupied Stepnoye.

Harry Nazi Retreat

Russian Caucasian troops were harrying the retreating Germans relentlessly, sending tanks and mobile infantrymen around the Nazi flanks to attack from the rear. In one such attack 400 Germans were wiped out yesterday, the communique said.

The Russians officially chided Berlin for the German radio's admission on Thursday night that Nazi troops in the Caucasus were now withdrawing and "shortening" their lines.

The communique said it was "common knowledge" that in a few days in that sector the Red Army "advanced between 68 and 88 miles," capturing large quantities of equipment and many prisoners.

The "Hitlerite organ grinders" used the same belated "shortening of the line" announcement a year

See RUSSIA, Page 2, Column 1.

President's Pastor Takes Oath As Navy Chaplain

New York, Jan. 8 (INS).—The Rev. Frank Ray Wilson, rector of St. James Episcopal Church at Hyde Park, N. Y., where President Roosevelt and his family are worshipers, was sworn into the Navy today as a lieutenant in the Chaplain Corps.

The clergyman, who is 43 and served in France as a Signal Corps sergeant in World War I, gave the President as a reference in his application for a commission, and received a letter from the Chief Executive which said in part:

"Congratulations! If I were in your position, I would do the same thing myself!"

He said he had to get the President's permission, since the President is senior warden of his church and, as such, is technically his employer.

Died in Battle

Nation's Sympathy Extended Couple Who Lost 3 Navy Sons

EDWARD KEITH ROGERS | CHARLES ETHBERT ROGERS | JACK ELLYS ROGERS, JR.

By the Associated Press

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 8.—President Roosevelt extended the sympathy of the Nation for the loss in battle of their three sons to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rogers of Birmingham.

The President's letter followed by nearly a month a letter from the commanding officer of the three men, all first class seamen in the Navy, which informed the parents they had been killed in a naval engagement in the Pacific.

The letter from President Roosevelt:

"My Dear Mr. and Mrs. Rogers:

"I have just been advised of your loss of three sons who gave their lives in the performance of their duty in action against the enemy.

"There is little that I can say to lessen the burden of your grief. However, I want you to know that your great sorrow is shared not only by myself, but by the entire naval service. Your sons, Jack Ellis, jr., Edward Keith and Charles Ethbert, gave their lives in the service of our country which owes to you and them a debt of undying gratitude. As Commander in Chief, I express to you a Nation's sympathy. I pray that God will comfort you and give you strength to bear this great sorrow.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have a fourth son, Hugh, who is 17. Still in high school, he plans to enlist in the Navy as soon as he gains parental consent.

The letter from the commanding officer of the ship on which the three men were killed said "they died at their battle stations, and their efforts, combined with those of their shipmates, resulted in loss and disadvantage to the enemy. They could not have given their lives more nobly, and in their unselfish patriotism they stand for all that is finest and best in our American manhood."

Machines Tampered With

Army Probes Possible Sabotage Involving 35 Unguarded Tanks

By the Associated Press

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 8.—At least 35 large Army tanks in a big shipment on a railroad siding in metropolitan Oakland were tampered with, Army intelligence officers were informed today.

The seals on the conning towers of the hatches had been broken. There was evidence that all of those on which the seals were broken had been entered.

Army officers immediately removed these tanks from the shipment and began testing them to determine the nature of the tampering.

Others tanks in the shipment were also examined to determine whether they had been molested. Seals on the others apparently were unbroken.

Residents in the vicinity told police a group of men had been acting suspiciously in the vicinity of the siding. The men disappeared before police cars arrived. State highway patrolmen joined in the search for the men, but found no trace.

Army guards were promptly stationed around the entire shipment.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents joined Army intelligence officers and State and local police in the investigation.

The tanks had arrived only a relatively short time before the suspicious group of men was noted.

Today's Index

	Pages.		Pages.
Churches	12, 13	Financial	11
Columnists	6, 7	Drew Pearson	10
Editorials	6	Gallup Poll	7
SECTION B
Amusements	6	Leonard Lyons	6
Bridge	10	Mary Haworth	2
Capital Spotlight	4	Radio	10
Clubs	5	Vital Statistics	11
Crossword	10	Weather	11
Death Notices	7	What's Going on and Where	11
Federal Diary	1	Women's	2, 3

British Convoy Fights Off Attack

Shuttle Service

R.A.F. Hits At Ruhr In Raid Series

London, Jan. 8 (AP).—Large formations of high-flying fighter planes streaked across the Channel in almost continual shuttle attacks on France today in what apparently was a large-scale daylight follow-up to another night bombing of Germany's Ruhr.

Most of the daylight assaults appeared directed at the Calais area and beyond, with the first good weather in four days facilitating the operations.

The Air Ministry, announcing the night assault on the Ruhr without detail, said all the attacking force returned safely. The specific targets of the raid were not announced. This was the third attack on the Ruhr of the year.

Meanwhile seven German planes, believed to be Focke-Wulf 190 fighters, dropped light bombs on a southwestern coastal town today, hitting a hotel and causing considerable damage. Four Spitfires broke up the attack.

Destroyer Lost, But Supplies Reach Russia Intact

By E. C. Daniel
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 8.—Doughty British destroyers four times fought off a superior German force, including a pocket battleship, in the Arctic dark north of Norway and then shepherded their convoy safely and intact to North Russia after a stronger squadron joined the defense and routed the Nazi men-o'-war, the Admiralty announced today.

The 1350-ton destroyer flotilla leader Achates was lost and the new destroyer Onslow was damaged, but the merchant ships loaded with "important military supplies for our Russian allies" reached their destination without loss or damage, the communique said.

A German destroyer of the Mass class was sunk, and one of the larger ships was damaged, it said. These losses were announced December 31, when the battle was still raging. The Admiralty said then that a heavy German cruiser had been damaged so badly that it retired. The fact that the announcement today said "one of the large ships" was damaged suggested that it might have been the 10,000-ton pocket battleship.

However, British officers who took part in the fight said on their return to a northern British naval base that they felt certain that one ship was the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Admiral Hipper and the other probably the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Lutzow or possibly the 6000-ton cruiser Nurnberg. The enemy also was said to have had destroyers of the Narvik or Maas type in the action.

The Germans acknowledged the loss of a destroyer on January 2 and said an allied destroyer was sunk, several cruisers and destroyers were damaged by gunfire and that torpedo hits were scored on four merchant ships. They placed the action off Bear Island, about midway between Spitzbergen and Norway.

The admiralty said the successful convoy passage was made "in spite of almost continual darkness, extreme cold and navigational hazards due to ice and low visibility and interference from the enemy." It was the first time since August that the Germans had risked their limited surface ships to attack the "time-table" flow of supplies to the Russians.

The Admiralty said original contact was made on the morning of December 31 off the North Cape at the extreme tip of Norway. Besides the probable presence of the pocket battleship—possibly either the Luetzow or Admiral Scheer—the German force included a cruiser and "a number of destroyers."

Capt. R. St. V. Sherbrooke in the Onslow audaciously led the destroyers into the attack "and closed on the enemy with great gallantry," the Admiralty said.

"In the semidarkness and with visibility further reduced by frequent snowstorms, the contact was fleeting and intermittent. The fighting continued for about two hours.

"By resolute and skillful handling of this small force of destroyers, he succeeded in driving off four attempts by strong enemy forces to destroy this convoy.

"More powerful forces then arrived in support and engaged the enemy, who escaped in low visibility and returned in high speed to the safety of their bases on the Norwegian coast."

Reds 65 Miles From Rostov

RUSSIA, from Page 1.

ago during the first Russian winter offensive, the communique said, and now are doing it again in an effort to conceal from the German people the true status of their armies in Russia.

German troops along the lower Don Valley were admitted by the Russians to be putting up a much more determined resistance in an effort to keep the Red Army from Rostov. But despite frequent counter-attacks the communique said the Red Army still was gaining ground.

Every time a formidable Nazi "hedgehog" position was encountered the Russians said their troops hauled up artillery to pound it to pieces, then sent their infantry swarming into the Nazi lines. In one such engagement yesterday the communique said the Red Army killed 600 Nazis, knocked out nine tanks, routed the enemy garrison, and captured 7 artillery pieces, 18 trucks and other equipment.

The Red Army column that took Zimovniki apparently had crossed the Sal River in its steady drive toward Salsk, a junction point about 85 miles farther on where a spur connects with Rostov. Zimovniki itself is about 140 miles east of Rostov.

Russians Consolidate

On the central front northwest of Moscow the communique said the Russians still were using part of their effectives to consolidate positions in the captured Velikie Luki area, while others were beating off strong enemy counter-attacks.

One Soviet unit killed 200 Germans in one sector. In another zone German motorized infantry succeeded in driving a wedge into Soviet positions, the communique said, but the Russians later threw back the enemy "and pursuing him captured several fortified positions." One enemy infantry company was wiped out in this latter struggle.

Despite the great areas overrun by Russian troops west and southwest of Stalingrad, the Germans who are reported firmly trapped inside the city and to the west still were fighting a slow war of attrition.

Russian assault groups were said to have wrested a number of additional Nazi blockhouses in the factory area of Stalingrad yesterday.

Northwest of the city, in the Don-Volga river pocket, the Germans lost 300 men, two tanks, 13 machine guns and other equipment, the communique said.

South America Offered U. S. Aid to Catch Spies

Montevideo, Uruguay, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Inter-American Committee for Political Defense of the Continent approved today the mailing of a letter to all American governments notifying them that the United States offers to send technical experts to instruct police of the Western Hemisphere in counter espionage methods. The action was approved unanimously, with the Chilean delegate absent because of illness.

South Pacific Anchor Man

Associated Press Photo

ADMIRAL WILLIAM FREDERICK HALSEY, JR., commander of the United States South Pacific Fleet, walks away from his headquarters for a swim after the day's work is done. A tattooed anchor rides high on his right arm

Six Torpedoed Sailors Saved; 15 Days Adrift

By the Associated Press

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—The Navy announced today that six survivors of a torpedoed United States merchant vessel were landed here Christmas Eve after they drifted 15 days in an open lifeboat with scant rations, twice were tossed by huge waves into a raging sea, and finally were rescued so exhausted they sat waist-deep in water "waiting for the end."

The half dozen plucky seamen—three of them Navy enlisted men—are the only members of the crew of 58 known to have reached safety, the Fourth Naval District said.

A single torpedo from an enemy submarine struck their ship without warning on a morning late in November in Mid-Atlantic, the survivors related. All the crew got away in three lifeboats, but ten minutes after the ship sank, the submarine surfaced and took the captain and chief mate aboard as prisoners.

Seventeen men were in the lifeboat with the six who reached Philadelphia. One died six days after the sinking. A log kept by Herman Otto Fischer, seaman second class of Chicago, one of the six, told of the stormy day in which mountainous waves upset the lifeboat twice in less than an hour.

"6:05 p. m. December ?—Lifeboat capsized. The men that were not lost righted the boat and attempted to bail out the boat but to no avail. The seas were too high.

"Approximately 7 p. m., same date: The lifeboat capsized for the second time. After the boat was turned right side up, nine men climbed into it—three died later—as it was impossible to bail out the boat, the six of us left just waited for the end."

Rescued with Fischer were Ralph Edward Carey, seaman second class of Worcester, Mass.; Charles Harris Colbourne, seaman first class of Baltimore, Md.; Joseph L. Kucinski, seaman of North Hatfield, Mass.; Francisco Alonzo, oiler of New York City, and Bernard R. Patock, wiper, Chicago.

6 Priests Taken By Japs in Peking Reported Well

Union City, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP).—Six priests who left St. Michael's Monastery to study the Chinese language in Peking are alive and well, first word received from them since they were taken prisoner by the Japanese revealed last night.

A message signed "Al" and written by the Rev. Aloysius O'Malley, C.P., of Clinton, Mass., transmitted through the International Red Cross, said:

"Six well. Usual routine. Funds loaned by authorities. Inform folks no cause for anxiety. Message blanks limited, possibly will get each soon. Best from all."

The others with father O'Malley, all members of the Passionist Order, included the Rev. Leonard Armhein of Pittsburgh, and the Rev. Venard Johnson of Marleigh, Pa.

Meuse Defense Line

London, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Belgian news agency here reported today that the Germans were establishing an inland defense line along the Meuse River in case of an Allied attack through northern France and Belgium.

Stark Sees Long, Hard War Ahead

By John G. Norris
Post Staff Writer

Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander in chief of United States Naval Forces in European waters, predicted yesterday that the war would be "long and tough" and said the fight against Axis submarines was "our greatest problem."

The former chief of naval operations, back home for conferences with the high command, warned against "wishful thinking" about an early end of the war, but said that by 1944 American power would be so great that we should be able to "smash in anywhere" on the Axis.

Disagrees With Halsey

Although Admiral William F. Halsey, jr., American commander in the South Pacific, forecast only last week that the United Nations would achieve complete and absolute victory during 1943, Stark said he hadn't changed earlier views that the struggle would be long and tough.

"Any other premise would be utterly false," he said. "If we should be agreeably surprised by a sudden Axis blow-up we should take that just as so much good news. But I don't think that will come about.

"We will win only when Hitler and his gang and the Japanese military machine are completely broken—and I mean completely."

On the mooted question of the probable length of the war, President Roosevelt had something further to say yesterday. The President stated in his message to Congress Thursday that it was "within the realm of possibility" that the new Congress which ends in 1944 "may have the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

Meant to Convey Hope

Asked about this reference at his press conference yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt said his message meant to convey a hope that the war might end in 1944. He would not define the word "possibility" any further nor did he indicate on what basis he rested his hopes that the struggle might end next year.

In his message, the President said he thought 1943 would give the Allies a "very substantial advance along the roads that lead to Berlin and Rome and Tokyo."

Admiral Stark told reporters that he had informed Congress when "pleading for an increase in the fleet," that 1942 would be a tough year for us.

"We couldn't take undue losses then and had to hit the enemy where we could," he continued. "In 1943 our battle strength should increase and that of the enemy decrease.

"In 1944 we ought to be coming along with such power that we can afford to smash in anywhere."

Everything, he emphasized, depends upon the shipping situation.

"Our greatest problem is the submarine, Stark said. "All of our strength will be totally impotent if we can't bring it to bear on the enemy."

Reporters asked how well we were meeting the U-boat threat.

Could Be Better

"Well," he replied, "I wish we were knocking them out faster."

The veteran admiral said that the submarine situation around the coasts of Great Britain had been "good" for some time, since English naval forces began "making it awfully hot for them." Subs move where "the hunting is best," he added.

Stack was asked specifically about Admiral Halsey's prediction of victory in 1943. He repeated his own statement that the war would probably be long and tough and added:

"You've got to kill the Japs to beat them. The only way to get them out of the positions they've conquered is to blast them out."

Admiral Stark was asked to comment on Australian complaints that we are concentrating too much of our force on Germany, and not enough on Japan.

Matter for Superiors

"That's a matter for those higher up," he replied.

To a question as to whether he expected a show-down battle between the Nazi surface fleet and Allied naval forces in 1943, Stark replied: 'I hope so."

He told reporters he believed Germany was concentrating her naval shipbuilding resources on U-boat construction rather than on her surface navy.

"But the mere fact the Nazis have a fleet in being ties up some of our strength," he added. "Imagine what a couple of fast battleships could do to our convoys in the Atlantic."

Stark was asked whether or not the war had shown the need for the reorganization of our defense establishments so as to create a separate air force.

"If anyone could show me where the air arms of our Army and Navy have fallen down, there might be a need for it," he replied. "But no one has. I see no need for an independent air force. It would be a catastrophe to adopt such an organization at this time."

British Egg Ration Up to One a Month

By the Associated Press

London, Jan. 8.—Fresh eggs, as rare as thick sirloin steaks, return to ordinary consumers this month on at least a token basis, it was announced officially today.

Ordinary consumers will get one fresh egg a month. Priority classes, including nursing mothers, invalids and infants, will get a dozen a month. Powdered egg rations remain a dozen a person monthly.

The cheese allotment was cut from 8 to 6 ounces weekly.

For Heroism on the Home Front

Post Staff Photo

GENERAL CITES M. P.—Corpl. Lloyd W. Ricketts, 23, a military police stationed at the Pentagon Building receives the Soldier's Medal from Brig. Gen. John T. Lewis yesterday at Fort Myer, Va. Corporal Ricketts was cited for heroism in overpowering two men armed with a gun who were about to attack a third man outside the new War Department Building October 24

Chinese Forces Retake Lihuang, Kill or Wound 1000 Japanese

By the Associated Press

Chungking, Jan. 8.—The Chinese command announced tonight the recapture of Lihuang, provisional capital of Anhwei Province, and said that 1000 Japanese were killed and wounded in the fighting and others were cut off northwest of the city.

The Japanese occupied Lihuang earlier this week in a drive which carried through the town and on to the north.

There, in the vicinity of Yehchischi, the enemy column was stopped by Chinese defense forces, a communique said. Meanwhile, it added, other Chinese troops closed in behind the column, cutting off the Japanese road of retreat and winning back Lihuang yesterday noon in fierce fighting.

The communique said the isolated Japanese column was trying to fight its way out to the northwest.

The Chinese announced that the Japanese had occupied Shancheng, in southeastern Honan, Tuesday night, but said fighting continued in the suburbs.

Japs Lose Another Troopship at Lae

GUINEA, from Page 1.

third had been damaged by deadly accurate Allied bombers.

Before the aerial attack was 24 hours old, the Lae-bound convoy was a target of Liberators, Consolidated Catalinas, Flying Fortresses, North American Billy Mitchells, Martin Marauders and Lockheed Lightnings.

For the brilliant Papua campaign, all over except for the annihilation of Jap remnants enveloped at Cape Sanananda, General MacArthur awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to the Allied land commander, Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey and to Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the American troops in Papua.

Patrol activities were reported for the Sanananda campaign during which 32 Japs were slain.

Elsewhere in the air, Allied planes bombed and started fires on the Jap airdrome at Gasmata, New Britain.

Meanwhile, Blamey after a tour of the front, said he hoped but did not predict that the Japanese would be dug out of their positions there with less Allied losses than were suffered in the Buna fighting.

"We had considerable losses, but inflicted considerable more," he said.

The manner in which the Japanese fortified their Buna positions, in depth and with care, and the tenacity with which they held on showed, he said, that they had attached great importance to the beachhead and had intended to make permanent installations there.

Allied losses in the campaign which drove the Japanese back across the Owen Stanley Mountains, have not been announced.

Up to December 1, however, the Australians had lost 640 killed and 1550 wounded, and three American brigadier generals have been wounded.

Japanese losses have not been fully counted, and they may never be known because of the Japanese method of fighting to the last from treetops and dugouts. The official Allied count of Japanese dead totaled 3840, but many other hundreds of enemy killed, as estimated by field commanders in various actions, were not included in this total.

According to yesterday's communique Japanese losses in this New Guinea war to date included 240 planes shot down and 55 destroyed on the ground. Sixteen Allied planes have been reported missing in action.

The enemy's naval losses included 2 cruisers, 6 destroyers, 10 transports and supply vessels, a gunboat and large numbers of smaller craft. In addition, scores of ships were damaged.

MacArthur Cites Officers for Courage

Allied Headquarters in Australia (Saturday), Jan. 9 (AP).—In an order of the day, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today cited "for extraordinary courage, marked efficiency and precise execution of operations during the Papuan campaign" the following officers:

Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Allied land commander; Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied air forces; Lieut Gen. Edmund Francis Herring, Australian field commander; Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander in New Guinea; Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, MacArthur's chief of staff; Maj. Gen. George Allen Vasey, Australian field commander; Brig. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, U. S. A. chief of intelligence; Brig. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead and Brig. Gen. Kenneth Walker, American air force commanders; Australian Brigadiers F. G. Wooten and Kenneth Eather and Australian Group Capt. William Garing.

"Victory which has been achieved would have been impossible of accomplishment without the invincible leadership which they have provided," General MacArthur's order said.

"Through the skill and courage and indomitable will for victory, they have defeated a bold and aggressive enemy, possessing a marked superiority of resources and potentialities in areas of campaign and combat. While all ground troops have performed admirably, elements of the Sixth and Seventh Australian Divisions, of the Thirty-second and forty-first United States Divisions, the Sixth Independent Commando Unit, mountain artillery batteries of the First Australian Corps, squadrons of the armored division (Australian) and native Papuan carriers have been especially prominent.

"To the American Fifth Air Force and the Royal Australian air force, no commendation could be too great.

"To Almighty God, I give thanks for that guidance which has brought us to this success in our great crusade. His is the honor, the power and the glory, forever, Amen."

Charged Slayer Insane

Chinook, Mont., Jan. 8 (INS).—Leslie E. Scifers, 17-year-old Harlem, Mont., high school student, late today was found insane by a jury which deliberated 21 minutes. He was charged with first degree murder in the death of blonde Elaine Allen, 15, whose bullet-riddled body was found in his bedroom at Harlem on December 23.

U. S. Bombers Pound Foe at Kiska, Munda

American planes, the Navy reported yesterday, have struck new blows at Japanese bases in the Solomons and Aleutians.

Liberator heavy bombers pounded the shore installations at Kiska, far out in the Aleutian Island chain on Wednesday, a communique said. Clouds, however, prevented observation of the effects of the bombing.

At the same time at the other end of the long Pacific battleline, Martin medium bombers hammered the airfield and enemy defenses at Munda, in the middle Solomons some 180 miles from our own base on Guadalcanal. Again there was no report of results.

The Japanese have been making strenuous efforts to strengthen these outposts and our air forces have been taking every opportunity to smash at the bases. For nearly a month now Munda has been under daily attack, while Kiska has been bombed every day the weather permitted operations in the bleak Aleutians.

Text of the Navy Communique, No. 244, follows:

"North Pacific:

"1. On January 6, a force of Liberator heavy bombers (Consolidated B-24) dropped bombs on shore installations at Kiska. Clouds prevented observation of results.

"South Pacific (All dates are east longitude):

"2. On January 7, a force of Marauder medium bombers (Martin B-26) attacked the airfield and installations at Munda on New Georgia Island. Results were not reported."

Hurley Leaves Cairo

Cairo, Jan. 8 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, on a special mission to the Middle East theater of war, left Cairo today after three days here en route from Russia.

Post Photographer Goes to War

Post Staff Photo (Not by Ellis).

PVT. ARTHUR ELLIS

an outstanding photographer during his 14 years on The Post, lugs barrack bags and musette en route to a station in New Jersey, where he will undergo basic training as a member of the United States Army Signal Corps. Ellis was taken into military service as a voluntary inductee about three weeks ago line around Buerat el Hsun, well to the east of Tripoli, and was on the march to the west again.

U. S. and French Camel Corps Routs Italians

AFRICA, from Page 1.

(The British in Cairo also announced that Tunis and Sousse, on the Tunisian coast, again were heavily bombed. A railway station at Tunis was hit; big fires were set off at Sousse, where an enemy ship was reported to have been hit.

(The most significant Allied air action reported, however, was an assault by American four-motored bombers on the Italian harbor at Palermo, Sicily, in which a great yellow explosion was observed in the target area. These bombers, operating with the British Eighth Army, all returned safely to their base, an American communique said.)

The Italian high command admitted the force of the attack by reporting that the city's dead were 46 and the wounded 272. It was implied that this toll might later be increased. Palermo, the big Axis air base, is mainspring of the German and Italian air effort in Tunisia.

(R. A. F. planes also attacked sulphur factories at Licata on the southern coast of Sicily, and raided an airfield on the tiny island of Lampedusa, midway between Malta and Tunisia.

(Allied air forces were being moved up to new advanced air bases in Tripolitania at a rapid rate. R. A. F. ground crews, engineers and infantry were not even bothering to clear away the debris of wrecked Italian and German planes as they took over these fields.)

American planes attacked Kairouan, the inland Tunisian traffic junction through which the Nazis have been trying to supply their forward troops, and the Axis-held port of Gabes.

The R. A. F. reported that its forward antiaircraft guns shot down four German planes raiding allied airdromes yesterday, and that another German plane was destroyed last night.

The British lost two planes and the Americans one in escorting the bombers that attacked Gabes.

An air force spokesman announced that reconnaissance had established that the Axis power station at Sfax had been destroyed in an attack of January 5.

The Allied ommunique follows:

"Activity in the northern area yesterday was limited to patrolling and to offensive sweeps by our fighters.

"The enemy lost four planes shot down by antiaircraft fire during several unsuccessful attempts to raid our airfields and bases. One enemy bomber was destroyed last night.

"Our fighters made sweeps over the southern area. B-26's escorted by P-38's, bombed the airfield and military barracks at Gabes and light bombers attacked enemy troops at Kairouan.

"During the night of January 6-7, our bombers attacked the docks at Tunis from all these operations, four of our aircraft are missing.

"It is now known that another enemy aircraft was destroyed on January 6, making four in all that day."

CAVANAGH DOWNTURN

The classic lines of our CAVANAGH DOWNTURN have made this HAT a hallmark of distinguished hatting.

$10 AND $20

Particular Attention Is Directed To The FOUR BRIM WIDTHS Available

GOLDHEIM'S
1409 H STREET

FEATURED IN THE MODE'S 41ST ANNUAL WINTER SALE

Camel Hair Topcoats tailored by

RICHARD PRINCE

The coat you'll find exactly suited to Washington weather . . . from September to May. A coating of rich appearance with a fine fluffy nap—60% Camel Hair, 40% finest wool. Shown in four smart models, tailored expressly for us . . . Double Breasted Polo, Single Breasted English Raglan, Fly Front Box and Fly Front Balmacaan.

$47.75

OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF FINE SUITS, TOPCOATS & OVERCOATS REDUCED

DIAMONDS APPRAISED
ARTHUR MARKEL
918 F ST. N.W.
Suite 301-3 NAtional 9284

RALPH W. LEE & CO.
INSURANCE
For Over 44 Years
1508 L St. N.W.
REpublic 4848

SPECIAL NOTICES
PLAINFIELD ORCHARDS
APPLES, SWEET CIDER.
EXCELLENT CANDIDO APPLES.
Out Georgia Ave. 5 miles to Glenmont. Right on Rt. 182 3 miles.
W. W. MOORE, Sandy Spring, Md.
Open All Winter.

THE MODE
F STREET at ELEVENTH Civilian and Military Outfitters
THE IMPORTANT MEN'S CORNER

Farm Units Renew Price Rise Demand

In Committee

Senate Group May Coalesce For Economy

By Arthur Hachten
International News Service Correspondent

Overtures for an informal coalition of economy minded Democrats and Republicans on the Senate Appropriations Committee to slash nonwar expenditures began today after G. O. P. Senators reelected Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, as minority leader.

Immediately after the Republicans' Party conference behind closed doors all of their members of the Senate Appropriations Committee held a two-hour session in the office of Senator Nye (Republican) of North Dakota. They decided to consult Acting Chairman McKellar (Democrat) of Tennessee of the Appropriations Committee, on procedure for combining all appropriations.

Nye said that McKellar "has shown a good spirit of cooperation and I feel certain that other Democratic committeemen will also join in giving budget requests by administrative agencies close scrutiny."

The North Dakotan disclosed that his Republican colleagues were determined to see that ample opportunity is given for investigation of requests for appropriations.

"In recent years," he said, "there has not been ample opportunity to dig deeply into the reasons for appropriations requests.

"There are many activities of Federal agencies which should be carefully investigated, with a view to lopping off waste. It is the unanimous purpose of the Republican members of the Appropriations Committee to see that this is done."

Republican Senators said they had noted that McKellar, while acting as chairman of the committee in the absence of 85-year-old Senator Carter Glass (Democrat) of Virginia, has indicated a desire to comb Governmental agencies more thoroughly. But in the hustle to ram through war appropriations many items slipped through without ventilation.

Want Industrial Work Week of 54 Hours, No Overtime

Leaders of four national farm organizations called upon the new Congress yesterday to raise farm product prices and increase the present industrial work week to at least 54 hours, "eliminating any requirements for overtime payments."

The leaders, in a joint statement of farm policy, asserted that the Nation faces acute food and fiber shortages and possibly actual hunger unless action is taken to increase labor supplies and provide farmers with higher prices to meet what were described as increasing food production costs.

The leaders were Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange; Charles C. Teague, president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, and John Brandt, president of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation.

Want Parity Revision

The statement insisted that the Government's method of computing farm parity prices—the prices upon which price ceilings are based—be amended to include all farm labor costs. Government economists have estimated that such a revision would allow farm prices to advance at least 10 per cent above present levels before ceilings could be established.

Legislation embodying such a revision in parity was passed by the House late in the last session, but the bill did not come up in the Senate. At that time, Price Administrator Leon Henderson estimated it would boost the cost of living at least $3,500,000,000 a year.

The leaders said an extension in the industrial work week would aid materially in solving manpower shortages in both industry and agriculture. They recommended that any increased profits accruing to employers from extension of the work week and elimination of overtime pay be recovered through increased taxation.

Farm Auctions Cited

In the House, meanwhile, Representatives from farm States warned that Congress must act to protect dairy farmers, lest the Nation face grave depletion of its dairy herds. Statements that shortages of farm labor were leading to thousands of farm auctions and wholesale slaughter of dairy cows came from Republicans and Democrats alike.

The leaders of the four national farm organizations insisted that the use of subsidies in place of "fair prices" for farm products at the market place be discarded. They asserted that price ceilings as now applied on some products tended to discourage production.

Among those making appeals for help were Representative Bolton (Republican) of Ohio, Reed (Republican) of New York, Edwin Hall (Republican) of New York, Voorhis (Democrat) of California, Hoffman (Republican) of Michigan and Rankin (Democrat) of Mississippi. When Representative Hall called for better prices for farm products, Representative Sabath (Democrat) of Illinois interjected that farmers already were getting greatly increased prices, a statement which led to a general argument.

Labor Attacked

They also asked that the Government take steps to eliminate "slow-downs and racketeering practices being imposed by organized labor.' They asked that Mexican and West Indian labor be imported under "practical procurement and distribution methods" to help meet domestic farm labor shortages and that the Government eliminate "all impractical restrictions on the placement of domestic farm labor." The Government has been requiring farmers to pay certain minimum wage rates for labor placed by it.

They requested that the Government adopt "practical and workable" regulations for the deferment of farm workers under the Selective Service System. They also asked for the elimination of "attempted regulations of activities" in the operations of the U. S. Employment Service, the Farm Security Administration, or any other governmental agency "which seek to impose union conditions in the employment of farm labor."

In addition to additional labor supplies, the leaders requested larger supplies of farm machinery and equipment.

More Curbs Ordered on Paper Use

Fresh curtailment of the use of paper in commercial printing, manufacture of converted paper products and the packaging of food, wearing apparel, gifts and other merchandise was ordered yesterday by the War Production Board.

Simultaneously, because of labor shortages and an expected decline in domestic production of wood pulp for paper, WPB revised its method of controlling paper output to permit expanded production of grades containing waste or nonfibrous material pending a balancing reduction in other grades.

Program Rounded Out

The new orders round out an overall program of control in preparation for several months. Two earlier directives cut the use of paper by newspapers and magazines about 10 per cent.

One order, effective immediately, called for elimination of dummy boxes; A 35 per cent reduction in production of paper boxes used by retailers for packaging merchandise; elimination of boxes for packaging alcoholic beverages, and restrictions in the quality of paperboard used in gift boxes.

Approximately 225,000 tons of paperboard will be saved this year, or 10 per cent of the amount used in 1942 by this order, WPB estimated, and will permit paper packaging of other products formerly packed in tin.

Other Uses Limited

A second order limited converters use of paper as much as 50 per cent of the amount used in 1942 on decorative items such as glazed and coated papers; 75 per cent on photo mounts and chair seat covers, and 90 per cent on paper dishes, plates, spoons, envelopes, facial tissues, napkins, stationery, notebooks and kindred items.

Beginning February 15 manufacturers of articles from pulp, paper and paperboard will be prohibited from producing laundry specialties such as collar circles and shirt boards; novelties such as serpentines, hats and confetti; doilies, shelf and drawer linings, bakers decorative specialties and scores of similar products.

Commercial printers, during 1943 were forbidden to use more than 90 per cent of the paper used in 1941. Exempted from the order, however, is the printing of newspapers, magazines, books, wall paper, boxes, converted paper products and printed matter for any Federal or local government agency.

CLASSES STARTING JANUARY 18 SPANISH
FRENCH-GERMAN
The Berlitz Method is available ONLY at THE BERLITZ SCHOOL of LANGUAGES
920 17th St. N.W. (at Eye) National 6970

Glass, Ill, Takes Senate Oath At His Lynchburg Fireside

Associated Press Photo

CEREMONY IN LYNCHBURG—At his home in Lynchburg, Va., Senator Carter Glass (right), with his dog beside him, is sworn into office for a new term by Col. Edwin A. Halsey (left), secretary of the Senate. Standing are Mrs. Glass and Rixey Smith, Glass' secretary

By the Associated Press

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 8.—On the glass-inclosed sunporch of his suburban mountain estate, United States Senator Carter Glass took the oath of office today for a new term as senior Senator from Virginia.

Col. Edwin A. Halsey, fellow townsman and secretary of the Senate, swore in the Virginia veteran under terms of a Senate resolution giving him the rarely delegated authority to administer the oath away from the Senate.

Senator Glass, ill since last August and 85 years of age on Monday of this week, was seated before a log fire with Mrs. Glass and surrounded by a few relatives and friends when Colonel Halsey arrived.

Mrs. Glass and Rixey Smith, secretary and long-time friend of the Senator, stood nearby as Halsey read the oath and Senator Glass, holding up his right hand, answered with a firm "I do." He then sat down and signed a written copy of the oath with a reporter's pen and Mrs. Glass reached over and kissed him on his forehead.

Smith presented Senator Glass with a silver tray, a birthday gift from the employes of his office in Washington.

Ruml Plan Due for Early House Action

TAX, from Page 1.

of years, and the Chief Executive finally agreed that probably the loss would extend over the lives of all present taxpayers.

Unless a portion or all of current taxes were canceled upon a shift to a pay-as-you-go tax plan, Mr. Roosevelt said, a taxpayer would be confronted with the difficulty of paying present taxes and also saving for next year's taxes.

Mr. Roosevelt laughed and remarked that probably everybody felt the same way when a reporter interrupted a complicated question by saying he did not want to get things too involved.

The subject was brought up by a request for comment on the so-called Ruml pay-as-you-go tax program. The President said he thought we all were in favor of getting on a pay-as-we-go basis instead of saving out in 1942 the taxes we have to pay in 1943.

This is hard to do, he said. Some people think the only thing is to forgive all or a part of current taxes, he asserted, so that people would not be paying two tax bills at once.

The subject of increased taxes or compulsory loans, or both, was under renewed discussion last night as Mr. Roosevelt prepared to submit on Monday his record-shattering budget for the next fiscal year.

Expenditures in the year are expected to approximate 100 billion dollars. A highly placed Government official, who cannot be quoted by name, said Mr. Roosevelt might recommend that Congress, through legislation, take steps to increase Treasury receipts to 50 billion dollars.

This might entail, the official said, not only an increase in present taxes, but some form of compulsory loans by individuals. However, there was no definite word that Mr. Roosevelt actually had decided to support compulsory loans.

Some statisticians have estimated that the present tax laws might raise 35 billion dollars in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. This is 10 billion dollars more than previous official estimates of annual returns and is based on a Department of Commerce forecast that national income might go as high as 135 billion dollars annually.

Thus a 15 billion dollars gap, to be met either by increased taxes or compulsory loans, would exist between receipts under the present law and the proposed new goal. The remaining 50 billion dollars would have to be raised by voluntary purchases of bonds and other securities.

The President was understood to be planning only general financing recommendations, leaving it up to Congress to write its own tax ticket.

Advocates of paying-as-you-go insist that the Treasury would lose revenue only when an individual taxpayer died or when his income was sharply reduced. They have pointed out that it would make little difference in the amount a taxpayer pays from year to year, except that he would be free of debt at the end of each year and would not owe back taxes when he died. The individual's estate thus would not be subject to levy for back income taxes.

The President said he hadn't considered fully the estate question, since that was looking into the future. The whole matter would have to be worked out on an actuarial basis, he added.

Congressional leaders said the President's qualified indorsement was likely to spur consideration of the pay-as-you-go plan. Chairman George (Democrat), Georgia, of the Senate Finance Committee has advocated adoption of the modified version of the scheme and Senator Vandenberg (Republican), Michigan, said he was all for it.

Youth Kills Self Over Pleasure Driving Ban

Amsterdam, N. Y., Jan. 8 (AP).—Verne Patterson, 19, committed suicide by hanging, Coroner James B. Conant said today, because he feared the ban against pleasure driving would prevent his frequent 6-mile trips to the movies.

Williams Hears NYA Declared 'Unnecessary'

National Youth Administrator Aubrey Williams yesterday appeared before the Joint Economy Committee in one of his periodic fights for the life of NYA, but, while it was his contention that the NYA war-industry training program is the cheapest the Government has, his agency last night seemed to be headed for certain extinction by Congress.

Williams warned the committee at a public hearing that unless the Government steps up its training programs, the flow of new workers into war industries will "fall far short" of the country's 1943 manpower needs.

War contractors with training programs are allowed 2 per cent of their contract price to cover the cost of training, Williams said. War industries pay trainees rates ranging from 50 to 70 cents an hour, he added. The War Department, he stated, pays its trainees from 29 cents to $1.25 an hour. Against these rates Williams contrasted the average NYA rate of 17 cents an hour.

Pleads for Support

"People interested in economy ought to support the NYA," he contended.

"My judgment would be that you are doing what we (taxpayers) are paying a half-dozen others (Government agencies and industry) for doing and it is unnecessary," countered Senator McKellar (Democrat) of Tennessee.

Senator Byrd (Democrat) of Virginia, the chairman, stated last night that the committee would meet early next week, go over data accumulated on NYA from Budget Bureau officials, supplemented by yesterday's hearing, and would then formulate its recommendations as to the fate of the agency.

Windup Urged Before

It was a foregone conclusion, however, that the committee, which about a year ago recommended liquidation of NYA and transfer of its war-industry training functions to the Office of Education, would come back with this or a similar proposal for 1943.

The move to liquidate NYA will be made either in a separate resolution, such as the bill sponsored in the House by Representative Dirksen (Republican) of Illinois, or by action of Appropriations Committees.

On the subject of the inadequacy of the Government's training program, Williams told the committee that war industries in 1943 will need four million new workers, most of whom, because of the rate at which men are being drafted for military duty, will be women without industrial experience.

"All the training facilities you can put your hands on are not going to be enough," he said.

Bid for Another Term Discerned By Rep. Gifford in Roosevelt Message

Representative Gifford (Republican) of Massachusetts yesterday hinted that President Roosevelt's message of Thursday was a bid for a fourth term, and Republicans launched broadsides at the Administration's domestic policies.

Gifford, quoting the words "the country knows where I stand" from the President's message to Congress, told the House that if the country was "in doubt where to get a candidate next year" it would know where Mr. Roosevelt stands.

His statement came during criticism of the President's address by a number of Republicans and echoed in the House Chamber the off-the-floor comments made Thursday by Representative Holmes of Washington.

Holmes said the message on the state of the union "might possibly be construed as a good campaign speech for the 1944 presidential election. The question might be asked 'Did President Roosevelt throw his hat into the ring on January 7, 1943?'"

(Mr. Roosevelt, in his discussion of what he described as the necessity of providing assurance to the young people of the Nation against all major economic hazards told the Congress: "If the security of the individual citizen, or the family, should become a subject of national debate, the country knows where I stand.")

Gifford told the House the President's speech was "a remarkable message, in which there is little to find fault." He then declared:

"We find much fault with the omissions we have noted. Nothing of our weaknesses were pointed out, as is customary in Presidential messages. Our weaknesses are necessities will be brought to us in driblets, so as to be less noticed."

The determination of the Congress to win the war was so predominant, he told the House, that "our President dared make mention but tiringly of social security."

Representative Hoffman (Republican) of Michigan interceded to attack various Administration labor policies. Representative Crawford (Republican) of Michigan took a copy of the President's speech and criticized various sections. One Republican member asked if Congress remembered "what happened to the Supreme Court under the New Deal."

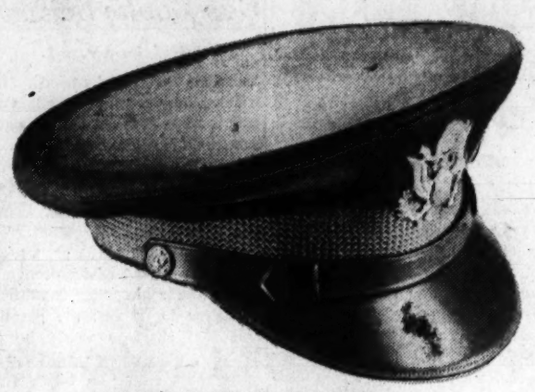
Gifford waved to the Democratic side and declared: "Your leaders, who are supposed to lead you, go to the White House to take orders, and come back and drive you."

The Administration's Tennessee Valley Authority policy also came under attack and Representative Ditter (Republican) of Pennsylvania urged Democrats of the House to speak up in defense of the Administration.

Representative Voorhis (Democrat) of California called for cooperation and constructive criticism within Congress and reviewed a bill he has introduced which would give standing House committees a continuous check on the use of special wartime powers by executive agencies.

He urged the members not to take the "easy way" of winning reelection by supporting the war but opposing the hardship necessary for victory.

Raleigh Store Hours—9:30 to 6 p. m. Thursdays 12:30 to 9 p. m.



KNOX

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR ARMED FORCES FOR OVER 50 YEARS

KNOX ARMY 'DELUXE' FUR FELT CAP, finest fur felt in regulation color. 3-ply leather visor, soil-proof headshield, handsome Army insignia. Exclusive at..... $16.50

Army Officers' Barathea Caps.....$10
Army Officers' Elastique Caps.....$10
Army Officers' Wool Felt Caps..$12.50

KNOX NAVY BLUE CAP, regulation blue, interchangeable with 2 white covers, leather visor, fine gold braid strap, complete with insignia. Exclusive at...$18.50

RALEIGH HABERDASHER
WASHINGTON'S FINEST MEN'S WEAR STORE 1310 F Street

COAL MERCHANTS REQUEST YOUR AID IN STORING COAL

Acute manpower shortage makes it practically impossible to provide men to put coal in customers' bins.

Householders' co-operation is requested in arranging for their own storage of coal during present emergency.

Coal Division
Merchants & Manufacturers Association

THE KEY

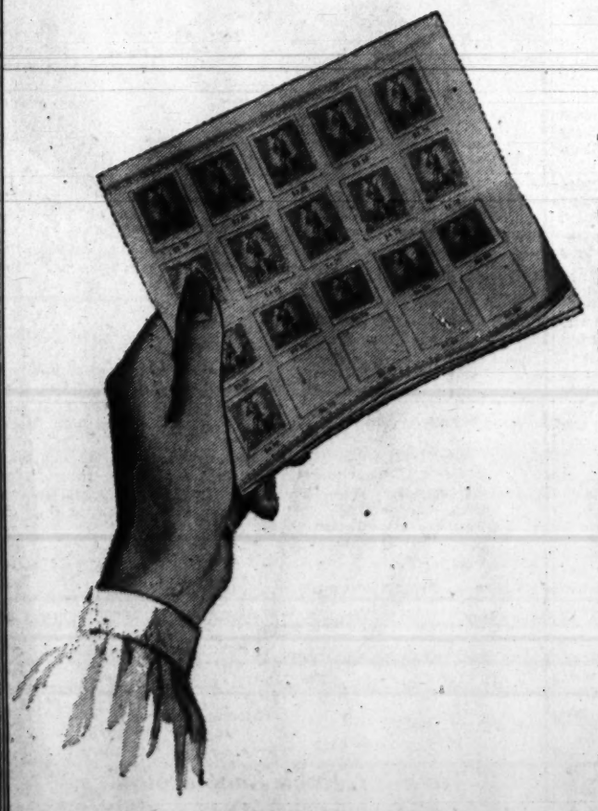
to a luxury luncheon in a luxury room is your choice of the Lafayette for Saturday's noonday meal. Our wine cellar key helps make our

CLARET and Spaghetti Luncheon
With Tenderloin Meatballs and Sauce 85c

The sauce takes 6 hours to coax from tomatoes, peppers, onions, spices, meat stock and wine; the meatballs are finely ground prime beef, seasoned to tease your taste, and the spaghetti is luscious semolina the tastiest kind of all. Your own individual decanter of claret included, not mentioning French bread and butter.

Lafayette ROOM
HOTEL LAFAYETTE
16th & Eye Streets

Complete Your Unfilled War Savings Stamp Books



The United States Treasury estimates that Unfilled War Savings Stamp Books are responsible for withholding approximately $1,875,000,000

Worth of

War Savings Stamps

CONVERT YOUR STAMP BOOKS INTO BONDS NOW
SO UNCLE SAM CAN CONVERT THEM INTO GUNS!

THE HECHT CO.
F STREET, 7th STREET, E STREET NATIONAL 5100

OPA Decrees New Margins For 9 Foods

New and uniform retail and wholesale margins on nine food commodities were established yesterday by the Office of Price Administration in line with its policy of simplifying and standardizing retail food prices.

The OPA said prices of some of the commodities would increase slightly but others would drop, making little if any difference in the cost of living.

Products covered are coffee, all canned fish, cooking and salad oils, hydrogenated and other shortenings, cornmeal, canned citrus fruits and juices, evaporated and condensed milk, pure maple syrup and pure corn syrup and flour and flour mixes.

The order becomes effective January 14 except on evaporated and condensed milk, on which the order goes into effect today.

The OPA said the regulation would be followed by broader action on a wide range of products, including meats and staple groceries.

Varying percentages were allowed in the margins for super markets, smaller chain stores and small independents.

Each storekeeper is to apply the uniform mark-up to his net cost to obtain the dollars and cents retail price.

For example, in fixing the price of coffee, chain stores or independents with an annual volume of $250,000 or more will be allowed 11 per cent above net cost; chain stores with annual volume under $250,000 will be permitted 12 per cent, and independents with less than $250,000 will be allowed 17 per cent.

For the same commodity, Class 1 retail-owned cooperatives will be allowed 5.5 per cent; Class 2, cash and carry, 6.5 per cent, and Class 3, service and delivery, 9 per cent.

Maximum prices will be established on the basis of net cost of the most recent purchase, with the period allowed for recalculation from January 14 to February 10.

Gas Violation Suspect Freed On $1500 Bail

Samuel M. Sowder, 29, of 3420 P Street Northwest, a former clerk at Ration Board No. 30, was at liberty under $1500 bail last night on the charge of illegally transferring gasoline coupons.

SOWDER

He posted the surety following an arraignment before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage shortly before noon yesterday. He pleaded not guilty of violating the National Defense Act as amended by the second War Powers Act.

Specifically the accusation was that he "did unlawfully transfer or assign six B gasoline rationing coupons to Carl Jones, said coupons having been issued to Samuel M. Sowder."

Complaint against the defendant was filed by Detective Armstrong of the District Attorney's office and Charles Cannon, OPA investigator, the officers who arrested Sowder in the 1700 block Connecticut Avenue Northwest, Wednesday.

Hearing on the charge was delayed due to absence of Sowder's attorney, Stephen Ingham, and the case was continued until next Friday at 10 a. m.

Sowder was taken into custody after local authorities were notified of the arrest in Miami, Fla., of a gasoline "black market" suspect. The latter is alleged to have had coupons calling for a million gallons of gasoline and that some of the coupons came from Washington.

The District Attorney's office and OPA investigators began an inquiry about a month ago when coupons disappeared in large numbers from No. 30 Board at Sixteenth and Lamont Streets Northwest.

The Miami arrest involved Eugene Hale Brading, 27, and officials said his seizure broke a "Nation-wide black market ring which had its roots in Washington."

It was expected last night that additional arrests will be made and that more far-reaching results in breaking up the black market will be disclosed here shortly.

Veronica Lake Having An Appendectomy

Hollywood, Jan. 8 (INS).—Veronica Lake was rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital for an emergency appendectomy this evening.

Verconica had been in pain all day and it was decided to operate immediately. Her mother was with her and accompanied her to the hospital.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

CREOMULSION

For Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

This Barefoot Boy . . . Is This Naval Hero . . .

Associated Press Photos

CAPTAIN DESCRIBES BATTLE TO SON—Capt. Thomas L. Gatch, commander of a battleship which shot down 32 Jap planes in a sea-air battle in the Pacific, describes the fight to his 17-year-old son, Thomas, jr., last night in their home, 3103 Macomb Street Northwest. At left—The naval hero is shown in Salem, Oreg., when he was a 9-year-old boy with a splinter in his bare foot. The woman probing for the sliver is Mrs. Sarah West, mother of his boyhood friend, Oswald West, who later became Governor of Oregon. Captain Gatch was commissioned after graduating from the Naval Academy at Annapolis priority aid is being asked.

Ersatz Rubber Setup in Peril, Jeffers Warns

RUBBER, from Page 1.

Twenty per cent of the program already has been granted a "special direction" by the War Production Board to guarantee speedy completion. The rest is snarled in conflict for materials and equipment with the high-octane aviation gasoline program and, to a lesser degree, with the escort ship construction program and with aircraft production.

(Other reliable sources said Jeffers' additional requests had been laid before President Roosevelt, in an effort to get a final decision on the treatment to be accorded these conflicting "must" programs. Jeffers would not confirm or comment upon this.

Near Danger Deadline

(These sources, not quotable by name, reported that the "special direction" for 20 per cent of the synthetic program gave it priority over all but equipment being produced for the North African campaign and such other urgent contracts as had triple-A priority standing and could be completed this month.

(The hundred-octane gasoline program, essential to the doubled 1943 aircraft production goals, likewise got a 20 per cent green light, it was said. The plants require almost identical items of equipment in many cases.)

"As our program now stands," Jeffers said, "the country's rubber inventories will skate right down to 120,000 tons next fall."

This, he said, is the danger deadline noted by the Baruch report, and it "is less than the working inventory of the industry in peacetime."

Actually, the Baruch committee had expected there would be 224,000 tons of all kinds of rubber in the Nation's reserves this September—the month when present supplies were expected to have reached their low-water mark and before synthetic comes into quantity production.

"We've already lost more than 100,000 tons of that through the delays so far," interjected Col. Bradley Dewey, deputy director.

"The reserve will dip right down and kiss the 120,000-ton danger line. In fact, we estimate we'll go 1000 tons below it."

This minimum inventory includes 50,000 tons as a 30-day inventory for the American rubber industry, 66,000 tons as a six-month inventory for Britain, and 4000 tons for Canada.

Dropping below 50,000 tons in this country would bring about "chaos," Jeffers said. Besides the threat to transportation, he pointed out, it would mean the shutdown of this country's rubber plants and the scattering of their manpower far and wide, posing an almost insuperable task of reassembling the workers.

Margaret Sullavan Retires From Films

Mexico City, Jan. 8 (INS).—Screen Star Margaret Sullavan today announced her retirement from the movies to devote her full attention to her three children.

Miss Sullavan came to Mexico with her husband, Actor Leland Heyward, who was invited to visit the country by Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, Mexican minister of national defense.

SMITH'S YES

WE HAVE STORAGE SPACE

Local & Long Distance MOVING

25

OUR SERVICE FLAG

1313 YOUST N.W.

NO. 3343

SMITH'S TRANSFER & STORAGE CO

Gas Books Seized in New York Drive

TAGS, from Page 1.

had their ration books seized. Most cities, however, reported OPA agents active, but did not list actual seizures of ration books.

Warning of still further action to avert "serious hardships in many places" during January or February, came from Washington. The Petroleum Industry War Council adopted a report of its economics committee saying that additional measures to combat the gasoline and fuel shortage would be inevitable, unless more military requirements could be taken from sources other than the East Coast, or "a few more tankers can be spared without impairing our first responsibility of supplying our military forces and our Allies."

1000 Virginians Cited For Violating Gas Ban

Richmond, Va., Jan. 8 (AP).—Chief State Attorney T. Nelson Parker said today that notices of violations of the ban on pleasure auto driving had been handed to more than 1000 Virginians.

Parker issued his statement after a conference with OPA investigators, and State, county and local police officials.

Meanwhile the OPA, in a move to bring about more rigid enforcement of the emergency gas measure, invested in local war price and rationing boards the power of revoking gasoline rations of those who are found to have violated the ruling.

OPA officials said that by tomorrow night Virginians would either decide to stop driving for pleasure or hundreds of motorists would be given notices. The OPA said that in Richmond Thursday between 300 and 400 notices were handed out.

Army Names More Plane Crash Dead

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 8 (AP).—The Columbia Army Air Base announced today the names of two more airmen killed in the crash of an Army bomber at Myrtle Beach Wednesday which took the lives of six, and critically injured a seventh member of the crew.

The dead announced were Flight Officer Raymond Strever, 23, pilot, Aurora, Ill.; and Flight Officer Warren S. Kendrick, co-pilot, White Bear, St. Paul, Minn., Staff Sergt. Theodore D. Casten, Philadelphia, Pa., was critically injured.

Paraguay Names Attache to Washington

Asuncion, Paraguay, Jan. 8 (AP).—Col. Luis Santiviago, former minister of the interior, has been named Paraguayan military attache in Washington, it was announced today.

President Explains Speech Omission

BLACK, from Page 1.

last sentence on the page. On the next page the first paragraph likewise was marked for deletion, so in the ninth draft of his composition the one sentence that it had been his intent to save likewise was dropped out.

Mr. Roosevelt asked reporters to see that it was given publicity, in justice to the shipworkers of the country. The sentence read:

"In 1942 we built 8,090,000 tons of merchant ships. In this we exceeded the goal set."

At another point, a reporter asked the Chief Executive about a lack of applause when he told the legislators that "we do not intend to leave things so lax that loopholes will be left for cheaters, for chiselers, or for the manipulators of the black market" in rationed goods.

The President replied with a little lesson in construction of speeches.

Sometimes, he said, several ideas are incorporated into a sentence and sometimes the sentence ends with a strong note and sometimes with a weak note. In the one in question, he said that the reference to the black market was the weakest note and that the phrases were not written for applause.

Dealers Told to Cease All Oil Favoritism

OIL, from Page 1.

with tanks dangerously low, being unable to purchase oil despite the fact there may be thousands of gallons of oil in that particular community," Henderson said.

In order to forestall any loopholes that dealers might find to circumvent the regulations and continue to practice discrimination, the order further prohibited any changes in the dealers' or suppliers' normal business practices which would discourage fuel oil purchases by new customers.

Contracts Nullified

A supplier's commitments and contracts with other dealers were nullified under the order, which stated the dealer must sell the required amount of oil regardless of previous commitments.

"This means that the total fuel oil stock in the hands of dealers and secondary suppliers in each market will be available to all users in that market on the basis of need," Henderson stated, adding that, "it will prevent situations from arising where one or two dealers, with ample stocks, refuse to fill the tanks of other dealers and secondary suppliers or households despite the fact that these buyers are able to present ration coupons."

The fuel oil situation on the home front remained fundamentally unchanged yesterday as representatives of nondwelling establishments attempted to solve their individual heating problems intensified by Thursday's OPA order slashing fuel oil rations 25 per cent.

Some Plan to Convert

Representatives of Washington's six largest department stores met yesterday with Arthur J. Sundlun, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, to discuss means of meeting the situation.

A divergence of individual problems prevented any central action being taken, an association spokesman said. A few of the stores, he pointed out, were fortunate in already having coal burning heating systems while others were attempting to obtain the necessary material which would allow them to convert their systems to coal.

One department store executive said the only solution he could see was to revert to the system used during the first World War which was to have "heatless Mondays," meaning that stores would turn down their heat at Saturday's closing hour and turn it up Tuesday morning.

Theaters were suffering from the dual problem of gas and fuel rationing, although in general the downtown houses were inclined to be optimistic. Officials did not believe the gas shortage would cut noticeably into their patronage, citing the fact that in instances where a small fee was charged for theater parking the usual number of cars parked during an entire evening did not exceed 50 or 60.

School Problem

The problem of heating the public schools was pending yesterday on a plea made by school officials to the District OPA office for additional allotments of fuel.

District OPA Director Whitney Leary said yesterday he had received a letter to this affect from Jere Crane, first assistant superintendent of schools, and stated he would make a decision in the matter sometime Monday.

Asked how long the present fuel oil slash would be in affect, a spokesman for the Petroleum Administrator for War said it would likely hold until present supplies were built up to the point where they could meet minimum demands with a certain margin of safety.

Lester Scott, a spokesman for the oil dealers and the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, made the following comment on yesterday's OPA order pooling present oil supplies:

"The OPA order of last night, to the effect that primary fuel oil dealers are to cease at once any discriminatory practices, is directed principally to primary suppliers and not to dealers as far as the Washington Metropolitan area is concerned."

"For the past several weeks," Scott continued, "Washington dealers have only been able to make deliveries to consumers who are out of oil, nearly out of oil, or in cases where rationing complications have prevented consumers from obtaining proper rationing."

In commenting on the hoarding aspect of the order, Scott said: "It is a well-known fact within the petroleum industry that certain primary suppliers have been hoarding fuel oil at certain points along the Eastern Seaboard including Washington."

He concluded his statement by saying the real purpose behind the order is to release the oil to dealers so that they may deliver it to the consumers.

Axis Tunisian Air Loss Twice Allied

London (Saturday), Jan. 9 (AP).—The total air score in Tunisia for the first two months of the campaign stands at 344 Axis planes destroyed against 147 Allied planes lost, a Reuters dispatch from Allied headquarters in North Africa reported early today.

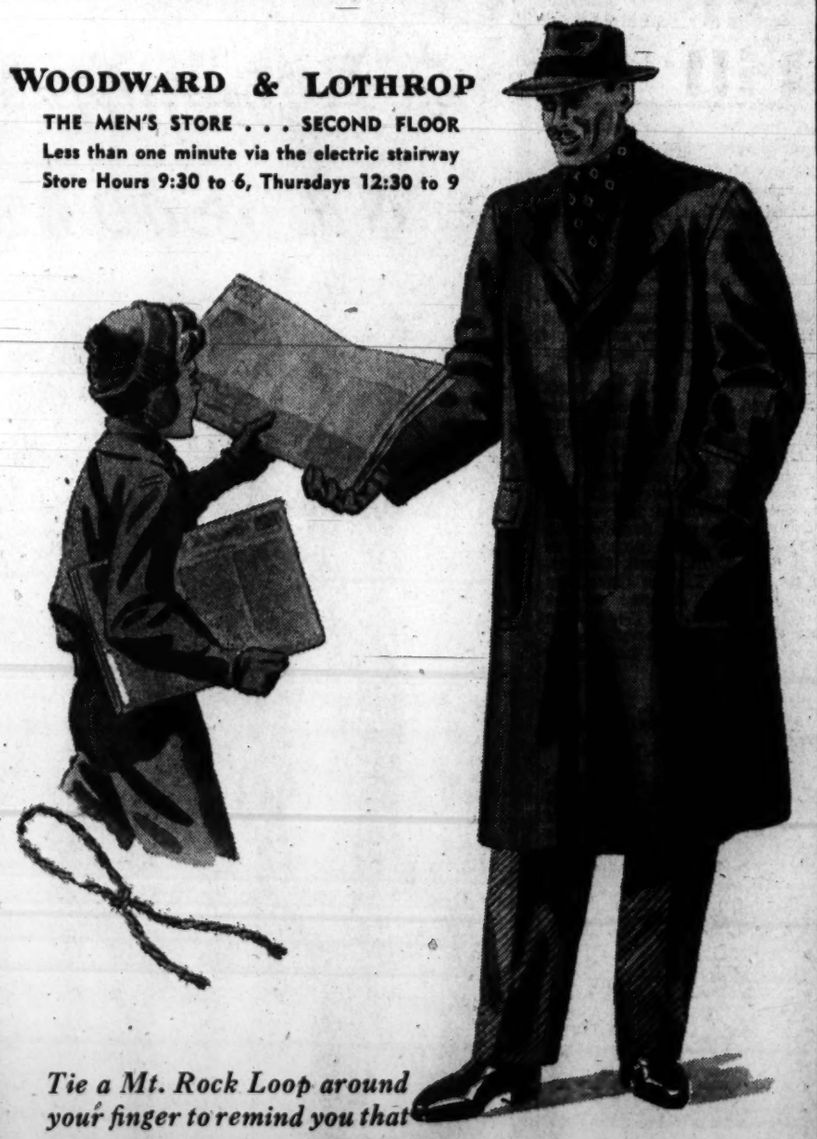
The dispatch said that 150 Axis planes were shot down by the R. A. F., 140 by the United States Army Air Force, 20 by antiaircraft fire, and 34 at night by undisclosed means.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

THE MEN'S STORE . . . SECOND FLOOR

Less than one minute via the electric stairway

Store Hours 9:30 to 6, Thursdays 12:30 to 9



Tie a Mt. Rock Loop around your finger to remind you that

Mt. Rock is the Right Overcoat for wear and warmth and comfortable lightness

Yes, that Mt. Rock Loop means an exclusive looming process that adds an extra closely-knit web of pure wool yarns to the Mt. Rock fabric. Makes your Mt. Rock Overcoat warmer because it brings all the warm fleece yarns to the surface in a perfect blend. Makes your Mt. Rock Overcoat lighter in weight because it permits the use of lighter, finer yarns. Acts as a buffer, too, against the shock and strain of hard wear and hard weather. Further proof? We suggest you see your size in a Mt. Rock Overcoat in The Men's Store at..... $55

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

10TH 11TH F AND G STREETS — PHONE DISTRICT 5300

Store Hours 9:30 to 6, Thursdays 12:30 to 9

★

A Partly-filled War Stamp Album is Like a Partly-equipped Soldier. Fill Those War Stamp Albums and Convert Them into War Bonds Now

VICTORY BOOTH, FIRST FLOOR; U. S. POST OFFICE, FIRST FLOOR; ALL SERVICE DESKS (except the First Floor).

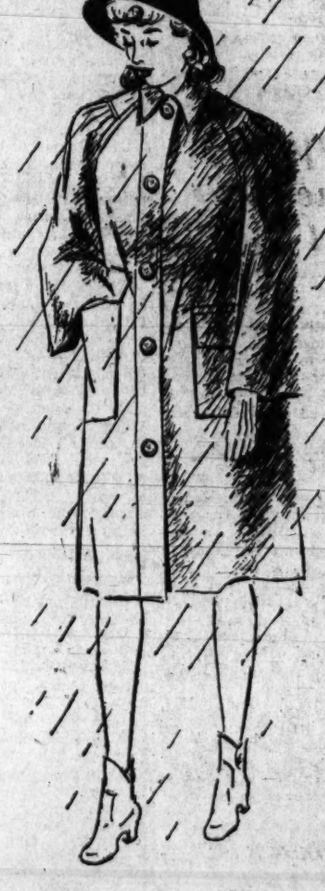
★

"Air-liner" Raincoat

smart shower-protector to wear over your heavy winter coats

This natural colored cotton poplin raincoat treated with Du Pont Zelan durable repellant finish keeps you warm and dry in unexpected showers. The wide, gathered sleeves with rayon lining make it so easy to slip over your heavy coats. So watch the clouds and wear your "Air-liner" during these coming rainy months. Sizes small, medium and large $8.50

UMBRELLAS, AISLE 16, FIRST FLOOR



Carolina Pottery

skillfully hand-wrought and "fired" with the brilliant hues of mountain forests

Such a varied selection of pottery pieces to adorn your tables, mantles and sideboards and charm your rooms with their "homey" accents. Vases, bowls and pitcher vases, each with the quaintly rustic touch of the mountain craftsmen. We illustrate a few:

Pitcher Vase.....$1

Fruit or Flower Bowl $1.50

Miniature Basket Vase 60c

Others priced from 60c to $7.50

THE GIFT SHOP, FIFTH FLOOR

New Security Data to Go To Congress

President Roosevelt disclosed yesterday that he expected to submit some data and facts to Congress on the social security question, but he said he did not know whether he would recommend any specific legislation to the legislators soon.

He made the disclosure at a press conference in which he gave qualified indorsement to the idea of putting income taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The real problem in all such tax plans, he said, is whether the Government will forgive a part or all of current taxes due.

Mr. Roosevelt also told questioners that he hoped for a United Nations victory in 1944 and had intended to convey that hope in his message to Congress Thursday.

As for social security, he suggested to the reporters that they wait and see what he does.

In his message to Congress Thursday, Mr. Roosevelt said the young men and women of the country want assurance against all major economic hazards from the cradle to the grave and that the Government can and must provide it. He said he trusted the subject would not be regarded as an issue, but as a task for everyone to study sympathetically and to work out with fairness to all.

He was asked whether he had gone as far as he cared to in discussing the matter of expanding the social security program and replied in the affirmative.

"May we anticipate a special message later on?" a reporter inquired.

The President said he did not know but that probably he would submit some information, facts and data to the Congress. A part of this information, he said, will be a postwar plan being prepared by the National Resources Planning Board.

Recalling that previously the Chief Executive had suggested that domestics, farm laborers and others now excluded be brought into the scope of the social security program, a questioner wanted to know whether he intended to go further along that line. He responded merely, again, that he intended to submit data It will take a long time to study the data and find out what it is all about, he added.

Replying to an additional question, he said the subject ought not to be controversial as to objective, although there was room for differences on methods. It would be a great pity for the objective to be lost through disagreement on details, he asserted.

There are a great many methods of arriving at the objective, the President said, and that is a congressional function.

12 Trapped In Mine Fire Feared Lost

By the Associated Press

Morgantown, W. Va., Jan. 8.—Harry McNary, senior engineer of the United States Bureau of Mines' mineral resources division, expressed doubt tonight that any of 12 men, trapped by an underground fire in the No. 15 mine of the Pursglove Mining Co., were alive.

A fire in a mine motor caught 78 members of the night shift underground.

The body of one miner already was recovered, 65 were known to be safe and late tonight company officials said they had definitely determined that 12 men were trapped

Late tonight rescue crews wearing gas masks could make but slow progress because of the heat.

Guy Quinn, 38-year-old night foreman and father of two children, went back into the mine to open two ventilating doors.

Quinn's body was taken from the flaming mine after it was found by rescue workers beside the second ventilating door he had succeeded in opening. He died of suffocation, company doctors said.

Child Dead 5 Days; Parents Argue Over Undertaker

Cleveland, Jan. 8 (AP).—For five days, 5-month-old Kenneth William Krashevec lay dead in his crib because his parents could not agree who should call an undertaker, the mother told police today.

Mrs. Theresa Krashevec, 33, said she found the baby dead when she returned from a New Year's eve celebration.

"My husband was in bed when I got back," Mrs. Krashevec told detectives. "We got into a fight over who should call the undertaker."

The mother said she and her husband argued until Krashevec left Monday and that she had been seeking him since. Yesterday the landlord, Morris Goldberg, stopped for the rent, learned the child was dead and called police, who held Mrs. Krashevec for questioning.

Coroner S. R. Gerber said the child died of "neglect and exposure to cold."

Palmer, Princeton Benefactor, Dies

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP).—Edgar Palmer, industrialist and philanthropist who made a fortune out of zinc and donated Palmer Memorial Stadium to Princeton University, died today after an illness of one week. He was 62.

Palmer, a trustee of Princeton, gave Palmer Stadium in memory of his father, the late Stephen S. Palmer. It was built in 1914 and seats 55,000 spectators at football games.

Palmer was born in New York and was graduated from Princeton in 1903.

Ursula Parrott Indicted in Soldier's Escape

By the Associated Press

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8.—Ursula Parrott, the novelist, was indicted today by a Federal grand jury on three counts in connection with the escape of a soldier from an Army stockade.

One count charged her with "subversive activities in undermining loyalty, discipline or morale of the armed forces."

Other counts accuse her of enticing Pvt. Michael Neely Bryan into a desertion from the United States Army and of harboring a deserter.

Assistant United States District Attorney Ernest L. Duhaime said the penalty for the crime charged in the subversive count, upon conviction, could be as high as 10 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

So far as is known, he said, this was the first case in which such a charge was made. The law was enacted by Congress on June 28, 1940.

Mrs. Parrott, according to Duhaime, visited Bryan on December 28 at the stockade in Miami Beach, where he was serving a term on an AWOL charge, and drove off with the soldier concealed in the rumble seat of her car.

The following day, Mrs. Parrott surrendered Bryan to Federal authorities, and was taken into custody.

At a preliminary hearing, before the United States commissioner, the author said that she acted "on an impulse" and absolved Bryan from any blame in connection with the escape.

However, she entered a plea of innocence, and has since been free under a $1000 bond.

Mrs. Parrott's trial is scheduled for the February term of the Federal District Court here.

Negro Churches Ask President To Lift Race Ban

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP).—The Fraternal Council of Negro Churches in America today issued a statement calling for "fair employment practices of all capable persons without regard to color or creed" and urging President Roosevelt "as a matter of war emergency to suspend all racial discrimination on public carriers."

The statement, issued following a meeting of the council's executive committee.

Carr Sees Dictatorship

Denver, Jan. 8 (AP).—Retiring Gov. Ralph L. Carr, unsuccessful last November as an anti-New Deal candidate for the Senate, told the Assembly today "there exists in this country a plan to commence the remodeling of the lives of American freemen on a basis so dictorial, so monarchistic, so bearreaucratic that its very exposition proves its hostility to our American form of government.

"I predict," his message said "that unless something intervenes to stop them, within six months the details will be made public of schemes which first will shock and then absolutely astonish the entire American citizenry. . . .

"Surveys are being made over great sections of the country involving people who have little in common beyond the fact they all breathe the same air and are American citizens. These plans seek to establish an average, educationally and socially, over a series of sections which offer no common basis on which to draw it."

D. C. Marriages Increase 46% Over Year Ago

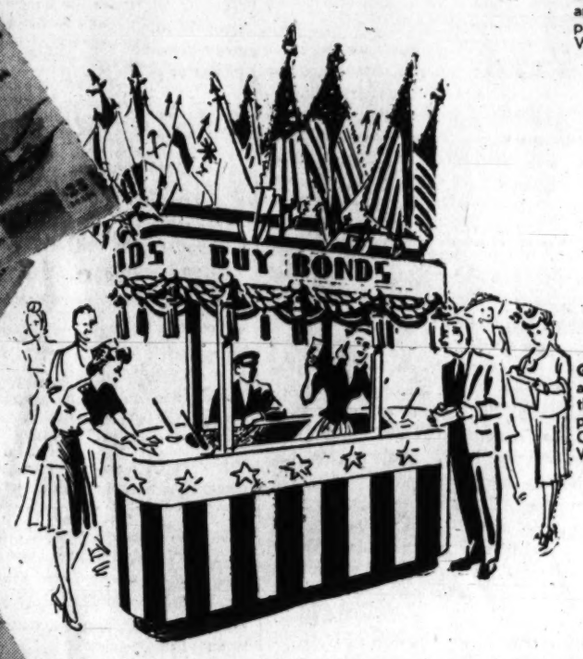
The increase in marriages here during the first 11 months of 1942 was exceeded by only 12 other cities, it was learned yesterday.

In a survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of 86 cities of 100,000 or more inhabitants, it was found that marriages in the United States last year averaged about 80 per cent above the number for 1932.

Washington alone showed a 46 per cent increase over a year ago. San Diego had the greatest increase, with 176 per cent.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
10TH 11TH F AND G STREETS
PHONE DISTRICT 5300

The Thompson sub-machine gun is one of the most effective war weapons, firing about 600 shots per minute, and costing $150. Increase the fire power of your soldiers—seven $18.75 War Bonds buys a "Tommy gun."

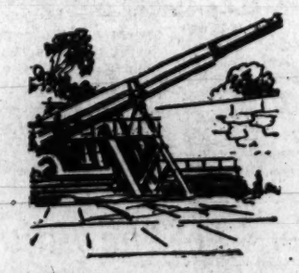


Gas masks issued today are insurance against a badly-frightened enemy—the style shown here is a great improvement over World War I days. Cost $9.25 each. One of your $18.75 War Bonds buys two gas masks.

Flying gloves are regularly issued equipment for American aviators. They are sturdy, well-made gloves, costing $1.50 pair. Every time you purchase $1.50 in War Stamps you buy a pair of gloves for an aviator.

Steel helmets today protect our soldiers from shrapnel fragments and other sharp missiles. We need thousands of them for they are regular issue to every American soldier. Cost: $5 or twenty 25c War Stamps.

Fill Those War Stamp Albums and Convert Them into War Bonds Now



The sixteen-inch coast gun is the most powerful of all American guns and cost about $2,000,000 each. For defense of our homes, we need many of these powerful weapons. Help pay for them by buying War Bonds.

The torpedo bomber scatters and destroys both enemy fighting ships and convoys. They use a bomb something like a sub torpedo. Each torpedo bomber costs about $188,000. Help buy one with your War Bonds today.

The aviation first-aid kit is somewhat larger than the regular first-aid kit issued to every soldier—costing about $5. Twenty 25c War Stamps buys one of these—seventy-five 25c War Stamps buys a War Bond.

The Treasury Department estimates that 100 million War Stamp Albums are waiting to be filled—representing $1,875,000,000 our fighting forces need desperately

Yes, 1 billion, 875 million dollars worth of fighting equipment for our Army, Navy and Marines . . . tied up in 100 million incomplete War Stamp Albums. Why every partly-filled War Stamp Album you have at home now—in your wallet—in your pocket-book—is a potential War Bond. If you will fill your War Stamp Albums now—this month—this equipment can be provided.

A bright shiny new shovel comes in the equipment of every Marine—those fox holes on Guadalcanal were dug with them. Yet the cost is moderate—$1.07 complete—your $18.75 War Bond buys seventeen of them.

The 45-caliber automatic pistol is part of the regular armament for a U. S. soldier. We need millions of these firearms to equip our army—millions costing $65 each.

A half-filled War Stamp Album is "too little" . . . an Album you expect to fill and convert into a War Bond "soon" may be "too late." Say yes when you are asked to buy War Stamps. Buy a War Stamp every time you pass our Victory Booth, Post Office or Service Desk or go to your neighborhood Post Office, Trust Company or Building and Loan Association.

Surgical bandages are the first essential in the equipment of Army and Navy medical units—thousands of rolls. Your investment in War Bonds and Stamps goes to help purchase bandages that may save a soldier's life.

A clip of five cartridges for a Garand rifle seems like a mighty small thing in this great war effort—but we need millions to do the job. Every time you buy a 10c War Stamp—some soldier is better equipped.

An incomplete War Stamp Album collects no interest—your War Bonds pay off $4 for $3 ten years after you convert your Album into a War Bond. Get that War Stamp habit today—"tomorrow" you have a War Bond.

A Partly-filled Album is Like a Partly-equipped Soldier—Inefficient

Where You Can Buy War Stamps and Bonds at Woodward & Lothrop: Victory Booth, First Floor; U. S. Post Office, First Floor; All Service Desks (except the First Floor).

The Washington Post

Registered in U. S. Patent Office.

An Independent Newspaper.
(Published every day in the year.)

Eugene Meyer, Editor and Publisher.

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and local news of spontaneous origin published herein. Rights of republication of all other matter herein are also reserved.

New York Office.....370 Madison Avenue
Chicago Office.....360 North Michigan Avenue

CARRIER DELIVERY

District of Columbia and Suburban Areas:

Daily and Sunday Editions..... 15 Cents Per Week
Daily Editions Only..... 10 Cents Per Week
Sunday Editions Only..... 10 Cents Per Week

BY MAIL—PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One year...$12.00	One year....$5.25	One year....$7.00
Six months. 6.25	Six months.. 2.75	Six months.. 3.75
One month. 1.10	One month.. .50	One month.. .70

Other States, Mexico and Canada

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One year...$12.75	One year....$5.50	One year....$7.50
Six months. 7.00	Six months.. 3.00	Six months.. 4.25
One month. 1.20	One month.. .55	One month.. .75

Rates to Foreign Countries not listed will be furnished upon request.

Entered at the Postoffice, Washington, D. C., as second-class mail matter.

TELEPHONE NATIONAL 4200.

Saturday, January 9, 1943

Group Taxi Riding

The virtual breakdown of the limited compulsory group-riding system supposedly applicable to the District taxicabs at rush hours has made it necessary for the PUC to reexamine the scale of group charges and consider ways and means of making the system effective. Hearings on the subject, to be opened shortly, will afford a much needed opportunity for airing grievances and threshing out differences of opinion. The problem is difficult. To be sure, the PUC's orders have been more honored in the breach than in the observance. Nevertheless, with the best will in the world, it has often been impossible to work out a fair apportionment of charges among group riders in accordance with PUC directions. As a result of the existing uncertainty and the certain embarrassment growing out of attempts to comply with official orders, many drivers in self-protection have refused to cooperate in the share-the-cab program. Moreover, the ones that do cooperate have come to expect that passengers will pay full fares even if they are riding as members of a group. In view of emergency conditions, most patrons have been disposed to comply with such demands.

It is obviously unreasonable for cab drivers to charge full fares for each passenger in a group. Such extreme demands—which are now to a large extent effective—should be dismissed as excessive. On the other hand, it would be extremely shortsighted for the PUC or the OPA (likewise an interested party) to put too much pressure upon cab owners to keep rates down. What the community needs is a scale of rates that will give drivers the needed incentive to participate wholeheartedly in the pick-up system of transportation. Since it is more time-consuming and more costly to pick up and carry to different destinations several passengers than to transport a single passenger, liberal allowances should be made to compensate for the extra effort.

Given a schedule of group transportation charges that the public could understand, plus rate differentials that afforded cab drivers opportunities for greater profits, within reason, compulsion would probably not be necessary to assure full utilization of taxicabs. As a matter of self-interest drivers would cooperate and riders who objected would meet with the short answer they deserve.

Even under the present muddled system, group riding might have been fairly successful if the public had reported drivers who failed to stop on signal in defiance of PUC orders. But a confused public is not in a position to do an intelligent job of policing. When the District system has been reformed so that the man in the street feels free to assert his rights, enforcement problems will take care of themselves.

Buchmanites

Twenty-eight members of the Buchmanite cult in New York are reported to be seeking deferment from induction into military service. It will be noted that this deferment is being sought not on a point of conscientious scruple against participation in war but wholly on a point of national expediency. The 28 members of the group are all aliens, and all of them are classified as A-1 registrants. But they claim to be engaged in "morale building" activities which are of more importance to the war than any service they might give as U. S. soldiers or sailors. It seems that by presenting some sort of pantomimes or playlets to factory workers, they are helping to increase production and to eliminate slowdowns in industry. These activities evidently have the support of various influential persons here in Washington, which seems to explain why the cases were reopened by the New York State Director of Selective Service.

If this is a new form of conscientious objection, it strikes us as a rather disingenuous one. Until now conscientious objection in the United States has taken one of three forms. There are those whose religious opposition to war was so extreme that they refused even to register for selective service. Members of this group have preferred to go to prison rather than to comply with a law which they felt was invalidated by the higher law of their individual consciences. While one may deplore their obduracy, they have made their position perfectly clear and were willing to accept the consequences of having taken it. A larger group registered, but claimed exemption from service under the provisions of the law. Members of this group have been placed in special camps, maintained at their own expense or at the expense of the religious bodies to which they belong, and are employed in various kinds of public works not directly related to the military effort. Their position, too, is clear. A third group, possibly larger but mostly unorganized, has been willing to enter the services in one or another of the branches in which they will not be required to shed blood. Their position is likewise clear.

The position of the Buchmanites has no such clarity. Neither is it at all clear by what process of reasoning so many highly placed persons conclude that these men are more important to war industry than any 28 of the thousands of highly skilled workers who have been drafted into the Army.

Freedom No. 2

New York's Court of Appeals has courageously reasserted that religious freedom is a right which must be respected and preserved by governments, even though it had to fly in the face of the United States Supreme Court to do so. The immediate effect of its decision is to free Carmen Barber from the penalties which Monroe County tried to inflict upon him for his attempt to sell a Bible without a license. But it would not be surprising if the ultimate effect is much more far-reaching. Together with the trend of the times, this outspoken defense of basic human rights under our system of government may well force the Supreme Court to withdraw from the indefensible position it took last June.

The New York court held that it was not bound by the Supreme Court decision limiting the scope of freedom of religion and of the press under the Federal Constitution. Its judgment was based entirely upon the rights of citizens under New York's own basic law. In other words, the court refused to permit encroachments upon individual freedom in New York merely because the Supreme Court had let down the bars in the country as a whole. The effect is to give a second line of protection to rights that Americans have always regarded as sacred.

Nevertheless the reversal of the decision of last June is much to be desired. In that opinion Justice Reed, speaking for the majority of a sharply divided court, declared in effect that religious proselyting may be limited by legislative bodies to times, places and methods that are not at odds with the preservation of peace and good order. To assert such a right on the part of any legislative body is to give it a weapon that might be used to destroy the freedom of teaching and preaching. Chief Justice Stone and three of his fellow justices pointed out the dangers of the decision at the time. Yet it stands as a particularly flagrant blot on the court's reputation for liberal defense of civil liberties.

Justices Douglas, Murphy and Black used the occasion of this dissent to confess a change of heart in another case involving a member of Jehovah's Witnesses. Apparently they now believe that the court should have condemned ordinances requiring children of this sect to salute the flag against their religious scruples. In any event, the court agreed the other day to hear another case involving the compulsory salute to the flag. Here again a courageous panel of judges, headed by Judge John J. Parker, whose nomination to the Supreme Court was rejected in 1930 because of a malicious political fight, set the pace by refusing to follow the Supreme Court's previous ruling. So the court has an opportunity to review its findings in the light of heightened appreciation of democratic rights.

We hope that the Monroe County ordinance penalizing men and women for selling the Bible without a license will likewise be laid before the highest tribunal. It would give the court a chance to withdraw the really dangerous limitation it has laid upon religious freedom. Once that issue is fully examined in its relation to the basic philosophy of American government, we cannot believe that the Supreme Court will cling to the narrow view it took last June.

In Congress' Lap

Senators Kilgore and Pepper have laid in the lap of the new Congress one of the most momentous issues it is likely to consider. They have reintroduced their bill to create an economic general staff, and that measure is given an impressive boost by Senator Pepper's subcommittee, which has made an extensive study of the present war-production program. Shortly before the President made his optimistic report on the output of weapons, this subcommittee predicted that discrepancies between production goals and actual performance will be so great six months hence as to call for "sweeping shake-ups." It believes that the Nation is not yet organized for total war and that we shall have a piling up of staggering problems until a more comprehensive and unified mobilization of civilian effort can be attained.

The subcommittee complains that the battle to expand raw material facilities is still a losing fight; that lack of balance is hampering a smooth flow of weapons and threatening our postwar economy; that we are not yet using all our capacity to wage total war; and that the reorganization of the War Manpower Commission does not insure placement of the right man in the right place. The remedy it proposes is the assignment of full responsibility for mobilization on the home front to a single executive responsible to the President and advised by a representative board. Procurement of arms would thus pass from direct control of the Army and Navy to a civilian agency.

Vigorous opposition to the proposal may be expected from the armed services. They insist that the procurement of weapons is merely a part of the larger task of planning and fighting our battles on many fronts. Strategy and the production of weapons, they believe, are integral parts of the science of modern warfare. Since the armed services are primarily responsible for the outcome of the conflict, they should not be denied control over their own supplies of weapons. These are admittedly strong arguments which the Kilgore committee should meet squarely when it extends its hearings on the proposed legislation. Their weak point is that they ignore the basic fact about total war.

That basic fact is, of course, that total war is fought by an entire people and not by just the armed forces. To give the Army and Navy full control of war industry would be to make them dictators over our entire economy. That would involve control over the lives of millions of Americans. No democracy is likely to submit to such military domination even in wartime. So we are left with the alternatives of continuing the present divided controls, with their inevitable confusion, conflicting interests and waste motion, and organizing a unified agency to control both military and civilian production as well as manpower. We hope that Congress will explore the issue in the light of all the experience that has been gained to date but also in the light of basic principles that ought to be retained in time of war or peace.

Bow To Biddle

Now that the grand jury has presented the seditious conspiracy indictment of last Monday, the investigation job which was undertaken two years ago by our Dillard Stokes is over. Thirty-three persons and a New York newspaper stand accused of conspiring with the Nazi propaganda boss, Ulrich Fleischauer, to stir up mutiny and disloyalty in our armed forces. But before we leave the denouement to the courts, we should like to pay tribute to Attorney General Biddle and his staff. Every effort had been made by a group in Congress, notably Senators Wheeler and Taft, to discredit the grand jury investigation, and, in interviews in the press and by personal letter, to compel the Attorney General to abandon it. Take the case of Senator Wheeler. On December 20, in an interview, he called the prosecution of the alleged plotters "shocking," a "smear" and a "disgrace." In addition to attacking Mr. Stokes and this newspaper, he sought to bludgeon Mr. Biddle with the threat of a congressional probe.

Where Wheeler shrieked, Senator Taft viewed with alarm. In an exclusive interview with the Chicago Herald-American, which said that he weighed his words carefully, he cited this present case as an example of "something very close to fanaticism." He called it a witch hunt, a smear campaign. "Freedom of speech itself is at stake," stated Senator Taft, solemnly, "unless the general methods pursued by the Department of Justice are changed." The Senator, whom the newspaper called the leader of the "loyal opposition," even wrote a letter to Gerald B. Winrod, the Kansas agitator who was indicted, in which he said that the prosecutors ought to be disbarred.

The curious thing about this intervention by members of the House and Senate was that the protests were based upon conjecture. Neither Senator Taft nor Senator Wheeler, apparently, knew the defendants. Clearly they did not know the facts which our reporter had so painstakingly uncovered. Why, then, did they make such a fuss? The question is beyond us to answer, but, in view of the indictment, we feel that their extravagances will be generally regarded as irresponsible. They maligned not only this newspaper and its reporter but the Attorney General and the prosecutors in the Department of Justice, and the 23 honest citizens of the grand jury. The grand jury did its duty. And the Attorney General, by refusing to slug it out with the Senators in public, refused to be dragooned from doing his. Hats off to them!

Lend-Lease

Some harsh things have been said in Congress about the duplication of effort in the executive department. And for the most part they are true. But in this respect the pot is as black as the kettle, as was shown in the first day of business of the Seventy-eighth Congress. Senator Butler of Nebraska succeeded in having referred to the Committee on Appropriations the resolution which he has been threatening, namely, that a subcommittee of that committee shall investigate lend-lease operations. The duplication arises from the fact that very shortly lend-lease is to be investigated by a subcommittee of the Committee on Appropriations in connection with the application for more funds. Two investigations on the same subject by the Committee on Appropriations is surely one too many.

WHEN WINTER WANES

Winter wanes; I am eager now to hear
The carols and the warbled tunes
Of spring, the song of an open stream
Once more after weeks of quietness.
I want to walk through the softened fields
Where the warmth has spilled.
I will be glad when spring comes back
To take the chill, the ice and snow,
To open the hills to rain and sun again.

LANSING CHRISTMAN.

Spain's Allegiance

By Virginia Prewett

Of Strategic Importance

THE value of building up our fences in Latin America through cooperative political and economic policies there first became obvious to the American people in the mid-1930's when we began to learn how determinedly Nazi Germany was digging into our commercial interests there. It soon became apparent that the commercial drive was also a drive for political influence. When war in Europe began, observers started stressing the fact that Nazi political influence in Latin America could pave the way for actual military invasion of this hemisphere. Then it was that the military defense reasons for politico-economic cooperation among the American republics became apparent.

Since we have had to turn so desperately to Latin America for strategic supplies to supplement our own production of raw materials for war manufacturing, the direct ratio between political and economic cooperation in the New World and our military offensive power has become clear. With the opening of the African campaign, another important bearing that the situation within the hemisphere can have on the military campaign has begun to stand out.

Hispanic American Influence

This arises from the place Spain now has in the military picture and the special relationship that exists between Hispanic America and Spain.

Whether we start our African-based stroke into Europe up through France, through Italy or around the eastern end of the Mediterranean, Spain remains a possible path for a Nazi counter-drive that would, if successful, cut the United Nations armies' short line of communications and expose them to flanking attack. Spain could be used for such a drive against the armies that are fighting to establish invasion bases in Africa today. Since this is so, every move that Spain makes toward or away from collaboration with Nazi Germany will mean lives and time lost or saved for our armies.

There are two chief reasons why Hispanic America's present almost complete cooperation and collaboration with the United States can be counted as a counterbalance to Nazi influence in the thinking of the men who are guiding Spain's destiny today.

In the first place, Spain's diplomats and consuls are still in Latin America and they must know how every day is increasing that region's role as supplier of strategic materials for our war manufacturers. They would have to be blind not to see that we are organizing most of Latin America to produce in greater quantities. The picture of the tremendous resources of this hemisphere being marshaled into a vast war effort against the Axis must be formidable and thought-provoking even to the most pro-Nazi Spaniard.

In the second place, though the Spanish are very anxious to capitalize on race and language ties in Hispanic America, the fact is that Spain's relationship to those countries is that of a "mother" whose yoke was deeply felt and bitterly resented by her children. The Spanish Conquest was one of the cruelest in history, if not the most cruel, and Spain's colonial regime represented 300 years of impious exploitation that Hispanic America can never forget. The vocabulary of nearly every Hispanic American country has a word for Spaniard that is a term of contempt and dislike. It is the culture and civilization of France, not Spain, that these countries look up to and admire.

As anyone who has lived in Spain knows, the Spanish fully realize that they have this handicap, which they call the Black Legend. It has been reflected in a recent propaganda attempt by their publications and sympathizers in Hispanic America to whitewash the Conquest and the colonial regime and to represent Spain as an anxious mother rushing in to save her children from Yankee "imperialismo."

The truth is that when the Spanish made their tie-up with the Nazis for Hispanic America, it was in many ways a better deal for them than for Germany. The Germans were at the time apparently making headway toward winning Latin America over to their New Order. They were offering strong economic inducements and the Spanish had a chance to ride in with them over their historical handicap.

Of Less Value to Nazis

Since Latin Americans have made it so plain that they have rejected the Nazi bid and are moving every day closer into politico-economic collaboration with us, the Nazi's value for the Spanish as a way to ride into Latin America is gone. If Franco takes Spain into the war on Hitler's side, Spain automatically becomes once more the enemy for most of these nations and any progress that may have been made toward laying groundwork for her future there will be wiped out.

So far as her hopes for a future based on dealings with Hispanic America are concerned, it is much to Spain's advantage to stay "neutral." It is significant that with the time at hand when Franco should be giving Hitler all-out cooperation if he is ever going to, Spain is still neutral. Jordana, the new foreign minister, who replaced the pro-Nazi Serrano Suner a few months ago, is known to be much less enthusiastic about collaboration with Berlin.

Hitler may eventually be able to force Spain into the war, but every day that the Spanish refrain from collaboration and every degree of resistance that they might offer to German pressure are directly in our favor now.

Facts That Burn

By Barnet Nover

America's War Production

IN HIS SPEECH of October 4, 1942, Field Marshal Hermann Goering dismissed American war production with a wave of his pudgy hand.

NOVER

"I would be the last person to underestimate American rearmament," he said jocularly. "In certain fields the Americans have made colossal achievements in technique and in production. We know they have done an awful lot with the auto. They have also won special merit with the radio and the razor blade. In these three fields they have undoubtedly always accomplished a great deal, but these things are nevertheless something else again, when it comes to what is needed for war . . . America has written only one word, but that one very large, and this word is 'Bluff.'"

GOERING was not fooling himself by so light-heartedly dismissing American industry as a factor in the war. He knows better. What he was obviously trying to do was to fool the German people. But whether he succeeded is problematical, however.

After all, there are still many millions of Germans who vividly remember 1918, when, had it not been for the weight the United States threw into the scales, Germany might have won the war. On December 7, 1941, when this country again became a belligerent there must have been many in the Reich who asked themselves whether history was going to repeat itself.

As it happened, the Germans got a temporary respite from their doubts and fears when in the period between Pearl Harbor and the late spring of 1942 the United States suffered a series of military and naval disasters and the German war machine, stalled in the snows of Russia and the deserts of Libya, resumed its march toward the Caucasus and Suez.

But by the time Goering spoke the revived German hopes of a victory in 1942 had again begun to wither.

THIS WEEK, at the opening of Congress, President Roosevelt gave the world an inkling of what American industry has accomplished during the past year. The figures are impressive by any standards, our own past achievements included. In Axis countries they will start the bells of doom ringing violently.

Last year, the President revealed, we produced 48,000 planes. What is even more significant we are producing planes today at a rate in excess of 66,000 a year and the rate is rising rapidly.

In 1942 we also produced 56,000 combat vehicles, 670,000 machine guns, 21,000 antitank guns, 10,250,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 181,000,000 rounds of artillery ammunition. We now have seven million men in the fighting services and have sent 1,500,000 men overseas.

THERE WAS a time when the world stood in awe of German propaganda. Its potency appeared to be tremendous. Nations collapsed, people were divided, armies dissolved at a blast from Dr. Goebbels' trumpet. Or so it seemed. Actually the success of German propaganda was in direct ratio to Germany's military might. The Wehrmacht and the Luftwaffe were Dr. Goebbels' best agents. But they have failed him, so, like the German army, Goebbels has had to go on the defensive.

This week, for instance, the Nazis blanketed the air waves of Europe with a terrific jamming barrage. The purpose was to prevent the Germans, who listen to foreign broadcasts (despite the fact that it is a capital offense) from learning in that way of the disasters which have befallen the Reich in Russia. Since the news could not be kept indefinitely from the German people, the Propaganda Ministry and the high command wanted time to give the bitter pill of bad news a proper sugar coating so as to make the swallowing easier.

THE RUSSIAN offensive along the Don and in the Caucasus is, however, only one, if the most important, of Dr. Goebbels' headaches.

The American White Book on events of the decade preceding Pearl Harbor is another. It has revealed to the German people as well as to others who may have been deluded by German propaganda what a monstrous falsehood the Nazis have been spreading by seeking to pin the blame on President Roosevelt and America for the war, while exculpating themselves.

And now there are these American production figures which President Roosevelt has revealed.

Hitler hoped to win the war before all the nations she had singled out as her victims could get together and pool their resources. He has not won the war and the coalition now aligned against the Third Reich, its allies and its satellites, is one of formidable dimensions and growing strength.

So, while from the east come tidings to the German people of the defeat of the army in the Caucasus, from the west comes the news that the American giant has now really begun to flex his muscles and will be in a position to strike out with tremendous force. Those facts that President Roosevelt made public in his address to Congress constitute the most powerful kind of propaganda against our enemies. For there is no propaganda like the truth.

Listen to Barnet Nover on WRC at 10:30 every Sunday night

Letters To The Editor

Communications must carry the writer's name and address, though pen names are permitted at the editor's discretion. Letters should be held to not more than 200 words. They are subject to condensation.

A Local Matter

It is because prohibition is properly a local matter that national prohibition has so completely failed. If a majority in any State desires wet or dry laws, it is difficult to see how such an inalienable right can be justly denied under popular majority rule.

But to extend this restriction to operate against the entire Nation is futile. The argument against it is not ethical. Few people will attack the thesis that a nation willingly, and actually, in a state of abstinence from intoxicating liquor is in an excellent condition. But a nation by law fictitiously in a state of abstinence is the same as, or worse than, not having any abstinence at all.

Under prohibition it was against the law to serve drinks at the clubs. Then cocktail parties given by the women took the place of teas where young men and women drank together. Few women drank before prohibition but after its introduction women also drank with the men to be convivial. Breaking the prohibition laws, however, became the fashion and those who did it were too often looked upon as brave rather than as disgraced. It became fashionable then to have a bootlegger as a valet.

That prohibition is properly a local matter is proven conclusively by the conditions which obtained under the eighteenth amendment. If wet or dry laws are desired by a majority of any State, it is difficult to see how such a desire can be lawfully denied under the Federal Constitution. But this does not mean that the whole Nation may be made dry without majority concurrence.

GEORGE BOND COCHRAN.
Washington, Jan. 6.

Victory Tax And Servants

Despite all the information printed about the victory tax I am still in the dark as to what to do about domestic servants. Must we withhold 5 per cent from their earning over $12 a week, and, if so, what are we to do with it, and how are we to prove we are authorized to do so?

HOUSEWIFE.
Washington, Jan. 3.

Editor's Note: Employers of agricultural labor, domestic service, casual labor, and certain other classes of labor are not required to withhold, collect, and pay the victory tax upon the wages of their employes.

Artists Lose Friend

Artists and art lovers have lost a true friend in the recent death of Ada Rainey, The Post's art critic. Miss Rainey, through her work and active mind, backed by sound education and a deep sense of esthetic values, made her Sunday art column readable to the layman as well as to the artist.

Her tastes were catholic enough to see the good in the works of the older school as well as to admire the experiments of the so-called modern. She was ever on the lookout for young artists, as they came to Washington, to interview them and give them that helpful boost and write-up that encourages youth to go on and express their ideals.

The Post and Washington is to be congratulated in having had her services and will find it difficult to fill her place. Washington thanks Ada Rainey. EBEN F. COMINS.
Washington, Dec. 29.

P-39

In "Letters to the Editor," issue of January 4, one Mr. Herbert Hurwitz criticizes The Post as to the identification of an Army plane. I would suggest that Mr. Hurwitz leave censure to someone who knows more about planes than he himself evidently knows. The Bell Airacobra is the P-39 and not the P-38 as he points out. The P-38 is a twin engine twin rudder interceptor, also adaptable for light bombing, made by Lockheed-Hudson. JACK WESTBROOK.
Washington, Jan. 4.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Cleek's Will

I, Humphrey Z. Cleek, being of sound mind, do make this my last will and testament. I hereby give and bequeath:

To my wife, Zenobia Cleek, my old five-passenger coupe in the hope she may get tires for it after the war; the two gallons of gasoline left in the tank at the time it was put up, and the road maps which I wish her to keep if only in memory of the happy days when they meant anything. I also give to her the car battery in the sincere hope it is not too far gone to be charged up, the six (6) cans of assorted soups which will be found in my strongbox at the Mercantile Trust Co., the can of hash which is in my safe and the three (3) tins of sardines which she will find behind the clock in the kitchen. Also all can openers in my possession.

II.

To my daughter, Allagais, the four (4) cans of peaches, the two (2) cans of sauerkraut and the small can of tongue which was left me by my late Uncle Frisby, and the prewar jar of pitted cherries which I won as first prize in the 1942 Toopsey Heights Golf Club Fall Tournament.

III.

To my elder son, Buckingham, my original Hochstaff oil painting "Gentleman Eating" and my Gabiny still-life "Tenderloin Steak," the mere inspection of which has meant so much to me in the last few months.

IV.

To my younger son, Chidsey, my watch, the old family carving knife so reminiscent of better days, and my collection of American restaurant menus, with the request that he treasure especially the ones showing dollar table d'hote meals and 40-cent luncheon specials with meatballs.

V.

To my sister, Pleronisia Dibbels, the Cleek family coffee pot, which will be of much value as an antique, in testifying to the life of a bygone America.

VI.

To my cousin, Zeke Fetherstone, the old tire which now hangs in the garage and which can be retreaded in more opulent times.

VII.

To my aunt, Ella Belle Burpee, the second-string percolator, not because of any possible utility, but for whatever sentimental value it may possess for her.

VIII.

To my nephew, Gideon Bloodworm, my oil ration card. It was never any good to me, but he is a man of energy and determination and may be able to do something with it.

IX.

To Samantha McCarthy Persky Schmalz, maid in the Cleek household for the unusual period of almost seven successive weeks (unless she will have carried out in the meantime her threats to go to work in the powder mill), any lamb chops that may be in the icebox and a half-pound of butter in appreciation of incredibly long service in my household. Signed,

Humphrey Z. Cleek.

Codicil

Having overlooked it inadvertently in the above, I wish that any sugar and such grains of coffee as may be anywhere in my possession go to my wife outright. I also leave to her, in trust, my 1934 Eagle bicycle. Nothing can prove of greater value to her in the present shape of things.

FAIR WARNING

On little things so much depends;
Beware of false acclaim.
So watch the guys who pose as friends.
Yet mispronounce your name.

Assists

The drys are trying to introduce prohibition again, this time in the Army. The life of a soldier is just one banned thing after another.

OPA has cracked down on bowling alleys now, making them reduce their rates. They were only making pin money, as it was.

Motorists are going to be rolling their own if the gas shortage continues much longer.

—Joe Nolan.

"Winter may be difficult."—Herr Hitler.

The understatement of the month.

"This pay-as-you-go stuff," says Elmer Twitchell, "ain't so hard. It's being able to keep going as I pay that bothers me."

Tin-Can Salvage

I read in your paper several days ago that the tin can salvage campaign "is not doing so well." What I would like to know is: Have depots for tin cans ever been designated in various neighborhoods as they were for rubber? I have a large box of tin cans and do not expect the authorities to call for them but would like more publicity on where to dump them—as far as I can see only institutions have been provided for.

MRS. C. GALLAGHER.
Washington, Jan. 4.

Editor's Note: Housewives should place tin cans in a separate container alongside their garbage pails on regular collection days.

Easy Come

Hurrah for the New Deal. "Every man a king." Big pay for light work for everybody. And firewood already $18 per cord. F. G. A.
Washington, Jan. 6.

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

From Out Of The Shadow

NO ONE can stand up before a great audience, as the President did on Thursday, and talk for nearly an hour without disclosing his real feelings. To such elemental feelings as anxiety or confidence, we respond by animal instinct, as a horse does to a timid rider, as men in a fight do to their commander. Even an accomplished liar and a consummate actor like Hitler must give himself away when he opens his mouth to talk about important things: and no matter what he says, he is unable to hide what he feels.

LIPPMANN

In this sense, it seems to me, the President's address to Congress exuded a quite different feeling from all the other addresses he has delivered since Pearl Harbor. He has always been resolute, defiant, and hopeful. But this time he was the man who had seen the worst, and had faced the worst, and knew in his own heart that he had come through the worst. Thus, though there was nothing new in the story he had to tell, the way in which he told it was news that he himself really believed it now.

LOOKING back over the year of war which he was reviewing, we can understand better today why the President's war speeches have hitherto been so unconvincing and so curiously unsatisfying, so far short of what men expected of him and of what the occasion called for. The American part in the war began with the terrible and humiliating disaster at Pearl Harbor, and this unexpected blow placed the President in the position where he could not tell the truth while he was dealing with the consequences. Thus he became separated from the people: they knowing that he was not telling the truth, and he knowing that they knew he was not telling the truth. It was a predicament in which the speaker was frustrated within himself because he had to be insincere, and his hearers were filled with resentment because his words did not ring true.

Trying as the year 1942 was for the people, only a man with the strongest nerves and the stoutest heart could have carried the burden which the President had to carry. He knew more than the people knew, and he knew, as few of them did, what it all could mean. He knew not only what had happened at Pearl Harbor, but what a long train of black disasters from Bataan to Singapore to Java to Rangoon was certain to ensue. He knew the terrible plight of the Eighth Army when Rommel was in Egypt, and the British were burning their papers and evacuating the women and children. He knew what the German threat to Stalingrad and to the Caucasus meant, and that these tremendous blows from our enemies, along with the fearful toll of their submarines, might mean that at the end of 1942 we could be faced with the choice between an inconclusive war that lasted a decade and a smashing of our coalition which meant defeat.

THE SURMOUNTING of these perils, and of the anxiety which they carried with them, was clearly reflected in the tone and manner and bearing of the President when he came to Congress on Thursday. The frustration which had made him so irritable was gone. The anxiety which had made him so resentful, and unable to distinguish between his critics and his enemies, had subsided. There was none of that sense of being isolated with knowledge that few possessed, which had caused him to indulge in wisecracks which sounded as if he disliked anyone else trying to think about the war.

The barriers were down between him and the people because the situation had changed radically, and our power had grown prodigiously, and his own anxiety had at last been replaced by confidence. Thus he spoke with confidence as only a man confident within himself can speak. He spoke with an admirable sense of proportion, putting into their true perspective the various fronts, and the relationship between the sacrifices of war and the hardships of the civilians, between the conduct of the war and what needs doing afterwards. And he spoke with magnanimity of his allies, and his friends and his critics, which is always an index of strength,—and, as Burke said, in politics the truest wisdom.

THUS it was an auspicious beginning, and to his implacable enemies a disconcerting beginning, in his relations with the historic Seventy-eighth Congress. At the level on which he was able to take his stand on Thursday, we need have no fear that the great issues which have to be decided will degenerate into a nasty feud, and that the Nation will be disgraced by the inability of its Government to be equal to its destiny.

There Was No Doubt of Japs' Real Purposes

By Joseph J. Cloud
Post Staff Writer

(The final article of a series.)

Japan moved in mysterious ways her blunders to perform. Despite the obscurities of the Japanese mind and the language in which her successive proposals and explanations were phrased, the American "White Paper" published this week by the Department of State reveals clearly that there was never any doubt of Tokyo's real purposes.

At a hearing of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives in January 1941 Secretary Hull recounted the various steps in Japan's program of violence, including the conquest of Manchuria, the renunciation of the naval treaty of 1922, the intensified construction of military and naval armaments, and the large-scale military operations against China which had begun in July 1937.

"He said it was clear that 'Japan had been actuated from the start by broad and ambitious plans for establishing herself in a dominant position in the entire region of the western Pacific'; that Japan's leaders had openly declared their intention to achieve and maintain that position by force of arms and thus to make themselves masters of an area containing almost one-half of the entire population of the world."

Talk With Nomura

An extended series of conversations began with Japan in March of 1941 when Secretary Hull had his first long talk with Ambassador Nomura. The Secretary went directly to the point. "He inquired whether the military groups in control of the Japanese government could possibly expect the United States 'to sit absolutely quiet while two or three nations before our very eyes organized naval and military forces and went out and conquered the balance of the earth, including the seven seas and all trade routes and the other four continents' . . . The Ambassador sought to minimize the view that such military conquest was in the mind of his government . . . and said that he did not believe there would be any further military movements by the Japanese unless compelled by the policy of increasing embargoes on the part of the United States.

"Secretary Hull replied that this matter was entirely in the hands of the Japanese government because Japan had taken the initiative in military expansion and seizure of territory."

Cooperation With Hitler

The Secretary also pointed out that Japan's cooperation with Hitler, playing continuously into Hitler's hands, was a matter of very real and brave concern, and that such cooperation was the net result of Japan's action despite all Japanese protests to the contrary. He stressed America's apprehension on this score, and later even sought to bring Japan to the realization of the menace of Hitlerism to Japan herself. Every effort to bring about a peaceful settlement was thoroughly explored, although, as the "White Paper" emphasizes:

"President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull well realized the probability that Japan had gone so far in a policy of conquest (in the spring of 1941) that it would be impossible to persuade her to stop."

The disclosures of these negotiations prove conclusively that Japan's only consideration of peace was for a peace solely upon Japan's terms and solely for the advantage of the military rulers of Japan.

Conference Proposed

As the events swept toward their climax the Japanese became more and more concerned to justify their increasing violence, their seizure of more and more territory, as in the invasion of Indo-China, and their then frenzied preparations for full-scale war. Ultimately it was proposed, since no other solution seemed possible, that President Roosevelt meet with Prime Minister Konoye on the high seas "to discuss from a broad standpoint all important problems between Japan and the United States."

The Japanese would not, however, agree in principle in advance on the main issues to be discussed, leaving the great possibility that such a conference would fail to accomplish anything and the almost inescapable inference that the Japanese hoped and intended that the conference should fail.

So certain were they, however, that the United States would fall into this trap, the "White Paper" discloses, that extensive preparations were made for the Prime Minister's voyage.

Japs "Disappointed"

On September 23, 1941, the Japanese Ambassador informed Secretary Hull "that should the meeting not take place there might never be another opportunity and the repercussions might be 'most unfortunate.'"

He then stated "that a ship to carry the Prime Minister was ready; that his suite, including a full general and a full admiral, had been privately appointed; that the party was prepared to depart at any moment."

Secretary Hull's reply again urged "that clarification of principles was necessary to insure the success of the meeting" and the Japanese government, officially and in fact, was "disappointed."

In view of the treachery of Pearl Harbor one hesitates to contemplate what might have happened had the President put himself at the mercy of Japan's "friendly intentions."

Gas Ration Popular With Army As Itinerant Prostitute Curb

Lieut. Col. Darnall's New Book Explains Medical Corps View

By Mary Spargo
Post Staff Writer

Gasoline rationing is popular—with the Army Medical Corps. Spokesmen expect gasoline rationing to cut down the venereal disease rate in the Army of the United States.

This opinion is voiced by no less an authority than Lieut. Col. Joseph R. Darnall, executive officer of Walter Reed Hospital, Army Medical Center, in his book, "What the Citizen Should Know About Wartime Medicine," just off the press.

In a chapter on the venereal problem in wartime, Colonel Darnall points out that the "tactics of prostitution have been modernized to keep up with changing methods of war."

But, he says, with gasoline rationing the "modern, motorized itinerant prostitute will be able to compete less efficiently with the medical and enforcement officers who seek to curtail her proclivities."

In other words, the prostitute can't get gasoline to follow the troops to Army camps, while medical and enforcement officers have sufficient gasoline to carry on protective and preventive measures.

3 Means of Prevention

Walter Reed's executive officer points out in his book that where infectious disease is concerned, there are three ways to prevent illness: first, destroy the source; second, destroy the link between the infective agent and the ultimate victim, and third, increase resistance to infectious disease by immunizing individuals.

The one effective step, Darnall declares, would be to destroy the link so far as venereal disease is concerned, but he adds, quoting another medical officer:

"You can't destroy prostitutes as you do mosquitoes. You can't stand them up against the wall and shoot them. You can't even put them in jail—not all of them anyway."

Therefore, the curbing of prostitutes' activities by the gasoline shortage is the more welcome to Army officers, seeking to maintain an Army in the peak of health.

Segregation No Aid

The Army Medical Corps has approached the venereal disease problem with objective realism. Of one thing the Army and Navy are convinced, the author states:

"Segregation of prostitutes tends not to lower but to raise the venereal disease rate—that 'red light' districts foster the spread of the disease because of the vastly increased number of contacts a 'segregated' individual carrier may have. Even frequent medical inspection of the prostitute is ineffective for the reason that between times the prostitute may unwittingly transmit infection from one patron to several others."

The Army's opinion as been disputed. During the last World War Clemenceau, great wartime premier of France, protested vigorously because General Pershing placed houses of prostitution out of bounds.

Lowest Disease Rate

The Army had a perfect answer. The A. E. F. had the lowest venereal disease rate of all armies participating in World War I. Walter Reed's executive officer fills the reader of his book with confidence that the record of the American Army will be even better this time. He details for the reader methods of control and treatment of the disease which leaves no room for doubt that the armed forces are determined to protect their men.

The venereal disease problem is only one of many that Colonel Darnall takes up in his authoritative work. He discusses the whole question of organization of the Army Medical Corps, both within the United States and in the field.

One interesting fact brought to light is that all the typhoid fever vaccine used by the Army, Navy and United States Public Health Service is made at the Army Medical Center. The amount of vaccine now being made, Darnall said, may not be divulged, but it is more than adequate "to the needs of all our armed forces and for civilians in an emergency." In this connection it is worthwhile noting that typhoid fever is expected to be one of the scourges of the postwar world, and it will be the Medical Corps of the Armies of Occupation who will have to take the leadership in wiping it out.

Asiatic Cholera

In a discussion of communicable diseases in wartime, Colonel Darnall discussed Asiatic cholera at some length, mentioning reports that the Japanese disseminated cholera vibrios in their Chinese campaign. Pointing to the difficulty of distributing disease by bombing, Darnall buried a grim warning in his factual pages.

"That which can be done by the enemy, we also can do."

Far more important in Colonel Darnall's mind, however, than all the grave plagues and scourges of mankind, is the common cold.

In an interview Walter Reed's officer told The Post that probably the most welcome discovery the Army Medical Corps could make would be to find the cause of the common cold, or an immediate and effective cure for it.

Colonel Darnall, who is now on his third tour of duty at Walter Reed, might almost be termed a native Washingtonian. He came here in 1902 and was graduated from Western High School. He entered the Medical Corps in World War I, and served 13 months overseas, both in France and with the Army of Occupation. He was decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart and has two wound stripes.

A chapter on the medical department in the Navy was written by Capt. Louis Roddis of the United States Navy Medical Corps.

LIEUT COL. JOSEPH DARNALL, executive officer of Walter Reed Hospital, is author of the newly published book, "What the Citizen Should Know About Wartime Medicine"

In Congress

TODAY

Neither house in session; both meet at noon Monday.

YESTERDAY

Senate

In recess.

Committee investigating fuel oil shortages in the Midwest heard testimony of petroleum industry executives.

Republican Senators held short caucus and appointed members to various committees.

Joint Economy Committee heard Senator Byrd attack extravagance in NYA and testimony from NYA Director Williams.

House

Met at noon.

Received a bill to repeal the silver purchase act of 1934.

Heard Representative Bender propose liberalization of Army procedure for releasing men over 38.

Received a resolution to appoint a special committee to investigate peace problems.

Heard Republican members assail New Deal policies.

Received resolution for an investigation of certain methods of marketing and distributing farm products.

Adjourned at 2:03 p. m.

Coal Strikers Urged to Return By Committee

By the Associated Press

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—The Anthracite committee of 12 urged today that the 15,000 to 20,000 anthracite miners now on an unauthorized strike in protest against a $4 yearly increase in union dues return to work at once, "in order that the Nation may receive the maximum quantity of anthracite to which it is entitled during the existing emergency."

In a statement issued after a 6-hour meeting, called at the request of Harold L. Ickes, Solid Fuels Coordinator, the governing body of the hard coal industry added: "We are convinced that the employes are not unmindful of their duties to our country and feel sure they will respond to this appeal for maximum production."

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, who attended the meeting, declared, "We don't know if this will bring the men back to work or not, but we have left the door open."

The miners, all located in the Scranton and Wilkes Barre area, or District 1 of the A. M. W. A. struck 10 days ago after dues of $1.50 per month began to be deducted from their pay under the checkoff system. This amounts to $18 a year, whereas before the change was voted at the U. M. W. A. convention at Cincinnati last fall, union dues aggregated $14 a year, $1 a month dues plus $2 a year in assessments. Some of the strikers also seek a $2 a day wage increase.

Estimates by operators placed the loss in production at 30,000 tons daily, or 300,000 tons to date, sufficient to load 5000 railroad coal cars of 50-ton capacity.

A spokesman for the operators on the committee, composed of six operators and six union representatives, said, "We have no disagreement with labor, but we do think that during wartime a small matter of dues should not affect the production of anthracite so necessary to the war effort."

Flynn Chosen Envoy to Australia

FLYNN, from Page 1.

the gun on the announcement. No confirmation of the nomination was available there, although it was not denied. William D. Hassett, White House secretary, said: "There will be nothing from the White House tonight on it."

Asked whether it was not somewhat unusual for the announcement of an appointment of this nature to come from the recipient rather than the White House, Hassett said: "I shall let you be the judge of that."

It was treated with outright skepticism at the Canadian Legation, where a representative of the senior Dominion pointed out that "surely the word 'Ambassador' must be wrong. There is no law, of course, but the invariable custom of the junior members of the Commonwealth has been to send and receive Ministers, not Ambassadors."

At the Austrian Legation, officials at first turned down inquirers with the formal "No comment," but when asked if they knew Flynn, replied: "Well, he is a public figure to some extent. His name is known."

State Department officials declined to be drawn into any discussion of the nomination, pointing out that this was a purely White House matter. No comment could be obtained on reports that earlier proposals to appoint Flynn to one of the smaller South or Central American republics has been side-tracked by the State Department.

President Roosevelt previously has given the rank of Ambassador to personal representatives sent abroad, as in the recent case of William Phillips, veteran diplomat, who on last December 11 was sent to troubled India as the President's personal envoy.

Earlier, Myron C. Taylor had been given a similar title, with unofficial rank as Ambassador for social purposes, when he was sent to the Vatican.

But the Flynn appointment, as announced by Flynn, would be in a different category, since in neither of the earlier cases was there an American Minister already on the ground.

The present Minister to Australia is Nelson T. Johnson, who is a career diplomatist with long experience in China before he was appointed to his present post. It is believed that he will retain that post.

Flynn said he expected to leave for Australia the first week in February.

"I am very happy," he declared. "I think it is a splendid opportunity to do a great deal of work connected with the war."

However, there have been strong reports in the Capital that Postmaster General Frank C. Walker would become chairman if Flynn resigned.

In Australia

3 From D. C. Among New Red Cross Unit

Three former Washington area residents are among 17 American Red Cross workers who have arrived safely in Australia, it was announced yesterday.

They are Miss Katherine M. Gregg of Hamilton, Va.; Janette M. McCreery of 6377 Thirty-first Place Northwest and Harry H. Poague of 1912 Newton Street Northeast.

Miss McCreery

Miss Gregg, staff assistant, attended George School, Philadelphia, Pa., and received her B. A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan College in 1941. Before joining the Red Cross overseas staff she was a teacher at St. Agnes' Episcopal School, Alexandria, Va.

Miss McCreery, also staff assistant, attended Mary Lyon School, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Connecticut College for Women, New London, Conn. She worked with B. Altman Co. of New York for a while and then in the radio department of Young & Rubicam Advertising Agency. Prior to her recent appointment she was supervisor of training with the Lee Rubber Co. of Conshohocken, Pa.

Miss Gregg

Poague, staff photographer, was previously head photographer for the Minneapolis Star Journal. Since February last year, he has been a member of the photographic staff of the American National Red Cross in Washington.

Murray Backs Plan for Wider Social Program

Washington Bureau of Chicago Sun

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations yesterday threw his support behind President Roosevelt's plan for an enlarged social security program.

Murray told a special C. I. O. legislative conference meeting here that the Social Security program "must be lifted above present levels" as a further aid to economic stabilization.

"This will also serve to cushion the shocks and smooth the sharp adjustments that arise from a war economy," he said.

Sound Tax Bill Urged

Murray also urged passage of a "sound and adequate" tax bill to supply needed revenue "and to guarantee the workers sufficient income to keep themselves in full health for top war production."

"Such a tax program must reach more deeply into big profits and inflated incomes," he said, "must close present loopholes and enforce the desired $25,000 net income level. Any form of sales tax however labeled, must be avoided as a direct threat to workers' health and efficiency and consequently to war production."

Attacks Dies Committee

Murray also urged Congress not to renew funds for the House Committee Investigating Un-American Activities, headed by Representative Martin Dies, Democrat.

"A united people must be secured against disruptive attacks from individuals and groups, under no matter what screen or immunity they are operating," he said.

The C. I. O.'s committee on racial discrimination urged larger funds for the employment of investigators and others needed for enforcement of the President's order against race discrimination in war jobs.

Labor Attacks Aircraft Wage Report, Employers Praise It

By the Associated Press

A report and recommendations on wages in the West Coast aircraft industry met with praise and criticism from both management and labor yesterday in a War Labor Board hearing.

Paul R. Porter, chairman of the shipbuilding stabilization committee of the War Production Board, conducted an investigation and hearings on special assignment of the War Labor Board and recommended increases of five cents an hour and upward, a job evaluation plan, and creation of a Pacific Coast aircraft commission.

The C. I. O. United Auto Workers termed the increases inadequate and criticized the job evaluation plan, but commended parts of the report which would eliminate inequities within each plant and the so-called "merit" increases.

The A. F. of L. International Association of Machinists condemned the report as virtually an employers' document. The United Aircraft Welders (Independent) asked for higher wage levels.

California airframe manufacturers accepted in general the Porter report and commended him for a comprehensive job, but cited specific objections. Aircraft parts manufacturers, appearing as intervenors over the objections of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., protested that Porter's wage recommendations would have a serious impact upon the parts industry.

Richard Frankenstein, arguing for the United Auto Workers, said the report failed to meet some of the urgent problems in airplane manufacturing, but he wanted to "give full tribute to the effectiveness with which that report deals with the large number of complex and integrated issues involved."

Dale O. Reed of th machinists told the board the report "slavishly follows almost exclusively the position of the employers in these proceedings" and "we affirm that this report was conceived in sin and born in inequity . . ."

Reed said the employers had copies of the report "and were able to file their mild objections as to some of the administrative features of it long before we were furnished copies of the report."

J. Stuart Neary of North American Aviation said the California airframe manufacturers wanted to retain the "merit increases" and objected to the proposed 13-week promotion clause because it would lead to a lot of grievances. He favored limiting the power of the proposed commission so that grievances would be left to collective bargaining.

D. C. Girl Elected To College Cabinet

Miss Elizabeth Anne Wheater, daughter of Mrs. Frank R. Wheater of 6817 Georgia Avenue Northwest, has been elected to the freshman cabinet of the Wilson College Y. W. C. A., Chambersburg, Pa., it was announced yesterday. She is a graduate of the Montrose School for Girls.

The Gallup Poll

Public Found Slow to Accept Concept Of Limitations on Individual Incomes

By George Gallup

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 8.—The Government's $25,000 salary limit after taxes, which is likely to be debated in the new Congress, is a concept the American public is slow to accept.

While most Americans have a relatively small income and little opportunity to make anywhere near $25,000 themselves, nevertheless the idea of limiting high incomes is by no means universally accepted.

Although more people approve it than disapprove it in a survey by the Institute, nevertheless the total in favor constitutes fewer than one half of the population. Nearly two persons out of every five definitely oppose limitation.

The survey questioned representative Americans in every State on the following proposition:

"Do you think there should be any limit on the amount of income (including wages and salary) that each person should be allowed to keep per year in wartime after paying all taxes?"

The results are:

Yes	47%
No	38
No Opinion	15

The survey probed next the issue of where to place the top limit so far as amount of income is concerned.

Those who oppose any limitation were not questioned on this point, but those in favor of the principle of limitation were.

Of the 47 per cent who favor limitation, the largest number said $25,000 should be the top sum.

A typical reflection of public sentiment is contained in the following report from an interviewer for the Institute in Chicago:

"The most emphatic answers were given by those opposed to limiting incomes. They felt that any such action would kill initiative and would fail to reward people who were deserving of recognition and compensation. There seems to be a definite feeling against curtailing individual progress. There was a complete lack of any 'sour grapes' attitude.

"Those in favor of limitation felt that it should be a temporary measure which would prevent war profiteering rather than penalizing persons who are capable of earning more money than the average."

Rent Director Hunts Answers To Myriad 'Fool Questions'

If a man can't beat his own wife, whose wife can he beat? This is just one of the tough problems that Robert F. Cogswell, District Rent Control Administrator, is asked to solve daily.

Yesterday he told of receiving a letter from a landlady who complained bitterly of her tenants, whom she described as being rough and tough.

"One man beats his wife at noon and at night," she protested. Also, she said, much to her dismay, he paid his rent just as regularly and she could not evict him.

"There are two things in his favor," mused Cogswell, "One is that he sticks strictly to beating his own wife and the other is his regularity.

"He probably subscribes to the school of thought that women are like gongs and should be struck regularly."

No, there was nothing he could do about it.

And then there was the letter from a tenant who complained that her landlady was opening her mail. Could he please do something about it? "But, please, mister, don't write me any letter about it, because my landlady would open that letter, too," she begged.

And there was the tenant who complained of not getting any heat: "It ain't the war and it ain't the OPA, it's my landlord," he said.

Recently a tenant complained that his landlord wanted to raise his rent in order to make him move. The tenant was informed that rents were frozen and could not be raised.

He returned later and told Cogswell:

"He told me that the way rents were frozen was nothing to the way he was going to freeze me, now."

Off The Record

By Ed Reed

"Jenkins! Mrs. Gadabout's coat, please!"

The NEWER Jelleff's

"Greer" Bump Toe

$6.95

It has loads of personality and gives the foot a young, cute shortened look. The alligator-graining on the calf is very smart. Dark brown only.

Exclusive "F Street" model.

Jelleff's—Shoe Salon, Fourth Floor

DOBBS

Hats for Men

Quality . . . Style . . . Everything you look for in a hat is yours in a Dobbs. We carry a complete selection of these World Famous Dobbs Hats . . . Snap Brims, Off the Face, with Dobbs patented felted edge. Homburgs, Derbies, and Operas

$5 to $20

LEWIS & THOS. SALTZ INC.
1409 G STREET N. W.
EXECUTIVE 3822
NOT CONNECTED WITH SALTZ BEDS INC.

Rural Sports Hit Hard by War's Gasoline Ban

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Georgetown Rolls Over Camp Lee, 49-31

On the Line

—With CONSIDINE

New York, Jan. 8.—By an unhappy coincidence, 1500 race horses became stranded in Florida at the very moment when the matter of horse meat was being discussed in the papers.

This may prove an overpowering suggestion to a lot of meat-rationed owners whose nags haven't been close to the money for weeks. We don't anticipate seeing a picture of Ben Jones, with his bib on, about to pounce with knife and fork on a Whirlaway steak, nor one of Sarge Swenke licking his chops over one of Alsab's. But this slightly cannibalistic thought must have occurred to a lot of gypsy owners whose spavined thoroughbreds haven't been feeling, or earning, their oats of late.

CONSIDINE

A lot of French, German and Italian race horses—the ones who weren't pressed into military service or turned into truck horses—have been eaten. A certain portion of the meat must have been consumed out of necessity by owners or handlers who had devoted much of their lives to improving the breed, and were devoted to the plugs.

Roast leg of Count Fleet is not likely to replace ham and eggs as a staple American dish, come what may, but we suspect that not all horse owners will string along with Mayor LaGuardia's assertion that the eating of horse meat is degrading. The good mayor wants not even that much of racing, probably out of fear that the horse might have bitten a tinhorn gambler during its life and become contaminated.

The average owner, and bettor for that matter, probably could go for horse meat in a pinch. It couldn't leave more of a brown taste than some of the gallopers have left, when they lost with rent money on their noses.

Epicures, however, probably will decline horse meat with thanks, and become vegetarians. Some of the best Back Bay gourmets of Boston have passed their considered approval on horse meat, but Boston's a crazy horse town. Their judgment can be discounted. The average fancier probably will contend that no matter how tough things get, they can't get as tough as stew a la Valdina Orphan.

Dan Ferris, the A. A. U. secretary, tells me that there is still hope that Gunder Haegg, the Swede who breaks a new world record every time he runs even a fever, can be shipped to America this year.

The indoor season is out, so to speak. Even though representations have been made by our State Department, the Office of War Information and King Gustav's Foreign Office, the men in charge of allotting plane space on returning clippers and bombers cannot or will not release a seat for the runner at this time.

But the outdoor season may be in. That is, the Swede has been given some assurance by our Government that there will be a place for him on a plane in the spring. Whether the Swedish track people will let him go at that time is something else. Sweden's outdoor track season opens about the same time our season does, and the A. A. U. of Sweden, if that's the organization, may be reluctant to give up their breadwinner.

We saw a newsreel of Haegg the other night and the fellow looks great. He's got the easiest stride we've ever seen in a runner. Even his long hair flops in stride. The reel which shows him breaking one of his records also shows that he lapped two or three opponents in the race and that no one was close enough to him to urge him on to his greatest effort. He must be every ounce as good as his record indicates, and his record indicates that he is the greatest runner the world has ever had.

Ford Frick's outlook on Paul McNutt's statement about baseball, as an unessential industry, is sound. The National League's president joined with other baseball men in stating that there was nothing new in the McNutt statement, and that no request had been made by baseball men to have their athletes exempted.

But he saw one helpful note in the McNutt proclamation. It is this: McNutt said that no ballplayer would be exempted from the draft because he was needed on his team. Frick therefore reasons that the public will now be more likely to accept the sight of the ablest-bodied ballplayers next season without wondering why they are not in the armed forces. "They'll know that every man in baseball uniform next season will have a legitimate right to be there," Frick sums up.

P. S.—One of Uncle Sam's new Flying Fortresses will be named "Ice Follies," after the famed skating troop which sold $300,000 worth of bonds (enough to buy a fort) at one performance . . . The Rangers-Red Wings game next Thursday night at the Garden will be for the sole benefit of the Red Cross . . . James E. Reilly of Brooklyn believes that a national lottery, which he would call Victory Sweepstakes, would raise billions during the war.

He'd have the tickets sold by Federal Reserve Banks, and priced at $2, and the pay-off in war bonds. Top prize out of each $500,000 collected by the Government would be $50,000 in bonds . . . Everything comes to him who waits. Holman Williams, the Negro who fought carefully selected opponents on all of Joe Louis' cards, because Joe liked him, is now the top-ranking middleweight not in the service. If not the only one.

Pieces of Haight:

Pounds Finds Strongest Link In Neighborhood Chain Store

One 'Little' Pig Went to Market; But His Wife Will Go After This

Marietta Park, D. C.
January 8

Dear Boss:

I should know a lot about the grocery business, Boss, but I don't. My Pop ran a grocery for some 30 years, but I never learned much more than the position of the ginger snap barrel and the location of the hard candy jars. I do remember a tradegy that came to our store. Pop lined up 25 turkeys on the meat counter a week before Christmas. During the night a partition fell across them and smashed all the breasts. He tried to stage a sale without success.

HAIGHT

For once the Haight kids got their fill of turkey. We had it hot, cold, in hash, a la king, with gravy and without gravy. It got so that we even forgot to fight over wishbones. Our Mom did enough tricks with that turkey to put Thurston, Houdini and a carload of card sharks to shame. Right now I can think of 11 different kinds of dressing.

It wasn't until along about George Washington's Birthday that somebody sighed and remarked, "So this is the last of the turkey." By this time we kids probably had wings sprouting on our backs, although I must say that it would have been more appropriate if we had been on a beef diet and started growing horns.

But don't think for a minute, Boss, that the grocery store Haight kids weren't pretty well provisioned at all times, just as Izzy Silverstein, whose father conducted the neighborhood haberdashery, was the best dressed boy at our school, although I will say that Izzy at times wore some odd-sizes.

I always was a walking advertisement for our grocery from the time I was a chubby "Mr. 1 by 1" until I left to join the Navy as "Seaman 6 by 5."

But times have changed, Boss, and now, when I'm coming out of the Marietta Park chain store, women look at me and mumble, "That reminds me. I mustn't forget to count my calories."

There was a lot of homey atmosphere about the grocery store of three decades ago, with its pot-bellied stove and the grocer who listened to neighborhood gossip and gave family suggestions as he shook the scoop to make the sugar balance the iron disks on the other side of the scales.

With the coming of the modern chain store, with its serve-yourself and its cash-and-carry, I thought all the color and romance of the corner grocery had been laid to rest along with the cigar-store Indian. But that is not the case, Boss.

It took a lot of events and many circumstances before Tillie made her appearance at our chain store as a checker—Munich, Hitler, war, draft, etc. Girls replaced the young men who had held those positions and, from my observation, the change was for the better.

A checker is a person armed with a cash register who commands one of the small exits from the store. She spreads the purchases out, points to each item as she uses the touch system in recording amounts. The receipt tape plays out of the machine as if a fireman was rushing a hose into a burning building. At the finish she gives a few taps for good measure and See HAIGHT, Page 10, Column 3.

This Morning

Shirley Povich is on vacation. His "This Morning" column will be resumed on this page next week.

Soldiers Fail To Cope With G. U. Defense

Guards Kostecka And Gabbinelli Share High Score At Richmond

By the Associated Press

Richmond, Va., Jan. 8.—A smooth-working basketball team from Georgetown University marked up its seventh straight win at the expense of Camp Lee here tonight at the Central Y. M. C. A. The score was 49-31.

The Hoyas, using a shifting defense which closed the "alley" down the middle, had the soldiers befuddled for most of the game and only in the early minutes of the third period did the boys from Camp Lee manage any sort of scoring threat.

Then the Hoyas, who started early and ran up a 20-9 score by half-time, pulled away and scored 15 straight points. Scoring honors were divided between the Georgetown guards, Dan Gabbinelli and Andy Kostecka, who rang up 11 points each.

Kraus Bags Ten

Dutch Kraus, the leading figure in the fast-breaking offense of Coach Elmer Ripley, bucketed 10. Two Soldiers had seven points each. Bill Behr and Charlie Ridl did most of the scoring for Camp Lee, although the floor honors belonged to Orlyn Roberts, the slim black-haired former professional.

Roberts made only 3 points, but he set up the Lee plays and spent most of the night guarding John Mahnken, Hoya 6-foot 6-inch center.

A basket by Paul Maki, former Minnesota All-American, and foul goals by Charlie Ridl and Bill Behr gave the soldiers a 4-2 lead in the early minutes and, with Andy Kostecks, Dan Gabbinelli and John Mahnken hitting the rim, they pulled ahead by 10-4 at the first quarter. Mahnken, the elongated center who handled himself remarkably well, was guarded for the first quarter by Behr, a big man himself. However, Behr quickly drew three fouls and was taken out by Coach-Capt. Jack Springer of the soldiers. Orlyn Roberts, who set up Lee's plays, took over the job for two periods and did a great job.

Hoyas Breeze Home

Georgetown pulled far ahead during the second stanza, and although the Leemen rallied briefly shortly after the second half opened, their threat was short lived and the Hoyas were pushed only slightly.

The Hoyas really went to town in the final quarter, with Potolicokio, Billy Hassett, a brother to the New York Yankees Buddy, and Gabbinelli hitting the meshes. They rang up 15 straight points before Lee broke the ice at one point during the 10 minute stanza.

Georgetown	G	F	P	Camp Lee	G	F	P
Gabbinelli,f	5	1	11	Ridl,f	3	1	7
Kostecka,f	5	1	11	Fox,f	1	1	3
Mahnken,c	1	3	5	Behr,c	3	1	7
Hassett,g	0	2	2	Maki,g	1	1	3
Kraus,g	5	0	10	Roberts,g	1	1	3
Reilly,f	1	2	4	Carroll,f	0	1	1
Potolicchio,f	3	0	6	Blush,c	0	0	0
O'Donnell,c	0	0	0	Newman,f	2	0	4
Lavin,f	0	0	0	Grossbero,f	1	1	3
Feener,f	0	0	0	Wendt,f	0	0	0
Totals	20	9	49	Totals	12	7	31

Score at half—Georgetown, 20-9. Referee—Spotts (W. & L.). Umpire—Alcorn (Illinois).

Bill Young, Star Redskin Tackle, Enlists in Navy

By the Associated Press

North Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 8.—Bill Young, star tackle with the Washington Redskins the past six years, will do no more football playing until after the war unless it is with a Navy team. Young, who played collegiate football at Alabama, said today he had enlisted in the Navy as a chief specialist. He is visiting at his home here pending a call to duty.

Yanks, Dodgers Slate 5-Game Spring Series

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers today announced a five-game exhibition series at the Yankee Stadium and Ebbets Field.

The first two contests, April 10 and 11, will be at the stadium; the last three, April 16, 17, 18, at Ebbets Field.

Scores

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Georgetown, 49; Camp Lee, 31.
Camp Grant, 37; Loyola (Chicago), 35.
Va. Tech, 49; W. and M., 34.
Wesleyan, 55; Bradley Field Air Base, 37.
Baldwin-Wallace, 51; Western Reserve, 33.
Siena, 59; Paterson Thrs., 25.
R. P. I., 43; Brooklyn Poly, 37.
Glenview Naval Air, 60; Chicago Navy Pier, 35.
Lafayette, 36; Bucknell, 25.
Geneva, 56; Seranion, 48.
Baker Field, 38; Kalamazoo, 29.
Akron, 48; Miami, 45.
Western Union, 45; Dubuque, 26.
Arkansas, 39; S. M. U., 34.
Cornell, 55; Yale, 37.
Ft. Benning, 49; Auburn, 29.
Appalachian, 64; High Point, 31.
N. C. State, 48; Clemson, 40.
South Dakota, 43; Morningside, 40.
Commerce Thrs., 38; Howard Payne, 35.
Stout Institute, 44; Lawrence Thrs., 31.
Lawrence, 48; Cornell College, 35.
Western Michigan, 49; Wayne, 44.
Tufts, 74; Mass. Tech, 31.
Morehead, 47; Marshall, 45.
St. Ambrose, 58; Simpson, 44.
Fairmont State Thrs., 47; W. Va. Wesleyan, 36.
Warrensburg State Thrs., 37; Kirksville Thrs., 35.
Jersey City State Thrs., 53; St. Peter's, 47.
Allegheny, 71; Erie Coast Guard, 23.
Grove City at St. Vincent, postponed (transportation).
Drake, 39; St. Louis U., 34.
St. Ambrose, 56; Simpson, 44.
Peru, 49; Tarkio, 39.
Wayne, 47; Doane, 42.

NATIONAL PRO BASKETBALL

Fort Wayne, 78; Studebaker, 62.

Suburban Cager Has a Problem to Solve Here

Bruce Ross (9) of Montgomery Blair High, has the ball but can't find anything to do with it in the first quarter of yesterday's game with St. John's. George Hughes guards the ball handler while Baddy McCarthy, another Johnnie, is keeping a Gremlin from shooting. St. John's won, 50-29

Dudley Leads Cadets to 50-29 Edge on Blair

St. John's basketball squad overcame Montgomery Blair by a score of 50-29 yesterday as Chuck Dudley copped scoring honors for the home team by dropping eight counters and a charity shot for 17 points. Bruce Ross sank six baskets and two free tosses, topping his Montgomery Blair teammates with a final tally of 14 points.

Sleepy Thompson, Johnnie leader, got the hosts off to a good start with a goal in the first few minutes of play, but although he was supported by some excellent teamwork it was his last of the game. His own play was ragged from there on.

The Cadets led with the exception of a few minutes during the second quarter and kept a margin of safety for the remainder of the game. The first quarter ended 5-4 in their favor after brilliant plays by both teams.

During the second and third stanzas things became more lively, while both George Hughes and Dudley began piling up points. While the Blair quintet tried unsuccessfully to stop the flow into their basket, the third quarter found them trailing 33-20.

In the last quarter, with a safe lead, Coach "Anvil" Andy Farkas began exercising the subs and the game ended without any further spectacular play from either side.

St. John's	G	F	P	Blair	G	F	P
Hughs,f	6	0	12	Clark,f	2	1	5
Hassel,f	4	0	8	Ross,f	6	2	14
Rhodes,f	1	0	2	Schiridner,f	0	0	0
Ezris,f	0	0	0	McDaniel,c	1	0	2
Harman,f	1	0	2	Berrman,c	1	0	2
Dudley,c	8	1	17	Maxwell,c	0	0	0
Dowling,c	0	0	0	O'Conner,g	1	1	3
Thompson,g	1	0	2	Lascola,g	1	1	3
MacCarthy,g	2	1	5
Cavanaugh,g	1	0	2	Totals	11	5	29
Sipple,g	0	0	0
Totals	24	2	50

Score at half—23-12. St. John's. Official—Boyd.

Tech, Central Take School Double Bill

Crowd of 1200 Sees Trainers Win, 30-28, In Overtime; Central Beats Anacostia, 39-26

An astonishingly large crowd of 1200 fans, bucking the ban on pleasure driving by using streetcars and buses, turned out at Tech gym last night to see a bitterly contested opening double-header in the 1943 interhigh cage series.

Tech and Central quintets took the night's honors. The former, after a seesaw scrap, gained a 30-28 victory over Roosevelt on Keith Harder's follow shot with 21 seconds of an overtime period left. Central put on a torrid final drive to swamp Anacostia, 39-26.

Tonight league action will be resumed at the same site at 7:30 when Western meets Coolidge and the defending champion Wilson club faces Eastern.

An Exciting Affair

The Roosevelt-Tech affair last night was everything it was expected to be, involving two of the most talent-packed fives in the series. Tech moved into a 9-5 lead in the first quarter, then sagged weakly in the second to give the Riders a 17-13 edge going into the third session. Little Phil Lavin, Ollie Kennedy and Pret Wannan paced the comeback.

Half of the third quarter was gone when Bob Brewer, brother of a former Tech star, put his mates in a 22-21 advantage with a looping overhand shot. As the final quarter started Tech was still leading, 26-25.

Harder, a newcomer to the Trainers, got their only two points in the tight last quarter, and Roosevelt left the count deadlocked on Charley Howard's foul toss and Wannan's running side shot. The hosts lost a chance to win in regulation time when, with two and a

See HIGH, Page 10, Column 1.

Cronin Plans To Manage Bosox Again

Honolulu, Jan. 8.—Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, who is in Hawaii to work with the Red Cross, said today that he would return to Boston next season as playing manager.

He said he was making his trip through the Pacific at the request of Washington and would be here for an indefinite period. He is working here in an effort to boost morale in the armed services and is giving informal talks to the men at outlying posts. He expects to meet the men of the Army, Navy and Marines, on all the Hawaiian Islands.

Regarding next season, Cronin said the Browns and Cleveland were top choices for the American League pennant.

Regarding his own team, he revealed that Eddie Lake of Sacramento, McBride of Little Rock, and Garrison of Fort Worth were being called up for tryouts.

Montgomery Defeats Rico In Garden Bout

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 8.—Bob Montgomery, rugged Philadelphia Negro, advanced a long step up the lightweight title elimination trail tonight by stopping Chester Rico, a slim New Yorker, after seven full rounds with a badly cut left eye in Madison Square Garden. Montgomery weighed 134¼; Rico, 133¼.

After being outclassed for three rounds by Rico's flashy speed, Montgomery opened the cut over the eye early in the fourth and by the seventh the blood was pouring out so freely, smearing both battlers and the referee, that Dr. William Walker, State Athletic Commission physician, called a halt to the proceedings.

Walker was summoned into the ring by Referee Eddie Joseph when the seventh heat ended and ruled that it would be dangerous for Rico to continue.

For the seven completed rounds, Rico held a slight edge on the Associated Press score card, winning four to three for Philadelphia Bob. Two of Rico's winning sessions, however, were given to him by Referee Josephs when he spied Montgomery landing low blows. These were the second and sixth heats.

Johnny Greco, sharp-shooting little Canadian flattened Bill Speary of Nanticoke, Pa., in 1 round tonight in the feature preliminary to the Montgomery-Rico fight.

Greco, who is planning to invade the current lightweight elimination tournament, of which the Montgomery-Rico affair was a headliner, scaled 134¾ to Speary's 135½. After a slow start by both battlers, the dark little Canadian let go a one-two that caught Speary on the "button" and Referee George Walsh counted the full 10 over him at 2:28 of the round.

A crowd of some 7000 was on hand for the return of boxing to the Garden after the annual Christmas holiday lay-off.

17 States Restricted By Ruling

Hampden-Sydney Continues; N.Y. High Leagues Cancel; Resorts Moaning

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 8.—Several rural high school basketball teams and leagues called off their schedules and some colleges did the same thing today as a result of the ban on using gasoline for "pleasure driving" in 17 Eastern States. Bowling alley proprietors and ski resort operators moaned about losing business, but Athletic Director Frank Summers of Hampden-Sydney College reasoned that it was "part" of business for himself and the college to send the basketball squad by automobile to a game at Washington and Lee.

These were some of the first indications of how the latest ban on driving for other than essential purposes will affect sports.

Rural communities and out-of-the-way towns apparently will be among the first to feel the effects. Florida's race tracks, located some distance from Miami, were the first to announce the cancellation of their programs. They were about the last holdouts in the State, as virtually all the rest of the State's winter sports program, including the University of Florida intercollegiate programs, previously had been called off.

Leagues Cancel

At least two rural basketball leagues in upstate New York, the Finger Lakes circuit, numbering 14 schools, and the eight-school Chautauqua County League No. 1, canceled their court programs because of the gas ban. Single school contests at various points in the East and a game between the Rochester pro club and the Aberdeen (Md.) Proving Ground team also were called off, but there was no indication toward a trend to cancel major events.

Officials of the Hershey (Pa.) Arena planned to go ahead, at least temporarily, with their American League hockey schedule, while big-city arenas, such as Madison Square Garden and Boston Garden, prepared for bigger crowds because of their convenient location.

In the snow belt hardy optimists prepared to carry on winter sports operations, having virtually dispensed with gasoline-powered transportation before the new ban was announced. Train service on uncrowded branch lines is available to most ski centers and at least two resorts, Manchester, Vt., and Great Barrington, Mass., offered horsedrawn conveyances.

Bowlers Idle

Bowling establishments in some areas reported business was off 10 to 20 per cent last night and golf clubs merely hoped they could survive. The country clubs of Virginia at Richmond planned to cut maintenance to 50 per cent, figuring that would be cheaper than trying to restore the course after the war.

One of the saddest stories came from the Waynesburg (Pa.) College basketball team. It saved up gas tickets to drive 36 miles to Pittsburgh in two cars, took a licking from Duquesne and then had to stay overnight because there wasn't a bus back home. Coach Frank Wolf said Waynesburg may abandon its schedule unless the ban is relaxed. He didn't say how he planned to get those two cars back to Waynesburg.

Doris Hart Gains Mexico Net Finals

Mexico City, Jan. 8 (AP).—Doris Hart of Miami today entered the final round of the Pan-American Tennis Tournament, defeating Loly Villarelo of Mexico, 6—1, 6—1.

Pauline Betz, United States champion, moved into the semi-final bracket with a 6—1, 6—1 decision over Chata Tapia de Roldan of Mexico.

'Navy Bill' Ingram Joins the Marines

Former Middie Grid Star in Leathernecks Where He'll Aid Most

By the Associated Press

San Francisco, Jan. 8.—Bulky, bald William Austin Ingram, the "Navy Bill" of Annapolis football fame, donned wartime togs today as an officer in the Marine Corps.

The Ingrams have gone down to sea in ship for years. Bill's older brother Jonas is a vice admiral commanding the Navy's South Atlantic Fleet. But "Navy Bill" decided to come back into service as a member of the fighting Leathernecks.

Ingram was sworn in as a major by Maj. Gen. William P. Upshur, commandant of the department of the Pacific.

"I have a great feeling for the Navy and my friends are going to wonder what this is all about," smiled Ingram after he had been commissioned. "I wanted to go into the branch of the service in which I would be most useful and the Marine Corps was the answer."

Major Ingram is one of Navy's football immortals. He quarterbacked the 1916-1917-1918 elevens and was graduated the following year with the rank of ensign. He resigned in 1922 to become football coach at William and Mary. It embarked him on a notable coaching career which saw him in charge at the University of Indiana from 1923 through 1925; at the Naval Academy from 1926 through 1930 and at the University of California from 1931 through most of the 1934 season.

Since 1935, he has been an executive of a national food concern, headquartered at San Francisco. His home is in nearby Los Gatos. Ingram played on and helped coach the western team here in the first East-West charity football game in 1925.

Ingram has been assigned to duty at Washington, D. C.

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

One William A. Ingram was yesterday sworn in as a major in the United States Marines. Maj. Gen. William P. Upshur shakes his hand at a San Francisco base. Ingram, the original "Navy Bill," was an All-America halfback at the Academy and later was an assistant football coach at Annapolis. More recently he has been grid coach at the University of California

Hernia May Keep Pete Reiser From Army, Rickey Discloses

By Jack Mahon

International News Service Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 8.—Branch (The Brain) Rickey disclosed today that a double hernia might keep his star outfielder, Harold (Pete) Reiser, out of the Army, into which he expects to be inducted very shortly. He also releasd the Brooklyn exhibition schedule, which features a series of contests with the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees.

"I talked to Reiser and Joe Medwick on my trip to St. Louis," said The Brain, "and Pete has been advised by his physician that he has a double hernia. The boy never knew anything about it. He is awaiting induction but this injury might cause him to be deferred."

Promised to Do or Die

In a meeting of minds, Rickey came away from the Blues City convinced that Joseph "Muscles" Medwick would be a new man in '43. He said Joe had promised to do or die for the dear old Dodgers and would hustle, try to get along with his teammates, etc., etc.

The spring training schedule has the Brooks down for contests with the Red Sox at Ebbets Field, April 3 and 4. They will play the Yankees at the stadium, April 10 and 11 and at Ebbets Field, April 16, 17 and 18.

Rickey said the Dodgers apparently have to abandon plans for using the baseball cage at Yale. "It isn't definite but we're fairly certain the Army is going to need the fieldhouse at New Haven," he explained. The club is now planning to look over facilities at Rochester University, Dartmouth College, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and even some sites in the Midwest's Big Ten Conference.

Jones Joins Staff

Rickey added Melvin Jones, his director of public relations when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals, to his Dodger staff today to replace John Anthony McDonald, who has been transferred to Montreal to head that Dodger farm club.

Rickey also revealed he will bring Secretary Ed Staples of the Cardinals to the banks of the Gowanus as his assistant. He admitted that he will entrain for the West Coast in about a month to try and lure Dolf Camilli, his first baseman, back into the fold.

Camilli has said he doesn't want to play ball this year because of the expense of maintaining two homes on opposite sides of the country.

Maryland's First Double-Header of Season Slated Tonight

Ring Team, Quint Due For Action

U. S. Coast Guard Academy Boxers, Cavalier Cagers To Oppose Terps

The United States Coast Guard Academy's boxing team, made up of eight ringmen who proved to be the best at their respective weights in a school which goes 100 per cent for the ring sport, will invade the University of Maryland campus tonight in the feature attraction of the season's first sports double-header.

The boxing match will follow an 8 o'clock basketball game between Maryland and its traditional rival, the University of Virginia, in Ritchie Coliseum.

In the only other college sports event of the night here, the Wilson Teachers College courtmen will entertain Langley Field in the Wilson gym.

Hoyas on Road Trip

Georgetown continues its road tour of service camps by meeting the unbeaten Norfolk Naval Training Station dribblers at Norfolk. The Hoyas will meet up with an old rival in Matt Zunic, who played against them six times in a George Washington uniform.

Maryland University students who live on the campus, College Park residents within walking distances and others who have access to the four public transportation routes to College Park will make up an expected crowd of 2000.

Coach Burt Shipley's Maryland courtmen will be after their third straight victory in meeting the Cavaliers. On the basis of their play against North Carolina last week the teams are about even, the Terps having beaten the Tarheels, 47-40, and Virginia 45-40. Maryland has an edge in size and experience, however, and will have the advantage of its home court.

Well-Drilled Team

Lieut. Mickey McLernon, coach of the Coast Guard ringmen, has a well-drilled ring team in perfect condition. The match will be the rubber meeting of the series. The Terps won in 1941 and Coast Guard last year over Maryland's E. I. A. A. champions.

Coach Tom Campagna, newly appointed Maryland ring mentor, has announced an eight-man line-up with only two veterans. Campagna has been with the ringmen for nearly a month, taking the reigns from Prof. George Quigley, faculty adviser. Campagna is a former Chicago Golden Gloves champion and coached two independent ring clubs in the Windy City. He is Maryland's first full-time boxing coach, succeeding Lieut Bobby Goldstein, United States Army.

John Gilmore, Maryland's four-sport participant, and Herb Gunther, the holdover Southern Conference champion, are the only Terp veterans. Both were finalists in the Eastern tournament at Charlottesville last year.

In 165-Pound Class

Gilmore fights in the 165-pound class and Gunther at 175. George Couch will man the heavyweight spot for the Terps while the rest of the lineup will be Alex Bobenko at 155, Martin Rude at 145, Freshman Marvin Guerrant, three times South Atlantic schoolboy champ, at 135; Basil Kamboris at 127 and Bill Bradshaw at 120.

Despite the lack of experience the Terps will present a balanced lineup, according to the coaching staff. Principal losses from last year are Judson Lincoln and Tommy Jones.

The Maryland basketball team will play its next seven games on the road before playing at home again on February 12. To date the Terps dropped an early game to the Quantico Marines and beat Richmond and North Carolina.

M. W. W.

Bullis Defeats Friends, 59-16

Bullis Prep scored its second straight victory of the season yesterday, easily defeating Sidwell Friends' School quintet, 59-16 in the Sidwell-Friends' gym.

Capt. "Chuck" Tourek led the Bullis quint, which used 12 players during the melee, with nine field goals for an 18 point total. Duncan and Lyons were not far behind with 12 and 14 points, respectively.

Holland, Buschmeyer and R. Smith were the only Sidwell-Friends' players to make more than one basket, each connecting for a pair.

Tonight, Bullis will seek its third straight triumph, meeting the Naval Air Station five at Anacostia.

Bullis	G	FG	P	Sidwell	G	FG	P
Duncan,f	5	2	12	Holland,f	2	1	5
Lyons,f	5	4	14	McCune,f	0	0	0
Middleton,f	0	0	0	Welch,f	0	0	0
Chamberlain,f	1	0	2	Seal,f	0	0	0
Erickson,f	0	0	0	Baldwin,f	0	0	0
Depp,f	0	0	0	Fagen,f	0	0	0
Ware,c	4	1	9	Buschmeyer,c	2	0	4
Tourek,g	9	0	18	R. Smith,g	2	1	5
Feeney,g	2	0	4	P. Smith,g	0	0	0
Stevens,g	0	0	0	Lieber,g	0	0	0
Jacobsen,g	0	0	0	Bernard,g	0	0	0
Bowes,g	0	0	0	C. Smith,g	1	0	2
Totals	28	7	59	Totals	7	2	16

Bindman Picks

FAIR GROUNDS

1—Wapan, Sun Flower, Phantom Ship.
2—The Grizzler, Bowsprit, Venture Girl.
3—Folsun, Krin Kaar, Pinsky Muffin.
4—Dutch Raider, Green Belle, Valdina Dart.
5—Little Slam, Belplay, Reaper's Blade.
6—Waltabit, Madigama, Highborough.
7—Hard Lo, Lumiere, Armistice.
8—Milk Route, Armor Bearer, He Hung.
Best—WAITABIT.

Down He Goes, but Wankowicz Gets Up to Win

Post Staff Photo

Al Wankowicz of the St. Mary's Boys Club of Alexandria provided the biggest upset of the tenth annual Golden Gloves Tournament last night at Turner's Arena, when he won a decision over Red Vernon of Washington Boys Club, last year's 147-pound senior champion, and a heavy favorite to retain his laurels. Wankowicz wasn't hit, he slipped. A turn-away crowd saw the finals

20 Horse Show Groups Seeking Dates for 1943

By Anne Hagner

Post Staff Writer

New York, Jan. 8.—The horse show game today officially cut its rayon to fit the garment as 200 delegates and members of the American Horse Show Association, Inc., held a luncheon meeting to discuss the future of the sport—such as it is under wartime conditions.

Lone encouraging note was struck when Adrian Van Sinderen, president of the association, announced that 20 member shows have requested dates for the coming year—a far cry from the 91 that had applied by January of last year, but indicative that the horsey set is managing to mark time for the duration. Others are expected to apply later in the season.

D. C. Area Dates Sought

Of those who asked for dates, many were from the Washington area, the Washington show, May 15 and 16; Bath County, Va., August 7; Deep Run, at Richmond, Va., May 29 and 30; Farmington, at Charlottesville, Va., September 18 and 19; the Washington Bridle Trails Association event, October 10; and the Inter-American Show, at Chevy Chase, Md., which was the first war casualty back in 1940 and has not been held since.

"As an organization we place patriotism first and have emphasized this fact in the conduct of the association," Van Sinderen said. "At our meeting a year ago, the association found itself ordinarily busy, in carrying on its functions in connection with your sport. We deemed it wise to maintain a normal existence insofar as the war program then permitted. But by June the situation had changed. We found ourselves in a gas restricted world, and from then on the difficulties of operation outweighed the advantages derived from performance and the number of shows took a sharp drop.

No Rule Book Published

"Successful attempts have been made to reduce our administrative expenses. In 1938 the cost was upwards of $21,000 per annum; for 1942 that figure was cut approximately in half."

He added that in further cutting the budget for 1943, no official rule book will be published but an appendix will be issued to bring last year's edition up to date with a few minor changes.

Only junior present was 17-year-old George McKelvey, 3rd, of Glenridge, N. J., to whom Van Sinderen awarded the trophy given by him to the young rider piling up the most points in horsemanship classes throughout the year.

Bill Bennings

At the Post

Fair Grounds

Dear Al: The racing situation, which has little chance of getting any better, may spoil the plans of Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones to make Whirlaway such a definite money-winning champion that he would hold the title for many years to come. Whirlaway is a sound horse with ability to carry weight. If the big dough is put up in front of him this year he unquestionably would take down a big slice of it and perhaps go on to the million dollar winnings goal that some fans have set for him. But it doesn't look as if he will get many chances at big money this year. The Widener, already cut down, went by the boards when Hialeah announced it would not try to conduct a meeting. Whirlaway can pick up some change at New Orleans and some more at Hot Springs if his handlers so desire, but whether he will get a crack at big fixtures later this year remains to be seen. For the most part, tracks will try to carry on with their 3-year-old classics—such as the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont—but it is doubtful if the heavy money stakes for older horses will be on the programs. Whirlaway, despite an assignments of 132 pounds, would have had an excellent chance in Hialeah's Widener. That's a lot of weight, but not the top assignment ever given in the race. Remember Cavalcade, that great horse owned by Mrs. Dodge Sloane? Well, Cavalcade was nominated for the Widener back in 1936. He was given the post of honor in the matter of top-weight, 136 pounds. Remember Seabiscuit—Charles Howard's destined money-winning leader of the world until Warren Wright's Whirlaway came along to lift the crown last midyear?

Seabiscuit was assigned 133 pounds in 1939. As far as Whirlaway's 132 is concerned, this poundage is the same as announced for Seabiscuit which again was nominated in 1940, and W. L. Brann's champion Challedon, a nominee in 1941.

Other highweights named for other Widener renewals were Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral in 1938 with 130 pounds; Edward S. Moore's Big Pebble in 1942 with 129, and Joseph E. Widener's Brevity in 1937 with 124. Of the topweights, War Admiral was the most fortunate. The good son of Man o'War scampered home in 1938. He was winner of 9 out of 11 starts that year.

BILL.

Fair Grounds Results, Entries

Entries

FIRST RACE — Six furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; 3-year-olds.

*Baby Rabbit	102	*Alhakit	110
Miss Disical	105	*Ky-Date	105
Long Show	110	*Phantom Ship	110
*Poolo	110	*Wapan	115
*Sun Flower	110	Prognostic	115
*Golf Widow	105	Delayed	110
*Right Carla	110	Frustered	110

SECOND RACE — Six furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; 3-year-olds.

*Singing Sun	114	*Bowsprit	106
Tower Miss	114	†War Button	108
*Wee Helen	103	*Mr. Infinity	114
*Venture Girl	103	*Pine Broom	106
*The Grizzler	108	Greenocks Coin	114
†Bostonite	108	*Morning Mist	103
*Double Results	108	*Straw Warning	108

†Miss Patricia Pelletieri and Mrs. A. Pelletieri entry

THIRD RACE — One and one-quarter miles; purse, $700; claiming; 4-year-olds and upward.

*Hessey Time	108	*Erin Kaar	117
*Lightsome	106	*Plucky Muffin	111
*Purling Light	108	*Swift Sue	103
*Folsun	111	Pompton	113

FOURTH RACE — Two furlongs; purse, $700; special weights; maiden 2-year-olds.

Valdina Dart	113	Superfine	116
Green Belle	110	*Tinys Choice	106
Son of Liberty	116	Flying Julia	113
Dutch Raider	116

FIFTH RACE — One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $800; allowances; 4-year-olds and upward.

†*Exploded	113	Little Slam	117
†*Maepeace	113	*Esex	110
*Reapers Blade	112	*Pittistraw	107
Belplay	120

†K. C. Richards entry.

SIXTH RACE — Six furlongs; purse, $1200 added; Shreveport Handicap; 4-year-olds and upward

Highborough	124	Richmond	121
Madigama	113	Walt a Bit	112

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $700; claiming; 4-year-olds and upward.

Armistice	119	*Mad Bunny	109
*Lumiere	111	Valdina Pahia	113
Hard Lo	114	*White Bait	117
*Masculine	114

EIGHTH RACE — One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $700; claiming; 4-year-olds and upward.

*Chief Bud	117	*Armor Bearer	117
Bob-Hi	116	Milk Route	114
Lactose	114	*Praiseworthy	117
*He Hung	113	*High Talent	114

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.

Lithograph, 108 (Tammaro) 6.00 3.80 2.40
Catapult, 115 (Medarse) 7.20 4.40
Cloe-Flight, 103 (Duhon) 5.20
Balladine, Guess What, Three Bangs, Flag Post, Spy Ann, Damon and Cloudy Weather also ran. Time, 1:15.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upwards.

Sudden Thought, 114 (Clingman) 4.80 4.00
Compton, 118 (Duhon) 4.60
Kinky, Prince Derek, Little Gay, Cisco Miss, Sallymae, Warring Witch and High Brow also ran. Time, 1:16.

DAILY DOUBLE PAID $16.80.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; for 3-year-olds.

Navy Cross, 112 (Clingman) 7.80 3.60 3.20
Dallas Lady, 113 (Haas) 4.40 2.80
Camshaw, 118 (Medarse) 2.60
High Hat, Real Call, Good Daughter and My Tat Rambler also ran.

FOURTH RACE—Two furlongs; purse, $700; claiming; for 2-year-olds.

Aunt Dell, 116 (Higley) 3.60 3.00 2.80
War Gallant, 119 (Craig) 4.80 4.40
Kings Mount, 119 (Whitlow) 3.60
Ralf Hawk, Hasty Message, Valdina Bright, That's Easy, Rapid Firer and Rockwall also ran. Time, 0:23⅘.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs; purse, $800; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.

Amazed, 116 (Pena) 6.00 4.20 3.40
Cold Creek, 116 (Warren) 4.40 3.40
Miss Dawnt, 111 (Jessop) 3.40
Pete Jr., Sweepstaker, Alchamy and No 'Coun' also ran. Time, 1:14⅘.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards; purse, $800; allowances; for 3-year-olds and upward.

Grenadille, 101 (Reeves) 11.00 4.40 2.40
Stylus, 98 (Hunt) 2.80 2.70
Chanoa Grey, 98 (Hart) 2.20
Defender, Magnesium also ran.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards; purse, $700; claiming; for 3-year-olds.

Half Grand, 115 (Kaiser) 9.20 4.40 3.40
Atala, 105 (Bovenzi) 4.80 3.80
Flying Kiev, 115 (Clark) 7.60
Be Sweet, Sucetia Face, Red Ted, Freda K., Fisher's Pet also ran. Time, 1:43 3-5.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $700; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.

Keene Advice, 108 (B'rly) 84.80 29.80 17.60
Red Mars, 116 (Calvert) 9.40 6.60
Jaybeedee, 118 (Whitley) 4.40
Sweet Olga, Legal Advice, *Holly, *Peggy's Advice, *Laird's Cal, Victory March, Prince Chance, Obisbo also ran.

Marines Rout War College

Marine Corps Headquarters made it two straight over the Army War College basketball team last night with a 66-35 drubbing in the War College gymnasium before a large crowd.

In their first meeting, a prelim to the George Washington-Norfolk Naval Training game, the Marines won, 48-43.

Paced by "Lefty" Askenas, who doubles in the summer months as a pitcher for Marine baseball team, and Willard Marshall, late of the New York baseball giants, the Marines grabbed an early lead and moved into the intermission period with a 33-22 margin. After the rest, the Arlington outfit doubled the score while holding the War College sharpshooters to 13 points.

Askenas was high-point man of the night with 12, while Marshall crowded him with 10. Marshall, incidentally, has just arrived at the Arlington annex after completing training at the Parris Island "boot" camp.

Marine Corps	G	F	P	Army W. C.	G	F	P
Morgan,f	6	1	13	Lewis,f	2	1	5
Delmelhorst,f	1	0	2	Corridan,f	2	0	4
Nelson,f	2	3	7	Geyer,f	1	1	3
Marshall,f	5	0	10	Glassman,f	0	1	1
Zerenow,f	1	0	2	Blair,c	3	1	7
Koelba,c	4	0	8	Bhram,c	1	0	2
Askenas,g	6	0	12	Knowles,g	3	1	7
Ware,g	2	0	4	Brown,g	1	0	2
Keene,g	4	0	8	Roe,g	2	0	4
Totals	31	4	66	Totals	15	5	35

Wilson Teachers Star Enlists in Air Corps

On the eve of tonight's clash with Langley Field at Eastern High gym, Wilson Teachers basketers last night lost the services of Ernie Cole, their high scoring forward. Cole has enlisted in the Army Air Corps.

Georgetown Results

The Young Men's five featured play in the Georgetown Branch, W. B. C. basketball league last night when it downed Glover Park, 24-22. Other league games went to May Hardware, 31-28, over Hutchison; Washington Flour by 37-32 and 54-23 over Winslow; and St. Matthews by 38-30 over Georgetown B. C.

Post's Consensus at the Fair Grounds

(Compiled from the selections of the Nation's top handicappers)

Late Consensus

First Race	Second Race	Third Race	Fourth Race	Fifth Race	Sixth Race	Seventh Race	Eighth Race
Wapan (16)	The Grizzler (15)	Folsun (20)	Dut. Raider (19)	Belplay (15)	Richmond (19)	Mad Bunny (16)	Arm. Bearer (20)
Sun Flower (14)	Bowsprit (13)	Pl. Muffin (11)	Vald. Dart (12)	Maepeace (14)	Walt (15)	White Bait (15)	Milk Route (9)
Alhakit (12)	Mr. Finity (9)	Pompton (8)	Superfine (16)	Ibex (12)	H'borough (10)	Lumiere (9)	Lactose (8)

Bill Bennings Selections

Wapan	Bowsprit	Folsun	Valdina Dart	Little Slam	Richmond	Mad Bunny	Armor Bearer
Alhakit	Bostonite	Pompton	Dutch Raider	Richards entry	Walt a Bit	Armistice	Lactose
Golf Widow	Mr. Finity	Swift Sue	Flying Julia	Belplay	Highborough	White Bait	Milk Route

Best bet—RICHMOND.

Louisville Times (A.P)

Alhakit	Pelletieri entry	Folsun	Dutch Raider	Little Slam	Madigama	Armistice	Armor Bearer
Wapan	Tower Miss	Pinsky Muffin	Son of Liberty	Belplay	Richmond	Mad Bunny	Praiseworthy
Miss Disical	The Grizzler	Purling Light	Valdina Dart	Maepeace	Highborough	Masculine	Lactose

Best bet—LITTLE SLAM.

Golden Gloves Finals Draw Capacity House

By Al Costello

Post Staff Writer

Before a crowd of 2700 crushed but hardy souls, the tenth annual Golden Gloves tournament came to a smashing close last night at Turner's Arena. Several hundred more fans were turned away from Turner's overflowing bandbox.

From the very first round of the 112-novice bout, which saw Billy Kerge, of the Apollo A. C., score a technical kayo over Clarence Brandenburg, of the Police Boys Club, in two rounds, to the very end of the program, which found a couple of senior light-heavyweights trading punches, the entire card reeked with action. And with never a dull moment, the place remained in ear-thumping pandamonium all night.

With a total of 35 points, St. Marys Club of Alexandria won the senior team trophy with Washington Boys Club second with 20. In the novice division, Washington Boys' Club won team honors, piling up 40 points, 10 more than the second-place Naval Air Base battlers.

John L. Sullivan Beaten

Among the early bouts, the 135-pound novice class scrap between Boyd Sondheimer of Washington Boys Club, and the Merrick Club's illustriously named John L. Sullivan, was a distinct hit with the decision, disputed around the ringside, going to Sondheimer. But Sondheimer appeared to have a shade the best of it despite a mild protesting boo.

Then came the slugging match which saw Lou Rados, from Lieut. Al Farrell's Naval Air Station crew, winning a decision from Bob Polk of the National Training School in the 147-pound novice class. Polk was down in the first and was outboxed in the second but came back to floor the sailor in the third. But Rados held on and had too much of a margin to have the nod taken away from him.

A bout that won't soon be forgotten was the 122-pound senior battle that gave Jimmy Caraway of the Washington Boys' Club, a slugging match decision over Jimmy Jeanette of Merrick. Caraway, shorter, and with at least six inches the worst of it in reach, outslugged and landed many more punches all the way. Jeanette looked woozy at the final bell.

Dick Mullen Wins

Dick Mullen, of the National Training School, last year's 112-pound champ, stepped up into the 126-pound division this year and was given a close decision over Kenny Vann, of the Navy. The crowd didn't like the decision and a hearty boo blasted a couple of minutes after the nod went against

See GLOVES, Page 10, Column 2.

Ball Players' Release From War Work Seen

WMC Official Says Stars Free to Quit But Will Assume Status in Draft

By the Associated Press

It was sort of like Babe Ruth wondering if he needed to slide for first—that question that was raised yesterday about whether baseball players would be released from the war plants when the infield grass turns green again.

It raised a lot of dust but there wasn't much point to it, as it turned out. For there is nothing to prevent ball players who have taken jobs in war industries for the winter from returning to the diamonds in the spring.

Paul V. McNutt, the former pitcher for the Martinsville (Ind.) High School nine, was unavailable personally for a statement but that interpretation came from George Davis, information director for McNutt's War Manpower Commission.

Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, and Charley Graham, president of the San Francisco Seals, had expressed apprehension during the day that the ballplayers now working in war plants would be "frozen" in these jobs, Bradley mentioning about a "statement of availability" he thought would be necessary to get them back.

But the way that works, according to Davis, is like this: War plants in most areas have signed agreements under programs sponsored by local labor-management committees that they will not hire workers away from each other unless the worker seeking a transfer from one war plant to another has a "statement of availability" from his employer or from the United States Employment Service. This is designed to stop labor raiding.

But there's no law or regulation that keeps a warworker from getting out of war industry entirely to work for a ball club, or a perfume factory or any other nonessential business.

Of course, if a ballplayer had been due to be drafted and had obtained a deferment because of his work in a war industry, that deferment would end when he quit his war job. But if a ballplayer had been deferred for dependents or some other reason, his draft status would not change.

Bradley had urged his players to take war jobs during the off season and at least six of his team did so. Many other major and minor leaguers also are working in war plants.

Graham was reconciled to seeing the Pacific Coast League schedule scrapped and playing Saturday and Sunday ball. All but two of his players are in war work.

Gonzaga High Routs National Training, 50-14

Gonzaga High School five, beaten only once (and then by 1 point by their alumni, increased its winning streak to four yesterday by slamming down upon a fighting National Training School outfit, 50-14.

All 17 members of the Purple squad entered the game and Coach Joe Kosik expressed himself as generally pleased with the performance. Veterans Bob Smith at center and Bill Colliton, forward, led the Gonzaga attack with 12 and 11 points, respectively, while Chet Coakley, another center, followed with 6.

Goodlett, one of the better guards on the schoolboy courts, led the losers with 7 points and Mathews followed with 5.

Gonzaga	G	F	P	N. T. S.	G	F	P
Cantrell,f	2	1	5	Meyers,f	0	0	0
Colliton,f	5	1	11	Carlyle,f	0	0	0
Rhodes,f	0	0	0	Wyatt,f	1	0	2
McNamara,f	1	0	2	Hare,f	0	0	0
Kellenger,f	0	0	0	Mathews,c	2	1	5
Cranston,f	3	0	6	Rayburn,c	0	0	0
Smith,c	5	2	12	Goodlett,g	3	1	7
Coakley,c	3	0	6	Sanders,g	0	0	0
Stellman,c	0	0	0	Barry,g	0	0	0
Clavelaux,c	0	0	0
Tancredi,g	1	1	3
Kennedy,g	0	0	0
Hickson,g	0	1	1
Conner,g	1	0	2
Logan,g	0	0	0
Totals	22	6	50	Totals	6	2	14

Hero Barney Ross Is Returning Home, Mother Is Excited

Chicago, Jan. 8 (INS).—Mrs. Sarah Rasoff stood by tonight, her bag packed ready to fly to the West Coast the moment she receives word her son, Corpl. Barney Ross, United States Marine Corps, has returned from the wars.

Ross, onetime lightweight and middleweight boxing champion of the world, recently enhanced his fighting reputation by knocking out 10 Japs for an unending count.

In letters recently received from her son, Mrs. Rasoff said, he indicated he was en route home to recuperate from wounds received in the fighting at Guadalcanal.

Admitting her anxiety over Barney, Mrs. Rasoff observed:

"But I'm glad he's fighting for his country at $50 a month. Once he turned down a $50,000 purse in Australia because I asked him to."

CHEVY CHASE ICE PALACE
4461 CONN. AVE. ESL. 8100
ICE SKATING 10:00-12:00 2:30-5:00 8:30-11:00
BOWLING—57 ALLEYS
NO WAIT FOR ALLEYS

QUALITY SINCE 1860
Lansburgh's
85TH YEAR
7th, 8th and E Sts. NAtional 9800

SALE!
2.98 Values! 600 Pairs of Useful "All-Around" Good-Looking, Well Made RIGHT OR LEFT GLOVES

1.98

Fine Leather Gloves At a Special Low Price!
They are easy to get into because either glove will slip quickly over either hand! Beautifully tailored and finished of pig-grained capeskin leathers.
Practical for winter wear on every day. In popular cork shade. You'll find a size to fit you in this group from 8½ to 10½.
LANSBURGH'S Men's Shops, Street Floor

Brewers Plan Fan Test With Sunday Game

A test game involving Washington's Heurich Brewers and Corpl. Petey Rosenberg's Fort Belvoir, (Va.) Soldiers will be featured at Heurich gymnasium—Twenty-sixth and D Street Northwest—tomorrow at 3:30 p. m.

Because of the recently introduced gasoline rationing program which prevents motoring to places of entertainment, Sponsor Chris Heurich, jr., through Business Manager Thomas ("Whitey") Wilson, announces the future of the Brewer's basketball activities for 1943 will depend upon tomorrow's turnout.

"If enough people are sufficiently interested to use such transportation as is available to turn out tomorrow we will continue with our program and bring outstanding teams to Heurich gymnasium for the remainder of the season," he said last night. Otherwise we probably will close down for the duration.

"We extend a particular invitation for uniformed men of all services to attend tomorrow's game absolutely free. We also will continue our policy of turning over all paid admissions collected from civilians to the United Service Organizations."

Corporal Rosenberg, for several years an outstanding star with the Philadelphia Sphas, may or may not play tomorrow. Rosenberg plays with the Fort Belvoir whenever his schedule permits it, but was not certain yesterday that he would accompany the soldiers here.

Other stars of the service team, include: Lieut. John Gerabech, forward, former captain of Rutgers; Sergt. John Hopkins, center, formerly of Gettysburg College and the Pennsylvania State Pro League; Sergt. John Roberts, formerly of Scranton University, and Corpl. Jake Shirk, formerly of Stroudsburg.

Landon Trips Montgomery, By 36-22 Count

Running up a 12-1 lead in the first period, Landon School basketers yesterday trampled Richard Montgomery High five, of Rockville, 36-22 on the Leland court.

Pacing the early attack and performing well throughout were Joe Devereaux and George Kriner, who tallied nine points apiece, and Walker with an excellent floor game. Jack Fennell was the only consistent scorer for the invaders, accounting for eight points.

It was the second triumph in three games this season for the Landoners.

Landon	G	FG	P	Rockville	G	FG	P
Sager,f	3	1	7	Williams,f	1	2	4
Sanderson,f	1	0	2	Carter,f	1	1	3
Devereux,f	4	1	9	Fennell,c	3	2	8
Ammussen,c	1	2	4	Warner,g	0	0	0
Anderson,c	0	0	0	Hocker,g	1	1	3
Kriner,g	4	1	9	Shaw,g	2	0	4
Leachman,g	0	2	2	Dects,g	0
Walker,g	1	1	3
				Totals	8	6	22
Totals	14	8	36

Score at Half—19-9, Landon.

Tech, Central Win in Opener

HIGH, from Page 8.

half minutes remaining. Hank Pizza, their best free thrower, missed a pair of shots. Harder also missed a charity toss when the overtime period was a minute old.

Brewer took down scoring laurels for the winners with 10 points, but he was forced to share the honor with Ollie Kennedy, scrappy Rider forward.

It took Central and Anacostia three full minutes before either could score. Then the Indians moved into a 6-2 margin before falling off and allowing Central a lead of 9-6 at the end of the first quarter. With a minute of the second left the Vikings were ahead 17-9, but a pair of snowbirds by Elliott Day cut down Anacostia's deficit.

Brewer High Man

With Day and Pete Kikta working well, Anacostia managed to tie the count at 19-19 and 21-21 midway of the third session, but that was the end of their rope. Fourteen straight points the Vikings amassed before their smaller foes could tally again.

Hank Lawler and Bob Hill, converted gridmen, pushed home 11 points apiece, and Johnny Gibbons was only three behind. Kikta found the range for 9 points to lead Anacostia's effort.

Central	G	F	P	Anacostia	G	F	P
Jeffries,f	0	0	0	Flaherty,f	0	0	0
J.Mess,f	0	2	2	Wolfgang,f	0	0	0
Walsh,f	2	0	4	Kikta,f	4	1	9
Gibson,f	0	0	0	Nelson,c	1	2	4
Cryer,f	0	0	0	Tinkelenberg,g	2	0	4
Hill,c	5	1	11	Capanilli,g	1	1	3
Poole,c	0	0	0	Day,g	2	2	6
Harrison,c	0	1	1	Kline,g	0	0	0
Lawler,g	5	1	11
Nahme,g	0	0	0	Totals	10	6	26
Gibbons,g	4	0	8
Fitzgerald,g	1	0	2
Totals	17	5	39

Score at half, 17-13, Central.
Referees—Buscher and Roe.

Tech	G	F	P	Roosevelt	G	F	P
Pizza,f	4	0	8	Kennedy,f	5	0	10
Thompson,f	1	0	2	Wannan,f	1	2	4
Tulenko,f	0	0	0	Howard,c	1	1	3
Harder,c	3	1	7	Citrenbaum,g	2	0	4
Brewer,g	5	0	10	Garner,g	1	0	2
Walsh,g	1	1	3	Levin,g	2	1	5
O'Connell,g	0	0	0
Ray,g	0	0	0	Totals	12	4	28
Totals	14	2	30

Score at half—Roosevelt, 17-13.
Referees—Buscher and Roe.

H. Meyer Tops Pinmen At Clarendon Alleys

H. Meyer, Central Methodist No. 2, was top pinsman in the Church League at Clarendon Bowling Center last night with a 154 game and 390 set, which enabled his boys to post team highs of 584-1635. St. Georges No. 1 retained hold of first place by virtue of a sweep over Central Methodist No. 3.

Hockey Lions Battle Tough Bisons Tonight

Local Six Faces Sensational Goalie Bell When Bisons Take Ice at 8:30 o'Clock

Eddie Shore's Buffalo Bisons, the most colorful combination in the American Hockey League, are to make their second invasion of Uline Arena tonight to oppose Washington's Lions at 8:30 o'clock.

The big Bisons, who are waging a three-way race with the Pittsburgh Hornets and Indianapolis Capitals for the Western Division's lead, are bringing to Washington the prize rookie of the season in 17-year-old Gordie Bell, "miracle man" goalie, who has turned in four shutouts thus far this season.

Bell has won two of three matches from the Lions, and whitewashed them in Buffalo on one occasion, 2-0. He will encounter man-sized opposition tonight, however, in the Lions' veteran Paul Gauthier, who last Wednesday night made good with some of the finest goal tending of the season as the rejuvenated Lions routed the tough Cleveland Barons here, 5 to 2.

The Green Shirts, buoyed over their surprisingly convincing defeat of Cleveland, tonight will go all out to strengthen their one-point third-place Eastern Division League margin over New Haven.

The local pros will be bolstered mightily in the department in which they have been weakest, defense. This was assured last Wednesday night when Owner Michael J. Uline announced the outright purchase of the Bowman brothers — Ralph (Scotty) and Frank, from the Hershey Bears.

Hart to Meet Parks-Komar Winner Here

Promoter Joe Turner today is giving serious thought to his own heavyweight elimination boxing tournament, starting with Monday night's show which features Georgie Parks, the local scrapper, and Paul (Buddy) Komar, McKeesport (Pa.) contender, in an eight-rounder.

Turner announced yesterday that he has lined up Al Hart, powerfully built soldier-fighter, to meet the winner of the Parks-Komar scrap, and after that match hopes to bring in a flock of heavyweights to determine the best man operating from Turner's Arena.

"Fans like the little boys, but they get their biggest kick when they see two heavies out there slugging it out," Turner said. "This Joe Louis has made fans heavyweight-conscious."

Hart was introduced recently at the arena, and is training for future fights. Before leaving Washington he fought a number of fights here, and in New York he appeared several times at the garden. He and Joe Baksi scrapped to a stirring draw in the semi-windup on the Baer-Louis title show.

Golden Gloves Finals Draw Capacity House

GLOVES, from Page 9.

the sailor boy. However, it would have been just as tough to take it away from Mullen.

The mighty Red Vernon, of the Washington Boys Club, last year's 147-pound senior champion, and regarded as a lock to defend his title, was frustrated at every turn by the determined Al Wankowicz, of St. Marys Club, of Alexandria, who was awarded a decision that not even the rabidly pro-Vernon audience could very well protest. Wankowicz kept a confusing left jab in Red's face all the fight and at the bell that ended the battle, was trading punches on an even basis with the supposedly harder socking Vernon.

Other Champions Crowned

Other champions crowned in the novice class included Eddie Funk of Washington Boys Club, 118-pound class; Jim Vakos of Washington Boys Club, 126-pound class; Jim Calameris of Naval Air Base, 160-pound class (by forfeit); Tom Poole, Washington Boys Club, 175-pound class, and Henry Vaughn of National Training School, heavyweight (by forfeit). Both forfeits were awarded when opponents, Harry Krause, 160, and Johnny Goga, heavyweight of the Navy, were ordered to sea with their ships.

Other senior titlists crowned include Gilly Smithson of Apollo A. C., 118-pound class; Pete Celinski of St. Marys Club of Alexandria, 135-pound class; Lewis Pavone of St. Marys Club, 160-pound class, and Tom Brody of Apollo A. C., 175-pound class. Frank Cady, defending heavyweight champion, won again when Tom Ponsalle of Georgetown University, was forced to forfeit, having been called to Parris Island to join his Marine detachment.

SENIOR DIVISIONS

112-pound class—Jimmy Caraway (Washington Boys Club) outpointed Jimmy Jeanette (Merrick Club), three rounds.

118-pound class—Gilly Smithson (Apollo A. C.) won technical knockout over Danny De Rosa (Naval Air Base), 2 minutes 15 seconds, second round.

126-pound class—Dick Mullen (National Training School) outpointed Kenny Vann (U. S. Navy), three rounds.

135-pound class—Pete Celinski (St. Marys Boys Club) outpointed George Esnina (Merrick Club), three rounds.

147-pound class—Al Wankowicz (St. Marys Boys Club) outpointed Red Vernon (Washington Boys Club), three ruonds.

160-pound class—Lewis Pavone (St. Marys Boys Club) knocked out Edsel Maritz (Washington Boys Club), 2 minutes and 45 seconds, first round.

175-pound class—Tom Brody (Apollo A. C.) won technical knockout over Larry Baldwin (St. Marys Boys Club), first round.

Heavyweight class — Tom Ponsalle (Georgetown University) forfeited to Frank Cady (U. S. Coast Guard).

NOVICE DIVISION

112-pound class—Billy Kerge (Apollo A. C.) knocked out Clarence Brandenburg (Police Boys Club), two rounds.

118-pound class—Eddie Funk (Washington Boys Club) outpointed Dominick Ortiz (National Training School), three rounds.

126-pound class—James Vakos (Washington Boys Club) outpointed Warren Moore (Naval Air Base), three rounds.

135-pound class — Boyd Sondheimer (Washington Boys Club) outpointed John L. Sullivan (Merrick Club), three rounds.

147-pound class—Leo Rados (Naval Air Base) outpointed Robert Polk (National Training School), three rounds.

160-pound class—Harry Krause (Naval Air Base) forfeited to Jim Calameris (Naval Air Base).

175-pound class—Tom Poole (Washington Boys Club) knocked out Jim Schiavi (Naval Air Base); one round.

Heavyweight class—Johnny Goga (Naval Air Base) forfeited to Henry Vaughn (National Training School), three rounds.

Rochester Signs 'Pepper' Martin

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 8 (AP).—John (Pepper) Martin, former star of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, has signed to manage the Rochester Red Wings of the International League, Oliver French, club president, announced tonight.

Martin, player-manager of Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League for the last two seasons, succeeds Ray Hayworth, who piloted the last-place Wings in 1942.

French said Martin would continue as playing manager.

Jury Indicts German-Born Countess

By the Associated Press

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8.—A Federal district grand jury here today indicted Countess Elsa Von Stahremberg on charges of impersonating an FBI agent.

The indictment said she obtained $300 from Lawrence Dodd, a Hungarian refugee, in Miami Beach last March.

The countess has been under arrest in Los Angeles for some time, Assistant District Attorney Ernest L. Duhaime said, and a certified copy of the indictment is being forwarded to the district attorney there with a request for her immediate removal to Miami.

The trial has been set for the February term of court.

Duhaime said the German-born naturalized citizen, who claimed the title of princess because of a marriage to an Austrian, represented herself as a translator on the staff of the FBI.

Dodd gave her the $300 for safe keeping, Duhaime reported, and when he asked its return she did not have it. Dodd complained to the FBI, and the indictment followed.

Haight Finds Strongest Link In Chain Store

HAIGHT, from Page 8.

ten $3.43 pops up at the top of the register.

While you are fumbling for the $6.43, she puts your purchases into bags, then takes your money, throws the house basket on the pile and goes to work on another victim.

Now, Boss, this business of checking can be done with the science and precision of a blackjack dealer in a gambling house but that isn't the way Tillie does it. She is such a good ambassador for the place that I have suspected that she must own a block of stock in the company.

Tillie didn't graduate from Paul Junior High yesterday. She is the matron (a bit on the heavy side) and to those young married couples, who get practice by pushing the store's basket carts, she acts as a second mother. When losing as much as a beat on the cash register she gives out philosophy in big bits, quiets crying children, suggests different hairdos for customers and settles family arguments. She has a sense of humor that is contagious.

The other day there wasn't any jelled cranberries on the shelf so I took a pound of fresh ones. When she was checking my purchases, Tillie spotted the cranberries and yelled, "Can any of you ladies tell this fat man how to make cranberry sauce without sugar?"

When husband and wife fumble for money, Tillie always sticks her hand out toward the husband and invariably gives the wife the change. If you get more than two bottles of ginger ale she wants to know what time the party starts or if you buy a turkey she reminds you that a sandwich wouldn't go bad tomorrow.

Tillie likes everybody except hoarders and don't think for a minute she don't know them. "I can spot them a mile away," says Tillie. "If the FBI wants to get them all they need to do is to put an agent behind me. I hope those hoarders choke on every can."

If you don't think she has a sense of humor, how about this one? The other day, I asked her how far the store was going to carry this serve-yourself thing. "Next Friday we're putting in a new system," said Tillie. "When you come in here for fish, the store's going to give you hook, line and bait and let you catch your own."

In these times, or in any times, the world could use a lot more Tillies. As ever, POUNDS HAIGHT.

P. S.—Buttercup, our pet hen, hasn't laid an egg—or a pound of butter.

St. John's Beats Tech Riflemen

Tony DiBartolo led the St. John's High rifle team to its second triumph of the season yesterday, a 1329-1264 edge on Tech at the latter's range. DiBartolo hung up a mark of 279x300.

ST. JOHN'S

Name.	Prone.	Kneel.	Stand.	Total.
A. DiBartolo	98	95	86	279
E. Cross	96	94	79	269
A. Ramos	95	88	78	261
L. Rush	99	90	78	261
R. Dore	98	87	74	259
				1329

TECH H.S.

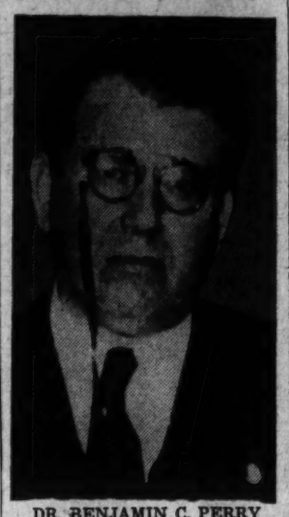
Name.	Prone.	Kneel.	Stand.	Total.
A. William	95	86	79	260
S. Seebold	97	80	79	256
W. Stands	97	86	72	255
B. Smith	100	92	53	247
T. Raulston	94	79	73	246
				1264

Yellow Mask Returns To Arena Wednesday

The Yellow Mask, who is edging nearer Nanjo Singh's record in the matter of disqualifications, is being brought back on next Wednesday night's wrestling card at Turner's Arena as a headliner.

The Mask will be featured in a 1-hour time limit bout. His opponent will be named today, Promoter Joe Turner said.

Prominent Doctor Dies in Bethesda



DR. BENJAMIN C. PERRY

Dr. B. C. Perry Of Bethesda Is Dead at 62

Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, 62, prominent physician of Bethesda, Md., and an outstanding figure in public affairs in Maryland, died yesterday morning at Georgetown Hospital atfer an illness of about two years.

A native of Kensington, Md., Dr. Perry studied at George Washington University, where he received his medical degree, and later continued his studies at the University of Maryland.

Following his graduation from George Washington he began medical practice at Frederick, Md., and moved to Bethesda 10 years later. He was extremely active in civic affairs in Maryland, having served at one time as president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners and as chairman of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, of which he was a member at the time of his death.

Dr. Perry had served two six-year terms on the Maryland State Board of Health and was in his third term when he became ill. He was an active member of the Bethesda Chevy Chase Rotary Club and was vice president of the Bank of Bethesda.

A member of the American Medical Association, he had been president of the Maryland, Virginia and District Medical Associations.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Carusi and Mrs. Isabel Emory of Washington.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at St. John's Episcopal Church in Bethesda, with the Rev. Joseph E. Williams officiating. Burial will be private.

Mrs. E. W. Freeman Funeral Rites Set for Monday

Mrs. Elphonzo W. Freeman, Negro, for more than 20 years a leader in church work here, died early yesterday at Adams Hospital.

Despite ill health during the past year, she had carried on the work of three posts in the Third Baptist Church from her home, 1106 Lamont Street Northwest.

Mrs. Freeman was the wife of Elphonzo W. Freeman, who has been librarian of the District Bar Association for 42 years. He received condolences from members of the judiciary and from many attorneys.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from Third Baptist Church, Fifth and Q Streets Northwest, the Rev. George O. Bullock officiating. Burial will be in Harmony Cemetery.

Cadet Christian To Have Funeral Here Monday

Funeral services for Aviation Cadet Conrad W. Christian, 21, formerly of 3614 T Street Northwest, who was killed in an Army plane crash near Donaldsville, Ga., Thursday, will be held in St. Johns Episcopal Church, Potomac and Q Streets Northwest, Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Cadet Christian was the son of Maj. and Mrs. Earl H. Christian of Mort Monroe. He was graduated from Fillmore School, Gordon Junior High School and Western High School. Before entering the Army Air Corps he attended the University of Maryland.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Misses Constance and Carol Christian.

Thomas B. Love Funeral Rites Set for Monday

Thomas Buchanan Love, 64, son of the late Judge James Monroe Love and Mrs. Maria Buchanan Love of Fairfax Courthouse, Va., died unexpectedly last night at his home, 1925 S Street Northwest.

Mr. Love had long been a resident of Washington and was connected with many business activities here.

He is survived by his wife, Lydia Janney Love, and two daughters, Jane Buchanan Love and Mrs. Frederick Wagner, jr., of Baltimore.

Services will be held Monday at 11 a. m.

Ballroom Dancing Class to Begin Here on Tuesday

A class in ballroom dancing will open Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in McFarland Recreation Center, Thirteenth and Upshur Streets Northwest, under the supervision of the District Recreation Department, it was announced yesterday. Miss Marjorie Mitchell will be the instructor.

Instruction in home nursing will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Roosevelt High School Center and continue each Tuesday and Friday until 9:30 p. m. under the direction of the Red Cross.

Other recreational activities are held in the Central High School Center, Thirteenth and Clifton Streets Northwest. There is no charge for any of the classes.

Schwab Salary Tops Pay List

Philadelphia, Jan. 8 (AP).—The $271,128 paid to Jacob W. Schwab as president of United Merchants & Manufacturers, Inc. and two affiliated companies tops a list of officers' remuneration contained in 1942 corporation reports made public today by the Securities and Exchange Commission

Other salaries reported to the commission for the past fiscal year included:

Woodward & Lothrop, Washington, D. C.—W. W. Everett, president, $51,107; G. N. Everett, executive vice president, $46,886.

Obituaries

Funeral Rites For Mrs. Irish Set for Today

Funeral services for Mrs. M. Hugh Irish, 1322 F Street Northeast, a resident of Washington since 1918, who died Wednesday at Sibley Memorial Hospital after a month's illness, will be held at 1 p. m. today at Lee's Funeral Home, Fourth Street and Massachusetts Avenue Northeast. Interment will be at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Irish was a member of the executive board of the National League of American Pen Women, a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a charter member of the District of Columbia Motion Picture Council, an honorary member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and vice president of the Writers League of Washington, of which her late husband was president for 12 years.

Mrs. Irish was married in 1894 and lived for 24 years in Williamsfield, Ill., where she assisted her husband in editing and publishing the Williamsfield Times. On coming here she became a member of the Metropolitan Methodist Church and was for 15 years secretary to its missionary society.

She was on the board of managers of the Methodist Home for many years and active in the Sibley Guild. For five years Mrs. Irish was treasurer of the District of Columbia League of American Pen Women.

She is survived by her son, Frederick Walker Irish of Washington, and two brothers—Marcus H. Walker of Phoenix, Ariz., and Ernest D. Walker of Urbana, Ill.

General Barber's Rites Today; Once Commanded 29th

Brig. Gen. Charles W. Barber, 70, of New York, who had command of the Twenty-ninth Division for a time in the first World War and later commanded the Fifty-seventh Infantry Brigade in the front sector, will be buried at Arlington Cemetery today at 3 p. m. He died Thursday while visiting his son in Charlotte, N. C.

General Barber entered the Army at the time of the Spanish American War and received accelerated promotions as the result of his service in the Panama Canal Zone during the building of the canal. He also served in the Philippines and on the Mexican Border. After his retirement in 1916 he served as adjutant general of New Jersey, which position he held at the outbreak of the World War.

In recent years he had engaged in business in New York, where he held office in several corporations.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Barber, and a son, Russell George Barber, the latter of Charlotte.

Model to Show Proposed Traffic Shifts

Model of the proposed treatment of the complicated traffic intersection at Wisconsin Avenue and East-West Highway in Bethesda, Md., will be on exhibit next week in the Meadowbrook Market, 7450 Wisconsin Avenue, under auspices of the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce.

The plan, prepared by Planning Director Fred W. Tuemmler and his associates in the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, provides for an underpass and traffic islands for the troublesome but important intersection, one of the busiest in the county.

Residents of the community are requested by Clarence C. Keiser, president of the chamber, to view the model and then to attend an open meeting to be held by the chamber January 18 at 8 p. m. in the Bethesda County Building.

Director Tuemmler and other officials will be present to explain the plan and residents will be permitted to express their views on the need for the treatment and also on the advisability of adopting the plan proposed by Tuemmler.

The meeting will be informal and will not be a public hearing. It will be held to enable the chamber to forward intelligent recommendations based upon the sentiment of the community.

The model was shown at the recent exhibit on planning held by the commission at Silver Spring and at Hyattsville.

Last Honors Paid To Dr. Carver at Tuskegee Burial

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 8 (U.P.).—The body of George Washington Carver, who was born a slave, today was returned to the earth from which he had extracted untold potential benefits for man.

Simple funeral services were held for the 78-year-old Negro scientist who died Tuesday, and burial was in the cemetery of Tuskegee Institute here. Since 1896 Dr. Carver had been a member of the faculty, but in recent years he had devoted himself almost entirely to research work on agricultural products and the clays of the South.

The Rev. Harry V. Richardson, chaplain of the institute, read the funeral service. The Rev. Charles W. Kelly read messages from prominent persons, including President Roosevelt, commending Dr. Carver's life and work, and expressing sorrow at his death.

Mrs. Julie Kenly, Author, Dies In New Jersey

Mrs. Julie Woodridge Terry Kenly, 73, of 2200 Nineteenth Street Northwest, author of several books and the widow of Maj. Gen. William Lacy Kenly, died at the home of her son, Henry Kenly, at Short Hills, N. J., yesterday. She had made her home here for several years.

Mrs. Kenly was author of "The Vision" and "The Wise Woman," "Strictly Personal," "Green Magic," "The Astonishing Ant," "Children of a Star," "Wild Wings," "Cities of Wax," and "Little Lives," and "Voices From the Grass." Her last book was published in 1940.

She was born in Cleveland in 1869, the daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Henry Whitney Closson, and was educated at home. She was married to General Kenly in 1893. He died in 1928.

She is survived by her son, Henry Kenly of Short Hills, and one sister, Miss Olice Closson, of this city.

Nikola Tesla, Noted Electrical Inventor, Dies

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Nikola Tesla, 86, electrical inventor noted for his development of systems of alternating current power transmission and distribution of electrical energy, died last night.

He was found dead in bed in his suite at the New Yorker Hotel. Members of the hotel staff said he had been in failing health for two years. He was born in Smilian, Lika, Austria-Hungary, and began his career in Budapest in 1881 when he invented a telephone repeater. Since 1884 he had lived in this country.

Among the inventions credited to Telsa was a system of arc lighting, the Telsa motor, a system of alternating current power transmission, a system of electrical conversion and distribution of oscillatory discharges, the Telsa coil or transformer, and generators of high frequency currents. He conducted researches and discoveries in radiations, material streams and emanations.

Red Cross to Elect

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Takoma Park (Md.) Branch, Montgomery County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held Thursday, January 14 at 1:30 p. m. at the Takoma Health and Welfare Center, 8 Columbia Avenue.

The WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

New Torpedoes Increase Menace to Ships

SUBMARINE WARFARE is not getting into the headlines as it was a year ago, but unfortunately this does not mean it has been relaxed. On the contrary, great flocks of U-boats, estimated at around 300, are now concentrated at four strategic spots—two on this side of the Atlantic in the north and south, two on the other side of the Atlantic around North Africa and on the northern route to Russia.

DREW PEARSON

Rebuffed in the Caucasus and on the defensive in Africa, Hitler seems to be gambling everything on stopping supplies from reaching the war fronts. As a result, sinkings during the early weeks of the winter have been among the worst of the war.

This is partly because nights are long, and at night submarines cannot be seen from the air.

Furthermore, Nazi methods of destruction have been so much improved that ships go down within minutes, sometimes seconds, after the torpedo strikes. The War Shipping Administration has estimated that the average time is now only four minutes.

Apparently the Germans are using larger torpedoes, with a far greater explosive power. Instead of knocking a hole in the side of a ship, they are blowing the ship in two.

This has the advantage of preventing radio messages from being sent, and thus preventing detection of the submarine. It also has the effect of sharply increasing casualties among seamen.

The British estimate that they lose one-third of every crew on a torpedoed ship. The Norwegians estimate a 40 per cent loss. United States estimates are 35 per cent.

The End of Lifeboats

THIS METHOD of sudden destruction has outmoded the lifeboat, and its old fashioned counterpart, the cork-filled life belt. A ship that goes down in four minutes has no time for launching boats. In fact, many of the seamen don't even have time to get up on deck.

Consequently, lifeboats are being discarded in favor of life rafts, which hang suspended at the side, and can be dropped at once by a single release from the bridge. Then the men who are lucky enough to be on deck when the torpedo strikes leap overboard and try to swim to a raft.

The life belts are being discarded because they break too many arms. If a seaman, wearing a life belt of hard cork, leaps 20 feet into the water, the belt flies up and wrenches his arms. Belts of a softer material such as kopek are being used instead.

Shift from lifeboats to life rafts was a slow process, because of shortage of materials. When the War Shipping Administration was desperately trying to get rafts for merchant vessels, they found a whole warehouse full of them in Brooklyn—but they belonged to the Navy, and were being reserved for naval vessels now under construction. The Navy declined to release them.

There's a limit to the number of sinkings a seaman can weather, even though he may not be physically injured. The Public Health Service finds that many men who have gone through such ordeals become mentally deranged, and suffer hallucinations. They require a rest cure before going back to sea again.

Greek Bond Drive

WHEN NEWS REELS showed Speaker Sam Rayburn buying a bond from Steve Vasilakos, the Greek peanut vendor at the White House, it was Sam and Steve who got the publicity but it was a very significant group of American citizens who planned the thing—the Order of Ahepa.

The Ahepa is an organization of Americans of Greek descent. And although most Americans of foreign descent have been patriotic, those from Greece, a country which has suffered probably more than any other, have been intensely so.

Ahepa was among the first to lead the crusade for naturalization among immigrants. It was also the first national organization to denounce persecution of the Jews by Hitler, and among the first to urge universal military service for all youth.

At present, Ahepa is staging a Nation-wide drive to raise 50 million dollars in war bonds from Greek-Americans. Ahepa's progressive president, George Vournas, is making a tour of the country pushing the sale, while Ensign Chris Petrow, U. S. N. R., is making a simultaneous tour.

The campaign is not only to sell bonds but to bring home to every racial minority the war issues at stake and make people relaize more than ever that this is "our" war and its financing "our" problem.

Songs for Royalty

APPEARANCE OF MARIAN ANDERSON, noted Negro singer in the D. A. R.'s Constitution Hall, recalls to White House intimates the experience Mrs. Roosevelt had with Miss Anderson during the visit of the British King and Queen.

To the reception for King George and Queen Elizabeth, Mrs. Roosevelt had invited some of the most noted American entertainers, among them Miss Anderson. Mrs. Roosevelt, herself once a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, wanted to help rectify the snub which the D. A. R. had given the Negro singer in barring her from its hall. Also she wanted a purely American program for the distinguished British visitors.

However, when she looked over the program, she was disappointed to see that Miss Anderson planned to sing exclusively several numbers from the classic concert repertoire.

So, Mrs. Roosevelt tactfully suggested that this was to be a wholly American program, and asked if she would not sing some Negro spirituals.

Miss Anderson did not seem to like the suggestion. She replied that all her music was in New York and it was too late to get it. Mrs. Roosevelt countered with the proposal that the White House send an airplane to New York and bring the music in ample time.

But Miss Anderson was most unenthusiastic. She raised the objection that the accompanist with her in Washington could not play spirituals. Mrs. Roosevelt in turn said that some of the best accompanists in the country lived in Washington, or a suitable one could be brought down from New York.

Miss Anderson, however, still was not pleased, but finally, after Mrs. Roosevelt tactfully but firmly held to her point, the noted singer agreed to sing some Negro spirituals for the King and Queen of England.

Correction

THE BRITISH EMBASSY has drawn the Editor's attention to certain inaccuracies in Mr. Drew Pearson's "The Washington Merry-Go-Round" on page 12 of The Washington Post, Thursday, January 7.

Officers of the diplomatic missions of the Dominions of Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa and of the Indian Agency General and members of their staffs were invited to the Embassy on the occasion mentioned.

Mr. A. D. Marris is engaged in duties in the War Trade Department of the Embassy and is not concerned in any way with the Ambassador's social engagements; Lord and Lady Halifax themselves decide who is to be invited to their home.

It is also pointed out that Canadians and South Africans to whom Mr. Pearson refers as "colonials" are nationals of free and independent Dominions of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Capital Store Sales Up 4% During Week

By S. Oliver Goodman

Washington department store sales in the week ended January 2 were 4 per cent heavier than in the corresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported yesterday. The Fifth Reserve District as a whole showed a gain of 8 per cent during the same week.

For the four weeks ended January 2, local store sales increased 12 per cent over the same period last year, while the Fifth District gain was 14 per cent.

Retailers reported an excellent early response to clearances, drawing crowds still in a mood to spend freely. Dun & Bradstreet's retail trade review for the week said that women's wear and general dry goods sold strongly. Fur coats moved well, the review added, and demand for warm underwear and nightwear was unusually heavy. Lack of stocks in certain lines was noted.

Business Briefs Of D. C. Interest

Assets at 67-Year Peak

Assets of the American Building Association were $15,373,475 at the close of business December 31, a new record in the 67-year history of the Washington institution.

This was the highlight of the annual report of Secretary Wilfred H. Blanz, given yesterday at the annual meeting. All officers and directors were reelected.

Blanz also reported that more than 1100 new share accounts were opened during the year. A dividend of 4 per cent was declared on all share accounts.

Officers reelected were Charles H. Kindle, president; Arthur C. Balser, vice president; Wilfred H. Blanz, secreatry; Howard B. Kramer, treasurer; R. Lee Baxter and B. J. Coyle, assistant treasurers; George A. Brennan and Alton H. Helm, assistant secretaries.

Charles Clark Promoted

Charles Clark, of the Southern Railway System has been appointed general attorney in charge of commerce matters, succeeding the late William N. McGehee. Mr. Clark's headquarters will remain in Washington.

Originally from Augusta, Ga., Mr. Clark entered the service of the Southern Railway in 1916 as local counsel at Atlanta. He has been connected with the law department of the railway at Washington for the past 25 years.

Building Owners to Meet

Wartime problems will be discussed at the fifteenth annual Middle Atlantic Conference of Building Owners and Managers, Monday and Tuesday in Baltimore.

Representatives of office, loft and apartment buildings in Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh and other Eastern cities are expected to attend.

Banks to Aid Book Drive

Washington banks have received a letter from W. Linn Hemingway, president of the American Bankers Association, urging them to further the drive to obtain books for the armed services. The local banks are asked to set up collection centers in their institutions.

Temporary Bonds Called

The Riggs National Bank reported yesterday that holders of temporary first mortgage bonds of the Potomac Electric Power Co. may exchange them soon for permanent certificates. The announcement said that certificates for definitive first mortgage 3¼ per cent series, due August 1, 1977, will be available on and after January 11 at the Riggs office here or at the Bankers Trust Co. in New York City.

Chicago Livestock

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—SALABLE HOGS—11,000; total, 19,000; opened 15 to 35 higher than Thursday's average; later trade less active, good and choice 190 to 330 lbs., 14.75@15.00; top, 15.00; 180 to 190 lbs., 14.50@14.90; 150 to 170 lbs., 13.90@14.15; few choice, 14.25.

SALABLE CATTLE—1500; calves, 400; fed steers and yearlings steady to weak; best, 15.10; bulk, 12.50@14.00; heifers steady, 11.00@14.25; cows steady to weak; fat cows, 10.00@11.50; good offerings, 13.00; cutters, 8.00@9.25; canners, 7.00@8.25; bulls steady; weighty sausage offerings, 13.75@14.35; vealers fairly active at 14.00@15.00; medium grade stock cattle in demand at 11.25@12.25; slow on good to choice stockers.

SALABLE SHEEP—7,000; total, 12,500; today's trade, fat lambs and sheep about steady; good to choice wooled offerings eligible around 15.50@15.85; choice held 16.00 and above; good to choice 85-lb. clipped lambs with No. 1 skins, 15.35; good slaughter ewes, 8.00.

Baltimore Markets

Baltimore, Jan. 8 (AP) (U. S. Dept. Agr.). CATTLE—Receipts, 25; nominally steady; canners and cutters, 7.00@9.00; few common to medium, 9.50@10.50; common and medium sausage bulls, 10.00@12.00; good, 12.50@13.25.

CALVES—Receipts, 25; nominally steady; few choice, 17.00; medium to good, 15.00@16.50; cull and common, 9.00@13.00.

HOGS—Receipts, 350; butchers and sows 50 higher; practical top, 15.30; butchers scaling 120-130 pounds cashed at 14.45@14.70; 130-140 pounds, 14.55@14.80; 140-160 pounds, 14.75@15.00; 160-220 pounds, 15.05@15.30; 220-240 pounds, 14.95@15.20; 240-260 pounds, 14.85@15.10; 260-300 pounds, 14.65@14.90; good and choice butchers sold mainly at the outside prices; good sows averaging 270-400 pounds, 13.80@14.10.

SHEEP—Receipts, 25; nominally steady; practical top, 17.00; good to choice, 16.50@17.00; common to medium, 10.00@15.00; slaughter ewes steady; choice, 8.50; medium to good 7.50@8.00; cull and common, 3.50@6.50.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 8 (AP).—Cotton futures closed 16 to 35 cents a bale lower today after reaching highest levels in about half a year in the previous session.

Traders attributed the decline to a technical reaction after Thursday's sharp rise. Selling came in the form of profit-taking by commission houses and light hedges. Buyers were hesitant pending developments on farm bloc recommendations to raise prices.

The range of futures follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Ch.
Jan.	19.40	19.40	*19.44	—.06
March	19.47	19.47	19.33	19.39	—.03
May	19.56	19.57	19.43	19.48	—.03
July	19.53	19.54	19.39	19.42	—.07
Oct.	19.43	19.44	19.29	19.34	—.06
Dec.	19.40	19.42	19.28	19.33	—.06

Spot middling, *21.39, off 1.
*Nominal.

Government Bonds

Treasury	Bid	Asked
2½'64-'59	100.19	100.19

Transactions on N. Y. Stock Market

By the Associated Press

Total stock sales yesterday, 801,150 shares; previous day, 710,770; week ago, closed; year ago, 654,490; two years ago, 751,870; January 1 to date, 3,620,256; year ago, 4,439,600; two years ago, 4,919,610.

Dow-Jones Stocks

New York, Jan. 8.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
30 ind.	119.32	119.71	118.92	119.26	—.11
20 rails	38.12	38.18	37.92	38.08	+.04
15 utils.	15.16	15.51	15.15	15.48	+.33
65 stocks	39.98	40.17	39.83	40.02	+.07

Transactions in stocks used in averages today:

Industrials	47,900
Rails	22,700
Utilities	100,500
Total	171,090

	Sales Add 00	High	Low	Close	Net Ch'ge
Abbott Lab	2	52¼	52	52	— ⅛
Adams Exp	23	8	7⅞	7⅞	— ⅛
Addressog	1	15	14⅜	15	.....
Air Reduction	2	38⅜	38⅛	38⅜	— ⅛
Alaska Juneau	5	3⅜	3⅛	3⅜	+ ⅛
Allegheny Corp	2	1¼	1¼	1¼	.....
Alleg pf $30 ww	2	5½	5½	5½	.....
Alleg pr pf	3	13½	13½	13½	+ ½
Alleg Lud Stl	6	18⅝	18⅝	18½	+ ⅛
Allen Industr	1	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞	.....
Al Chem & Dye	3	140⅝	140⅝	140⅝	— ⅛
Allied Kid	1	10¾	10¾	10¾	— ¼
Allied Mills	13	17⅛	17¼	17⅛	.....
Allied Stra	23	6½	6⅝	6⅝	.....
Allied St pf	1	73¾	73¾	73¾	.....
Allis-Ch Mfg	12	26⅞	26½	26⅝	+ ⅛
Amal Leather	1	1	1	1	+ ⅛
Amerada Pet	3	69	68¾	69	.....
Am Ag Ch Del	3	23¼	23¼	23¼	— ⅛
Am Airlines	9	55	54⅝	55	+ ⅛
Am Bank Note	4	9⅛	9	9⅛	+ ⅛
Am Brake Sh	2	30	29¼	30	+ 1
Am Cab & Rad	48	4	3⅞	3⅞	+ ⅛
Am Can	2	73	73	73	.....
Am Car & Fdy	1	25	25	25	— ⅛
Am C & F pf	1	65¼	65¼	65¼	+ ¼
Am Chicle	5	99⅝	99	99	— ⅝
Am Crystal S	8	18⅛	18⅛	18⅛	.....
Am Distilling	2	15⅞	15⅞	15⅞	+ ⅛
Am Encaustic	1	6¾	6¾	6¾	.....
Am & For Pow	18	1⅞	2	2	+ ⅛
A & P P $6 pf	3	41	40½	41	+ 2
A & P P $7 pf	4	47⅝	47¼	47⅛	+ ⅛
A & P P 2 pf	22	8¼	8⅛	8¼	+ ⅛
Am-Hawaii Ss	23	32	32	32	.....
Am Hi & L pf	1	35	35	35	.....
Am Home Prod	2	54	54	54	.....
Am Ice	16	2⅝	2½	2⅝	+ ⅛
Am Locomot	10	8¼	8	8¼	+ ⅛
Am M & Fdy	1	12½	12½	12½	.....
Am M & Met	3	1⅞	1⅞	1⅞	.....
Am Metal	3	20¼	20⅛	20⅛	+ ⅛
Am Pow & Lt	54
Am P&L $6 pf	32	20⅛	19⅞	20⅛	+ 1
Am P&L $5 pf	40	18	17½	18	+ ⅛
Am Rad & St S	43	6¼	6⅛	6⅛	.....
Am Roll Mill	17	10¼	10¼	10⅜	+ ⅛
Am Seating	1	12⅜	12⅜	12⅜	.....
Am Smelt & R	5	37⅜	37¼	37⅜	+ ⅛
Am Stl Fdrs	7	20⅛	20	20⅛	+ ⅛
Am Stores	2	11½	11½	11½	.....
Am Sugar	2	12⅝	12⅝	12⅝	.....
Am Sugar Ref	3	18¼	18¼	18¼	.....
Am Sumat Tob	2	22¾	22	22	+ ⅛
Am Tel & Tel	17	131⅛	130⅝	131	.....
Am Tobacco	1	44½	44½	44½	— ⅛
Am Tob B	12	46⅝	46⅛	46⅛	+ ⅛
Am Type Fdrs	1	7¼	7¼	7¼	.....
Am Viscose pf	1	116¾	115¾	115¾	— ⅛
Am Viscose	8	32⅜	32	32⅜	+ ⅛
Am Wat Wks	99	4	3⅞	4	+ ⅛
Am W W 1 pf	1	57	57	57	+ 2
Am Woolen	1	4	4	4	.....
Am Wool pf	3	58	57⅛	58	+ ⅛
Am Zinc L & S	1	4	4	4	— ⅛
Am Zinc pr pf	1	43	43	43	.....
Anaconda	42	25⅛	24¾	25	.....
Anchor Hock Gl	3	16¾	16¾	16¾	.....
Arch-Dan-M	1	34¾	34¾	34¾	— ⅛
Arm Ill	13	3¾	3¼	3⅜	+ ⅛
Arm Ill pr pf	2	48¼	47¾	47⅞	— ⅜
Armstrong Cork	3	30½	30¼	30½	— ⅛
Artloom Corp	1	4¾	4¾	4¾	.....
Assd Dry Goods	8	6½	6¼	6¼	.....
Assd D Gd 2 pf	1	59½	59½	59½	+ ½
Atch T & S F	6	45⅝	45½	46⅛	.....
Atch T & S Fpf	8	67¼	66¾	67¼	+ ¼
Atl Coast Line	4	27	27	27	.....
Atl Refining	2	19⅛	19	19	— ⅛
Atlas Corp	29	7⅛	7	7	+ ⅛
Aust Nichols	1	3	3	3	+ ¼
Aviation Corp	84	3¾	3⅝	3¾	.....
Bald Loco st	9	11⅜	11⅛	11⅜	.....
Balt & Ohio	9	3⅜	3⅛	3⅜	.....
Balt & Ohio pf	2	6¾	6¾	6¾	.....
Barber Asph	2	12⅜	12⅜	12⅜	+ ⅜
Barnsdall Oil	6	12⅜	12¼	12¼	— ⅛
Bath Ir Wks	6	13¾	13½	13⅝	— ⅛
Bell Aire	9	12⅞	12¾	12⅞	+ ⅛
Bendix Aviat	10	34⅛	33⅝	34	+ ⅛
Benef Ind Ln	3	14⅛	14⅛	14⅛	+ ⅛
Best Foods	53	9¼	8⅝	9⅛	+ ⅛
Best & Co	1	23	23	23	+ ⅛
Beth Steel	25	56⅜	56	56	— ⅛
Beth Steel pf	3	112½	112	112½	+ 1
Bigelow-Sanf	1	27⅝	27⅝	27⅝	— ⅛
Black & Decker	1	16⅛	16⅛	16⅛	.....
Blaw-Knox	3	6⅝	6½	6½	.....
Boeing Airplane	29	16¼	15½	16¼	+ ⅛
Bond Stores	1	17	17	17	.....
Borden Co	13	23½	23½	23⅝	+ ⅛
Borg-Warner	8	27⅞	27⅝	27⅝	.....
Bridgeport Brass	4	9¼	9⅛	9¼	.....
Briggs Mfg	9	21½	20⅞	20⅞	— ⅛
Briggs & Strat	1	33½	33½	33½	.....
Bklyn Un Gas	11	10⅝	10	10⅛	— ⅛
Brown Shoe	1	29¾	29¾	29¾	+ ⅛
Brunswick-Balke	1	13⅜	13⅜	13⅜	+ ⅛
Bucyrus-Erie	3	6⅞	6⅞	6⅞	+ ⅛
Budd Mfg	5	3¼	3	3⅛	+ ⅛
Budd Wheel	10	7	6⅞	7	+ ⅛
Buffalo Forge	1	14½	14½	14½	+ ⅛
Bullard Co	2	20	20	20	.....
Burling Mills	2	21¾	21¾	21¾	+ ⅛
Burl Mills 2¾pf	3	56⅛	56	56	.....
Burr Add Mach	11	9⅜	9⅛	9⅜	+ ⅛
Bush Terminal	18	3½	3⅜	3⅜	.....
Butler Bros	1	8¾	8¾	8¾	.....
Butte Copper	14	3¾	3¾	3¾	.....
Byers (A M) Co	2	9½	9½	9½	+ ⅛
Byron Jackson	3	16⅝	16¼	16⅝	— ⅛
Calif Packing	3	22½	22¼	22⅜	+ ⅛
Callahan Z-Lead	4	⅜	⅜	⅜	.....
Calumet & Hec	4	6⅝	6½	6½	— ⅛
Campbell Wyant	5	15¼	15¼	15¼	.....
Can Dry G Ale	3	14⅜	14¼	14⅜	— ⅛
Canad Pacific	55	7	6⅞	7	+ ⅛
Carpenter Stl	2	25¼	25¼	25¼	—1⅜
Carriers & Gen	2	3¼	3⅛	3¼	.....
Case (J. I) Co	2	78½	78	78	+ ¼
Caterpil Tractor	7	41⅝	41⅜	41⅜	+ ⅛
Celanese Corp	10	27¾	27½	27¾	+ ⅛
Celotex Corp	12	8⅝	8½	8⅝	.....
Cent Aguirre	2	16½	16⅛	16½	— ⅛
Cent Foundry	1	2½	2½	2½	.....
Cent Colleta Sug	1	13¾	13¾	13¾	.....
Century Rib pf	7	105½	104	105	.....
Cerro de Pas	10	33¾	33½	33¾	+ ⅛
Certain-teed Prod	2	3	3	3	.....
Champ Pap & F	3	18	18	18	.....
Ches & Ohio	19	35½	34¾	35½	+ ⅛
Chi & E Ill	9	3½	3½	3½	.....
Chi & E Ill A	15	8⅜	8	8⅛	+ ⅛
Chi Grt West	2	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛	.....
Chi Gt W pf	1	11	11	11	.....
Chi Mail Or	1	7⅜	6¾	7	+ ⅛
Chi Pneu Tool	7	15⅛	15⅛	15⅛	— ⅛
Chi Pneu T cv pf	1	37	37	37	—1
C R I & Pa 6% pf	4	⅜	⅜	⅜	.....
Chick Cot Oil	2	14¾	14½	14¾	.....
Chrysler Corp	14	68¾	67⅞	68	— ⅜
City Ice & Fuel	2	10½	10½	10½	.....
Clev Graph Br	4	30½	30½	30½	.....
Climax Molyb	2	39⅝	39½	39⅝	+ ⅛
Cluett Peabody	1	34	34	34	.....
Coca-Cola	1	89¾	89¾	89¾	— ¼
Colgate-Palm-P	2	16⅜	16⅛	16⅜	— ⅛
Colgate-Palm-P pf	1	106	106	106	.....
Collins & Ail	1	17⅝	17⅝	17⅝	+ ⅛
Colum B'cast A	5	18⅛	18⅛	18⅛	+ ⅛
Colum G & E	123	2¼	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
Col G & E 6% pf	4	43¾	43½	43½	+ ⅛
Colum Pict	3	9¾	8½	9⅜	+ ⅛
Colum Carbon	1	82	82	82	—2⅛
Comm Credit	7	27	27	27	.....
Coml Invest Tr	30	30⅝	29⅞	30	— ⅛
Coml Solvents	11	9¾	9¾	9¾	— ⅛
Comlwith & Sou	77	⅞	⅞	⅞	.....
Com & Sou pf	41	40⅜	39⅝	40⅛	+ ⅛
Conwith Ed	29	22⅝	22⅜	22⅝	+ ⅛
Congoln-Nairn	1	17⅞	17⅞	17⅞	.....
Consol Aircr	38	18¼	17	18¼	+ 1⅛
Consol Cigar	1	11	11	11	.....
Cons Copperm	9	4¾	4¾	4¾	.....
Cons Edison	74	16⅛	16	16⅛	+ ⅛
Cons Edison pf	2	92½	92½	92½	.....
Consol Oil	21	7¼	7	7¼	.....
Consoln Coal	8	7⅜	7⅜	7⅜	+ ⅛
Container Corp	2	14¼	14⅛	14⅛	+ ⅛
Cont Bak	2	4½	4½	4½	.....
Cont Can	21	27½	26⅞	27½	.....
Cont Motors	7	4¼	4⅛	4¼	.....
Cont Oil Del	17	26¾	25⅝	26½	+ ⅛
Copperweld Stl	3	9¼	9⅛	9¼	.....
Corn Prods	3	53½	53¼	53½	+ ⅛
Coty Inc	1	3	3	3	.....
Crane Co	40	15¼	15	15¼	+ ⅛
Crosley Corp	1	9¾	9¾	9¾	.....
Crown Cork Int	3	18⅛	18⅛	18⅛	.....
Crown Zellerb	1	11⅞	11⅞	11⅞	.....
Crucible Steel	1	32⅜	32⅜	32⅜	+ ⅜
Cub-Am Sugar	2	7½	7½	7½	— ⅛
Cudahy Pack	7	11⅜	10⅝	11	.....
Cuneo Press	1	18	18	18	.....
Curtis Publishing	25	1⅞	1⅞	1⅞	+ ⅛
Curt Pub pr pf	14	18½	17½	18½	+ 1
Curtiss-Wright	29	7¾	7	7¾	+ ⅛
Curtiss-Wr A	12	22⅜	22	22⅜	+ ⅛
Cutler-Hammer	3	17⅛	17⅛	17⅛	— ⅛
Davega Stores	1	3¾	3¾	3¾	.....
Davison Chem	28	13⅞	13½	13⅞	+ ⅛
Decca Records	3	10¼	10¼	10¼	.....
Deere & Co	12	26⅛	26¼	26⅜	— ⅛
Deere & Co pf	2	29⅝	29⅝	29⅝	+ ⅛
Del & Hudson	11	9¾	9⅝	9¾	.....
Del Lack&West	7	31½	31½	31½	.....
Detroit Edison	44	17⅞	17⅝	17⅞	+ ⅛
Diamond Match	1	26⅜	26⅛	26⅜	+ ⅛
Diam T Motor	2	9¾	9½	9¾	+ ⅛
Dist Corp-Seag	2	21⅜	21⅛	21⅜	.....
Divco-Wayne	1	10¾	10¾	10¾	.....
Dome Mines	4	16	15⅞	15⅞	— ⅛
DouglasAircraft	10	58	56¾	58	+ 1⅛
Dow Chem	11	131⅛	131⅛	131¾	+ ⅛
Dresser Mfg	2	16	16	16	..... du Pont de N	1	124½	124	124½	..... du Pont pf	1	125⅝	125⅝	125⅝	— ⅛
Eastern Air L	6	32	32	32	+ ⅛
Eastman Kodak	5	147⅛	147⅛	147½	.....
Easton Mfg	1	38¾	38¾	38¾	.....
El & Mus Ind	1	3½	3½	3½	+ ⅛
El Auto-Lite	11	30⅝	30⅜	30⅝	+ ⅛
El Power & Lt	23	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝	+ ⅛
El Pow&Lt $6 pf	6	31¾	30½	31	+1
El Pow&Lt $7 pf	2	34½	33¾	34	.....
El Storage Bat	2	35	34⅝	35	+ ⅛
El Pasc MatOas	2	23⅜	23⅜	23⅜	+ ⅛
Endicott-John	1	50	50	50	.....
Eng PubService	110	3¼	3	3⅛	+ ⅛
Eng PS $5 pf	2	57¾	57	57¾	+2⅜
Eng PS$5½ pf	2	59¾	58½	59⅝	+ ⅛
Erie Off Mach	1	9	9	9	.....
Erie RR	1	9⅛	9⅛	9⅛	.....
Erie RR cl	17	8¼	8¼	8¼	— ⅛

	Sales Add 00	High	Low	Close	Net Ch'ge
Erie RR pf A	2	40	40	40	+ ⅛
Eureka Vacuaner	2	3⅝	3⅝	3⅝	— ⅛
Evans Products	3	6⅛	6⅛	6⅛	.....
Ex-Cell-O	1	24⅝	24⅜	24⅝	+ ⅛
Falardo Sugar	3	21¾	21¾	21¾	+ ⅛
Fed Lt&Traction	23	7⅜	7	7⅜	+ ⅛
Fed Mng&Smelt	9	21½	20⅜	20⅜	— ⅛
Fed Mogul	1	13⅝	13⅝	13⅝	+ ⅛
Federal D Strs	1	15⅜	15⅜	15⅜	+ ⅛
Fed D Strs pf	1	78½	78½	78½	+ 1⅜
Fid F Fire Ins	5	42½	42	42	— ⅛
Firestone T&R	3	26¼	25⅝	25⅝	— ⅛
First Nat Strs	1	31⅞	31⅞	31⅞	+ ⅛
Flintkote	9	15⅝	15⅜	15⅝	+ ⅛
Florence Stove	2	26½	26½	26½	.....
Florsim Shoe A	1	19⅝	19⅝	19⅝	.....
Food Mach	1	40¼	40¼	40½	+ ⅛
Foster Wheeler	8	11⅛	11	11	+ ⅛
Francisco Sug	9	3⅝	3⅝	3¾	— ⅛
FreeportSulph	1	35½	35½	35⅝	— 1
Gair (Robert)	1	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	.....
Gar Wood Ind	7	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	.....
Gen Am Invest	5	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
Gen Am Trans	2	37½	37½	37½	+ ⅛
Gen Baking	2	8⅛	8	8	.....
Gen Bronze	6	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝	+ ⅛
Gen Cable	6	2⅞	2½	2⅞	.....
Gen Cable A	6	8¼	8	8	.....
Gen Cigar	7	22	21¾	22	+ ⅛
Gen Elec	44	31½	31¼	31⅜	— ⅛
Gen Foods	10	38¾	34⅞	34⅞	— ⅛
GenG & E A	455	2½	2	2⅛	+ ⅛
Gen Motors	50	44⅞	44½	44⅝	.....
Gen Mot pf	1	130	130	130	.....
Gen Prec Eq	1	14½	14⅛	14⅜	— ⅛
Gen Print Ink	5	4⅝	4⅝	4⅝	— ⅛
Gen Pub Serv	3	⅛	⅛	⅛	.....
Gen Refract	4	16¼	16	16	— ⅛
Gen Shoe	17	10½	10½	10½	+ ⅛
Gen Tel	1	16½	16½	16½	.....
Gen T & Rub	8	18⅛	15⅝	15⅝	.....
Gillette Saf R	14	5⅜	5	5	— ⅛
Gimbel Bros	21	6	5⅞	6	+ ⅛
Glidden Co	3	15⅝	15⅜	15⅝	— ⅛
Goebel Brew	17	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	— ⅛
Goodrich (B F)	6	25½	25¼	25½	.....
Goodrich (BF)pf	1	83¾	83¾	83¾	.....
Goodyr T & R	12	25⅝	25⅛	25⅝	+ ⅛
Goodyr T & Rpf	3	91	91	91	.....
Grah-Paige	29
Gran Con Min	1	4¼	4¼	4¼	+ ⅛
Grand Union	3	8¼	8	8¼	+ ⅛
Grant (W T) Co	14	18⅝	18¼	18⅝	+ ⅛
Martin-Parry	13	4¼	4⅛	4¼	+ ⅛
Masonite Corp	7	32½	32	32½	.....
Mathieson Alk	1	22	22	22	.....
May Dept Strs	4	38½	38½	38½	— ⅛
Maytag Co	2	2⅝	2½	2⅝	+ ⅛
McCall Pat Sug	1	13¾	13¾	13¾	.....
McGraw Elec	8	22⅜	22⅛	22⅜	.....
McKess & Rob	9	15½	15	15	.....
Mead Corp	3	6¼	6¼	6¼	+ ⅛
Melville Shoe	1	30¼	30¼	30¼	+ ⅛
Mengel Co	11	4⅜	4⅜	4⅜	.....
Mesta Mach	2	27½	27	27½	+ ⅛
Minn-Hon Reg	10	60½	60	60	— ⅛
Minn-Moline	1	3⅛	3⅛	3⅛	+ ⅛
Mission Corp	3	14	14	14	.....
Mo-Kan-Tex	4
Mo-Kan-Tex pf	1	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	.....
Monsanto Chem	11	86½	86¼	86⅜	+ ⅛
Montgom Ward	21	33⅞	33⅛	33⅜	.....
Morrell (J)&Co	1	31½	31½	31½	+ 2
Motor Products	1	9½	9½	9½	.....
Motor Wheel	2	11⅝	11⅝	11⅝	— ⅛
Mueller Brass	1	21⅞	21⅞	21⅞	+ ⅛
Munsingw Inc	1	18	18	18	.....
Murphy (G C)	1	64½	64½	64½	+ 1½
Murray Corp	4	5⅝	5⅝	5⅝	+ ⅛
Nash-Kelvinat	30	6¾	6⅝	6¾	— ⅛
Nat Aeme	1	15⅞	15⅝	15⅞	.....
Nat Auto Fpf	4	8¾	8¾	8¾	.....
Nat Aviation	1	11	11	11	.....
Nat Biscuit	18	16⅝	16	16	— ⅛
Nat Biscuit pf	1	162½	162½	162½	+ ⅛
Nat Can	1	5⅝	5⅝	5⅝	.....
Nat Cash Reg	7	19⅛	19	19	— ⅛
Nat Cylinder G	1	9	9	9	.....
Nat Dairy Prod	9	15⅜	15⅛	15⅜	+ ⅛
Nat Dept Stores	1	7	7	7	.....
Nat Distillers	5	26	25⅝	25⅞	— ⅛
Nat Gypsum	37	6¼	6⅛	6¼	.....
Nat Lead	14	14⅛	14⅛	14⅜	.....
Nat M & Gas	2	14⅛	14⅛	14⅛	.....
Nat Pow & Lt	72	2⅝	2½	2⅝	+ ⅛
Nat Supply	27	6½	6½	6½	+ ⅛
Nat S 5½% pf	1	57½	57½	57½	+ ⅛
Nat Sup $2 pf	7	14¾	14¾	14¾	+ ⅛
Nat Tea	2	3	3	3	.....
Natomas Co	3	6¼	6¼	6¼	— ⅛
Newmont Min	6	27¼	27¼	27½	+ ⅛
Newport Indust	20	11½	10¾	11	.....
Newport News Sh	14	18⅜	17⅞	18	.....
N Y Air Brake	2	28⅝	28½	28½	.....
N Y Cent R R	24	24½	24½	24½	+ ⅛
N Y Ch & St L	2	10⅜	10⅜	10⅜	.....
N Y C & St L pf	2	36	36	36	+ ⅛
N Y C Omnibus	5	15⅝	15⅜	15⅝	+ ⅛
N Y Dock	3	7	6¾	7	+ ⅛
N Y Dock pf	3	18¼	17½

Pastoral and Congregational Anniversaries Will Be Marked Tomorrow

Pastor's Talk Opens Church Celebration

DR. HENRY W. SNYDER
leads St. Paul's jubilee celebration.

The congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Connecticut Avenue and Everett Street Northwest, last night launched its centennial celebration with a historical address by the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Snyder, pastor, and celebration of Holy Communion.

Last night's service marked the beginning of a series of events that will be held from now until spring, when the formal anniversary celebration will be held. The congregation was formally organized on April 15, 1843.

St. Paul's first met in Odd Fellows' Hall on Pennsylvania Avenue, but soon afterward accepted an offer of ground from Gen. John P. Van Ness and began building. The basement was occupied March 15, 1845, but the sanctuary was not completed until October 1, 1848.

This building stood for many years at Eleventh and H Streets Northwest. In April, 1926, the church merged with the Lutheran Church of the Epiphany and June 14, 1931, the congregation moved into the first unit of its new church at Connecticut Avenue and Everett Street Northwest.

Youth Preacher To Speak Here

The Rev. Bronwen Davies Clifford, famous youth preacher from Philadelphia, Pa., will address an evangelistic rally tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Almas Temple, Thirteenth and K Streets Northwest.

The program will open at 6 p. m., when free suppers will be served to service men by the Christian Business Girl's Association. The supper will be sponsored by the Christian Youth and Service's Men's Fellowship headed by Glenn Wagner, president of the Washington Bible Institute.

Lutherans Hold Fellowship Fete

Luther Place Memorial Church, Thomas Circle, Fourteenth and N Streets Northwest, will sponsor a fellowship function for young people and servicemen tonight starting with a free family-style supper at 6:30 p. m. War workers also are invited to be present. However, a nominal fee for the supper will be charged civilians.

Mr. Rasmussen to Speak

The Rev. Albert T. Rasmussen, director of the Federation of Churches' survey and planning commission, will speak tomorrow at 11 a. m. at East Washington Heights Baptist Church, Branch and Alabama Avenues Southeast.

20 Years Old

Bible Class Plans Special Services

The twentieth anniversaryof the founding of the Box Bible Class of Emory Methodist Church, 6100 Georgia Avenue Northwest, will be celebrated with special services there tomorrow.

The Rev. E. A. Lambert, now pastor of Eldbrooke Methodist Church, and who helped found the Box Class during his pastorate at Emory Church in 1923, will speak at 11 a. m., and Dr. Page McK. Etchison, president of the District of Columbia Organized Bible Class Association, and religious work secretary, Central Y. M. C. A., will speak at 8 p. m.

Dr. Edgar C. Beery, Emory's pastor, will address the Box Class tomorrow at 9:30 a. m.

Another event of special interest to Christian laymen will be the address of Inspector Milton D. Smith of the Metropolitan Police Department, Tuesday at 8 p. m. before the Brotherhood of Albright Memorial Church, Fourth and Rittenhouse Streets Northwest. Michael J. Bunke will be in charge of arrangements, and Jack Osborne, Brotherhood president, will preside.

Evangelist Will Preach Here Twice

Dr. James McGinlay, well known Scotch evangelist, will preach at the Metropolitan Baptist Church, Sixth and A Streets, tomorrow at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Dr. McGinlay is one of the most unusual speakers in America and is a representative of the morning cheer service center at Fort Dix, N. J. This is the largest Christian enterprise among soldiers in America. Between 1500 and 2000 enter the center each day.

The ordination of two new deacons and the recognition of the golden anniversary of two members who are 70 years young will be two unusual events at Metropolitan Sunday morning.

Dr. Bell will baptize a number of candidates at the beginning of the evening service.

Beginning next week the praise and prayer service is changed from Thursday to Wednesday night and to cooperate with our Government in the conservation of oil the church will be closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday until further notice.

Catholic Guild To Hear McCormick

The Right Rev. Patrick J. McCormick, acting rector of Catholic University, will address the Catholic Educators Guild tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. in Carroll Hall, Tenth and G Streets Northwest, on the subject of "Teacher Education from the Catholic Angle."

Universalists Holding 75th Anniversary

The Universalist National Memorial Church tomorrow at 11 a. m. will begin its celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Universalist Church in Washington.

Dr. Seth R. Brooks, minister, will conduct the service of worship and Dr. John van Schaick, jr., will preach an historical sermon on "The Dramatic Years of History." Dr. Van Schaick was minister of the Universalist Church from 1900 to 1918 and acting pastor from 1920 to 1922. During the latter years of his pastorate he was president of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia and a member of the Board of Public Charities.

President Wilson appointed him Commissioner of the District, but the appointment was not confirmed by the Senate. In 1915 Dr. and Mrs. van Schaick went abroad for the Rockefeller Foundation and served in Europe under the Red Cross from 1917 to 1919.

Dr. van Schaick was deputy commissioner of the American Red Cross in Belgium. He is past president of the Associated Church Press and at the present time is editor of the Christian Leader, the denominational paper of the Universalist Church and minister emeritus of the Universalist National Memorial Church.

The adult class will meet at 10 a. m. and the church school will hold its sessions at the same hour. An open house for young people will be held at 6:30.

Bishop Moore To Speak Three Times Tomorrow

Bishop Arthur J. Moore, one of Methodism's outstanding bishops, will preach at the three services, at 9 and 11 a. m., and 8 p. m. tomorrow at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church. Bishop Moore has been preaching twice daily the past week in a series of services. His subject at the morning services will be "The Gospel Is Adequate." He will preach on the topic "Life's Most Decisive Hour" at 8 o'clock.

Bolitha J. Laws, Justice in the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, will be honored in a special program at the A. B. Pugh Class service tomorrow at 10 o'clock in recognition of his tenth anniversary as teacher of the class.

Servicemen are invited as guests to the buffet supper sponsored by the young people in the Social Hall tomorrow at 6, and to the fellowship meetings at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. E. R. Kellersberger, wife of the General Secretary of the American Mission to Lepers, New York City, will speak in a missionary program in the Church School Auditorium Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

Accent on Youth

Westminster Fellowship To Hear Tunney Tomorrow

Commander Gene Tunney, head of the physical fitness section, United States Navy, and former heavyweight champion of the world, will address the Westminster Fellowship tomorrow at 5 p. m. at Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, Eighteenth and N Streets Northwest. Young people of high school and junior college from Covenant-First Church and neighborhood congregations are invited to attend.

An organ recital will precede the service. George Y. Wilson of the Army Music School, Fort Myer, Va., will play a 45-minute program in the church beginning at 4 p. m. He was formerly organist at the Seventh Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, and more recently a member of the music faculty at the University of Indiana.

Taking the place of the Thursday Vesper Service, there will be a group meeting in St. Andrews Chapel, 1229 Connecticut Avenue at 5:30, for Bible reading and prayer. This change has been made because of the urgency of fuel conservation, and will continue until further notice. During January and February the church will be without heat Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Grace Church Plans Service of Lights

The Epiphany season will be marked by a service of lights in Grace Episcopal Church tomorrow at 8 p .m., arranged by the rector, the Rev. Meade Bolton MacBryde.

The church will be lighted entirely by candles, each member of the choir carrying one. At one part of the service all the lights will be extinguished except one over the altar, from which all will be relighted, symbolizing the spread of the Light of the Gospel from Christ as its true source. The address will be given by the Rev. William Pense James.

Dr. Reissig to Speak

Dr. Frederick E. Reissig, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, will speak tomorrow at 11 a. m. at Eldbrooke Methodist Church, Wisconsin Avenue and River Road Northwest. The choir will render a special musical program.

COMMANDER TUNNEY speaks tomorrow evening at Covenant-First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Burroughs Selects Sermon Subject

"Growing Toward God" will be the subject of the Rev. H. Gordon Burroughs, minister of the Church of Two Worlds, tomorrow evening at the Hotel Continental. Max Kobre, violinist, will be the soloist. On Wednesday evening there will be a short lecture by the minister, followed by a message service.

A dinner under the auspices of the church is being given this evening at the home of Mrs. William J. Egbert, 7529 Alaska Avenue Northwest, from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Salvationists Plan Welcoming Service

Capt. Edna Breazeale will be welcomed to the National Capital division at a special service tomorrow night by the divisional commander, James A. Longino, supported by the divisional staff. Services will be held at 606 E Street Northwest, and following her presentation to Washington Salvationists she will deliver the evening sermon.

Cpatain Breazeale assumes the post of cashier and bookkeeper at divisional headquarters. She succeeds Capt. Hazel Banks.

Concordia Has Gala Program For 110th Year

Concordia Lutheran Evangelical Church will celebrate its 110th anniversary throughout the month of January. Holy Communion will be observed in connection with the service tomorrow at 11 a. m. The Rev. Charles Enders will deliver the message on "Spiritual Blessings Unto Holiness." He has been pastor of Concordia Church since November 1, 1942.

At 6 o'clock the Sunday evening gathering begins with a buffet supper. In the devotional service at 7 p. m. the Rev. David K. Daub of Lititz, Pa., will speak on "Worship." Social games are played after the devotional service. Newcomers to the city and servicemen will find a hearty welcome.

A special feature of the anniversary celebration will be the family night to be held January 13 at 8 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall of Concordia Church. This meeting will be under the auspices of the church organizations. Music will be furnished by the band of the German Orphan Home, which was founded by Concordia Church in 1879, through the pastor, the Rev. Martin Kratt.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick Reissig, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, will bring greetings from the churches of Washington. Concordia Church has been an active member of the federation since 1928.

The Rev. Calvin H. Wingert will speak for the Evangelical and Reformed Churches of the Washington area.

In connection with the anniversary celebration Concordia Church is raising an anniversary fund of $7500 for the purpose of reducing its indebtedness.

Rev. Liotard's Topic

"Nous Sommes en Route" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Andre F. Liotard at the French service at St. John's Episcopal Church tomorrow at 4 p. m.

Flag Ceremony

Chaplain To Address Methodists

With Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, delivering the sermon, American and Christian flags will be presented at special services tomorrow at 11 a. m. at North Carolina Avenue Methodist Church, Eighth Street and North Carolina Avenue Southeast.

Dr. Montgomery's theme will be "The Higher Americanism." Dr. Montgomery The Daughters of America will present the American emblem, and Mrs. Smith Dare, a member of the congregation, the Christian flag.

The Rev. A. E. Wilcher is pastor of the North Carolina Avenue Church. Dr. Montgomery has served a number of prominent pulpits here, and was the guiding spirit behind the erection of the Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church, near American University, during his ministry.

Dr. Potorf to Preach At Woodside Church

Dr. A. B. Potorf, professor of the Bible at American University, will speak tomorrow at 11 a. m. at Woodside Methodist Church, Silver Spring, Md., on the topic of "Facing the New Year." The speaker at 8 p. m. will be Grover Poole, formerly business manager of National Park College and teacher of the adult forum class of Woodside Methodist Church.

Lutheran Church Has Anniversary

The first anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran Church of Our Saviour will be celebrated tomorrow with services in the Arlington Theater, Columbia Pike and South Fillmore Street.

The Rev. H. M. Hennig, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, Fourth and E Streets Northwest, Washington, D. C., will speak at 11 a. m. The Rev. Paul M. Kavasch, pastor of Our Saviour Church, will preside.

Ground for a permanent church building was broken recently at South Haylor and Seventh Streets, in the Barcroft section. The cornerstone laying will take place soon, according to officers of the congregation.

Sermons to Continue At Albright Church

The double series of sermons being preached by the Rev. George E. Schnabel will continue tomorrow at Albright Memorial Church. The general subject for the service at 11 o'clock will be "The Body of Chirst and My Redemption;' and the special morning subject will be: "A Sacred Fellowship." The general subject for the evening series of sermons at 7:45 is "Living in the Center of God's Will." The special subject for tomorrow night's sermon will be: "Living Upstairs."

Tomorrow will be promotion day in the Sunday school with all classes being promoted. There will be a general assembly of the Sunday school. Bibles will be presented to the graduates of the primary department, and hymnals to the graduates of the junior department.

ANGLO SAXON

DID NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S CHARTER FOR WORLD DOMINATION END IN 1918?
We are now in the short period of dictatorship foretold in revelation.
WHY HAVE THE ANGLO-SAXON AND KINDRED PEOPLE BEEN CALLED INTO WORLD LEADERSHIP?
OPEN FORUM 2:00 P. M. SUNDAY
Bring all questions. Our textbook is the Bible. 3:00 P. M.—Hear Dr. Conrad Gaard, subject "Armageddon." Confederate Hall, 1322 Vermont Ave. N.W.

UNITARIAN

ALL SOULS' CHURCH
Sixteenth and Harvard Streets N.W.
Minister
ULYSSES G. B. PIERCE, D.D.
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship.
"THE RICHES OF RELIGION"
5:00 P. M.—Program of Russian Music.
5:30 P. M.—"Experiences in the Orient," Mrs. Willys R. Peck.
7:30 P. M.—Motion Picture Hour.
"SONS OF THE SEA"
"The force of an ideal is greater than the ideal of force."

CHURCH OF GOD

National Memorial Church of God
16th and Taylor Sts. N.W.
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship.
7:00 P. M.—Youth Crusader Meeting
8:00 P. M.—Evening Worship.
Mid-Week Prayer Service
Wednesday, 8 P. M.
Esther M. Boyer, Pastor. TA. 4223

CATHOLIC

ST. PATRICK'S
10th and G Sts. N.W.
SUNDAY MASSES
6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 12:15
Solemn Mass offered every Sunday for Service Men—Living and Dead.

ST. MARY'S
5th St., Between G and H N. W.
Sunday Masses
7-8-9-10:30-11:30
The Miraculous Medal Novena Every Monday. Masses 8 and 10 a. m. Devotions at 11:30 a. m., at noon 12:05, 4, 4:30, 5, 5:30, 6; evening, 6:30, 7:15, 7:45, 8:30 and 9:15.

St. Dominic's
6th & E Sts. S.W.
Sunday Masses
6, 6:45, 7:30, 9, 10, 11:15, 12:15
Low Masses Daily
6, 7, 8 and 8:30 a. m.
Holy Hour
Wednesday 7:30-8:30 p. m.
Very Rev. Raymond J. Dewdney, O. P., Pastor

SELF-REALIZATION

SWAMI PREMANANDA of INDIA
SUNDAY
AT 11 A. M.
"MEDITATION ON GOD"
Public Class in Philosophy and Yoga Wednesday, January 13, at 8 P. M.
Swami, author of several books, presents his latest work, "The Path of the Eternal Law." Write to Self-Realization Fellowship (Non-Sectarian Church)
4748 Western Avenue N.W.
(N2 Bus to Chesapeake and 49th Sts.)

Episcopal

ST. STEPHEN AND THE INCARNATION
Sixteenth and Newton Sts. N.W.
The Rev. Paul D. Wilbur, S.T.B., Rector
Sunday Services
8, 9:30 and 11 A. M.

St. Paul's Church
23rd St. Near Penna. Avenue
Just Off Washington Circle
8:00—Low Mass.
11:00—Eucharist & Sermon.
8:00—Evensong and Benediction.

ST. JOHN'S
Lafayette Square
8:00—Holy Communion.
9:30—Morning Service. Mr. Mazee.
11:00—MORNING PRAYER. ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, RICHMOND, VA.
4:00—French Service, Mr. Liotard.
8:00—Evening Prayer, Mr. Johnson.

Christ Church, Georgetown
Corner of O and 31st Streets
REV. PEYTON R. WILLIAMS, Rector
8:00 A. M.—Holy Communion.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon by the Rector.

NATIVITY 1240 Mass. Ave. S.E.
7:30, 9:15, 10, 11 A. M.
Rev. Enoch M. Thompson.
Resurrection—701 15th St. N.E., 9:00.

Trinity
Piney Branch Rd. at Dahlia St. N.W.
REV. RENO S. HARP, Jr., Rector
8:00 A. M.—Holy Communion.
9:30 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon.

St. Margaret's
Conn. Ave. & Bancroft Pl.
REV. ARMAND T. EYLER
7:30 A. M.—Holy Communion.
9:30 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon by the Rector.
7:30 P. M.—Young People's Fellowship, Thursday, 11 A. M.—Holy Communion.

EPIPHANY
1317 G St. N. W.
Rev. Charles W. Sheerin, D.D., Rector.
Rev. Hunter M. Lewis, B.D.
8:00 A. M.—Holy Communion.
11:00 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon by Dr. Sheerin.
4:30 P. M.—Young People's Fellowship.
8:00 P. M.—Evening Prayer and Sermon by Dr. Sheerin.

ROCK CREEK PARISH
Rev. Charles W. Wood, Rector
"The Country Church in the City."
ST. PAUL'S CHURCH
Webster St. and Rock Creek Church Rd.
8:30 A. M.—Holy Communion.
9:30 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Prayer and Sermon by the Rector.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

Entrance, Woodley Rd. at 30th St.
(Buses N3 & M6; Trolley No. 30)
HOLY COMMUNION
7:30 and 9:30 a. m.
11 a. m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon
Preacher, Canon Wedel
4 p. m.—Evensong and Sermon
Preacher, Canon Draper
WEEKDAY SERVICES
7:30 a. m., Noon and 4 p. m.

CONGREGATIONAL

CLEVELAND PARK
3400 LOWELL ST. N.W.
9:45—Church School.
11:00—Holy Communion.
7:00—Y. P. at 3509 35th Street.
PAUL W. YINGER, Minister

FIRST CHURCH
10th and G Sts. N.W.
Ministers
Howard Stone Anderson
Walter G. Borchers, Jr.
11 a. m.
"Make No Little Plans"
Anthem by A Capella Choir
Solo by Dorothy Wilson Halbach
8 p. m.
"How to Get Married"
Dr. Anderson, Preaching
Music by Mrs. Slade, Mr. Bridgens and Mr. Brose

MOUNT PLEASANT
1410 Columbia Road
(Easily reached by S-2, J-2, P-2, H-2 (Crosstown) buses and all 16th Street Cars)
Minister
Fred S. Buschmeyer, Litt. D.
MORNING WORSHIP, 11 A. M.
Sermon Topic:
"Why 'The Kingdom First'?"
Excellent Solo, Quartet and Choral Music
CHURCH SCHOOL, 9:30 A. M.
Pilgrim Fellowship, 5:30 P. M.
20-40 Club, 6:30 P. M.
A Cordial Welcome Awaits You.

Attention: Newcomers to Washington
THE HIGH MASS
Immaculate Conception Church
8th and N Streets N.W.
12:15 Noon
Music by
THE FAMOUS BOYS' CHOIR
Organ and Harp Accompaniment
January 10, Music: Mass: Haydn III
At the end of the High Mass the Choristers will render a program of Christmas Carols.
Other Masses at 2"A. M., 7:15, 8:15, 9:15, 10:00, 10:45, 11:30

Presbyterian

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN
(Southern General Assembly)
Intersection at 15th, 16th and Irving Sts. N.W.
Rev. JAMES H. TAYLOR, D.D., Minister
9:30 A. M.—Sunday School.
11:00 A. M.—Sermon by Dr. Taylor.
5:00 P. M.—Westminster League.
6:15 P. M.—Fellowship Hour.
8:00 P. M.—Sermon by Dr. Taylor.

GEORGETOWN
3115 P Street N.W.
DR. JOHN BAILEY KELLY, Minister.
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—"What Is the Gospel?"

WESTERN
1906 H St. N.W.
Rev. CHARLES STEWART McKENZIE, Minister
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11 A. M.—Morning Worship.
"WHAT IS ETERNAL LIFE?"
7 P. M.—Christian Endeavor Societies.

CHEVY CHASE
Connecticut Avenue at Chevy Chase Circle
Dr. J. HILLMAN HOLLISTER, Minister.
9:30 A. M.—Church School.
11 A. M.—"Spiritual Militarists."

NEW YORK AVENUE CHURCH
13th and H and New York Avenue N.W.
Ministers—Dr Peter Marshall, Dr. Albert Evans, Rev. George W. Burroughs.
9:30 A. M.—Church Bible School.
11 A. M.—"ABIGAIL VOICES." Dr. Marshall, Preaching. Young People's Meeting.
8 P. M.—"THE PATIENCE OF HOPE." Rev. Burroughs, Preaching.
CHORAL MUSIC

CHURCH OF THE PILGRIM
On the Parkway at 22nd and P Sts. N.W.
Gift of the Presbyterians of the South to the Nation's Capital
Rev. ANDREW R. BIRD, D.D., Minister
9:45 A. M.—Bible School of the Church.
11 A. M.—"A Priority Potent for Peace." Dr. Bird.
7:45 P. M.—"Africa Today and Tomorrow," Missionary Kellersberger.
7:30 P. M.—Organ Recital.
We Cordially Invite You to Make This Church Your Spiritual Home.

COVENANT-FIRST CHURCH
Connecticut Avenue at N Street N.W.
ALBERT JOSEPH McCARTNEY, Minister
GEORGE H. YOUNT, Assistant Minister
9:30 A. M.—Convocation of Church School.
11 A.M.—MORNING WORSHIP—Dr. McCartney preaching.
"RELIGION FOR OURSELVES, OUR CHILDREN AND OUR COUNTRY."
4 o'clock—Organ Recital by George Wilson of the Fort Myer Music School
5 o'clock—Comdr. Gene Tunney will address the young people of the church
Covenant Fellowship, 6:30 P. M. in The Church.

Baptist

TAKOMA
Piney Branch Road & Aspen Street N.W.
11:00 A. M.—"DELIGHT IN WORSHIP"
7:45 P. M.—N. B. Habel, Speaking.
WILLIAM E. FARUE, PASTOR.

North Washington
5822 Ga. Ave. N.W.
Rev. Henry J. Smith, Pastor.
11:00 A. M.—"USING FRAGMENTS."
7:45 P. M.—"COMING INTO LIFE."

CHEVY CHASE
5671 Western Avenue
EDWARD O. CLARK, D.D., MINISTER.
11 A. M.—Communion Service: "THE GREATNESS OF GOD."
S. S. at 9:45 A.M. Young People, 6 P.M.
WELCOME

FIFTH
E St. near 7th St. S.W.
11:00 A. M.—Sermon, Dr. J. E. Briggs.
8:00 P. M.—Rev. J. Herrick Hall.
Evening Service Broadcast WWDC
8:15-Jr. & Sr. Ch. Choirs, Special Music
S.S. 9:30 A.M. Training Union 6:45 P.M.

METROPOLITAN
Sixth and A Sts. N.E.
John Compton Bell, D. D.
Rev. John M. Ballbach
Assistant Pastor.
Worship—11 a. m., 7:45 p. m.

FIRST
16th and O Sts., N.W.
Dr. Edward Hughes Pruden, Minister
Harlan Stenger, Associate Minister
9:45 and 11 A. M.—"WHY THE BATTLE WAS LOST."
8 P. M.—"DANGEROUS COMPLACENCY."

CALVARY
Eighth and H Sts. N.W.
Dr. Clarence W. Cranford, Minister.
Rev. Edwin H. Tuller, Asst. Minister.
11 A. M.—"THE URGENCY OF OUR TASK."
8 P. M.—"WHAT SATISFIES YOU?"
7:45 P. M.—Organ Recital—Thomas Moss.
9:30 A. M.—Sunday School. 6:30 P. M.—Youth Groups.

TEMPLE
10th & N Sts. N.W.
Luther Jenkins Holcomb, Minister
11 A. M.—"OUR GOD"—(Baptismal Service)—Mr. Holcomb.
8 P. M.—HEAR BOB DAVIS OF OKLAHOMA

Lutheran

FAITH
Lee Blvd. at Jackson, Arlington, Va.
Church Service, 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m.
ROBERT V. REIKE, Pastor.

TRINITY—Mt. Rainier
(Missouri Synod)
30th ST. AND BUNKER HILL ROAD
(Just Across the District Line)
MT. RAINIER, MARYLAND
REV. EDWIN E. PIEPLOW
8:30 and 11 A. M.—Morning Worship.
8 P. M.—Evening Service.
9:45 A. M.—S. S. and Bible Class.

Christ Lutheran Church
(Missouri Synod)
16th and Gallatin Streets N.W.
Rev. J. FREDERICK WENCHEL, Pastor.
Mr. LOUIS WESTERMANN, Assistant.
Sunday School, 9:45 A. M.
9:45 and 11:00—Services. Sermon by the Pastor, "Facing Forward in the New Year."
8:15 P. M.—Sermon by the Pastor's Assistant.

CALVARY
(Missouri Synod)
9601 Georgia Avenue
(10:40, Forest Glen Bus at Georgia and Alaska Aves., Silver Spring, Md.)
CARL A. KOERBER, Pastor
9:45 A. M.—Sunday School.
11:00 A. M.—"The Lord's Epiphany."

TAKOMA LUTHERAN
Seventh and Dahlia Sts. N.W.
(Three Blocks East of Walter Reed)
Rev. L. ADRIAN PFEIFFER, Pastor.
Sunday School, 9:30 A. M.
Morning Worship, 11 A. M. Sermon—"The Star Shines Today."
Special Service 7 P. M.

Augustana Lutheran
V St., Just East of 16th N.W.
ARTHUR O. HJELM, D.D., Pastor.
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—"Do We Want Our Children to Be Christians?"
7:30 P. M.—Vespers.

ST. MATTHEW'S
Kentucky Ave. at 15th St. S.E.
Rev. THEODORE PAUL FRICKE, Pastor
9:30 A. M.—Sunday School.
11:00 A. M.—"When Christ Comes."

TRINITY
REV. HUGO M. HENNIG.
(Missouri Synod)
4th and E Sts. N.W.
9:45 A. M.—Sunday School.
SERVICES:
8:30 and 11 A. M.—
CHAPLAIN E. E. HEUER, Guest Speaker.

Hear the International
LUTHERAN HOUR
Every SUNDAY
1:30 WOL

Presenting the noted Radio Pastor
DR. WALTER A. MAIER
Also Lutheran Hour Chorus
"Bringing Christ to the Nations"

CHURCH OF THE REFORMATION
Opposite Folger-Shakespeare Library
212 East Capitol Street
DR. OSCAR F. BLACKWELDER, Pastor.
REV. RALPH W. LOEW, Associate Pastor.
8:30 A. M.—Matin Service, Sermon, "Hiding Behind Our Virtues," Rev. Mr. Loew
9:30 A. M.—The Sunday School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Service, Sermon, "The Value of the Holy Communion in a Day of Uncertainty." Dr. Blackwelder
6:45 P. M.—Luther Leagues.
8:00 P. M.—Evening Service, Sermon, "Amos: Conscience and Courage," Dr. Blackwelder
The Public Is Cordially Invited

Keller Memorial Lutheran Church
Maryland Avenue & Ninth Street N.E.
J. HAROLD MUMPER, D.D., Pastor. ROBERT G. REITER, A.B., Assistant.
SUNDAY SCHOOL at 9:30 A.M. Classes and Departments for All Ages.
11 A. M.—Dr. Mumper, Preaching—
"DARE TO BE DIFFERENT"
Luther Leagues, 6:30 P. M.
7:45—Evening Worship—Pastor Reiter, Preaching
"KNOWING AND DOING"
"The Home-Like Church"

"GOD BE WITH YOU TILL WE MEET AGAIN"
JEREMIAH E. RANKIN

God be with you till we meet again,
By His counsels guide, uphold you;
With His sheep securely fold you;
God be with you till we meet again.
'Till we meet, till we meet,
'Till we meet at Jesus' feet;
'Till we meet, till we meet,
God be with you till we meet again.

This familiar lyric of benediction is a farewell with a spiritual thrill in it—subdued with the sadness of a goodbye—yet breaking into an uplift of bright hope. It has been translated into many languages and is a favorite Christian Endeavor hymn throughout the world.

Contributed by DEAL FUNERAL HOME
4812 Georgia Ave. N.W.
Branch Home
816 H Street NE.

Sunday Sermons

Baptist

CALVARY, Eighth and H Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Urgency of Our Task," and 8 p. m., "What Satisfies You," Dr. C. W. Cranford.

FIRST, Sixteenth and O Streets Northwest, 9:45 and 11 a. m., "Why the Battle Was Lost," and 8 p. m., "Dangerous Complacency," Dr. Edward H. Pruden.

NORTH WASHINGTON, 5832 Georgia Avenue Northwest, 11 a. m., "Using Fragments," and 7:45 p. m., "Coming Into Life," the Rev. Henry J. Smith.

TAKOMA PARK, Piney Branch Road and Aspen Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "Delight in Worship," the Rev. William E. La Rue at 7:45 p. m., Nathanael Habel speaks.

CHEVY CHASE, 5671 Western Avenue Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Greatness of God," the Rev. Edward O. Clark.

TEMPLE, Tenth and N Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "Our God," the Rev. Luther Holcomb, and 8 p. m., Bob Davis of Oklahoma, guest speaker, PETWORTH, 537 Randolph Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "Hard Times and A Soft Religion," the Rev. James P. Rodgers.

Methodist

UNION, 812 Twentieth Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Sower and the Soil," and 8 p. m., "Free Grace, Free Gift, Free Will," Dr. Selwyn K. Cockrell.

ST. PAUL, Thirteenth and Crittenden Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Eternal Gospel," and 8 p. m., "By Their Speech," the Rev. William Pierpoint.

BRIGHTWOOD PARK, Eighth and Jefferson Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "On the Offensive," the Rev. Robert K. Nevitt, and 7:45 p. m., "What's in the Mind of Youth," American University team.

CALVARY, 1459-63 Columbia Road Northwest, 11 a. m., "What Do I See?" and 8 p. m., "A Life Can Be Made Over," Dr. Orris G. Robinson.

LINCOLN ROAD, Lincoln Road and U Street Northeast, 11 a. m., "The Fettered Christ," the Rev. George H. Bennett, and 8 p. m., the Rev. Edward Gabler of Christ Episcopal Church, guest speaker.

RHODE ISLAND AVENUE, 2324 First Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Fascinating Christ," and 8 p. m., "The Woman of Sychar," Dr. Edgar A. Sexsmith.

BROOKLAND, Fourteenth and Lawrence Streets Northeast, 11 a. m., "How Can We?" and 8 p. m., "What Do You Want Most?" Dr. S. Paul Schilling.

HAMLINE, Sixteenth and Allison Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Magi and Herod," Dr. H. W. Burgan.

WAUGH, Third and A Streets Northeast, 11 a. m., "What Seemed a Failure," and 8 p. m., "A Manly Question," the Rev. Samuel E. Rose.

FRANCIS ASBURY, 3146 Sixteenth Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "Christian Certainty," and 8 p. m., "God's Promises," Dr. Robin Gould.

FOUNDRY, Sixteenth and P Streets Northwest, 9:45 and 11 a. m., "The Kingdom, the Power and the Glory," Dr. Frederick B. Harris, and 8 p. m., "Secure Foundations," Dr. James H. Phillips.

TRINITY, Seward Square, 11 a. m., "Our Greatest Need," and 7:30 p. m., "O Young and Fearless Prophet," the Rev. Daniel W. Justice.

WESLEY, Connecticut Avenue and Jocelyn Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Cross of Christ," the Rev. Clarence E. Wise.

METROPOLITAN MEMORIAL, New Mexico and Nebraska Avenues Northwest, 11 a. m., "What Is God Doing?" the Rev. Edward G. Latch.

Lutheran

ST. MATTHEW'S, Kentucky Avenue at Fifteenth Street Southeast, 11 a. m., "When Christ Comes Again," the Rev. Theodore P. Fricke.

TRINITY, Fourth and E Streets Northwest, 8:30 and 11 a. m., Chaplain E. E. Heuer, guest speaker.

CALVARY, Silver Spring, Md., 11 a. m., "The Lord's Epiphany," the Rev. Carl A. Koerber.

AUGUSTANA, New Hampshire Avenue and V Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "Do We Want Our Children to Be Christians?" the Rev. Arthur O. Hjelm.

CHRIST, Sixteenth and Gallatin Streets Northwest, 9:45 and 11 a. m., "Facing Forward in the New Year," the Rev. J. Frederic Wenchel, and 8:15 p. m., evening service, Mr. Louis Westermann speaking.

KELLER MEMORIAL, 901 Maryland Avenue Northeast, 11 a. m., "Dare to Be Different," Dr. J. Harold Mumper, and 8 p. m., "Knowing and Doing," the Rev. Mr. Reiter.

LUTHER PLACE MEMORIAL, Thomas Circle, 11 a. m., "What the Heart Says to God," Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, guest preacher.

Episcopal

TRANSFIGURATION, 1415 Gallatin Street Northwest, 8 and 11 a. m., the Rev. J. J. Queally.

ASCENSION, Twelfth and Massachusetts Avenue Northwest, 11 a. m. 8 a. m., communion; 11 a. m., morning prayer and sermon by Canon Wolven.

EPIPHANY, 1317 G Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Gift of the Magi," and 8 p. m., "Does God Show Himself in Miracles Today," Dr. Charles W. Sheerin.

TRINITY, Piney Branch Road at Dahlia Street Northwest, 8 a. m., communion; 11 a. m., morning prayer and sermon, the Rev. Reno S. Harp, jr.

Congregational

FIRST, Tenth and G Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "Make No Little Plans," and 8 p. m., "How To Get Married!" Dr. Howard S. Anderson.

MOUNT PLEASANT, 1406 Columbia Road Northwest, 11 a. m., "Why the Kingdom First?" Dr. Fred Buschmeyer.

CLEVELAND PARK, 3400 Lowell Street Northwest, 11 a. m., communion, the Rev. Paul W. Yinger.

Christian (Disciples of Christ)

THIRD, Sixth and H Streets Southwest, 11 a. m., "Lord's Supper Courageous Christians," the Rev. Leslie L. Bowers, jr.

FIFTEENTH STREET, Fifteenth Street and Kentucky Avenue Southeast, 11 a. m., "Facing Life," the Rev. Leslie L. Bowers, sr.

MOUNT RAINIER, Thirty-third Street and Bunker Hill Road, Mount Rainier, Md., 10:45 a. m., communion, "O Come, Let Us Worship and Bow Down," and 7:45 p. m., "A Doorkeeper of the Lord," the Rev. Charles H. Frick.

NATIONAL CITY, Thomas Circle, 11 a. m., "Nevertheless," Dr. J. Warren Hastings.

NINTH STREET, Ninth and D Streets Northeast, 10:50 a. m., communion and sermon by J. Lloyd Black, guest speaker, and 7:45 p. m., the Rev. Leslie L. Bowers, sr., guest speaker.

PARK VIEW, 623 Park Road Northwest, 11 a. m., "Fear Not," and 8 p. m., "Lost and Found," the Rev. George M. Anderson.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS, 1435 Park Road Northwest, 11 a. m., "Horses and Chariots of Fire," Dr. Harry L. Bell.

Presbyterian

CHEVY CHASE, Chevy Chase Circle, 11 a. m., "Spiritual Militarists," Dr. Joseph H. Hollister.

RIVER ROAD, 4347 Fessenden Street Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Best Argument for Christianity," the Rev. Virgil M. Cosby, and 7 p. m., Dr. F. S. Wilder of India, guest speaker.

CENTRAL, Fifteenth and Irving Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "Spiritual Hunger," and 8 p. m., "Divine Presence," Dr. James H. Taylor.

COVENANT-FIRST, Eighteenth and N Streets Northwest, 11 a. m. Dr. Albert J. McCartney preaching.

NEW YORK AVENUE, Thirteenth Street and New York Avenue Northwest, 11 a. m., "Abigail Voices," Dr. Peter Marshall, and 8 p. m., "The Patience of Hope," the Rev. George W. Burroughs, jr.

Church of God

NATIONAL MEMORIAL, Sixteenth and Taylor Streets Northwest, 11 a. m., "The Choice Before Us," and 8 p. m., "I Paid the Fare."

Catholic

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION, Eighth and N Streets Northwest, masses, 2, 7:15, 8:15, 9:15, 10, 11:30 and 12:15.

ST. DOMINIC'S, Sixth and E Streets Southwest, masses, 6, 6:45, 7:30, 9, 10, 11:15 a. m. and 12:15 p. m.

ST. PATRICK'S, Tenth and G Streets Northwest, masses, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 a. m., and 12 and 12:15 p. m.

ST. MARY'S, Fifth between G and H Streets Northwest, masses, 7, 8, 9, 10:30 and 11:30 a. m.

Mr. Runkle Resigns Pohick Rectorship

The Rev. John Curtin Runkle, for two and a half years rector of Pohick (Va.) Episcopal Church, where George Washington was a vestryman, has resigned to become rector of the Esther Memorial Church of the Holy Communion, Congress Heights.

Mr. Runkle will succeed the Rev. George Condit, who resigned to accept a pulpit in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Runkle came to historic Pohick Church in August, 1940, from the Eastern Shore, succeeding the Rev. C. A. Langston as rector. He is a native of Philadelphia and was a lieutenant in the first World War. He will preach his farewell sermon at Pohick tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Guest in Pulpit

Dr. Franks To Preach At St. John's

The Rev. Vincent C. Franks, D. D., rector of historic St. Paul's Church, Richmond, Va., will preach tomorrow at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer at St. John's Church, Lafayette Square.

Dr. Franks, one of the outstanding clergymen in the Episcopal Church, has been at St. Paul's since 1939. Before that he was rector of St. Paul's, Norfolk, Va., and of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Chapel, Lexington, Va. He was born in Canada, educated at Washington University in Missouri, Columbia University, Virginia Theological Seminary and Union Seminary, New York, with a D. D. degree from Washington and Lee University. He is author of "This Apostolic Church."

Other services for the day are 8 a. m., Holy Communion; 9:30 a. m., morning service, the Rev. John G. Magee, preacher; 4 p. m., service in French, the Rev. Andre P. Liotard, preacher, and 8 p. m., evening prayer, the Rev. Howard A. Johnson, preacher.

Mission Official Speaker

Miss Frances Dysinger, executive secretary of the Washington Lutheran Inner Mission Society, will address vespers tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Augustana Lutheran Church, New Hampshire Avenue and V Streets Northwest.

Swami to Speak

Swami Premananda of Calcutta, India, will conduct the Sunday morning service of the Self-Realization Fellowship on Western Avenue at Forty-ninth Street Northwest. His subject for the day is "Meditation on God."

The public class in philosophy and yoga will be held Wednesday evening at 8.

Annual 'Red Mass' Scheduled For January 17 This Year

With justices of the United States Supreme Court and subordinate courts and members of the Cabinet, Diplomatic Corps and Congress among the invited guests, the annual "Red Mass" traditionally associated with the opening of the courts and legislative bodies, will take place in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at Catholic University January 17 at 11 a. m.

Invitations to the colorful ceremony, which is known in the church as the solemn votive mass of the Holy Spirit, were issued in the name of the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Archbishop of Baltimore and Washington and chancellor of the university, and the executive officers of the university and faculty of the school of law. Dr. Brendan F. Brown, acting dean of the law school, has appointed a faculty committee of six members to serve with him in handling the preparations for the ceremony, including Vincent L. Toomey, chairman; Albert A. Carretta, James A. Condrick, Thomas W. O'Hara, Antonio E. Papale and Henry A. Sweinhaut.

The celebrant of the mass will be the Right Rev. Msgr. Edward B. Jordan, dean of the Sisters College, and acting head of the department of education. The preacher will be the Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., dean of the school of philosophy. The Rev. John P. Maher, O. S. A., and the Rev. Ralph V. Shuhler, O. S. A., of the Augustinian College, will serve as deacon and subdeacon, respectively. The celebration of the "Red Mass" as an annual custom at Catholic University was inaugurated by the university's school of law in 1939.

Canadian College Leader Is Guest Of Rev. Mr. Acton

The Rev. Dr. Samuel A. B. Mercer, research professor in Semitic languages and Egyptology at Trinity College, University of Toronto, Canada, will be the guest of the Rev. Nathaniel C. Acton in College Park for several days from today to Wednesday.

DR. MERCER

Dr. Mercer has the degrees of B. A. and M. A. from Harvard University and B. D. and D. D. from Nashotah Theological Seminary, Wisconsin, with several other degrees including that of Ph. D. from Munich and docteur en theologie from the University of Paris. Dr. Mercer's book, "Etudes Sur Les Origines de la Religion de L'Egypte," was crowned by the French Academy, and he was accorded at that time the decoration of the crossed palms. Dr. Mercer is a fellow of the Royal Geographic Society of London and an officer of the French Academy in Paris.

Dr. Mercer will be the preacher tomorrow at 11 a. m. at St. Andrew's Church, College Park, Md., and will address the student vesper service at 6:30 p. m. at the administration building on the university campus when his subject will be "Prayer—Ration and Irrational." He will also be the guest of the Canterbury Club on Tuesday evening, January 12, at 7:30 o'clock, when he will speak of his work and show slides concerning it. This meeting will be held on Dartmouth Avenue at the parish hall of St. Andrew's Church.

Reformation Church Plans Three Services

Three services of Holy Communion will be held tomorrow at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation.

Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder, pastor, will begin his midwinter series of Sunday evening sermons on "The Minor Prophets" at 8 p. m., using as his theme "Amos: Conscience and Courage."

"Hiding Behind Our Virtues" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Ralph W. Loew, associate pastor, 8:30 a. m.

Dr. Blackwelder will preach at the 11 o'clock service on "The Value of the Holy Communion in a Day of Uncertainty."

The noonday service from 12:10 to 12:30 o'clock will be held this Friday in the church. Dr. Blackwelder will speak.

Miss Erlene White, honorary president of the American Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will be the guest speaker at the Young People's League tomorrow evening in the Fireside Room at 7 o'clock. Miss White is personally acquainted with many of the leaders of women's work and interests around the world. She will speak on the subject, "What is Happening to the Women of the World Today?"

The Intermediate and Senior Leagues of the church will meet at 6:45 p. m. Cynthia Jaeger and Catherine Cunningham are in charge of the program in the Intermediate League. The topic is "Beginning the New Year Right."

Two Services Scheduled At Cathedral

The Canon Chancellor of Washington Cathedral, the Rev. Theodore O. Wedel, will preach at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer in the Cathedral tomorrow, and the acting Canon Precentor, the Rev. W. Curtis Draper, jr., will preach at the 4 o'clock evensong service.

The choir of men and boys, under the direction of acting organist and choirmaster, Ellis C. Varley, will sing at both services. Among the special selections that will be sung at the morning service will be the anthem at the offering, "Who Knocks Tonight, So Late?" by Healy Willan. At the evensong service, the anthem at the offering will be "O Everlasting Light" by John E. West.

On Monday morning two services for the pupils of Beauvoir, the National Cathedral Elementary School, will be held in the children's chapel of the Cathedral. Parents of the pupils are invited to attend and take part in the service with the children. The service for second and third grade pupils will begin at 9:10; for kindergarten and first grade pupils at 9:25.

In addition, throughout the week services will be held in the Cathedral daily at 7:30 a. m., noon and 4 p. m.

Missionary to Tell Of Life in Congo

"Africa Today and Tomorrow," will be the subject of an address by Mrs. E. R. Kellersberger, a missionary who has spent many years in the Congo Free State, tomorrow at 7:45 p. m., in the Church of the Pilgrims, on the Parkway at Twenty-second and P Streets Northwest. Mrs. Kellersberger is the wife of a physician who has done outstanding work in the treatment of leprosy and other diseases in the Congo.

At 11 the o'clock morning service Rev. Andrew R. Bird, D. D., the minister, will preach on the theme: "A Priority for Peace." Dr. Bird is taking this as his subject when considerable thought is being given here and elsewhere to priorities in individual living and influences that will have lasting benefit in the peace days to come.

$351,000 Item for Play Centers Indorsed by Commissioners

Civilian warworkers deserve as much of a break in the way of recreation as do soldiers, the Commissioners decided yesterday in indorsing a Recreation Board request to the Federal Works Agency for $351,000 to provide 18 recreation centers for warworkers.

Pointing out that not only the 281,000 Federal workers in the District but also department store clerks, waitresses and streetcar conductors are contributing efforts in their fields to winning the war, the Commissioners asked that places better than hall bedrooms be provided for their relaxation.

One of the proposed centers has already been established, in the garage donated by Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean. The Recreation Board, which hopes that three more centers will be donated or loaned expects to rent seven buildings and buy seven more for use as centers.

Seek Fund as Grant

Because there is no place for such projects in the $359,294 Recreation Board budget for 1943, the FWA will be asked for the $351,000 as a grant. This sum will provide the initial cost of the projects, and their upkeep until June 30.

Some receipts will be obtained from membership fees, the board proposes. However, since the centers are planned primarily for workers in the low income brackets, this revenue will be slight, and probably used for minor improvements not included in the estimate submitted to the FWA.

The centers will be located in all parts of the city, and will be of varying natures. Two will be big, bustling recreation places for organized games and other mass activities, while others will be for the more contemplative workers to "drop in and write a letter, listen to the radio or sew." For the still more introspective, sympathetic counselors will be on hand to discuss personal problems.

Physical Recreation

Physical recreation will be available, the board said, in the District's 51 school centers, which offer gymnasiums, rifle ranges, swimming pools, music rooms and the like.

The establishment of these centers, the Commissioners hope, will decrease the number of maladjusted warworkers who leave Washington after a short sojourn. Most of these, it was stated, are in the lower income brackets, and "weekly movies are about all the average lower income worker can afford."

The application to the FWA stated that the plans and specifications for these centers would be ready six weeks after the receipt of the offer, work started four weeks thereafter and completed within a month.

Boat Piloting Class To Open Here Friday

Free instruction in piloting and sailboat handling will be given at the Capital Yacht Club, 1020 Maine Avenue Southwest, from January 15 through March 13, it was announced yesterday. For further information, interested persons are invited to call Fred Tilp, Temple 2234.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Church of Christ Scientist,
CHEVY CHASE, MARYLAND
Chevy Chase Library, 5908 Conn. Ave.
Sunday Services, 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.
Wednesday Evening Meeting, 8 P. M.
Sunday School, 11 A. M.
Chevy Chase Elementary School
Rosemary Street, Chevy Chase
Reading Room, 7 Wilson Lane, Bethesda
Hours: Weekdays, 11:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Monday & Friday Evenings, 7:30 to 9:30.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Churches of Christ, Scientist, Branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass

First Church of Christ Scientist, Columbia Rd. and Euclid St. N. W.
Second Church of Christ, Scientist, 111 C St. N. E.
Third Church of Christ, Scientist, 13th and L Sts. N. W.
Fourth Church of Christ, Scientist, 16th and Oak Sts. N. W.
Christian Science Society (Colored) 902 T St. N. W. (Sunday School, 11 A. M. Reading Room, Sat., Sun., 7-9 P. M. No Sunday Evening Service)
Christian Science Society 3563 Mass. Ave. N. W. (Sunday School, 9:30 A. M. No Sunday Evening Service)

Subject: "SACRAMENT"

SUNDAY, 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. SUNDAY SCHOOL, 11 A. M.
WEDNESDAY EVENING MEETINGS, 8 o'clock
RADIO PROGRAMS
SUNDAY, WJSV, 9:15 A. M., 2nd and 4th FRIDAYS, WRC, 12:30
READING ROOMS:
FIRST CHURCH, 1612 K St. N. W.—Hours, 9 to 9, except Wednesday (9 to 7) and Sundays and Holidays (2:30 to 5:30).
SECOND CHURCH, 111 C St. N. E.—Hours, 12 to 9 except Wednesday (12 to 7:45) and Sundays and Holidays (2:30 to 5:30).
MASS. AVE. SOCIETY, 1636 Wisconsin Ave. N.W.—Hours, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday, 1 to 5; Tuesday, Thursday, 1 to 5, 7 to 9; Sundays and Holidays, 2 to 5.
THIRD CHURCH, Colorado Building, 14th and G Sts.—Hours 8:30 to 9 (except Wednesdays 8:30 to 7:30; Sundays and Holidays, 2 to 6 p. m.).
FOURTH CHURCH, Riggs Bank Building, 3300 14th St. N. W.—Hours 9 to 9 weekdays; Wednesday, 9:30 to 7; Sundays, 2:30 to 5:30; Holidays, 2:30 to 5:30.
All Are Welcome to Attend Our Services and Use Our Reading Rooms

DIVINE SCIENCE

FIRST DIVINE SCIENCE CHURCH
2000 16th St. N.W., at Euclid
Rev. Grace Patch Faus, Minister.
11 A. M.—"UNFOLDMENT."
You Are Cordially Invited

EVANGELICAL AND REFORMED

Concordia
Lutheran Evangelical
20th & G Sts. N.W.
CHAS. ENDERS, Pastor
11 A. M.—Communion Service.
6 P. M.—Fellowship Supper.
7 P. M.—Devotional Service.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Arlington Church of Christ
Harry Pickup, minister
20 North Irving St., Arlington, Va.
10:00 A. M.—Bible Study.
11:00 A. M.—"Accept the Lord, Keep the City"
11:45 A. M.—Communion.
7:00 P. M.—"Jesus' Recipe for Success"

UNIVERSALIST UNIVERSALIST

WELCOME!

Universalist National Memorial
16th and S Sts., N. W.
Rev. Seth R. Brooks, D. D., Minister
Church School—Adult Class
11 A. M. Worship
"THE DRAMATIC YEARS OF HISTORY"
Dr. John van Schaick, Jr., Preacher
6:30 P. M.—Open House for Young People.

Christian
(Disciples of Christ)

Cheverly Christian Church
64th Ave. & State St.
Cheverly, Md.
REV. KENNETH C. BURKE, Minister
10:00 A. M.—Church School, all ages.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship.

Mt. Rainier Christian
33rd St. and Bunker Hill Road
Rev. Charles H. Frick, Minister
9:30 A. M., Church School.
Worship, 10:45 A. M. and 7:45 P. M.
C. E. Societies, 6:45 P. M.

Fifteenth Street
15th St. & Kentucky Ave. S.E.
LESLIE L. BOWERS, SR., Minister
9:45 A. M.—Bible School.
11:00 A. M.—"FACING LIFE."
6:45 P. M.—Youth Fellowship C. E.

PARK VIEW
627 Park Road N.W.
REV. GEORGE M. ANDERSON, Pastor
11:00 A. M.—"FEAR NOT."
8:00 P. M.—"LOST AND FOUND."
9:45 A.M.—Bible School. 6:45 P.M.—C.E.

THIRD CHURCH
6th & H Sts. N.W.
LESLIE L. BOWERS, JR., MINISTER
9:45 A. M.—Bible School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship and Lord's Supper.
"COURAGEOUS CHRISTIANS."
6:45 P. M.—Meeting of the Young People.

NATIONAL CITY CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Thomas Circle
JAMES WARREN HASTINGS, Minister
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
10:50 A. M.—Morning Worship, "NEVERTHELESS." Dr. Hastings.
6 P. M.—Young People's Meeting.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS
1435 Park Road Northwest
DR. HARRY L. BELL, Minister
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Worship and Sermon by Minister. "Horses and Chariots of Fire."
7:00 P. M.—Christian Endeavor Societies.

NINTH STREET CHURCH
Ninth and D Streets Northeast
CARROLL C. ROBERTS, Minister
9:30—Bible School
10:50—Morning Worship and Communion., Sermon by J. Lloyd Black.
6:30—Christian Endeavor.
7:45—Evening Service, Leslie L. Bowers, guest speaker

The Methodist Church

Northeast

DOUGLAS MEMORIAL
11th & H STREETS, N.E.
Rev. William F. Wright, Minister
Church School, 9:45 A. M.
Worship, 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

LINCOLN ROAD
Rhode Island Ave. & Lincoln Rd. N.E.
The Rev. George H. Bennett, Minister.
11 A. M.—"THE FETTERED CHRIST."
8 P. M.—Sermon by Dr. Edward Gabler

WAUGH
3rd & A Sts. N.E.
SAMUEL E. ROSE, M.A., B.D., Minister
11:00 A. M.—"APPARENT FAILURES."
8:00 P. M.—"A MANLY QUESTION."

Southeast

NO. CAROLINA AVE.
8th & No. Carolina Ave. S.E.
REV. E. A. WELCHER, MINISTER.
9:45—Sunday School. 11:00—Worship.

TRINITY
5TH AND SEWARD SQUARE S.E.
Rev Daniel W. Justice, Minister.
11:00 A. M.—"OUR GREATEST NEED."
7:30 P. M.—"O YOUNG AND FEARLESS PROPHET."

RYLAND
Branch Ave. at Penna. Ave. S.E.
REV. KARL G. NEWELL, MINISTER.
9:45—Church School; 11:00, Worship.
8 P. M.—Community Hymn Sing.

Northwest

BRIGHTWOOD PARK
8TH & JEFFERSON STS. N.W.
Rev. Robert K. Nevitt, Minister
11:00 A. M.—"ON THE OFFENSIVE."
7:45 P. M.—"What's in the Mind of Youth," American University Team.

CAVALRY
1463 Columbia Road N.W.
Orris Gravenor Robinson, Minister.
11:00 A. M.—"What Do I See?"
8:00 P. M.—"A Life Can Be Made Over."

Northwest

ELDBROOKE
Wisconsin Ave. and River Rd. N.W.
REV. E. A. LAMBERT, Minister.
11 A. M.—Morning Worship.
8 P. M.—Evening Worship.

EMORY
5100 GEORGIA AVE. N.W.
Edgar C. Berry, D. D., Minister
11:00 A. M.—The Rev. E. A. Lambert.
8:00 P. M.—Page MeK Eichison.

FRANCIS ASBURY
3146 16th St. N.W.
DR. ROBIN GOULD, Minister
11 A. M.—"CHRISTIAN CERTAINTY."
8 P. M.—"GOD'S PROMISES."

HAMLINE
16th and Allison Sts. N.W.
DR. H. W. BURGAN, Minister
11:00 A. M.—"THE MAGI AND HEROD"
6:45 P. M.—Youth Fellowship.
7:30 P. M.—Adult Fellowship.

RHODE ISLAND AVE.
Rhode Island Ave. and First St. N.W.
EDGAR A. SEXSMITH, D.D., Minister
Church School, 9:30 A. M.
Worship Service, 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

ST. PAUL
4700 15th St. (at Crittenden) N.W.
REV. WILLIAM PIERPOINT, Minister.
9:30 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship.
8:00 P. M.—Evening Service.

UNION
20th St. South of Penna. Ave. N.W.
SELWYN K. COCKRELL, D.D. Minister
Worship—11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

WESLEY
Connecticut Ave. at Jocelyn St. N.W.
CLARENCE E. WISE, Minister
9:45 A. M.—Church School.
11:00 A. M.—"The Cross of Christ."
6:30 P. M.—Youth Fellowship.

WOODSIDE
8814 Ga. Ave., Silver Spring, Md.
Rev. R. D. SMITH, Ph.D., Minister.
11:00 A. M.—Morning Worship
7:30 P. M.—Evening Service.

Metropolitan Memorial Nebraska & New Mexico Avenues
"The National Church"
THE REV. EDWARD G. LATCH, Minister
11 A. M.—"WHAT IS GOD DOING?"

FOUNDRY 16th Street Near P N.W.
"The Church of the States"
DR. FREDERICK BROWN HARRIS, Minister
9:30 and 11 A. M.—"THE KINGDOM, THE POWER AND THE GLORY."
8 P. M.—"SECURE FOUNDATIONS," Dr. James H. Phillips.

MOUNT VERNON PLACE
The South's Representative Church
DR. JOHN W. BUSTIN, MINISTER
Massachusetts Avenue at Ninth Street N.W.
9 and 11 A. M.—"THE GOSPEL IS ADEQUATE."
8 P. M.—"LIFE'S MOST DECISIVE HOUR."
BISHOP ARTHUR J. MOORE

LIFE DISCOVERED ON THE STAR WORLDS
IS THERE CIVILIZATION ON THE STARS?
The Unfathomable Universe—How Big Is It?

PICTURES of the planets of our solar system such as Jupiter, Mars, Venus and Saturn. PICTURES of great giant sun stars; Betelgeuse, 250 million miles in diameter; Antares, 400 million miles in diameter; beautiful star nebulae such as Coma Berenices, Eta Argus, Nebula in Triangulum, the Lesser and Greater Magellanic Clouds, Cygnus Nebula, beautiful comets and other thrilling pictures of the heavenly bodies.

SUNDAY NIGHT—7:45

The second in a series of great picture-lectures on the stars. A large crowd attended last Sunday night, and they declared they received the inspiration of a lifetime. They are determined to hear and see the remaining lectures. You, too, will be thrilled as you behold the wonders of the heavenly bodies appear on the screen before your eyes.

EVANGELIST Robert L. Boothby
Member of Astronomical Society of the Pacific
INSPIRING MUSIC BROADCAST
Direct From Constitution Hall, Over STATION WWDC at 7:45 P. M.
CONSTITUTION HALL
18th and C Streets N.W.
Weeknight Lectures, Tuesday thru Friday Nights
BIBLE AUDITORIUM
Corner 5th and F Streets N.W.
DAILY RADIO PROGRAMS
WOL MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY—11:45 A. M. SUNDAY—9:45 A. M.
WWDC MONDAY thru FRIDAY—6:15 P. M.
FREE OFFER
20th Century Bible Course with 30 lessons, one mailed each week to your home—FREE. Address request to: BOOTHBY-MANSELL EVANGELISTIC PARTY, care of Station WOL or Station WWDC, Washington, D. C.
NAME .....
ADDRESS .....

Lend-Lease Offers to Give More Data

By Nicholas P. Gregory
New York Herald Tribune Staff Writer

Edward R. Stettinius, jr., Lend-Lease Administrator, asserted yesterday that Congress has received the information it has sought since it adopted the Lend-Lease Act in March, 1941, and that he is ready to supply any additional data it may seek.

"It has been the consistent policy of lend-lease to make to the Congress and to the public full disclosure of the details of its operations," he said in a statement. "This has been done upon three occasions before the Appropriations Committees of the Senate and the House. The Lend-Lease Administration stands ready to give Congress any additional information that is requested."

The statement was in answer to a resolution introduced in the Senate Thursday by Senator Hugh A. Butler (Republican) of Nebraska for appointment of a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee to investigate the administration of lend-lease before additional funds are granted.

Hopkins a Target

Attacks on lend-lease have been centered on the activities of Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's confidential adviser, and particularly the role he has played in determining the manner in which assistance has been granted to Allied nations.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the Office of War Information is preparing a report of lend-lease activities for Congress and the public to clear up misunderstandings which have arisen over administration of the act by Mr. Hopkins in the early days of the agency.

In offering the resolution Thursday, Senator Butler said he was in sympathy with lend-lease, but thought the Appropriations Subcommittee should be fully informed on how the money has been spent. Yesterday, Mr. Stettinius pointed out that seven quarterly reports have been issued since Congress authorized lend-lease aid to Axis opponents on March 11, 1941.

The act itself, Mr. Stettinius said, provides that the facts should be given to Congress. It says: "The President from time to time, but not less frequently than once every 90 days, shall transmit to the Congress a report of operations under this act except such information as he deems incompatible with the public interest to disclose."

Seven Quarterly Reports

Pointing to the seven quarterly reports submitted to Congress by lend-lease, Mr. Stettinius went over one of them point by point, showing the immense amount of data it contained regarding operations of the Administration.

For example, the report of December 11, 1942, shows data on munitions and food exports, giving percentage figures where these would not disclose any pertinent data to the enemy. Earlier reports included tables showing the quantities of food products shipped, etc.

Since adoption of the act, a total of $18,410,000,000 has been authorized by Congress for lend-lease, made up as follows: First appropriation, seven billion dollars; second, $5,985,000,000; third, $5,425,000,000. In addition, the War and Navy Departments and the Maritime Commission have authorized transfers to lend-lease of $41,116,000,000.

Mr. Setttinius will go before the appropriate congressional committees soon to seek another appropriation. The move by Senator Butler to put the inquiry under an Appropriations Subcommittee is designed to fend off opponents, as lend-lease will come under both the Senate and House Appropriations groups.

Veteran of Tokyo, Tunis Bombings Nazi Prisoner

Winters, Tex., Jan. 8 (AP).—Maj. David M. Jones, participant in the Tokyo bombing and successful raids in the North African-Tunisian campaign, is a German prisoner, the War Department advised his wife.

Major Jones, last reported in dispatches as leader of an air attack against Tunis where many fires were started November 28, is in a prison camp at Dulag Luft, Germany.

Jones was with Gen. Jimmy Doolittle in the April 18 bombing raid on Tokyo, and with other Army and Navy combat heroes made a war-bond tour in the United States in June and July.

Attempt to Kill By Fire Charged

Fresno, Calif., Jan. 8 (AP).—John T. S. Clark, middle-aged church trustee, was charged today with attempting to slay his wife by hurling a jug of gasoline on an electric heater in the bathroom where she was taking a bath.

He also was charged with setting fire to his house in nearby Sanger by igniting gasoline-soaked clothing outside the bathroom window. Mrs. Clark, rescued by her borther, James Bryant, was reported in serious condition. Police said Clark admitted visiting a Fresno widow almost nightly for three years.

Bucharest Placed In State of Siege

London, Jan. 8 (AP).—Reuters reported the Lisbon radio said tonight that a state of siege had been proclaimed in Bucharest, Rumania, following an unsuccessful Iron Guard plot against the Antonescu government.

Neat, But Gaudy

Specifications Drawn for Marinettes

By Lee Carson
International News Service Staff Writer

With a long, low whistle, the United States Marine Corps last night penciled into place the final specifications for a lady leatherneck.

On or about February 15, United States Marine Corps headquarters here said, they will unveil a woman's auxiliary designed to enhance their reputation as the choosiest, snappiest branch of the armed forces.

The officers themselves have decided what the well-dressed lady marine will wear and have argued long and hard over physical requirements. Ladies with bulging biceps and broad beams will be turned down as quickly as a prospective devil-dog with a hollow chest. "Lady bowlers are out."

The lady leathernecks will be as streamlined as the plans for their organization and twice as easy on the eye. Signing up only 6000, or one-fifth of the number of WAVES and a fraction of the number of WAACS, means that the marinette will be culled from the very flower of American womanhood, United States Marine Corps officers boasted. The commandant, they added, will be a lady of discernment and knowledge of the world and its fairer sex.

Two Years of College

Officer candidates will be required to have at least two years of college and two of business or professional experience. The chosen few will be sent to Smith College, Northampton, Mass., for indoctrination and then taken over the hurdles by instructors from regular Marine Corps training schools.

Ramrod posture, the snappy salute and detailed discipline which distinguishes a Marine in any crowd will be appliqued on the lady recruits gently, but firmly.

Results of the United States Marine Corps General Staff happy wrangle over the uniform and accessories for their powder-puff battalion are that the cut of the Marinettes skirt and bodice will be "extremely becoming."

The United States Marine Corps' colorful dress uniform complete with high-buttoned navy-blue jacket, brightware, red stripes and other trim has been adapted for the feminine figure with an eye to glorifying same. The olive drab with leather belt and flaring jacket skirt has also been copied to a queen's taste for day duty and the overcoats will be cut with a lot of dash and a half-belt to define milady's waistline properly.

Instead of the neat but unglamorous ground-grippers worn by WAACS and WAVES, the Marinette will sport good-looking shoes with moderate heels and a lot of ankle flattery.

"The ankle of the marinette is important to morale," a veteran marine explained.

And for Evening Wear

The caps haven't been quite completed as yet, but "they won't be pots," headquarters vowed.

For formal evening wear, a strong faction on general staff prefers "some sort of simple but handsomely cut rigging with a long skirt." The leathernecks want their ladies to "sweep up opposition on the dance floor" and "have the situation well in hand" at all times.

"We probably won't get away with that, though," one of the pro-evening-gown factionists added wistfully.

The choice of director lies with Secretary of the Navy Knox and Marine Corps Commandant Lieut. Gen. Thomas Holcomb.

Among those mentioned for the post are Mrs. Gilder Jackson, wife of Col. Gilder Jackson, now on foreign duty; the widow of another ranking officer, and the dean of women at Indiana State University, Mrs. Kate H. Mueller.

3 Former Soldiers Executed for Murder

Florence, Ariz., Jan. 8 (AP).—Three Negro former soldiers were executed in the State prison's gas chamber today for the murder of a taxicab driver.

Put to death were J. C. Levice, 22, Goose Creek, Tex.; Charles Sanders, 22, Nacogdoches, Tex., and Grady B. Cole, 29, St. Louis. The men pooled their last $5 to buy a burial plot.

GeorgeNathan, Actress, Hurt By N. Y. Thugs

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 8.—Actress Zina Provendie was in a hospital here tonight with a fractured skull and George Jean Nathan, dramatic critic, was at his hotel nursing injuries each received in separate encounters with thugs near the heart of the town's night life.

Miss Provendie, who appeared in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and "The Goldbergs" radio show, was said to be in critical condition. She said she was struck on the head shortly before 9 o'clock last night while walking on West Fifty-third Street toward Fifth Avenue. She said she was hit twice and finally staggered to the corner where she collapsed in the arm of a watchman.

Police found an 18-inch piece of pipe, along with Miss Provendie's purse and a radio script nearby.

Nathan said he was assaulted New Years eve by two men as he was walking along Fifth Avenue just north of Fifty-second Street. He said he was knocked down by two men and a rib injured. The men tried to push him through a window, but ran when a passerby approached.

The police said they would question Nathan tomorrow, adding that he had not reported the attack.

Kidnaping Case Against D. C. Man Proves Big Bust

The kidnaping prosecution of John P. Gamaski, quietly fizzled out in the District Court yesterday.

An FBI investigation last fall led to the indictment of the 29-year-old shoe salesman on a charge of kidnaping a pretty State Department secretary to persuade her to marry him. However, the supposed victim, Peggy Anne Kelly, 21, told reporters she was not kidnaped, and when FBI agents caught Gamaski in Reading, Pa., all he admitted was that she said "yes" when he spoke of "doing away" with himself.

The indictment evidently resulted from reports that Miss Kelly accompanied Gamaski to Bel Air, Md., at the point of a gun.

Gamaski's trial was set for last Monday, but was postponed until yesterday, when the charge was formally dropped.

Captured Japs Amass 'Wealth' In Own False Money

Chicago, Jan. 8 (INS).—On Guadalcanal a group of Japanese prisoners are amassing fortunes working on a Marine Corps construction job.

The story as revealed tonight by Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, recruiting officer, is that the prisoners were none too happy at the prospect of going to work at the standard wage paid prisoners.

But Capt. Mike Davidovich proposed a "new deal." The harder they worked, he told the prisoners, the more money they'd receive, paid in English banknotes.

At last reports, Colonel Fordney said, the Japs were working like madmen, 20 hours a day at time and one-half for overtime, and their pockets bulged with banknotes.

The Japs apparently are unaware, Colonel Fordney said, that Captain Davidovich's cache of cash is a captured Jap safe, which was filled with Jap-printed "occupation" English bank notes.

U. S. Air General Ends Russia Trip

Cairo, Jan. 8 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Elmer E. Adler, United States Air Service commander in the Middle East, has just returned from an unannounced mission to Russia and will leave shortly for a new assignment in Washington, it was disclosed today. Col. Robert Kauch of Philadelphia was appointed to succeed Adler here.

General Adler came to Cairo originally as a Lease-Lend coordinator. As air service commander, his main job was to get planes into this area and to other war action centers.

Committee Soon to Be Named To Bring USO Club to Bethesda

Judge Albert E. Brault, Civilian Defense director for Montgomery County, will soon name a committee on war recreational facilities for the Bethesda-Chevy Chase area.

The committee will take such steps as are necessary to establish a USO recreational center in Bethesda as advocated at a meeting of representatives of approximately 50 Bethesda-Chevy Chase civic, service and welfare groups held Thursday night in Bethesda County Building.

Dr. Shirley Lyons, welfare and recreational director at the Naval Medical Center, in explaining the need for such a center in Bethesda, pointed out that there are between 700 and 900 enlisted men, approximately 200 officers and 90 woman nurses on duty at the center and that 100 WAVES are expected in the near future.

John Schollcraft, Washington area director for USO, said he thought there would be no difficulty in obtaining USO sponsorship for quarters, furnishings and paid part-time supervision for the center. The community will have to work out a program of hospitality, recreation and entertainment to make the center worthwhile.

Lieut. W. D. Thompson, welfare and recreation officer of the Potomac River Naval Command, indorsed the project. Edwin Conover, field representative of the Federal Security Agency, who also indorsed the plan, said that his agency had made a survey of the local situation and had recommended establishment of such a center. He assured Judge Brault that the FSA would be glad to cooperate.

Accountancy
Pace Courses: C. C. S. and M. C. S. Degrees. C. P. A. Preparation. Day and Evening Divisions-Coeducational
New classes now forming
BENJAMIN FRANKLIN UNIVERSITY
1100 16th Street N. W. at L. ME. 2815

AT FIRST SIGN OF A COLD USE 666
666 TABLETS. SALVE. NOSE DROPS

Snowfall of Values

OUR BEST $35 SELLER
Exclusive Pagora Warmster
Coat Sale!
28.00
Chesterfields
Londoners Boy Coats
Swaggers

You can save 7.00 now on a coat for this year and winters to come. Four popular styles for you to choose from. Pagora Warmsters — famous for warmth without weight, wind resistant, moisture-proof and wrinkle resistant. Made of 68% wool surface with 32% cotton back for long wear.

THE PALAIS ROYAL . . . THIRD FLOOR

Help Prevent Inflation. It is the policy of THE PALAIS ROYAL to rigidly conform to all Office of Price Administration regulations. However, we are not infallible, and if by any chance, an error has been made, please call it to our attention and it will be corrected at once.

$2 LUCIEN LELONG
Extravagantly Perfumed Soap
4 Cakes 1.00

Delightfully scented soap in honeysuckle, carnation, white lilac, sweet pea and gardenia in beautiful pastel shades—priced now so you save half of the usual price in this once-a-year sale.

SAVE NOW ON FINE SOAP

- Palais Royal Buttermilk Soap, reg. dozen 69c
- Four Flowers Soap.....dozen 59c
- Roger and Gallet Bath Soap, scented in santal, violette and carnation. Reg. 2.40 for six cakes.. 1.85
- Cold Cream Soap, Spring flower scents. Reg. 1.39 for 40 bars... 1.00
- Geranium Rose Soap by "4711," reg. 1.35 for 4 cakes..... 1.00
- White Rose Glycerine Soap by "4711," reg. 1.60 for box of five cakes 1.00

SALE! FAMOUS BATH SOAPS AND HOUSEHOLD SOAPS

Lifebuoy Soap, doz.	75c	Camay Soap, doz.	75c
Lux Soap, doz.	75c	Woodbury Soap, 4 cakes	24c
Sweetheart Soap, 4 cakes	19c	Wrisley "Superbe", 4 cakes	89c
Rinso, large pkg.	22c	Lux Flakes, large pkg.	22c

STOCK UP ON TOILET NEEDS

- Scottissue Toilet Tissue, 1000 white sheet size ..... doz. 98c
- Scott Softweave Double-purpose Tissue ..... doz. 97c
- Waldorf Tissue, 650 sheet roll 57c

THE PALAIS ROYAL . . . TOILETRIES . . . FIRST FLOOR

Exciting Mid-Winter Fashion Winners

NEW WASHABLE PRINT IN Marie Dressler Dresses
5.95

New dresses that hint of Spring, designed to take inches off your figure and years off your age. Lovely monotone prints on light and dark grounds made of washable rayon crepe, fine detailing you wouldn't expect to find for such a little price. 37¼-51¼, 36½-52½.

THE PALAIS ROYAL . . . DAYTIME FROCKS . . . THIRD FLOOR

TRIM NEW TWEEDS
Two-Piece Suits
22.95

Let a suit be your non-stop wardrobe. Particularly one like our classic casual suit of sturdy tweed. Choose tan and brown or tand and green. Sizes 14 to 18.

White Tailored Shirt of washable rayon crepe. Short sleeves; also in pastel shades 3.00

THE PALAIS ROYAL . . . SUIT SHOP . . . THIRD FLOOR

NEW FEMININE CHARM WITH Lingerie Lure
8.95

Sentimental as the lace on a valentine, froths of white on black or navy dresses. All conspiring to make you look delightfully feminine. Sketched is one from a new collection: 2-piece effect with draped bodice and square lingerie collar. Black or navy. Misses' sizes.

THE PALAIS ROYAL . . . THRIFT DRESSES . . . THIRD FLOOR

Store Hours 9:30 to 6 P.M.
Thursday 12:30 to 9 P.M.

the Palais Royal
G STREET AT ELEVENTH
DI. 4400

Government Checks Conveniently Cashed

The Washington Post

*X SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1943 1B

The Federal Diary

(Editor's note: Today and every Saturday this column is written by Federal workers. Send contributions to Jerry Kluttz, editor.)

I'm one of the many Federal workers who have resigned from the service. The waste of manpower and lack of competent supervision was too much for me to enuure.

I have a suggestion to make which I hope will help my colleagues that I left behind. I wouldn't have dared to do this through office channels. There are better ways of leaving an office than being thrown out.

There is now in vogue in the War Department a practice of holding exit interviews. Departing employes are asked their reasons for leaving and many of them, like myself, are urged to change their minds. These interviews are fine. I came away feeling quite different from the resentful and wholly discouraged person I had been. I was almost sorry I had decided to leave.

It was gratifying to know that the colonel had full knowledge of the effort I had put into my work. He explained that the officers had so many responsibilities that they couldn't possibly get around to see individual employes. Neither, he said, could the generals get around to see their officers as much as they would like to. It was a point well-taken, and I could appreciate his problem. Now I'm a stronger booster for that colonel and his division.

My suggestion is: Why can't these interviews be held earlier, before the employe is in the mood to exit; before he's fed up with being left to the caprices of an often indifferent supervisor, a supervisor whose experience and ability is frequently beneath that of the employe he supervises? Why can't the interviews be held before the employe has had every vestige of ego kicked out of him? Every human likes a little recognition from a source he respects. Too little of it is apt to result in growing careless and discouraged.

Officers would learn a great deal of what actually goes on in their divisions if they would adopt a policy of "pre-exit interviews." The rank and file need this recognition and attention. It would be well worth the time and effort. The saving to the Government in money spent to recruit and train people would be enormous. M. C. M.

(Editor's comment: M. C. M. has put her finger on the real weakness of exit interviews. Her suggestion should be given serious consideration in all agencies.)

A suggestion as to how the Government can save thousands of dollars! Keep the War Bond Division of the department out of Chicago and in Washington, where it belongs. This division has been kicked around. We have moved upstairs, downstairs, across the street and around the corner until at times it was hard to tell whether or not we were on an elevator, a bus or a merry-go-round.

In spite of all this, we have worked hard. We have accomplished much. Now we are about to be thrown out of bounds right into the arms of those nasty Chicago Bears. SUPERVISOR.

While there is so much talk about the inefficency of the Government, and ways to improve conditions, I would like to offer one suggestion: "Follow the chain of command when asking for work to be done."

Many times I have assigned work to one of my draftsmen and some officer has come in with a supposedly "rush" job. He gets a draftsman to drop his work and take over the job the officer is interested in. When I get back to the office the work I assigned is not completed or even being worked on.

When work has to be done by another unit, a person should go see the supervisor of that unit and ask if the work can be done.

If there is time, or a person available, the supervisor will know, and can plan the work accordingly. When it can't be done at that time the supervisor will know when it can be done.

The Army officers are jealous of authority and insist upon the chain of command. They raise the devil when someone oversteps them.

The officer in charge wants to know what is being done in his department so work can be planned.

If only the officers would show the same consideration for their supervisors, at least one-half more work could be handled.

HARASSED SUPERVISOR.

If anyone really wanted to increase efficiency in Government—especially the war agencies—and to make the 48-hour week and overtime pay anything but a demoralizing farce and an annoyance, he needs only to put into force one single rule: Make every official and employe, from top to bottom, really observe office hours. Some war agencies check time of the lower class employes. Others don't even do that. None that I know of check in top officials and make them put in leave slips when they are an hour or so late in the morning and when they take two hours for lunch or slip away early in the afternoon.

Mrs. Oram Gets Husband's Estate

Mrs. Olive Jane Oram, widow of the testator, is the only beneficiary under the will of the Rev. William George Oram of Bethesda, which has been admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court at Rockville, Md. The value of the estate is not indicated. The will was executed July 29, 1929.

Family Affair

Norfolk, Va.—It was strictly a family affair when Elizabeth Bartley Hall of Norfolk became an ensign in the SPARS, for the oath was administered by her father, Capt. Rae Bartley Hall, U. S. C. G., captain of the port of Hampton Roads, and witnesses included three uncles who also are four-stripers in the Coast Guard.

A Weepy Afternoon

Newport News, Va.—After a hearty cry, Newport News was ready to laugh about it.

The crying started when the wind took an unexpected part in a gas demonstration staged by the military and blew the fumes over an area of the downtown business section.

Auxiliary Police Curb Likely Here

Defense Commander To Assume Young's Duties Expected To Be Appointed

By Roger Young
Post Staff Writer

Appointment of a commander to assume most of Commissioner John Russell Young's present responsibilities for Washington civilian defense organization, and drastic curtailment of the duties and powers of the auxiliary police within the next few days were regarded as imminent at the District Building last night.

The alternatives for disposing of the auxiliary police are to limit the members' activity to duty during actual air-raids or tests and special details, or to swear in the most active of them as special police.

The commissioners refused to comment upon these possibilities, beyond saying that the auxiliary police situation was under consideration and that an announcement would be forthcoming the first of the week.

Division of Opinion

It is known that Commissioner John Russell Young is in sympathy with the views of Police Chief Edward Kelly that the auxiliary force has done exemplary work during the past year, and he probably would favor its retention by a blanket swearing in as special officers. Commissioner Guy Mason and Corporation Counsel Richmond B. Keech, on the other hand, never have been enthusiastic about the extended duties of the auxiliary police and would be likely to recommend the restriction of activity. The question is at present under the consideration of Mason.

The Office of Civilian Defense commander, already tendered to one man and under consideration by him, is specified in the official OCD manual for every community, but never has been filled in Washington. Young, who is United States Coordinator for the Metropolitan area, has been acting as commander also ever since the organization of the local civilian defense in 1941.

Young said that the appointment of a commander was in no sense indicative of a general shakeup in the District civilian defense organization, which he termed "in my opinion one of the outstanding civilian defense setups in the country." He also stated that the new official would in no wise supersede Defense Executive Officer Lemuel Bolles, who is stationed here for the entire metropolitan area, by the War Department.

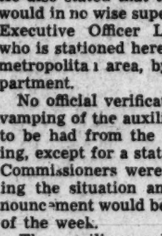
No official verification of the revamping of the auxiliary police was to be had from the District Building, except for a statement that the Commissioners were indeed studying the situation and that an announcement would be made the first of the week.

The auxiliary police force has been one of the most controversial branches of the civilian defense service, especially in regard to assignment of its personnel to walk regular beats. While offering assistance to a depleted police department, this is declared furthermore to be a valuable part of the training in the auxiliary police training school.

In spite of some noteworthy deeds performed by these unofficial policemen—especially the apprehension of Guy Eklund in his spectacular jail break last summer—officials and the public have not been unanimously enthusiastic about this extension of the originally-planned activities of the auxiliaries.

Oscar A. Barker Praised for Good Citizenship

Kudos and birthday gretings to Oscar L. Barker, truck driver and massenger, Department of Interior, for his outstanding patriotism and good citizenship.



BARKER

Oscar, a veteran of World War I, was 49 years old yesterday. He is sergeant at arms, Columbia Post No. 34, American Legion. He received the District of Columbia's 1940 Safety Award No. 1 for safe driving, the presentation being made by this paper and radio station WJSV with Eddie Cantor as master of ceremonies. Oscar is buying war saving bonds to the limit of his ability through the Government's uniform pay roll savings plan. He and Mrs. Barker have a small home but have restricted their activities to two rooms in order to make accommodations available for a soldier, a sailor and a war worker. Both are buying war savings stamps in addition to their pay roll bond allotment. Oscar's example and influence has caused many of his coworkers to invest in war savings bonds.

The employes of the Interior Department as a whole are investing 8.8 per cent of their salaries in war bonds through the uniform pay roll savings plan.

One Lump of Sugar

Post Staff Photo

JAVA JIVE—United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage (left), Grand Rabben of the Shrine, and Potentate Howard Foley pour coffee and sweeten it for Martha Kearney of Radio Station WINX. They were among guests at the cocktail party staged to announce the forthcoming Shrine Circus. The show will be staged at Uline February 8-14 for the benefit of underprivileged children

Air Corps Orchestra Provides Music Today at Service Party

"Air Corps Day," featuring a section of the Army Air Corps orchestra from Bolling Field, will highlight this afternoon's program at the National Press Club Canteen, one of the many activities planned this weekend for servicemen on leave here.

Special guests will be Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service head; Col. Richard H. Carmichael, outstanding American hero of the war who has been in almost every major engagement since Pearl Harbor and has received the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and Capt. Ernest Y. C. Chen, member of the Chinese Flying Corps, here with the Chinese Mission.

Servicemen in the audience will again be called on for amateur entertainment. Maj. Gordon Hittenmark will be master of ceremonies.

Another branch of the service—the Navy—will be honored at "Navy Night" at the USO Club, Sixteenth and Q Streets Northwest, tonight at 9. All uniformed men are invited, however.

Navy Band to Play

Participating in the program will be the United States Navy Band, which will play for dancing; Jack Gilford, who appears in the current stage show at the Capitol Theater, and Emanuel Vardi, concert violinist stationed in Washington with the Navy Orchestra. Buffet supper will be served at 10:30 p. m.

Prizes will be offered to the best jitterbug, the "Saltiest Tar" and holder of the "lucky" ticket number.

Men in uniform will be admitted without charge to an "ambulance dance" which Tau Beta Sigma sorority will sponsor tomorrow at 9 p. m. in the Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q Streets Northwest. Proceeds of the dance will be added to the sorority's funds for purchase of ambulances for the armed forces.

British Sailor Guests

Fifty British sailors from Norfolk will be weekend guests at local homes through arrangements with the Defense Commission of the Washington Federation of Churches.

After arrival yesterday afternoon, the men were entertained at the residences of members of Brookland Baptist, Mount Pleasant Congregational, Luther Place Memorial Lutheran, Mount Vernon Place Methodist, Cleveland Park Congregational, National Baptist Memorial, Chevy Chase and Georgetown Presbyterian Churches.

Programs planned for the men today will include the weekly Federation of Churches' tour of Capital landmarks as well as other sightseeing. Dinner and entertainment will be provided at the Fellowship House of Covenant-First Presbyterian Church and Luther Place Memorial Luthern Church.

Since October nearly 300 British sailors have visited the District under the auspices of the Defense Commission, and two other groups of about 50 men will arrive on Monday and Thursday of next week for hospitality in Washington church homes.

Other Activities

Other activities for servicemen in the District this weekend include:

Today

Dinner, Fellowship House, 3563 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest, near Wisconsin Avenue, 6:30 p. m., with dancing following. Games, refreshments and dancing, 9 p. m. to midnight, USO Club, Salvation Army, 606 E Street Northwest. Tour of city, meets in rotunda of the National Gallery of Art at 2 p. m. Tour will close with supper and a party. Dancing, games, 3 p. m. to midnight, National Catholic Community Service Club, 918 Tenth Street Northwest. Two orchestras. Dinner party, 5:30 p. m., Reformation Lutheran Church, 212 East Capitol Street. Dancing, 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m., Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q Streets Northwest. Dinner-dance, Foundry Methodist Church, Sixteenth and P Streets Northwest, 6:30 p. m. Dinner, 6:30 p. m., Fellowship Recreation Services, Almas Temple, K Street near Thirteenth Street Northwest. Dancing, 7:30 p. m., Y. W. C. A., Seventeenth and K Streets Northwest. Party, 8 p. m., St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, Connecticut Avenue above Florida Avenue Northwest. Women's Battalion dance, 8 p. m., Departmental Auditorium, Constitution Avenue, between Twelfth and Fourteenth Streets Northwest. Drop-In-Hour games, 8 p. m., Calvary Methodist Church, Sixteenth and Columbia Road Northwest. Religious service, social hour, John B. Bennett Memorial Service Club, 613 C Street Northwest, 8 p. m. Dance, entertainment, St. Margaret's Church, Connecticut Avenue and Bancroft Place Northwest, 8 p. m. Dancing, games, 8:30 p. m., parish house of St. John's Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and H Streets Northwest. Dancing, 9 p. m., National Catholic Community Service Club, 1814 N Street Northwest. Party, square dancing, 8 p. m., Servicemen's Club No. 1, 306 Ninth Street Northwest. Radio broadcast, 8 p. m., Bennett Memorial Service Club, 613 C Street Northwest. Dancing, games, 8:30 p. m., Y. M. C. A., 1736 G Street Northwest.

Tomorrow's Events

Breakfast Servicemen's Club No. 1, 8 a. m. Breakfast, 9:15 a. m., Y. M. C. A. Swimming games 9:30 a. m., Jewish Community Center. Sightseeing trip, 10 a. m., from Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club, Eleventh and L Streets Northwest. Refreshments, USO Club, Salvation Army, 606 E Street Northwest, 12-6 p. m. Coffee hour, 12:15 p. m., St. John's Episcopal Church. Roller skating party, 1:30 p. m., from Servicemen's Club No. 1, 306 Ninth Street Northwest. Sightseeing, sponsored by Washington Federation of Churches; meet in Y. W. C. A. lobby, Seventeenth and K Streets Northwest, 2 p. m. Entertainment and dinner, 3 p. m., Washington Hebrew Congregation, Eighth and I Streets Northwest. Music, Fort Myer Chapel, 3:30 p. m. Tea dance, 3 p. m., National Catholic Community Service Club, 6 p. m., dinner furnished by Catholic Parish. Buffet supper, 4 p. m., Y. M. C. A. Buffet supper, 4 p. m., Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Club. Buffet supper, games, Y. M. C. A., 1736 G Street Northwest, 6:30 p. m. Buffet supper, games, Y. W. C. A., 4 p. m. Lecture, Plus XI Guild House, 1721 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest, 4:30 p. m. Dance, National Catholic Community Service Club, 6 p. m. Supper, Concordia Evangelical and Reformed Church, 6 p. m. Supper, Church of the Epiphany (Episcopal), 6 p. m. Supper, Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, 6 p. m. Dance, N. C. C. S., 8 p. m. Dancing, games, Servicemen's Club No. 1, 7:30 p. m.

Negro Entertainment Today

Dancing, 7 p. m., Freedom House, 1701 Eleventh Street Northwest. Dancing, 8 p. m., Mount Olivet Lutheran Church, 1325 Vermont Avenue Northwest. Party, 8 p. m., Y. W. C. A., 901 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest. Dancing, 8 p. m., Lichtman Leisure Lodge, 1437 U Street Northwest.

Tomorrow

Meeting for church services, dinner following, Y. M. C. A., 1816 Twelfth Street Northwest, 10:30 a. m. Sightseeing tours, swimming, Y. M. C. A., 3 p. m. Twilight vespers, Mount Olivet Lutheran Church, 1325 Vermont Avenue Northwest, 6 p. m. New World Forum, Y. W. C. A., 901 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest, 6 p. m. Informal social, Y. M. C. A., 8-12 p. m.

Gen. Brooks Takes Over

St. John's, Newfoundland, Jan. 8 (AP).—Brig. Gen. John B. Brooks has arrived in Newfoundland to take over command of United States forces, succeeding Maj. Gen. G. C. Grant, officer commanding the American troops here since last October 19.

G.O.P. Names 2 to Senate D. C. Group

Buck, Bushfield Appointments Fill Committee's Minority Roster

Senators Buck of Delaware and Bushfield of South Dakota were named by the Republican conference yesterday to fill out the minority roster of the Senate District Committee for the Seventy-eighth Congress.

The Republicans had one place to fill due to the new division of the committee between nine Democrats and six Republicans, instead of the 10-5 ratio which prevailed in the last Congress. The other vacancy was opened when Senator Austin of Vermont was not renominated to the group. He will devote his time instead to the Military Affairs and Judiciary Committees.

The other four Republican members remain the same: Capper of Kansas, Bridges of New Hampshire, Holman of Oregon and Burton of Ohio. The Democrats, who will have no places to fill unless someone leaves the committee, are expected to name their list early next week.

Both Buck and Bushfield, newcomers who won their seats in last November's election, admitted that they were as yet unacquainted with the complex and heavy problems facing wartime Washington, but both evidenced keen interest in the jobs they will be called on to tackle.

Both sympathized with the effort to gain suffrage for the District, though not committing themselves to any particular course of action.

Buck spoke much more strongly on the question, asking:

"Why shouldn't the people of the District have the vote? Why aren't they just as entitled to vote as somebody living in Maryland, a few blocks out?"

He also looked with favor on the proposal to give Washington an elected Delegate in Congress—the Paddock bill which lapsed last session, but which is to be reintroduced.

He further pledged himself, along with Bushfield, to do all he could to help relieve the city's desperate shortage of hospital facilities.

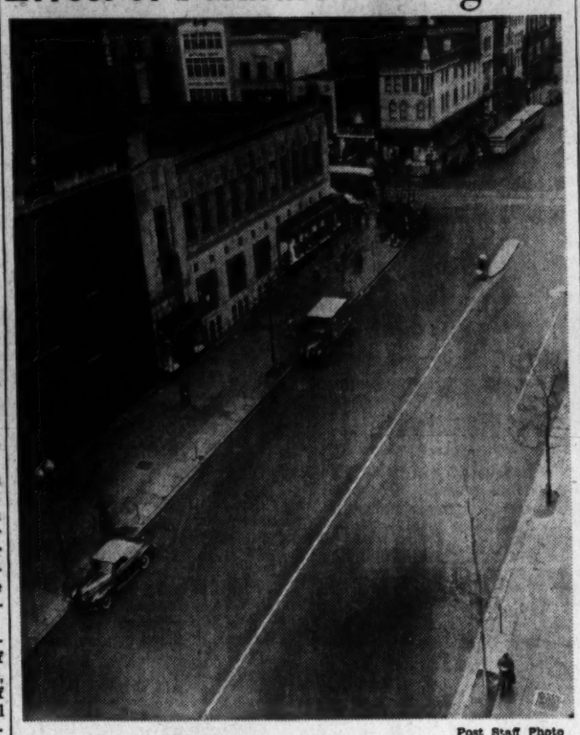
Senator Bushfie'd shied away from definite commitments on the suffrage issue, but said that "other things being equal, it seems to me that the right to vote is a fundamental American right." He pointed out that as the situation now stands, Washingtonians have less voice in their government than the citizens of Alaska and Hawaii.

Both thought that some relief should be given to local police, firemen and teachers in keeping with the salary raises given other D. C. workers by the Federal overtime pay bill. This will probably be the first piece of District legislation which they will be called upon to consider, inasmuch as Chairman McCarran plans to call

Accused of Bigamy

Mrs. Grave V. Reinhert, 20, was held in $1000 bail for grand jury action yesterday, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy in the Municipal Court. She was accused of being married to two sailors.

Effect of Pleasure-Driving Ban



Post Staff Photo

THIRTEENTH STREET AT 5 P. M.—First day of the ban on pleasure driving took this effect yesterday in downtown Washington. Here's a section of Thirteenth Street Northwest, looking north to F Street, shown at 5 p. m. You can count the motor vehicles on one hand

Catoe Recants Confession of Dancy Slaying

Jarvis Catoe, the 37-year-old sex killer who has a date for the electric chair next Friday, recanted one of his murder confessions at a hearing in the District Jail yesterday.

Catoe's new story dimmed the hopes of James Matthew Smith, 43, Negro, who is serving life for the murder of Mrs. Florence Dancy, 65, in April, 1935. When Catoe was caught in 1941, he confessed a string of brutal murders, including that of Mrs. Dancy.

On the basis of Catoe's statements, efforts were begun to obtain the other man's release. Catoe had been scheduled to take the witness stand in his behalf in the District Court yesterday.

But night before last, Catoe broke out of line in the jail refectory, climbed up to a bar 65 feet above the floor and perched in "quiet enjoyment" for three hours while guards, firemen and other prisoners tried to coax him down. As a result, Justice James M. Proctor ordered his evidence taken in jail before Court Reporter Ralph W. Bennett.

Catoe testified quietly in a jail conference room, using his huge hands for earnest gestures. He said he did not kill Mrs. Dancy, that he would deny the crime if he were called to court as a witness and that the statements in the confession attributed to him were untrue. He stuck to these denials under questioning by lawyers for the Government, Smith and himself.

Arlington Hospital Waits On WPB Action

Property has been purchased, Lanham Act funds allotted and organization of a medical staff is under way, but as yet the War Production Board has not come to a decision as to whether to permit the construction of a hospital in Arlington County, it was learned yesterday.

Meanwhile, in all Arlington County, which has a population now of approximately 80,000 persons and will have 100,000 when the new Government buildings are constructed, such as Fairlington, there is no hospital at all.

Gilbert Hall, president of the Arlington County Hospital Association, points out that if the Potomac bridges were destroyed, either by bombing or natural disaster, Arlington County would be cut off from hospital facilities.

Property Purchased

The property purchased for a hospital in Arlington consists of 15½ acres on North Sixteenth Street, west of Glebe Road. The Arlington County Hospital Association started negotiations toward the establishment of a hospital several years ago.

Upshot of negotiations and renegotiations was the allotment by the Federal Works Agency of $610,000 August 31, 1942.

This was to provide for a one-story 100-bed hospital and a home to accommodate 50 nurses.

When the allotment of Lanham Act funds went through, Dr. Victor J. Dardinksi, president of the Arlington County Medical Society, and a committee consisting of Dr. Richard N. Sutton, Dr. Weldon A. Price, and Dr. Stacy T. Noland interested themselves in the organization of a hospital staff.

In the meantime 51 applications for the post of hospital superintendent were made to the executive committee of the Hospital Association. Applications for other hospital jobs came in.

Under the best of traffic conditions, it takes twice as long to get to District hospitals as it would to the site selected for an Arlington County Hospital. Meantime there is no hospital in Fairfax or Prince William Counties, Va., either, both of which could be served from Arlington.

Arlington doctors, Hall pointed out, have sometimes waited 10 days to get a patient into a Washington hospital for an operation. In emergency cases, patients have had to be transported to Gallinger, on occasion.

Auto Traffic Fades as Ban Is Obeyed

But No Decline In Theater, Cafe Crowds Is Noted; Parking Lots Hit

Washington, this crossroads of the world and haven of more than one million people, swept its streets almost clean of traffic last night and gave the pedestrian the first break he's had since the horseless carriage days.

There was traffic on the streets to be sure but it was 90 per cent the cab-bus-streetcar variety and this not in any quantity as to worry the unwary street-crosser.

The citizenry here is either scrupulously honest or those charged with enforcing Thursday's "no pleasure driving" edict had not yet swung into action. At a late hour last night not one motorist had been reported by police as being on the streets for other than strictly business purposes.

Staff of Sleuths on Streets

OPA Director Whitney Leary said his staff of sleuths were on the streets yesterday to record violations. He expected to report on their activities some time this morning.

Perhaps one of the best examples of District residents complying with the ration regulations was exhibited last night at the inter-high school basketball game held at McKinley High Tech, Second and T Streets Northeast.

A crowd estimated at more than 1100 attended the games, while only 11 cars were parked outside, and police said some belonged to residents of the area, which is residential.

A survey made by a reporter for The Post indicated that movie theaters and night-club attendance was about as usual. Some theater managers were dubious that this condition would continue past the weekend but were hopeful that the downtown houses would not suffer noticeably.

Neighborhood houses however reported a slight decline in patronage. This was noticed principally in districts where transit facilities were not available to the entire neighborhood.

A check of a downtown intersection, which in normal times is jammed with traffic, showed that only four passenger cars passed in comparison with 36 cabs and six commercial vehicles.

Downtown parking lots reported that business last night had fallen to an all-time low. One parking lot attendant simply wrung his hands and prayed for the time he used to "turn 'em away."

The sleek limousines that used to scoot along Massachusetts and Connecticut were also conspicuously absent. Washington's elite were either remaining at home or hailing cabs.

An official of the American Automobile Association, which made a survey of roadway restaurants in the outlying districts of Washington, stated that those places were deserted. On Bladensburg Road between the District line and Peace Cross not 10 cars were seen at all the drive-in establishments.

Check-Up in Progress

A check is in process, the AAA official said, of the whole Eastern seaboard and of the early reports that have come into his office it appeared that there is a 100 per cent compliance with the ban.

Meanwhile police of nearby counties were preparing to check automobiles for violations. In most counties they were not ready yet to stop cars on the highways. However, in Arlington, Chief of Police Harry Woodyard said cars would be stopped and if the owners were found pleasure drviing they would be given notice to appear before their ration boards and give cause for the violation. It was up to the board, Woodyard said, to revoke rationing cards.

Navy Explains Apartment Seizure Here

Lack of time in which to build barracks was the explanation a Navy spokesman offered yesterday for condemnation proceedings instituted against an apartment building at 1809 G Street Northwest, which had a waiting list of more than three times as many persons as could be accommodated in the structure's 137 apartments.

"Large numbers of WAVES, who will occupy the building, are here already," the spokesman stated, "and many more are coming in the near future. We would not have time to build barracks, a mess hall and the other things needed to care for the girls."

The Navy, he stated, felt that the quickest way to provide quarters for the girls was to reconvert.

"The WAVES, we feel, should be provided with the most comfortable quarters possible. They are relieving men for sea duty and many have never been away from home before."

The Navy announced Thursday that the building would house 800 enlisted WAVES and 24 officers. It is understood that the Navy is considering the construction of barracks, for the future, but officials would not discuss this possibility.

All Souls' Shelters Jewish Flock When Hebrew Temple Furnace Fails

By Robert Tate Allan
Post Church Editor

A furnace breakdown chilled the Washington Hebrew Temple here, but the warm hospitality of All Souls' Unitarian Church last night gave the Jewish folk a temporary place of worship.

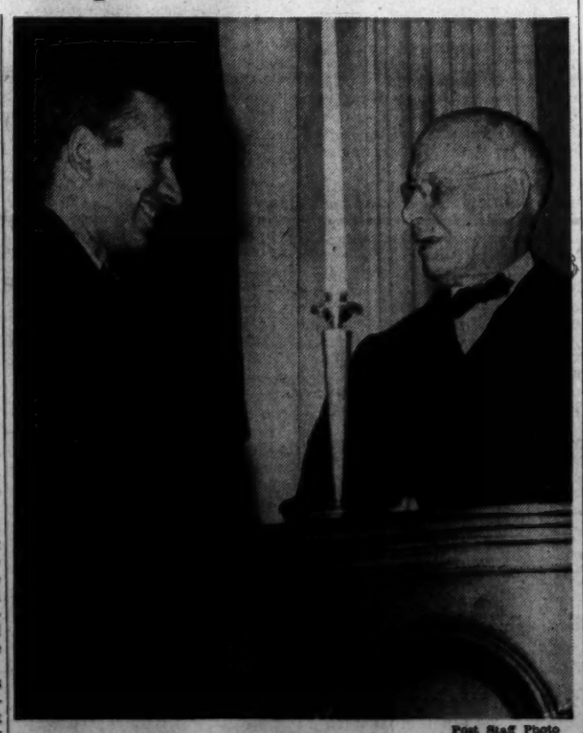
Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld, spiritual leader of the Hebrew Congregation, conducted the service from the All Souls' pulpit near the Menorah, or seven-branched candlestick, and praised the "spiritual comradeship" between the two congregations.

Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, for 42 years All Souls' pastor, and local oldest white pastor in point of service, greeted the Jewish worshipers, and recalled that the Temple and his church had much in common—including the fact that Lewis Atwater is organist for both congregations. Atwater is a Unitarian. Dr. Pierce also recalled that for many years the late George W. Walter was organist at both the Temple and All Souls' Church.

Dr. Pierce and Rabbi Gerstenfeld have much in common in another respect. Both are active in the committee on religious life in the Nation's Capital, of which the rabbi is general chairman. The Washington Hebrew Congregation and All Souls' Church also are the oldest bodies of their faiths here.

Dr. Pierce said before last night's service that the Jewish congregation is welcome to use his church at any time. And that may be a long time, according to Rabbi Gerstenfeld, who saw little possibility of obtaining a new furnace at present, because of war priorities.

All Souls' is at Sixteenth and Harvard Streets Northwest, and the Hebrew Temple is at 822 Eighth Street Northwest.



Post Staff Photo

EXEMPLIFYING "SPIRITUAL COMRADESHIP," Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld (left), spiritual leader of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, and Dr. U. G. B. Pierce, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church, stand in the pulpit of All Souls' Church, where Jewish folk worshiped last night because their temple furnace broke down

City News In Brief

Coal gas felled Mrs. Dorothy Rogers, 40, of 824 Eighth Street Northwest, yesterday at a Palace Laundry Branch, 1824 Eighteenth Street Northwest, where she was working. She was found unconscious by Austin Stewart, 1650 Fuller Street Northwest, a customer, when he entered the store.

Mrs. Rogers was revived and allowed to go home. Police said the gas was escaping from a furnace.

Alaska Crab Hunt

A series of colored slides, entitled "Hunting the King Crab in Alaska," will be shown to the public at 3:30 p. m., today, at the Children's Museum, Villa Rosa, 4215 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest. A running narrative by Dr. Waldo Schmitt, who led an expedition to the North which the slides portray, will accompany the showing.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Man's Infidelity to Wife He Loves Is Climaxed By Illegitimate Paternity; Chastened, He Would Like to Rebuild Marriage, but What About Child?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a man in the service here; and I have a tragic problem to solve, due to my own careless behavior. I would appreciate any advice you might give me. When I was in college, I met, fell in love with and married a girl. She was a very nice girl, very good and deeply in love with me. But after three and one half years of marriage, I began to be unhappy. Even though my wife and I were still in love, I began to "run around." As a result, she left me and went back to her family.

However, she did not get a divorce and during the year following, I had an affair with a girl who knew I was married and whose morals were not so good; but she said she was in love with me. Now, the girl has a child, who is also mine. When I learned about the baby, I asked my wife for a divorce, because I meant to marry the girl and give the child a name. I did not tell my wife the real reason why I wanted a divorce, so she refused to give me one.

I have always loved my wife and always will, but I feel very badly about the girl, and also feel a great responsibility toward the child. My wife still loves me and is willing to forgive me and come back to me. So what should I do? Could we be happy together? Is our love for each other,—plus a great deal in common, in the way of likes and dislikes,—enough to overcome the past? I am sure I would be true to her now, as I have learned a bitter lesson. Should I start again with my wife and build our lives together and forget the girl—except for giving her financial help with the child?

Or should I divorce my wife and marry the girl (whom I don't love) for the child's sake? My wife has finally said that if a divorce is what I want, she will give me one. Or would it be better to give the girl a chance to marry someone who does love her? If I did marry her, I would still be in love with my wife; and perhaps even more so, as the years go by. Thank you for any help you can give me.

J. E. P.

An Important Point Is Not Clarified

DEAR J. E. P.: You have failed to make clear whether your wife knows about the other woman's child, even yet; and that is a most important point to be considered, in trying to resolve this ethical muddle. Indeed, in my opinion, it is the starting point for beginning to try to make headway out of the mess in which you have involved three persons besides yourself. I would like to know, for instance, whether she knows; and, if she knows, whether she is prepared, even so, to take you back and try to build a life together, thus not only condoning your flagrant past disloyalty to her; but condoning, also, a second and lifelasting chapter of essentially irresponsible behavior on your part,—having to do with your figuratively "washed up" attitude toward the girl you seduced and your child whom she bore; and with your tacit willingness to permanently fix the stigma of illegitimacy upon the child, in order to make existence (so you think) a little sweeter for yourself.

If she is much of a woman, I don't think she would want you back on such terms. Not for lack of charitable feeling, you understand. But rather because she is a person of principle and the strength to live by it, as she demonstrated in promptly leaving you after you started "running around." Being that type of person, who, by the grace of God and a combination of favorable circumstances, has suffered less cruelly from your selfishness, sexual indulgence and general instability than did the next woman you "took up with," I can imagine that she would survey the existing situation with some margin of heroic detachment and say, in effect, that your first duty was by all means to the child; and that divorce from her, and marriage to the child's mother, was incumbent upon you, in the name of decency.

Can't Use Marriage To Escape Reality

It occurs to me, indeed, that your failure to tell her at once your real reason for suggesting divorce was prompted by your hunch that she would readily grant it, if she knew the whole truth. You didn't want her to know and thus set you free. You wanted her to quibble and refuse, so that you would be absolved, in the girl's eyes, from the suspicion of deliberately letting her down. In view of your despicable behavior toward each woman in turn, I can't see why either would want much to do with you, at this stage of the game. But as I see the picture, there can be no constructive return to, and wholesome rebuilding of, your long-since virtually wrecked and mutually repudiated marriage, when, if you have any conscience or sense of honor whatsoever, your own instincts must constantly remind you of your paternal obligations in another direction.

Of course, if the girl in the case had flatly refused to marry you, (as girls have done, in similar situations), because knowing that you do not, never have and never will love her; and because valiantly daring to hope that she might one day meet and marry a man who did love her enough to disregard her past and gladly share her burdens (as occasionally happens, since human nature is irradiated with some nobility),—in that event, you would be entitled to try to redeem yourself with your wife, I think; and the chastened effort might bear good fruit. But you cannot hope for success in any human relationship, so long as you seek to exploit them as "retreats from reality," as you did first in "running around," next in having an "affair" which resulted in an illegitimate child, and are now conjecturing again, in talking of building a new life with your wife, the essential purpose of which project would be to superficially expunge the latest sorry chapter from consciousness.

Self-Respect Rests Upon Honest Dealing

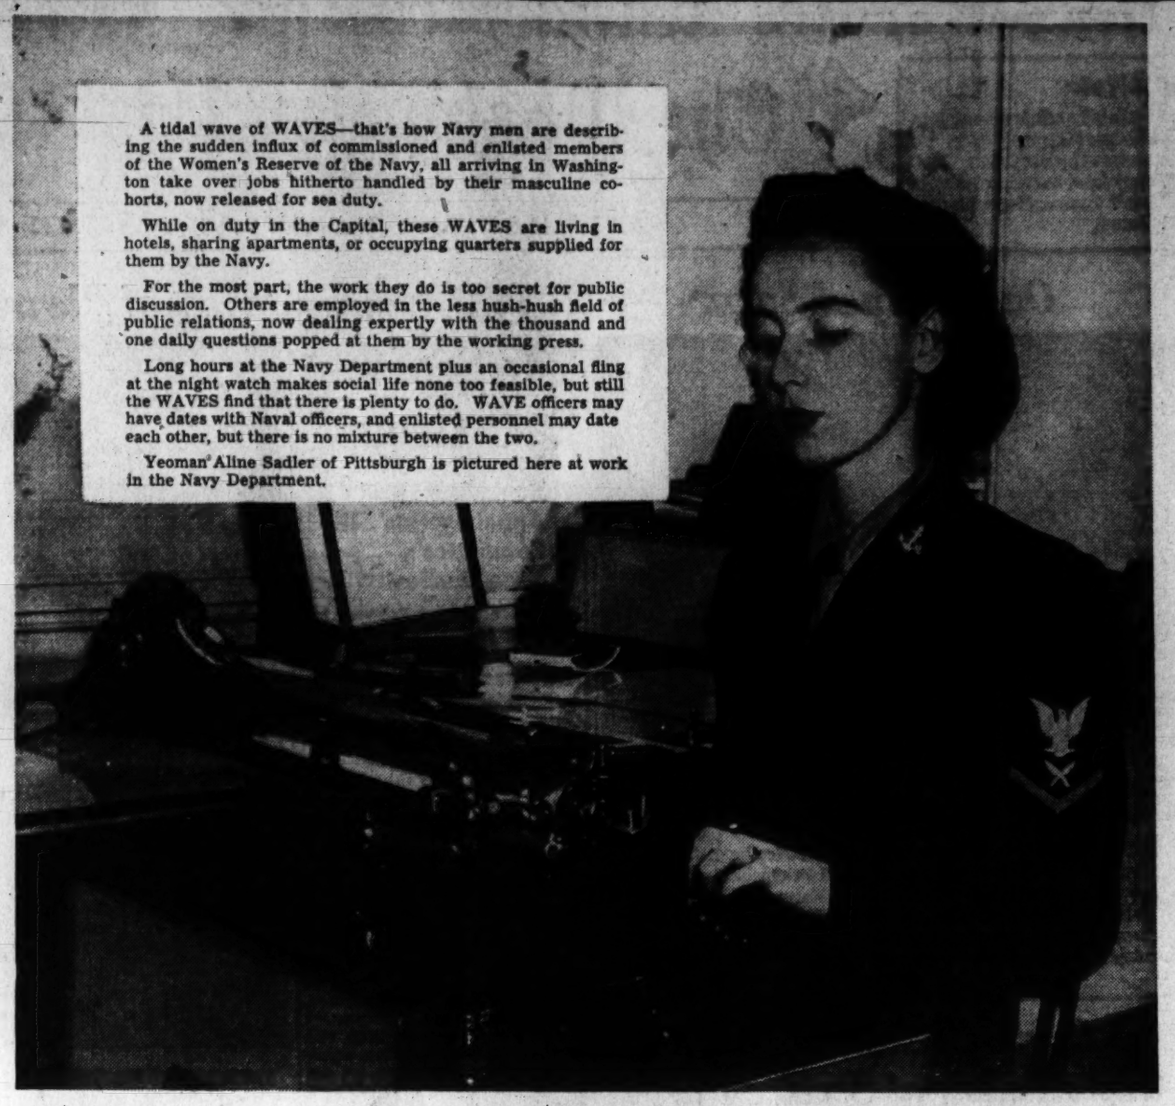
If this problem is to be worked through to an approximately civilized solution, compatible with self respect on your part, it can only be done by your being absolutely honest, from A to Z, with both women, from here on out. Your wife must be told about the child. And the other woman must be told (1) that you do not love her; but (2) that you do feel a great responsibility toward the child; and (3) that you sincerely feel you might be doing her a further injustice in marrying her, supposing you were free to do so, since your wife will always be first in your heart, and increasingly so as the years go by. When you have got this much off your chest, to each woman in turn, those two injured parties to the adult triangle will have some basis of fact from which to proceed, in helping you make up your mind what is best to do, that can be done.

M. H.

These Women!

By d'Alessio

"Well, dear, this month we can make both ends meet . . . part of the way!"



A tidal wave of WAVES—that's how Navy men are describing the sudden influx of commissioned and enlisted members of the Women's Reserve of the Navy, all arriving in Washington take over jobs hitherto handled by their masculine cohorts, now released for sea duty.

While on duty in the Capital, these WAVES are living in hotels, sharing apartments, or occupying quarters supplied for them by the Navy.

For the most part, the work they do is too secret for public discussion. Others are employed in the less hush-hush field of public relations, now dealing expertly with the thousand and one daily questions popped at them by the working press.

Long hours at the Navy Department plus an occasional fling at the night watch makes social life none too feasible, but still the WAVES find that there is plenty to do. WAVE officers may have dates with Naval officers, and enlisted personnel may date each other, but there is no mixture between the two.

Yeoman Aline Sadler of Pittsburgh is pictured here at work in the Navy Department.

SHOP AND RUN

By Marianne

Here is the happy beginning of our mythical "Beauty and the Budget." We shopped, we looked, we found these buys—each of which has a reason for being on your dressing table.

The combination of cold, wind, water, and just plain hard work makes a good hand lotion a must-have. A lotion that really does a command performance is one containing 20% lanolin—an ingredient which relieves dry or chapped hands and makes them soft again. A 3-ounce size for 25c.

If you use talcum powder (and who doesn't have to resort to it for that after-the-bath into-a-girdle struggle?) you'll want one that's soft, free from impurities, and nicely scented. We've found just the one. A large size, a really good product, for 59c.

Come telephone call to celebrate unexpected "liberty" with your uniformed friend, or perhaps five minutes notice before an important interview, wouldn't you give your last pair of nylons for your dressing table? A jar of cleansing pads in your desk will substitute. They'll remove old makeup in a jiffy and you can go forth refreshed. A good bargain—80 pads for 25c.

For most normal skins one good cold cream is the "cream of the crop." If winter weather isn't kind to your skin, counteract it's effect with a cream of the lanolin type. It's especially good for dry or chapped skin and this one also contains over 2% olive oil. A 6-ounce bottle, 25c.

With face powders of the softest and finest ingredients on the market, we've come a long way from the time when women used lead and chalk to whiten their faces! If your skin color changes over a period of time it may be more economical for you to buy powder in small quantities in order to match your complexion. We can recommend several fine ones.

Here are other bargains for you. A deodorant made by a distinguished cosmetic firm is being offered for 50c for a short time. The jar is actually the $1.00 size.

1000 single sheets of facial tissues for 19c is the best buy for your money. They're something you use in large quantities and therefore should be purchased in large amounts at a saving.

A call to NAtional 4200 Extension 324 between 9:00 and 5:30 will help you balance your beauty budget.

Glass Eyes, Too!

For the What-Will-They-Think-of-Next Department: New and nonpriority glass gadgets on the market, including glass thermometers with a heat-sensitive spring; glass dishpans, glass bolts (actually!) to be used in gas-washing machines where metal corrodes, glass mailboxes, glass valves, glass blocks to pinch-hit for priority cork, and so on and on and on . . .

FASHION

The Skin of Whose Teeth?

By Jeanne Contini

You have probably resolved to drop luxuries from your '43 budget. Yet, there goes that collection of Christmas checks messing everything up by burning holes in your pocketbook. Well, we can't put it all down to the Gremlins. It might conceivably be the warm vision of that fur coat in whose direction you've cast longing looks for the past few weeks. Of course, fur has been the symbol of luxury for a long, long time. But if you need a coat anyway and you can afford it, a fur coat is about the finest clothes investment you can make. With proper care it will last for years. It will go over everything in your wardrobe with equanimity, including tweeds and dinner clothes. Besides colds, which at best are a disgraceful waste of necessary energy, can be very successfully warded off if you do your walking in a good warm coat.

Now is the time to buy one. Most of the stores are having sales and there are excellent values to be had. If you haven't yet set your heart on a particular coat, may we offer a few suggestions? As to fur . . . Persian lamb, muskrat and skunk are the noble three of the die-hard types. They will go through the devil and high water almost without turning a hair. Alaskan seal is sturdy but more expensive. The fur experts tell us that apropos of seal, they hope we clear the Japs out of the Bering Straits in time for summer trapping. Among the less expensive furs American opposum can stand up and take it. Sable-dyed Russian squirrels is lovely but much more perishable. However, with careful treatment it will last a good two years. Incidentally in case the terms mystify you as much as they did us, "tipped" means color applied to the leather side; "blended" means color applied to the fur. The latter lasts longer and gives a more attractive finish.

As to cut . . . let it be simple and straight in silhouette. Tricks pall, and you'll wear the coat for a good long time. You want a style roomy enough to go comfortably over your suits. It might be a good idea to wear one when you try it on.

Rationing Made Easy

COFFEE: Stamp No. 28 in War Ration Book I entitles each person 15 years of age or over to 1 pound of coffee. Expires February 8.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES: Ration Book II (to be issued in February) will provide point rationing coupons for all dried, canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vegetables and their juices, and canned soups. Not to be rationed immediately are: fruit or vegetable juices in containers of one gallon or more; meat stews containing some vegetables; jams, jellies and preserves, olives, pickles, relishes and potato salad; spaghetti, macaroni and noodles; chili con carne; frozen fruits or vegetables in containers of more than 10 pounds; fruit cakes, fruit puddings and candied fruits.

Ration Book II will be issued upon presentation of Book I—and those who have not yet applied for Book I must apply to their local boards before January 15.

MEATS: Will also be covered by Ration Book II.

SUGAR: Stamp No. 10 in Ration Book I will entitle each person to purchase 3 pounds of sugar. Expires January 31.

GASOLINE: All A, B, and C unit coupons are valued at 3 gallons. Coupon 3 is good through January 21. Motorists are required to write license numbers and State on back of coupon to prevent black market dealing in coupons.

TIRES: Local boards will not renew gasoline rations, issue emergency rations or authorize tire purchase or recap for any passenger car unless a tire inspection record is presented. Dates for first tire inspection are as follows:

License numbers 72401 to 83200—January 8 through 12.

License numbers 95201 to 10660—January 13 through 16.

License numbers 118601 to 121400—January 18 through 21.

License numbers 135,401 to 147300—January 22 through 26.

License numbers 162001 to 174600—January 27 through 30.

FUEL OIL: Coupons marked Period 2 are good for 10 gallons and expire January 25. Coupons marked Period 3 are also good for 10 gallons and expire Febraury 16.

WHEN IN DOUBT: Consult your local rationing board. Addresses and telephone numbers of these follows:

No. 10—1350 Pennsylvania Avenue Northwest—DIstrict 1059.

No. 11—Force Schol, 1740 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest—ADams 6060.

No. 12—458 Indiana Avenue Northwest—DIstrict 1051.

No. 20—Jackson School—R Street between Thirtieth and Thirty-first Streets Northwest—COlumbia 2679.

No. 21—Oyster School—Twenty-ninth and Calvert Streets Northwest—COlumbia 5833.

No. 30—Northwest Library—Sixteenth and Lamont Streets Northwest—COlumbia 2868.

No. 31—Petworth Library—Georgia Avenue and Upshur Street Northwest — GEorgia 5214.

No. 32—Brightwood School—Georgia Avenue and Quackenbos Street Northwest GEorgia 5317.

No. 33—Brookland School—Tenth and Monroe Street Northeast—COlumbia 5457.

No. 40—Southeast Library—Seventh and D Streets Southeast—LUtrell 1246.

No. 41—Eastern High School—Seventeenth and East Capitol Streets—ATlantic 1175.

No. 42—Langdon Schol—Twentieth and Evarts Streets Northeast—ADams 1304.

No. 50—Southwest Library—Seventh and I Streets Southwest—DIstrict 1055.

No. 60—Ketcham School—Fifteenth and Good Hope Road Southeast—ATlantic 1254.

No. 61—Deanwood School—Whittingham and Lane Place Northeast—Atlantic 6296.

Patches Are Patriotic

By Margaret Kernodle

If you're having a hard time making up your mind whether to patch or darn wool clothes, the United States Bureau of Home Ecomomics has some wise words for you. They say "Patching is patriotic" and "Darning may save the day."

Here are hints on how to darn:

Darns adapt easily to small holes, tears or worn spots, especially if you use threads of the garment.

For looks and strength use lengthwise yarns for darning lengthwise and crosswise yarns for crosswise darning. You can get crosswise yarns from the inside of the hem and lengthwise yarns from the inside of straight-cut seams.

If raveling is impossible, use dull-finish thread a little darker than the material, or an exact match if possible.

Work with a short thread and a fine needle to prevent stretching the tear. Make the darning stitch as nearly like the weave of the fabric as you can. Sew by a strong light.

Work for flatness, avoiding too tight threads, which will pucker the darn, or too loose, which will puff it. Darn on the right side, so that you can see how your work looks as you do it. Whenever possible draw the mending yarn in and out (as in weaving). Take tiny stitches and slow up on the turns. Run uneven stitches around the edge of the darn to avoid a "darned line".

Cut off the darning thread inside the garment but not too closely. Keep raw edges inside too. Steam press on the wrong side and brush the right side lightly to lift the nap of the wool.

Patch big holes.

Cut patch on straight of the goods, but sew it in so that its crosswise yarns meet crosswise yarns of the garment, to help hide the patch.

Patch a faded garment with a faded patch. Look in the hem or pocket for the feded piece. Darn the large patch in by hand with thick wool, but set it in by machine or hand stitching on thin wool.

For the darned-in patch: Trim the hole in the garment so that it is square or rectangluar. Cut the patch exactly to fit the hole and to match the pattern of the cloth. Baste the patch on a piece of net. Fit the hole down over the patch and baste. Use dull thread and darn each of four shades as if they were straight tears, letting darns overlap at he corners.

For a three-corner tear, let the two straight darns lap over each other for extra strength.

A knit-stitch is good to mend sweaters, socks and mittens if you have matching yarn, but a bracket stitch can be used for larger holes.

The Washington experts have more to say about "sewing to save" in a new bulletin, "ABC's of Mending" (Farmers' Bulletin No. 1925), which is free from the Department of Agculture, Washington, as long as the supply lasts.

Take Oil, Grease FromRubberThings

If oil, grease or tar spots get on your rubber articles, remove them immediately. Usually a bath or warm water and soap will do the work.

If the spot stays on after this treatment, sponge it with a dry-cleaning fluid. If necessary, soak the spot in the fluid—but no longer than two or three minutes. Treat rubber extra-gently while is has fluid on it.

Because it does not catch fire, carbon tetrachloride is one of the best fluids for cleaning stubborn

The Gentler Sex

By Malvina Lindsay

Women and Congress

WHAT women in Congress are going to do is just now an absorbing topic. The public waits eagerly for the first moves of the two new feminine members of the House, women who have already made names for themselves in the career world, who are definitely articulate, and whose voices are bound to be heard.

Of more importance, however, is: What are women who are not in Congress going to do? After all, the women legislators do not represent women as such. They represent specifically the voters of their districts and generally the citizens of the United States. Not their actions, but rather those of Congress as a body are what concern women as a whole.

SELDOM, if ever, has a Congress been generally felt to be so much an instrument of destiny as the Seventy-eighth. Its decisions may affect the lives of the citizens of this Nation, and indeed the world, for centuries to come. Women have many special interests involved in its deliberations aside from the preponderant one of peace. Its legislation on prices and consumer problems will intimately affect their pocketbooks and their kitchens. Its action on social reform will influence the lives of their children and grandchildren. And for all of its legislation, women will feel a responsibility as the trustees of their absent men in service.

Congress will also be called upon to take a stand on a measure that relates directly to women's legal and economic standing. This is the equal rights amendment, which the National Woman's Party has been sponsoring for 19 years, and for which it is now determined to make a final and successful legislative fight. The amendment provides that "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

ALREADY at work on the new members of the Seventy-eighth Congress, the National Party leaders are using the argument that only by the passage of this amendment will the United States be enabled to go to the peace table with clean hands "as a Nation which has removed the bondage of 'chattel' laws and the hazard of discriminating legislation from its women, thus proving its belief in democratic government."

Another organized woman's group, the National League of Women Voters, is also on the job—not asking for special legislation—but canvassing members of Congress to learn their stands on taxation, farm prices, economic controls, reciprocal trade agreements and problems that affect the postwar world. The canvass, Miss Marguerite Wells, president of the league, points out, is not so much to check on Congress or to criticize it, but rather to help and encourage it in taking stands for the public good as against special interests.

WHAT influence can women generally, including those who are unorganized, exert on this momentous Seventy-eighth Congress? Will they view it as something apart from them, indifferent to its problems or its actions and then blaming it bitterly for whatever it does or fails to do? Will they continue to think of Congress, the President, the Cabinet, the war agencies as THEY, instead of taking mature responsibility as citizens and viewing the governmental setup as WE?

As the new Congress convenes, some are looking at it in high hope—seeing in it sense, soundness and safety. Others view it with despair, seeing in it reaction, provincialism, lack of vision. Whatever kind of Congress it turns out to be, women cannot escape their responsibility for its acts. They are the prevailing citizens now in point of number and are the trustees of the future. They have votes, they have voices, they have the privilege of the mails. Busy though they may be with their homes and jobs, harried though they find themselves with cares and anxieties, they cannot escape the fact that it is their No. 1 war duty to know and understand what is going on in Congress—and to let Congress know that they know.

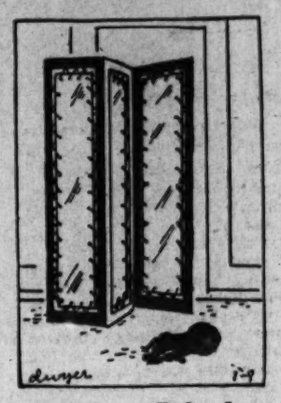
Springy Surface Shows Cake Baked

A cake is done when the surface feels springy and a gentle pressure of the finger leaves no imprint. The cake will also have started to shrink from the sides of the pan.

If there is any doubt about the cake being done, stick a toothpick or wire tester into the middle of the cake. If it is the slightest bit sticky when you pull it out, leave the cake in the oven and test again later. Don't forget to use a fresh toothpick or wash and dry the cake tester in between each test.

When the cake is done, let it stand in the pan for five minutes, then slip a knife around the sides to make sure it won't stick, and turn it out on cake rack to cool. Peel off the paper. Let the cake get quite cold before attempting to do any frosting.

It's About Time



By Dolores Boland

IT'S ABOUT TIME to rejuvenate an old wooden frame screen. Cut oilcloth panels a bit smaller than open sections. Eyelets edge these panels. Screw eyes edge inner part of wooden frames. Lace oilcloth strips through eyelets and screw eyes

Navy Publishes Pamphlet On WAVES

By Anne Hagner

Snappiest recruiting effort yet turned out by the armed services has just been released by the Navy Department in a pamphlet entitled "How to Serve Your Country in the WAVES or SPARS," now available at your nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement.

Concisely put, the booklet simultaneously gives information that is little known around the dormitories and offices where the feminine contingent gathers to swap ideas on joining one of the services, and also is thoroughly illustrated, just to leave no doubt in the mind of the prospective enlisted WAVE or SPAR as to what she will encounter.

Starting off with a message from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, the book follows through with exact definitions of the two units, each described as an organization of women whose job is to replace Navy and Coast Gnard men at shore stations.

"It won't be any picnic," is the warning. "It's not a part-time 'glamour' job—and it's not meant to be. You are as much a member of the service as any man with the fleet. It's full-time work. It will be hard work. But as you're the sort of woman who loves America and honors the brave men fightig to keep it free, it's work you'll be proud to do."

Schedule Outlined

With the would-be applicant convinced that the services involve more than just wearing a Mainbocher-designed uniform, the pamphlet carries on with information: the training schools where she will be sent at Government expense for indoctrination and training, and the schedule she will follow, harking back to college days.

"It's a real thrill when you first report for active duty. You're in the Navy now. Smartly uniformed, thoroughly trained, ready to take a man's place and do a man-size job. Whatever your work, you will carry the same responsibilities, exchange salutes and command the same respect as any other member of the uniformed forces. You'll be doing a job—not as a man or as a woman—but as an American!"

Where will you serve? Anywhere that you are most needed, within the continental United States. "You will not select the base where you will be stationed, but your request for service in a particular place will be given consideration as long as it does not conflict with the needs of the Navy or Coast Guard."

How will you live? That will depend on where you are stationed, says the booklet. In some places barracks are available and in others you may arrange for your own quarters.

Uniform Allowance

An entire page is devoted to the uniform, described as "$200 worth of clothes free!"

"When you arrive at training school as an enlisted WAVE or SPAR you will be provided with an allowance of $200 for uniforms and other clothing. The official uniform consists of 'everything that shows' except shoes and gloves. The cost—about $160 — is paid from the $200 allowance. The balance of about $40 is given you for shoes, underclothing and anything else you may need."

As for officers, the booklet reports that college women can earn commissions in the WAVES and SPARS. Minimum educational requirements are a college degree or two years of college work plus at least two years of aceptable business or professional experience. Two years of mathematics in high school or college are necessary for WAVE officers.

The only way a noncollege woman can win a commission is to come up "through the ranks."

Pay scale for officesr is the same as for men—$150 base pay and allowances, amounting to about $216 a month for ensigns; $166.67 base pay and allowances, totaling about $247 a month for lieutenants junior grade, and $200 base pay and allowances, amounting to $296 monthly, for full lieutenants. Officers are allowed $250 for uniforms.

The Washington Office of Naval Officer Procurement is at 1320 G Street Northwest.

Your Figure, Madame!

Screen Star Used To Teach Exercise

By Ida Jean Kain

You have a new exercise teacher — Mary Martin of the films. This lovely screen star used to make her living by teaching dancing and she had special classes for the ladies bent on getting their weight down.

"And I had great success in getting them to work," Mary reminisced, "but then, after working like mad, they would so often go on to a bridge luncheon and eat everything in sight. Of course, they couldn't reduce that way."

What did the overweights want? To slim down their hips and waists and to flatten their stomachs. And what about the thin girls? They wanted to build up their legs.

"But if I were making up an abridged exercise program," Mary went on, "there would be certain old standbys I couldn't think of leaving out. The 'side-scissors' is one." You have heard of the side-scissors—all you do is lie on your side on the floor, head pillowed on the under arm, other hand out chest level on floor for support, legs straight down, and swing legs from hips in a scisors-like action, one leg back, the other forward. If you just do it for 50 counts every day, you wouldn't have to worry about the girdle rationing. (The 50 counts means on each side.)

Another standby Mary particularly likes is this: Lie on your back on floor, arms extended straight up on floor overhead, legs straight down, and, without letting feet come off the floor, swing arms and trunk up until in sitting position, then bend over and touch fingers to outstretched toes. Finally, very slowly lower trunk backward until you are again in starting position. Repeat six times. If you have trouble keeping feet on floor, anchor them under heavy piece of furniture until you acquire better balance.

Any thin girl would get just as much as the overweight out of those exercises. They tone the all-important trunk and hip muscles. But, having been trained as a dancer, our ex-exercise teacher thinks there's nothing to beat ballet for developing beautiful legs. It's good legwork to stand with heels together, toes turned out at the sides, rise on toes, and lower on heels.

The value of exercise is appreciated by Paramount Screen Star Mary Martin, who used to conduct classes for women bent on reducing.

Or, try to stand with heel of one foot directly in front of toes of other, and vice versa. Then do your toe rising, heel lowering. Finally, stand with one foot advanced and go through the same paces. Those are very simple adaptations of ballet steps but you can do them and will benefit from them.

I asked Mary Martin whether Hollywood isn't going all-out for health these days, rather than glamour, and this is her reply:

"Any actress who does a radio program, visits the army camps, sells bonds, and runs a home, besides making pictures, has to watch out for her health!"

And while not many of us are having such drastic demands made of us, we are all under a certain amount of extra strain, and would do well to take Mary's tips. They are good.

THE PRINCESS OF GRATZEN

By Louis Arthur Cunningham

Synopsis

Meridel, Princess of Gratzen, and her cousins, Rosine and Pol Martin, flee from Europe and seek their uncle Rudolph, Baron de Morpin, in Canada. He is butler to Madame Fabre-Lusignan at the Chateau Philibert. Madame befriends the young people. Her favorite nephew, Michel, who has run away to France three years before, appears suddenly at the chateau as a German soldier escaped from a Canadian prison. He and his companion get away in his brother Roger's car. Meridel, who has known Michel in Europe and is in love with him, believes he has joined the Nazis and she consents to marry Roger, of the Canadian Air Force. Michel returns—he is in reality working for the British Intelligence.

Chapter XXIX

"Captain Fabre." Madame grinned at him slyly. "You wouldn't try to fool your old aunt, would you?"

Michel smiled resignedly. "I know it's no use. If you must know—and you know it anyway—I did not want to horn in on Roger's wedding. You see, I——"

"You happen to be in love with the girl he is about to marry."

The blue eyes met her dark, bright stare steadily, gravely. "Yes," he said.

"And she is in love with you."

He shook his head. "Oh, no, she is not in love with me."

"But I tell you I know she——"

"I am no fool, madam. If she is in love with me, how does she happen to be going up the altar steps with Roger?"

"You were always a stubborn mule, Michel. You just said you fooled us all——"

"Not you! I didn't fool you, did I? You went on believing in me, did you not?"

She saw the red temper rising in him and, knowing it of old, recalling many such incounters and their unhappy outcomes, she fought to control her own not too gentle spirit.

"Maybe I didn't believe so much as I—I loved you in spite of everything that seemed to be against you."

"That is what I mean. But it was not so with her."

"Can you expect a girl to go on caring for a man she met for a few hours on a mountain or something, in some Ruritanian land, long ago, even when that man seems beyond doubt to be a traitor and worse?"

"Yes," said Michel softly. "Yes, I can expect that. A mountain, you say, madame—but you do not know what a magic mountain; a Ruritanian land, you say—but you cannot dream what a magic land it was; for a few hours, you say, but you—you must know that such things as this are not measured in hours. We knew each other always; we were to love each other always."

"It was so said?"

"It was so understood."

"But Meridel—I am being a traitor to Roger now—I know Meridel has never ceased to care for you."

"I watched her tonight in the lovely bridal gown. I saw my brother bend and kiss her. I knew then it was time for me to go."

"Because your pride was hurt. Because you expected her to believe in you, no matter what happened."

"Not entirely that," he said, wearily. 'Roger loves her. He's a great lad, Roger—one of the best, the salt of the earth, and also one of the noblest of the noble breed with whom he flies. Well, suppose she still does care for me, can I come back now and——"

'You mean—you are stepping aside for Roger? You'd give up your——"

"The only great dream I ever had, madame," he said, and his voice was flat now, toneless. Like Oberleutenant Faber's voice. "I'm going away tonight—now. You are not to tell anyone that I was here. That is understood. When—when they are married I shall return."

"Why, you headstrong——"

"—— stubborn, thick - headed mule. Yes, I know it all and maybe I'm every bit of it. But that's the way it is, Tante Mimi—and that is the way it will be. I don't flatter myself I can take her from Roger and steal his happiness, but I shall not even run the risk."

He stood up. He came to her and kissed her. "It is goodby for only a little while. I have some time in Canada before I have to report again; I may even get a post here. I don't know."

"Don't go, Michel! Don't go!"

"What? You're running out of ammunition. You're turning soft on me again. These are new tactics, and clever one, but I have learned a trick or two myself and I will not fall for this. I shall go as I came—quietly. And you will not speak. Promise!"

The old eyes burned at him and there was no softness about her mouth, but that was only for a moment for suddenly it smiled—a rare, sweet smile.

"I promise, you mule—you lovable, splendid donkey. But I tell you it is a very foolish thing you do."

"Neither the first nor, I think, the last. Farewell, ma tante."

He retrieved the hat, turned at the door to smile at her, to show her the wild imps in his eyes. "We always quarrel, don't we?" he called. "And always make up."

Meridel and Roger walked over the big hill that lies between Philibert and the village of St. Didier des Montagnes. It was a narrow path among the great spruces and cedars that grew thickly on the mountainside. In winter the trail was usually closed by the drifted snow, but there had been an early thaw a few days before and now one could walk easily enough over the crust. They were on the way to the house of Gerard Chamberland, the government agent, to bring back Pol Martin and Rosine who had been invited there to have supper with the little Chamberlands.

The stars were dim, but the white track lay clearly marked through the darkness of the wood. From the time they left Philibert they had talked little. Both of them felt constraint, uneasiness. Roger, always ready with gay talk and laughter, was strangely silent. Meridel, walking along beside him, looked up at his shadowy profile and longed to say something that would break the tension. But she could find no words to say. And she thought, Is my heart empty of things to tell him—so soon empty? This is not the way of love.

He said at last, "You cried tonight, Meridel. Your tears fell on the lovely gown that is being made ready for your wedding. You did not think I saw you. It was when you left the room after my aunt had gone upstairs. You first looked at yourself in the mirror and then you cried. Why did you cry?"

"I—I do not know, Roger. I really do not know. Do not girls who are about to marry often cry?"

"Not like that. It was a different thing." He was silent for a moment. Then he said what madame had said that night after his departure: "Un qui aime; uno qui se laisse aimer." One who loves, one who lets herself be loved. Is it so with us, Meridel? I want to know."

"Oh, Roger, why do you ask me a thing like that? How can one know? How can one be sure?"

"The answer is in your heart, "I have looked there."

"And you have not found it."

She did not answer, but he knew from her silence that she had looked in vain.

(To Be Continued)

Check up on your manicure ABC's. Saturday is the day this trim girl has chosen for her regular manicure day. She is doing a thorough, neat job of removing old polish, because she is pressing over the nails for several minutes, a cotton pad that has been saturated in polish remover.

New Yoke Treatment

Marian Martin Pattern

Pattern 9251 may be ordered only in women's sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send 16 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Washington Post, Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth Street, New York, N. Y.

14 Women Meet, Start Sawmill, Make Go of It

Up in Turkey Pond, N. H., there is a sawmill that is manned entirely by women, bossed by Mrs. Laura Willey, 43-year old lumberjill who also runs the head saw and saw carriage.

Right now the women are working on the 7 million feet of trees that were reclaimed after blowing down in the great 1938 hurricane. Oddly enough, in this case nature did what the forest products industries are doing more and more today—like selective cutting, the hurricane blew down the mature and old trees . . . and like strip cutting, the hurricane blew down strips of trees but left other trees standing on either side to replant the area.

Winches, chains, cant hooks, log dogs and a lot of skill are required to get the logs from the mill slip up the runway to the head saw, across a sorting deck, and finally to storage bays, but the women seem to be making a success of it. One of them, Norma Webber, is only 18, but already she uses a pike pole like a regular lumberman.

Every one of them is working hard to get the lumber out to help win this war, and they won't go home til it's over, over there.

Never Soak Mushrooms

Fresh mushrooms require gentle brushing or a little scraping to make them ready for cooking. Never soak mushrooms in water, as that would destroy the flavor and make them too moist.

Common Courtesy

Pep Up Your Patriotism

By Grace Martin

This might be a good time to check up on your canteen manners.

The soldiers and sailors with whom you dance in canteens and at service dances have put their lives at your service. How good do you make the few hours you give to them?

Do you spend most of your time and attention on the good-looking boy whose footwork is expert and who will always be surrounded by girls? Or do you concentrate on making the evening a success for the backwoods boy who looks as awkward as he feels.

Is your conversation full of inane nothings and pointless questions about your soldier's life in camp? Or do you really take trouble to talk of things which will please and interest him?

Are you willing to exert yourself a little to make him feel not only at ease, but as though he had had a little contact with a friend?

Do you take the trouble to put on a really pretty frock? Or do you just "go as you are," without even a touch of fresh lipstick?

The dance some soldier or sailor has with you may be his last in America for a long time. time. Couldn't you pin a star on it for him?

Associated Press Feature

Butter Stretchers

To stretch your butter ration, soften 1 envelope gelatine in ¼-cup cold water, and dissolve thoroughly over hot water. Cut 1 pound of butter into small pieces, and heat over hot water, until soft enough to beat. But do not melt the butter. Add the dissolved gelatine and 1 teaspoon salt to one 14½-ounce can evaporated milk. Gradually whip the milk into the butter with beater until milk does not separate. Add coloring if desired. Pack in dish or container and place in refrigerator until hard.

Fresh milk may be substituted for the evaporated milk, in which case, use a pint of milk (preferably the top half of a quart bottle) and soften the gelatine in ¼-cup milk taken from that pint. This butter "spread" however, is not suggested for frying, sauteing, or greasing pans.

Your Baby and Mine

Bottle-Fed Baby Should Get As Much Milk as He Wants

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It should be obvious that in feeding a baby any kind of milk formula our attempt must be to imitate nature as nearly as possible.

Not only are formulas composed of food elemnts in the same proportions as one finds them in breast milk, but one allows more milk for a feeding than the baby may need, in case he may want more than the specified amount.

This is just as true of the solid foods. One must introduce food in teaspoonfuls, but as soon as it has been determined that the food will be well taken, its amount may be increased to a portion which satisfies the child's appetite.

Mrs. E. M. feels that babies are more often underfed than overfed. "My baby had the good fortune to be breast-fed and therefore he took all he wanted, as much as five ounces at a time the first week of life. Now, when I see an irritable, pale, sickly baby the suspicion haunts me that he is not one who is given all the food he wants until he refuses another bite."

I print this as a preliminary to a letter from Mrs. W. M. who wants just the specific information on amounts Mrs. E. M. deplores. "How much vegetable should my 8-month-old baby recieve, also, how much orange juice? Should he have more than one vegetable at the noon meal? And of what should the noon meal consist?

"He gets viosterol daily, 2 ounces of orange juice and the same of vegetable. I give him egg yolk when I have it and his formula contains 14 ounces of evaporated milk, 23 of water and 3 tablespoons of corn sirup. He weighs 19¼ pounds."

He is getting a very adequate amount of additional foods, in fact more than the average. One usually says 2 to 4 tablespoons of these solid foods with the hope that if the baby wants to eat more—and all the rest of the meal, too—it will not be denied to him.

His formula is all right. By the time the baby is 10 or 11 months old, you can increase the milk portion to 16 ounces and reduce the water portion to the same and use no more sirup.

The noon meal can consist of half a can of liver soup (made for babies) or an egg yolk, in addition to the vegetable feeding and perhaps a tablespoon or so of some starchy pudding or a plain gelatine; then the milk formula.

It depends on how well the baby takes his milk formula after he has eaten, just what portions will be served. They should not be so large as to spoil his appetite for his milk.

Our leaflet, "Feeding from Nine to Twelve Months," suggests the schedule of foods and suggested portions for babies of these ages. It may be had by sending a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Reason There Is So Much Heart Disease in U. S. Traced to Fact That People Are Living Longer

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

We have been told and warned over and over again of late about the increase of heart disease in the United States and the effect of high-pressure living. Often as I have to read these reports, I can say in the first place they do not scare me and in the second place, I think they are quite unnecessary. They are, in most instances, scareheads.

Dr. Clendening

We have more heart disease nowadays because more people attain an age in which heart disease is prevalent than in previous generations. In strenuous times like these, it is impossible to be worried all the time about your individual health when there is work to be done.

In my experience, anyway, there are certain people who can make any amount of effort without putting any strain on their hearts and, on the other hand, there are certain people who are very subject to heart upsets from the stress and excitement of daily life.

This is not to say that the stress and excitement of high-pressure living does not have an effect upon the heart, especially on that form of heart disease which is the most frequent cause of death and disability nowadays.

This form is angina pectoris, or spasm of the arteries of the heart. These arteries are under nervous control and the nerves controlling them are connected with the central nervous system, so naturally in periods of emotional stress or business excitement the arteries go into spasm. The fact that men, more often than women, suffer from angina pectoris is an indication that business responsibilities have something to do with the condition.

A recent, interesting report by Drs. Schwartz and Harvey of New York, indicates that in the financial area of New York the number of cases of angina pectoris and coronary artery heart disease is much greater than in the general population. They have made exact studies of a number of their cases.

The age incidence of their patients shows that the highest number of patients fall within the age period of 45 to 49, which is a little earlier than might be expected. The incidence remains high until about 60, when it drops sharply. When you get to the age of 65, no matter what you are doing you are not in any more danger of angina pectoris than if you were 35.

Heart Attacks and Business

The monthly incidence shows unquestionably the relationship between heart attacks and the volume of business. The largest number occurred in the month of December, which is the busiest month on the stock exchange and in most other businesses. The month of lowest incidence is April, from which is rises gradually so that July, August and September are reasonably high months.

The daily incidence also reflected the same trend. The largest number occurred on Monday and Tuesday. From then there is a sharp drop to Thursday, then a rise on Friday and then another drop. The day on which the fewest number of heart attacks occur among businessmen is Sunday.

The hourly incidence shows the largest number of attacks at 11 o'clock in the morning and the lowest number at 3 to 5 in the morning. It would seem to be indicated that if you get past lunchtime on Wall Street, you are fairly safe for the rest of the day.

Flattering Crochet Is Warmth Insurance

7479

By Alice Brooks

Don't worry about getting cold feet. Crochet either of these slippers in knitting worsted, crocheting sturdy soles of rags. The bootees are grand for lounging—the slippers the thing for the bedroom. Pattern 7479 contains directions for slippers in small, medium and large sizes; stitches; materials needed.

Send 11 cents in coins for pattern. Write plainly name, address, pattern number.

Send your order to The Washington Post, Household Arts Department, 259 West Fourteenth Street, New York, N. Y.

What women can do to aid VICTORY

A fine Victory Food for all the family is Schneider's Dan-Dee Enriched White Bread. It contains all the basic energy-food value of white bread plus extra amounts of Vitamin B1, niacin, (another B vitamin) and iron. These factors are all needed in proper amounts to maintain health. See that your family gets plenty every day. Remember—Bread is Basic!

Schneider's

DAN-DEE

Enriched

White Bread

Chas. Schneider Baking Co.

THE NEWER Jelleff's

Unexpected find!

16 inch—the suit-silhouette

Girdle

$5.95

Down-stretch back is slimming, firming, "Lastex" yarn, rayon-and-cotton, that gives your back a trim, young line; lightly boned 15" front is controlling rayon satin, and talon closed. Sizes 25 to 32.

Sarazen Bandeau (sketched), $2

Jelleff's—Corset Shop, Second Floor

THE NEWER Jelleff's

Sports Shop Suits . . . . California-Made

"Califashions" . . . tailored by Anthony of California and only to be found at Jelleff's in Washington.

100% Pure Wools

$19.95

Herringbone Weave in beige, blue, aqua.
Homespun Weave in beige, powder, red, gold, Kelly green.

Sizes 10 to 20

"9 to 5" Shirt is Tailored white, pink, maize, beige rayon; 32 to 38.....$3.95

"Date" Blouse is Tucked new, corded neckline. White, beige, pink, blue, maize rayon crepe; 32 to 38. $5.95

"Tailleur" Blouse is Bow Tied white, yellow, pink, powder washable rayon crepe; 30 to 38....$3.95

"Change about" Blouses

$3.95 to $5.95

Ideal suit for now and through Spring and Summer! So simply cut, so all-around wearable day in and day out with dressy and tailored shirts, bright and white shirts. Needless to say, you will find the "makings" of many smart and different-looking costumes in variety of shirts and blouses to be found in

Jelleff's—Sport Shop, Third Floor

Dutch Admiral Has Prophet's Reputation

In the CAPITAL SPOTLIGHT

Need for Aides Continues In District Hospitals

Admiral Helfrich Here En Route to Far East

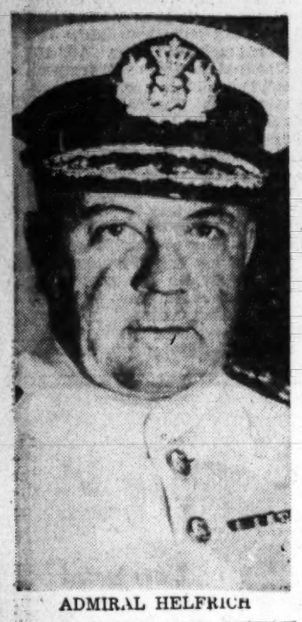
Commander of Netherlands Forces in East Is Optimistic About War's Outcome

—By Patricia Grady

The personification of coordination, Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich combines in his rotund person the leadership over army, naval and air forces of the Netherlands over three-quarters of the globe.

Commander in Chief of the Netherlands Forces in the East, Admiral Helfrich has as his domain regions stretching from the west coast of this hemisphere to the east coast of Africa. This twinkling-eyed admiral with the infectious gaiety is proud of his Netherlands, of the compact little fleet he commands, of the courageous record of the Netherlands Indies.

Washington is one of the stops on the globe-encircling trip of this "hit-'em-first" admiral, who for many months before the Japanese attack was pointing out the handwriting on the Pacific wall. With his headquarters in Ceylon, Admiral Helfrich left India in November, flew to Cairo, then to London, where he saw his sovereign, Queen Wilhelmina, then to Canada, where he called on Princess Juliana, now in Washington. Next week he will leave for New York and from there he will continue on with the air itinerary that includes Australia and finally his headquarters in Colombo.



ADMIRAL HELFRICH

"The big battle of the fleets has not yet come in this war," he points out. "I think, that rather than one decisive battle like Jutland, there will probably be a series of small forces meeting each other. But the assertion of air-minded zealots notwithstanding, naval forces will continue to play a large part in the struggle. How can it be otherwise?"

Believes in Coordination

A firm believer in the coordination of which he is an example, Admiral Helfrich knows that no one arm of the United Nations force will alone win the war. It must be an amalgamation and one in which we will not underrate the strength and ability of our enemies. "The Japanese fleet is very efficient," he explains on the basis of his first-hand experience with them as Commander in Chief of the United Nations Naval Forces in the South Pacific. "The coordination with their air arm was extremely effective. Naturally they have had losses, great losses. But we cannot be sure exactly what they are. If we take the most optimistic of the official figures, we find that we have sunk over the full strength of the Japanese navy. We must be a little cautious about figures."

Always a realist, it was Admiral Helfrich who pleaded that we strike the Japanese before they struck us. This was when the imperial forces moved into French Indo-China. But at that time the United States was neutral and still hoping to fend off a war in the Pacific. Although he fears too much optimism, he is most encouraging about the outcome of the war. For some months he has been predicting that we would dispense with Germany this year and Japan by the end of next year. "But it is dangerous to make predictions," he says with a laugh.

Admiral Helfrich, who took over command of the United Nations Naval Forces in the South Pacific following the resignation of Admiral Hart, has only the most complimentary of statements to make about the United States Naval Forces that served under his command. "They are well trained and well disciplined and even during those early months at least the equal of Japanese units," he comments.

Family in East Indies

This personable naval officer, who speaks English fluently and well except when he gets excited, is able to keep his sense of humor in the midst of personal tragedy. Like other East Indies' officials, he left his wife and family in the Indies when he was ordered out. His wife and four children, including 21-year-old twin girls, he last saw in Java, where he received his instructions to flee the country.

Though dramatic, the admiral's escape from the Indies was without incident. He went directly to Colombo, which he has made his headquarters since the spring of last year. He was among the handful of leaders selected to leave the Indies and carry on the war from the outside.

"On May 14, 1940," says Admiral Helfrich, "the Netherlanders went out to sea. That was a day never to be forgotten—the tide was very low. But who knows better than the people of our islands, the men who live along the coast and sail the seas, the profound truth of the time-hallowed saying: 'The tide will turn.'"

Clarence Parker Named to Serve On Committees

Clarence Leroy Parker, member of the executive committee of the Washington Figure Skating Club, has been appointed to serve on two national committees of the U. S. Figure Skating Association. The local group, along with over 100 skating clubs in the U. S. and 30 in Canada, is affiliated with the national association. Mr. Parker will represent the District of Columbia on the membership committee which passes on all club applications, both in the U. S. and Canada; and the carnival and sanctions committee.

At the last meeting of the board of the Washington club Miss Elizabeth Parkinson and Dr. Edgar McPeak were elected to serve.

A number of Washington skaters are working toward entering competitions in the near future. The Eastern States competitions will be held February 19 and 20 at the New Haven Skating Club, New Haven Arena. The national championships will be March 6, 7 and 8 at the Skating Club of New York. Some of the free-skating events will be held in Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Garvan Entertained

Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, widow of the one-time alien property custodian, is renewing old friendships during her brief stay in Washington, having come down from New York for the opening of Congress. She will return today.

Mrs. McCeney Werlich entertained a company of 12 at dinner last evening for Mrs. Garvan, who is a friend of long standing. Afterward, Bobby Werlich, son of the hostess, and Miss Marcia Garvan, daughter of the guest of honor, went on to the Stage Door Canteen as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Snowden Hill, who were occupying the "angel's table" for the evening.

Informal Togs On Tap for Dance Tonight

White ties, tails and flowing evening gowns will be "frozen" in their respective closets this evening when the sons and daughters of officers assigned to the Army Ground Forces Headquarters at the Army War College will don informal togs, board the nearest streetcar or bus with their destination the monthly "hop" at the Officers' Club on the post.

Heretofore the monthly affair has been formal. But those were the days before the "pleasure-driving" ban by OPA. Tonight, in street dresses, swing skirts, business suits and similar informal attire, the boys and girls will scramble aboard crowded buses or street cars, ride to the Seventh Street wharves, hike several blocks, probably to arrive unscathed at Washington Barracks and say, "Ho-hum; c'est la guerre."

Gabriel Turbay Coming to U. S.

Dr. Gabriel Turbay, Foreign Minister of Colombia and until recently Colombian Ambassador to this country, is leaving Barranquilla by plane on Monday for this country. He is coming to Baltimore to undergo medical treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Dr. Turbay left Washington in September when he was named Foreign Minister. His successor has not been appointed.

He lost his heart at the Stage Door Canteen and also his partner last evening when Robert Gilbert, above, of the Navy, cut in on Sergt. Ned Ryan and took his partner, Miss Estelyn Miller, away.

Entertainment to Be Given for Scotch Society

The 148th birthday anniversary of Scotland's famous poet, Robert Burns, celebrated wherever Scotsmen are gathered, will be the occasion of a concert and dance to be given by the St. Andrews Society of Washington on January 25 at Pierce Hall, Fifteenth and Harvard Streets.

Proceeds of the entertainment will go to the Scottish Clans Evacuation Clan, which aids in the evacuation of children from the bombed areas of Great Britain to greater safety in the Highlands of Scotland.

Sir Ronald Campbell, British Minister, will speak at the event, which begins at 8 o'clock, and there will be the piping-in of the Haggis by a guard of bagpipe players and clansmen armed with Lochaber axes. A recitation of Burns' address to a Haggis will be given by Col. Henry G. Perring of Baltimore. Dancing will be to the tunes of a Vienna Syncopators Orchestra, with Highland reels and strathspeys.

Typical Scottish refreshments will be served, including the famous meat pies of the Balmoral Baking Co. of New York.

Mrs. Robert Lister Macneil is chairman of the Scottish Clans Evacuation Plan for merica.

Royal Olmerts On Honeymoon

Royal E. Olmert and his bride, the former Miss Lucy Ann Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eppa L. Norris, who were married on Monday in the rectory of the Church of the Nativity, are now on a short wedding trip. The bridegroom, son of Joseph Olmert, is in the armed forces and has recently returned from Australia.

Miss Florence M. Hartman was the bride's only attendant and Kenneth Olmert was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the Columbia Country Club.

Betty Rogers Is Engaged to Leon LeBuffe

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rogers announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Rogers, to Leon A. LeBuffe, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. LeBuffe, also of Washington.

Miss Rogers was graduated from Georgetown Visitation Convent Junior College and later attended George Washington University. Mr. LeBuffe is an alumnus of St. John's College High School and will be graduated from Georgetown University this month. He is a member of the United States Army Reserve and is waiting call to active duty.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Post Staff Photos—Kelley

There isn't much room for jitterbugging on the crowded floors of the Stage Door Canteen these days, but now and then a hardy couple, such as the one at the left, try a bit of it anyway.

Purely Personal

Col. Armando Revoredo, Air Attache of the Peruvian Embassy, is spending a few days in New York at the Waldorf-Astoria.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edward Gallagher, because of the ban on pleasure driving, have canceled their cocktail party which was to have taken place tomorrow afternoon.

* * * *

Mrs. Benjamin Smith has returned to her apartment at the Wardman Park from Biloxi, Miss., where she has been visiting her son, Col. H. B. Smith, and his family for the holidays.

* * * *

Squadron Leader John Frost, RAF, and Mrs. Frost, with their young son, John Frost, jr., arrived in Washington yesterday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Platt of Chevy Chase. Until recently, the British flyer has been stationed in Washington. His new post is to be Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Frost and their son have just come from London to be with him.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall have left their home on Tracy Place to spend several days at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

* * * *

Mrs. Leland Harrison is in New York for a few days' stay at the Westbury.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan B. Scott are spending several days in New York at the Hampshire House.

* * * *

Lieut. Loren E. Heron, U. S. N. R., of Roslyn Estates, Long Island, who is visiting his sister, Mrs. A. P. Reeves, at her home on Jocelyn Street, was joined yesterday by Mrs. Heron. Mrs. Heron is the former Miss Mary Hitchcock Ramsay, granddaughter of the late Admiral Francis Ramsay of Washington.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Beverly Mason and their two sons, Billy and Randolph, have returned to Washington after a visit to Mrs. Mason's father, Dr. Archibald C. Randolph, at Grafton, Middleburg, Va. Mrs. Mason will make another visit to her father later in the season to take part in the fox hunting.

* * * *

Mrs. David P. Godwin, who is better known to the literary world as Thelma Strabel, author of "Reap the Wild Winds" and other novels, has left Washington for New York. She will spend the winter at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butterworth are among the Washingtonians in New York at the Barbizon-Plaza Hotel.

G. B. Venners Living Here

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blackburn Venner have returned from their wedding trip and are now making their home with Mrs. Venner's mother, Mrs. Edmund Monroe Anderson.

Mrs. Venner is the former Miss Lucy Johnston Anderson. Mr. Venner is the son of Mrs. William Ashton Venner and the late Mr. Venner of Washington.

The marriage took place recently in St. Paul's Church. The Rev. Ernest A. DeBordenave officiated.

Mrs. Hesse Weds Lloyd D. Wright In Simple Rites

With a small group of close friends in attendance, Mrs. Lucretia Armour Hesse of New York and New Canaan, Conn., and Lloyd Dell Wright of Washington, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich, were married Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Wardman Park Hotel.

The Rev. Richard M. Mussen of the Sherwood Presbyterian Church officiated.

The bride wore a brown costume suit with orchids and a bird of paradise hat. Mrs. R. Carl Mitchell was her only attendant and J. Kirby McDonough of Dallas, Tex., served as best man.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wright will live at 4801 Connecticut Avenue.

Miss Fleishman Is Engaged To Mr. M. E. Lewis

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleishman announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Fleishman, to Melvin Earl Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Lewis.

The bride is on the faculty of the public schools of the District of Columbia and holds a bachelor of arts degree from George Washington University.

Mr. Lewis is on the accounting staff of the Public Utilities Commission and is completing graduate work at American University. He also holds degrees from Southeastern and George Washington Universities. Mr. Lewis is a member of the board of the Louis D. Brandeis, Zionist District, a vice president of Hapoel Mizrachi of America and vice chairman and treasurer of the Civilian Defense Committee of the Sixteenth Street Highlands Area. He is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social sciences honorary fraternity.

Alice Erickson Recent Bride

Miss Alice C. Erickson of Washington, and Lieut. Harry H. Baker formerly of Washington, now a student in the United States Army School for Special Service at Lexington, Va., were married in Lexington at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening. The Rev. J. J. Murray officiated.

Lieut. Baker, who is well known in Washington theatrical circles, is now taking special military training at the Army School on the campus of historic Washington and Lee University in Lexington.

Mrs. Baker's former home was in Tacoma, Wash.

Work of Nurse's Aide Corps Lauded by Hospital Heads

That the Nurse's Aide Corps of the Red Cross is contributing one of the outstanding services of any group of women in the war effort, is the consensus among superintendents and heads of Washington's hospitals.

Coincident with the opening this month of four new classes for the aides, was the high praise awarded the corps yesterday by Administrator James C. Caposella of Emergency Hospital.

"The work of this group of women cannot be over-emphasized," he said. "In fact, without their valuable assistance in the past few months, I don't know how the hospitals could have carried on."

Mr. Caposella pointed out that in many instances during the present emergency, much essential work in wards and dispensaries would have gone undone, without the help of the aides.

"Every woman who possibly can, should inestigate this opportunity to help," he continued, "for the dearth of registered nurses is bound to grow worse this year, as the armed forces call for more and more medical personnel."

From the chief administrators at Gallinger, and Providence came similar sentiments for the more than 550 women in Washington who are actively engaged in this service.

Sister Rosa of Providence, one of the Southeast institutions where new recruits are badly needed, expressed hope that her staff of 15 or 20 aides might be doubled this year.

"The women who have helped us here have been of the finest type," she said. "They have been most untiring, most faithful and most helpful. I only hope that we may enlist more and more of their kind into the service."

With the need for nurse's aides growing greater each day, the District Red Cross is going forward with a renewed drive for membership. In the Southeast section of the city, a class for volunteers will open on January 25 at Chamberlain Vocations School.

Three other new classes will open this month. Two will be held at Walsh House, the first from 2 to 4 o'clock, beginning January 14, and the second from 10 to 12 o'clock, beginning January 18. A class at Freedmen's Hospital will open on January 18.

Women entering the corps are required to have 80 hours of training, 45 of which must be taken in actual hospital work. The training period over, the aides are committed to a minumum of 150 hours of work a year in the hospital to which they are assigned.

So important has their work become, that OCD has requested that aides do not accept any civilian defense duties, with the exception of membership in the emergency medical field units. Aides serving on the latter units are on call in event of air raids.

Mrs. Hugh Rowan, chairman of the Nurse's Aides Corps in the District, has maintained a steady routine of graduating three classes every four weeks, and membership is rapidly approaching the 600 mark.

In addition to the general hospitals in which the aides are trained and serve most of their required hours, they do assignments at special hospitals, including Children's Columbia, Home for Incurables, Mount Alto and the Army-Navy Blood Center.

Couple to Live In Manhattan

After a brief wedding trip here, Mr. and Mrs. Vito Francis Reciniello have gone to New York, where the bridegroom is stationed with the United States Coast Guard.

Their marriage took place on New Year's Eve at the Methodist Church in Waynesboro, Va. The bride is the former Miss Susan Louise Spilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spilman of Forest Hill, Waynesboro, and Mr. Reciniello is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Reciniello of South Ozone Park, Long Island, N. Y. Officiating at the 8:30 ceremony was the Rev. Arthur McKinley Reynolds.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ancestral wedding gown of ivory satin trimmed with seed pearls and lace, a court train and her veil of illusion was showered with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and tea roses. Her matron of honor was her grandmother, Mrs. William A. Moon. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Clarence Kite, jr., Miss Rachel Young and Miss Edith Michael of Staunton. Anthony Reciniello of Rome, N. Y., acted as best man. Groomsmen were William Bruce Spilman, Nicholas Reciniello, jr., and Edwin Davisson.

The bridegroom attended New York University. The bride attended Fairfax Hall Junior College at Waynesboro, the University of Iowa, the University of Virginia, and the Feagin School of Dramatic Art in New York City.

Mrs. Taylor Leaves

Mrs. Myron C. Taylor has returned to New York City after spending several days with Mr. Taylor, who has an apartment at the Mayflower. He is the President's special representative to the Vatican.

Virginia Girl Married to H. H. Jennings, jr.

Purcellville, Va., Jan. 7.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Yvonne Curtis Paxson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Paxson of Purcellville, and Henry Herbert Jennings, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jennings of Middleway, W. Va. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock Sunday evening in the Market Street Methodist Church, Winchester, Va. Only the immediate families attended the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. R. W. Vanderberry, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was unattended, was attired in a gray wool suit with fuchsia accessories and wore a corsage of orchids. She is a graduate of Lincoln High School and attended Mary Washington College and the National Art School in Washington.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Handley High School in Winchester and of the Shenandoah Military Academy. He is now in defense work.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was given the couple and a few friends by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Halvosa at their home in Winchester.

Mary Hunter Engaged to Wed

Col. and Mrs. Rosser L. Hunter of Edgemoor, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Anne Hunter, to Lieut. (j. g.) James Creighton McKay, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. McKay of Washington.

Miss Hunter is a senior at the University of Maryland and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Lieutenant McKay was graduated from Cornell University and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. No date has been set for the wedding.

Helen Laughlin Engaged to Wed LeRoy O. King, Jr.

Col. and Mrs. Robert V. Laughlin of Fort Lewis, Wash., and Chevy Chase, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen March Laughlin, to LeRoy Ordway King, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. King of Georgetown.

Miss Laughlin attended Sidwell Friends School in Washington and is now a sophomore at the University of Washington in Seattle. She is a member of Alpha Phi international fraternity.

Mr. King is a senior in engineering at Lehigh University and enlisted last year in the Navy under the V-7 plan. Immediately following graduation he will enter officer training school.

Colonel Laughlin was recently transferred from Washington as judge advocate of the Second Army at Fort Lewis.

Couple Return From Honeymoon

Now making their home in Washington are Mr. and Mrs. Fred John Melisano, who have just returned from their wedding trip.

The former Miss Christine Onofry and Mr. Melisano were married in St. Peter's Church at a 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony with the Rev. Charles W. Nelson officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lucia E. Onofry. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Silvio Onofry and Mr. Melisano is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Melisano of New York City. Best man was Pat Simonetti of New York.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Amy Southwell To Be Married

Mrs. Leo S. Hamburger of Newton, Mass., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Amy Southwell, to Ensign Palmer S. Chambers, jr., United States Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer S. Chambers of Sewickley, Pa.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wellesley College in 1937 and studied at the Royal College of Music in London. Ensign Chambers received his degree form Yale and is attached to the Navy Department here.

CHARM CLINIC By Colette

If teen-age wants to appear older—
Do place straight, severe lines about the face and neck. Use cold colors.
Don't—
—Do
Don't wear gay, youthful round lines or bright warm colors.
Chicago Sun Syndicate

Fight Against Leprosy in Africa To Be Described in Talks Here

That there is more than one battle of Africa and that, crucial though the military one is, the others have been going on for decades and will be going on for decades after military victory is assured, will be the theme of Mrs. Julia Lake Kellersberger who speaks to two Washington audiences on Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Kellersberger's first address on "The Battle of Africa" will be in the Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church at the morning service; her second will be before the monthly meeting of the Washington Auxiliary of the American Mission to Lepers, of which Mrs. G. C. D. Townshend is president, in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church at 10:30 Monday morning.

Mrs. Kellersberger is promotional secretary of the American Mission to Lepers and the wife of Dr. Eugene R. Kellersberger, the mission's general secretary and an authority in the fields of leprosy and African sleeping sickness. Dr. Kellersberger has worked for 24 years as medical missionary in the Congo, where Mrs. Kellersberger joined him as a bride in 1930. Together they founded the Bibanga Agricultural Leper Colony and planted the first chaulmoogra trees ever to be cultivated in Africa. (The oil of the chaulmoogra fruit is the best specific treatment now known for leprosy.) These and her other Africa experiences she has written about in two books, "Congo Crosses" and "God's Ravens."

The American Mission to Lepers, Inc., with national headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, is an organization having an independent board of directors but acting as the auxiliary body of all Protestant missions which carry on a ministry anywhere in the world for people with leprosy. It customarily gives financial aid to approximately 100 mission stations in 29 countries. Although 21 of these stations are at present temporarily out of communication, the mission is called upon for a full schedule of aid to the remaining 79 stations where the costs have been made greater than ever, and supplies and staff harder to find on account of the war.

The directors of the mission also expect conquered areas, such as Burma, Thailand, occupied China and the Philippine Islands to emerge from Japanese occupation sooner than is sometimes thought, and they are accordingly building up a "reconstruction fund" to meet the debts, repairs and other dire needs under which the occupied stations will then be suffering.

SPECIAL!
WARM STOCKINGS
Made of 100% Spun Nylon

$1.85 Value $1.35 pr.

They look like winter sport stockings. They're toastly warm but not scratchy. They fit well, wear well, launder easily and dry quickly. Perfect for country wear, your war job or cold days in town. Two styles—plain and ribbed effect. Also in white or uniform blue. Sizes 8½ to 10½.

Street Floor—Hosiery

Kann's
"The Avenue"—7th, 8th and 9 Sts.

News of the Women's Clubs

By Genevieve Reynolds

Only a war could change the lingo of the high-powered fashionists or style experts. Remember everything was "ultra, ultra smart or chic; those mad, gay hats." Now the line of chatter has turned to wearability, craftsmanship, quality and government regulations.

GENEVIEVE REYNOLDS

In fact, until World War II slapped us in the face, the fashion experts were troubling their pretty heads to find new terms. Now the smart gals of the fashion world who once wrinkled their brows over how to make every woman look well dressed have discarded the frothy pattern. Looks as if they are going to be real assets in the emergency.

All this was evidenced at the recent monthly meeting of the Washington Regional Group of the Fashion Group, Inc. The local regional group, which came into existence last year with the small nucleus of seven, now is getting on its legs, as it were. Miss Marshall Adams is the regional director, Miss Katherine Cleveland treasurer and Miss Helen Voght secretary. There are approximately 30 members in the local organization and is growing daily as more and more fashion experts team up with the Government and move to Washington.

Instead of concentrating on high styles, the local group shows signs of becoming an efficient filtering agency. That is, it will interpret Government policy to you and me. Miss Meredith Howard will serve as liaison officer between the Government and embassy groups. Mrs. Alice Perkins, a member of the staff of Women's Wear, is the voluntary contact officer between stores and Government.

Such matters as transportation, fabrics, durability and careful buying will be stressed by the members. In fact, Miss Hazel Howard of the OWI News Bureau emphasized those points at the group's meeting this week when she appeared as principal speaker.

Members of the Washington Regional Group are made up of the fashion editors of the local papers, representatives from retail stores, trade publications and Government agencies. Working in conjunction with Fashion Group, Inc.—composed of more than 3000 members—the local group is sprouting new ideas daily.

Did You Know That . . .?

"The League of American Pen Women in the District of Columbia," by Elizabeth Simons Tilton, is just off the press. It is the only historically complete recital of the founding and development of the league within the District and the influences which led to organizing of the National League of American Pen Women. Artistically bound in blue and gold, the appearance of the book invites reading of the great human story, which in 274 pages covers the period from 1897 through 1942.

Chock full of human interest as well as historical data, the story revolves around the vivid personalities of the founders and league presidents. The White House and several of its mistresses walk across the pages of this book. Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has a prominent place, having joined the league several years ago and also having extended many gracious social attentions to its members. In addition, you'll find an account of the distinguished role that the league played in World War I.

Members of the book's publication committee included Mary Meek Atkeson Moore, Maidy N. Campbell, Leona Patterson Yiller, Nellie Walker Irish, Peal Eley Seal, Annable Glenn Lawyer and Elizabeth Simons Tilton.

A talk on the benefits to which Coast Guardmen and their families are entitled will be given for the wives of men in the service and others interested in the subject, by Lieut. Comdr. William H. Carroll of the Coast Guard Budget and Planning Section, at headquarters, 1300 E Street Northwest, Monday afternoon, January 11 at 1:30 p. m.

In his talk Commander Carroll will give a detailed explanation of the procedure to be followed should the family of a Coast Guardsman be faced with any one of several emergencies. He will analyze the operations of Coast Guard Welfare and the work the women of this organization are doing to relieve the officers at headquarters so that they may be released for other necessary duties.

In addition to the talk by Commander Carroll, there will be a regular monthly business meeting of the Washington Unit of Coast Guard Welfare at which Mrs. Rufus B. Lank, chairman of the unit, will preside. Assisting Mrs. Lank are Mrs. Leo Robbins, treasurer; Mrs. Irwin J. Stephens, secretary, and Mrs. Russell J. Roberts, welfare chairman. Mrs. Roberts will give an extended report on the organization's accomplishments during December, one of its most active months.

Mrs. Frank Pollio, entertainment chairman, will outline her program for a series of district teas to take place within the next month. These teas will be given in the various sections of Washington expressly for the members of the unit and their friends.

* * * *

Bring out your best bib and tucker. Monday and Tuesday calendars are chock full of interesting places to go. For example, there's the WOMAN'S NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CLUB'S luncheon 12:30 o'clock at the clubhouse, honoring the gals of the press. That's Monday. Also, slated for the same day are the AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN—Washington branch's tea. At that time Dr. Ruth Henderson, senior specialist in the Office of Education, will speak on "The National Program for the Education of the Children of Working Mothers." Judge Fay L. Bentley will be the hostess. Then the College Park Branch of the A. A. U. W. is meeting 8 p. m. on the University of Maryland campus. Speakers will be Mrs. Ruth Wilson Tyron, editor of the A. A. U. W. Hostesses are Mrs. Judson Haney, Mrs. Arthur Harding, Miss Marian Johnson, Mrs. Allen J. Fisher and Mrs. John G. Jenkins.

On Tuesday the women scribes will turn out full strong at the WOMEN'S NATIONAL PRESS CLUB'S supper meeting, 6:30 o'clock at the Willard Hotel. All will be there to fire questions at two of the honored guests, Clare Boothe Luce and Winifred Stanley—the two new glamour girls of the Congress.

* * * *

North Carolina's new member of Congress, Representative Cameron M. Morrison, who had served his State as Governor and Senator before entering the House of Representatives this year, will be the center of attraction, along with Mrs. Morrison, at the annual Congressional Night reception and dance of the North Carolina Society Saturday night, January 16, at the Shoreham Hotel.

Officers and members of the Board of Governors of the Society will entertain the congressional party at an informal reception in a suite at the Shoreham prior to the formal reception to begin in the ballroom at 9:30 p. m., Dr. Emery Woodall, society president, announced.

A number of young officers from North Carolina, stationed in the various branches of the armed services here, will be special guests of the society for the formal reception and dance, Dr. Woodall said.

The congressional delegation to be honored at the function will be composed of Senator and Mrs. Josiah W. Bailey, Senator and Mrs. Robert R. Reynolds, Representative and Mrs. Robert L. Doughton, Representative and Mrs. A. L. Bulwinkle, Representative and Mrs. Herbert C. Bonner, Representative and Mrs. Harold D. Cooley, Representative and Mrs. William O. Burgin, Representative and Mrs. Morrison, and Representatives John H. Kerr, Graham A. Barden, John H. Folger, Carl T. Durham, Zebulon Weaver and J. Bayard Clark.

* * * *

Mrs. Nathan B. Williams will be hostess to members of Chapter B, P. E. O., at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, at her home, 3917 McKinley Street. Assisting her will be her daughter, Miss Helen B. Williams, Mrs. E. O. Woodruff, and Miss Marion Woodruff.

Following a business session including committee reports, a program on Latin America will be given, which will include a discussion of the "Religions, Ancient and Modern," by Miss Josephine Jones, and a paper on "Mexico," by Miss Williams.

The luncheon which usually precedes the meeting will be dispensed with this month, it was announced, and the cost donated to the Red Cross. The birthday fund has also been diverted to that organization.

Committee reports will include the national defense report by Mrs. Sidney R. Jacobs, and a resume of the educational projects at Cottey College, the junior college for girls located at Nevada, Mo., which is owned and operated by the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

* * * *

The American Women's Voluntary Services will conduct a standard Red Cross nutrition course at headquarters, 2170 Florida Avenue Northwest, beginning Monday, from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Malcolm Moss, head of the A. W. V. S. training classes in nutrition, states that 10 classes complete the 20-hour course. Registrants will meet every Monday and Wednesday through February 10.

Mrs. John Hader, nutrition expert, who has had wide experience and intensive training in this subject both in this country and abroad, will conduct the classroom work. Each day following the lecture period, A. W. V. S. nutrition aides will give demonstrations of methods in cooking in order to retain food values and vitamins.

Registration for the course is now open. Phone the A. W. V. S. nutrition department, or the registration desk, DUpont 1478.

Confederate Groups To Honor 3 Heroes

Honoring three Southern heroes, Gen. Robert E. Lee, Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson, and Mathew Fontaine Maury, Confederate organizations in Washington will entertain with a program at the Confederate Memorial Hall, 1322 Vermont Avenue Northwest at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Judge Pleasant D. Gold of the Board of Veterans Appeals will give an adress in which he will evaluate the qualities of these soldiers in the light of present-day military requirements.

Music will precede the address, and a social hour will follow. Mrs. Harold Walbridge Robbins, division president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will preside. The public has been invited.

'Yolka' to Be Given In Russian Church

The annual "Yolka" (Christmas tree) will be given by the St. Nicholas Sisterhood of the St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church at 4 p. m. tomorrow at St. Thomas Hall, Eighteenth and Church Streets Northwest.

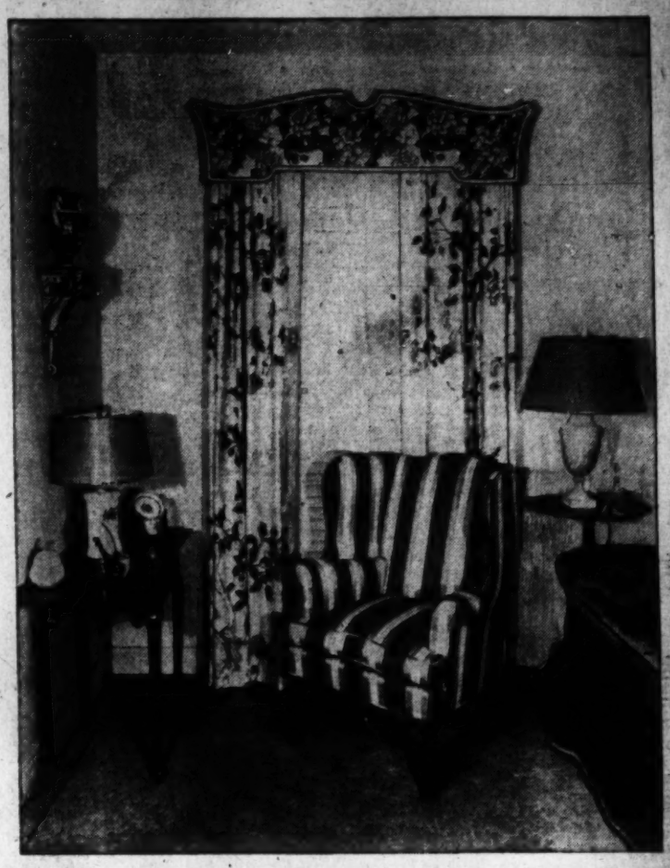
The program will include recitations and singing by the young folk, the singing of the traditional Christmas carols by the Russian church choir, and numbers by singers from the Club Balalaika. Proceeds will go to the American Red Cross. Tea and Russian pastry will be served.

To Mark Birthday

The Rev. Seth R. Brooks will be the guest speaker at the fortieth birthday celebration of Katherine Montgomery Chapter, D. A. R., Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Clarence A. Weaver, 1614 Q Street. A special musical program has been arranged. Mrs. Alice Weaver Newhard, regent, will preside.

For An Old Corner

Here pictured is a pleasant solution for the furnishing of an odd corner back of the sofa. The comfortable striped chair nd table make this a convenient and attractive retreat for sewing, reading or catching your breath in the midst of a busy day.



Bring Your Garden Indoors

Of course the Christmas holly, mistletoe, and other holiday greens have long since gone to their reward. But didn't they brighten up your window, the hall table, the bare spot over the mantel? The colorful reds and greens are apt to be sadly missed—and the furtive and watery January sun is no cheer-spreader!

Why not blow yourself to a post-holiday morale-lifter, and make it a plant? Just to prove that you're no piker when it comes to cheer-spreading, make it a hardy blossoming plant. These varieties are apt to be more on the prima donna side than the foliage types, but the bright blooms will more than repay you for your trouble.

Hardy blossoming plants include the African Violet, the Begonia, the Impatiens, and the Shrimp plant.

The African Violet likes a warm, humid atmosphere (shades of OPA!) and is allergic to cold drafts and to water on its leaves. It responds to a short daily sunbath, after which it may be moved to an east or north window that gets strong light, but not sun.

Pot this plant in any container with a hole in the bottom through which its roots can absorb tepid, not cold water from the saucer you set the pot in. Never water it from above, as its crown of hairy leaves will curl up and die if wet. Note whether all water poured in saucer is absorbed within a few hours. If some water remains overnight, the plant is waterlogged, and should be allowed to dry out a few days.

Pests to exterminate include mealy bugs and mite, an almost invisible insect that hangs out under the leaves. To discourage the mysterious mite, place some camphor flakes in the dish under the plant. The fumes will fix him!

Like your natty little velveteen jumper, the African Violet thrives if the steam from your hot bath or the boiling teakettle is allowed to penetrate the room it inhabits.

On the pink-flowered Begonia and an interior decorating note—if your bathroom has shelf space, dress it up with tiny begonia plants set in shiny pots to match the color scheme.

If fuel rationing orders are in effect in your apartment, begonia gets a break, provided you water it properly, supply humidity to the air and guard against begonia-bugaboos — thrips, mites and leaf miner.

Do your duty by drainage if you expect to be a proud begonia-grower. When you pot the plant, remember to see that the bottom has enough pebbles, bits of charcoal, and broken pots in it to fill one-third the capacity.

Other items to remember: don't deluge your begonia with water. Nature equipped it to breathe in moisture from the air (bathroom steam again); avoid rot by picking off decayed leaves, dead blossoms and stems; pinch back long scraggly limbs. And if begonia leaves keep dropping off, the chances are your room is too dry and hot. And that means you're being unpatriotic, anyway!

As for impatiens, that little charmer with the peculiar title, it will warm your heart with a constant succesion of little red or salmon pink or white blossoms.

The Shrimp plant is often overlooked as an easy-to-grow house plant. Its shrimp-like bracts of pink with white pendants accounts for its name.

Use pieces of broken flower pot for the bottom layer

THE Cosmos ROOM

José Morand
and his orchestra
featuring PEPITO
and JANE COURTNEY
DANCING
5:30 TO 7:30 9:30 TO 1:30
MINIMUM $1.50
SATURDAY $2.00
FOR RESERVATIONS
CALL METROPOLITAN 2626
Carlton HOTEL
16TH & K STS.

Since 1893
PERIOD FURNITURE
GIFT ITEMS
ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES
Catlins INC.
1324 NEW YORK AVE. N.W.

PUBLIC SALE
Valuable Household Adornments and Works of Art
From The
Estate of Lady Julia Reckitt
of Little Green, Hampshire, England
Lawrence W. Douglas, Administrator
Estate of Mrs. Alfred P. Thom
Estate of Anna S. M. Chapin
by Order of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.
And From Other Sources
Embracing in part, Knabe Ampico Grand Piano, French Walnut Louis XVI Case, 27 Piece Repousse Silver Table Service, English and American Silver, Paintings, Water Colors, Sporting Prints, Unusual Collection of Oriental Rugs, English, French and American Furniture (Antique and Modern), Fine Table China, Glassware, Bric-a-Brac, Hall Clocks, 3-Piece Clock Sets, Tapestries, Aubusson Carpets, Bronzes, Mirrors Lamps, Ship Models, Bed and Table Linens, Rich Draperies, Fireplace Brasses, Etc.
TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION
At Sloan's Galleries
715 THIRTEENTH STREET
JANUARY 12th to 16th BOTH INCLUSIVE
AT 2 P. M. EACH DAY
ON EXHIBITION
Today and Monday 9 to 6
and Tomorrow Afternoon 2 to 5
Catalogues on Application to: Terms: Cash
C. G. SLOAN & CO. INC., Auctioneers
Established 1891

DROOP'S
STEINWAY AND OTHER PIANOS
Hammond Solovox, Organs and Novachord Phonograph, Radios, Records.
MUSIC STORE • 1300 G

The Shoreham Blue Room
DINING—DANCING
ENTERTAINMENT
CONNECTICUT AT CALVERT

QUALITY SINCE 1860
Lansburgh's
7th, 8th and E Sts. NAtional 9800

Very Tough 'Characters'—these Genuine
ALLIGATOR SHOES
10.95

They're high-hat in style but alligators do live a long, long time . . . and their tough skins have excellent wearing qualities! Pretty shoes they make—too—with a high gloss that lasts as long as they do! Nothing could possibly be smarter . . . these will appeal to both your love of luxury—and your practical sense!

A. Brown pump with open toe, with high heel, sizes 4½ to 9.
B. Brown oxford with open toe, red, high or Cuban heel, 4½ to 9.
C. Wall-toe pump in brown or with Cuban heel; sizes 4½ to 9.

Women's Shoes —Second Floor

Dutch Admiral Has Prophet's Reputation

In the CAPITAL SPOTLIGHT

Need for Aides Continues In District Hospitals

Admiral Helfrich Here En Route to Far East

Commander of Netherlands Forces in East Is Optimistic About War's Outcome

By Patricia Grady

The personification of coordination, Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich combines in his rotund person the leadership over army, naval and air forces of the Netherlands over three-quarters of the globe.

Commander in Chief of the Netherlands Forces in the East, Admiral Helfrich has as his domain regions stretching from the west coast of this hemisphere to the east coast of Africa. This twinkling-eyed admiral with the infectious gaiety is proud of his Netherlands, of the compact little fleet he commands, of the courageous record of the Netherlands Indies.

Washington is one of the stops on the globe-encircling trip of this "hit-'em-first" admiral, who for many months before the Japanese attack was pointing out the handwriting on the Pacific wall. With his headquarters in Ceylon, Admiral Helfrich left India in November, flew to Cairo, then to London, where he saw his sovereign, Queen Wilhelmina, then to Canada, where he called on Princess Juliana, now in Washington. Next week he will leave for New York and from there he will continue on with the air itinerary that includes Australia and finally his headquarters in Colombo.

ADMIRAL HELFRICH

"The big battle of the fleets has not yet come in this war," he points out. "I think, that rather than one decisive battle like Jutland, there will probably be a series of small forces meeting each other. But the assertion of air-minded zealots notwithstanding, naval forces will continue to play a large part in the struggle. How can it be otherwise?"

Believes in Coordination

A firm believer in the coordination of which he is an example, Admiral Helfrich knows that no one arm of the United Nations force will alone win the war. It must be an amalgamation and one in which we will not underrate the strength and ability of our enemies. "The Japanese fleet is very efficient," he explains on the basis of his first-hand experience with them as Commander in Chief of the United Nations Naval Forces in the South Pacific. "The coordination with their air arm was extremely effective. Naturally they have had losses, great losses. But we cannot be sure exactly what they are. If we take the most optimistic of the official figures, we find that we have sunk over the full strength of the Japanese navy. We must be a little cautious about figures."

Always a realist, it was Admiral Helfrich who pleaded that we strike the Japanese before they struck us. This was when the imperial forces moved into French Indo-China. But at that time the United States was neutral and still hoping to fend off a war in the Pacific. Although he fears too much optimism, he is most encouraging about the outcome of the war. For some months he has been predicting that we would dispense with Germany this year and Japan by the end of next year. "But it is dangerous to make predictions," he says with a laugh.

Admiral Helfrich, who took over command of the United Nations Naval Forces in the South Pacific following the resignation of Admiral Hart, has only the most complimentary of statements to make about the United States Naval Forces that served under his command. "They are well trained and well disciplined and even during those early months at least the equal of Japanese units," he comments.

Family in East Indies

This personable naval officer, who speaks English fluently and well except when he gets excited, is able to keep his sense of humor in the midst of personal tragedy. Like other East Indies' officials, he left his wife and family in the Indies when he was ordered out. His wife and four children, including 21-year-old twin girls, he last saw in Java, where he received his instructions to flee the country.

Though dramatic, the admiral's escape from the Indies was without incident. He went directly to Colombo, which he has made his headquarters since the spring of last year. He was among the handful of leaders selected to leave the Indies and carry on the war from the outside.

"On May 14, 1940," says Admiral Helfrich, "the Netherlanders went out to sea. That was a day never to be forgotten—the tide was very low. But who knows better than the people of our islands, the men who live along the coast and sail the seas, the profound truth of the time-hallowed saying: 'The tide will turn.'"

Clarence Parker Named to Serve On Committees

Clarence Leroy Parker, member of the executive committee of the Washington Figure Skating Club, has been appointed to serve on two national committees of the U. S. Figure Skating Association. The local group, along with over 100 skating clubs in the U. S. and 30 in Canada, is affiliated with the national association. Mr. Parker will represent the District of Columbia on the membership committee which passes on all club applications, both in the U. S. and Canada; and the carnival and sanctions committee.

At the last meeting of the board of the Washington club Miss Elizabeth Parkinson and Dr. Edgar McPeak were elected to serve.

A number of Washington skaters are working toward entering competitions in the near future. The Eastern States competitions will be held February 19 and 20 at the New Haven Skating Club, New Haven Arena. The national championships will be March 6, 7 and 8 at the Skating Club of New York. Some of the free-skating events will be held in Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Garvan Entertained

Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, widow of the one-time alien property custodian, is renewing old friendships during her brief stay in Washington, having come down from New York for the opening of Congress. She will return today.

Mrs. McCeney Werlich entertained a company of 12 at dinner last evening for Mrs. Garvan, who is a friend of long standing. Afterward, Bobby Werlich, son of the hostess, and Miss Marcia Garvan, daughter of the guest of honor, went on to the Stage Door Canteen as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Snowden Hill, who were occupying the "angel's table" for the evening.

Informal Togs On Tap for Dance Tonight

White ties, tails and flowing evening gowns will be "frozen" in their respective closets this evening when the sons and daughters of officers assigned to the Army Ground Forces Headquarters at the Army War College will don informal togs, board the nearest streetcar or bus with their destination the monthly "hop" at the Officers' Club on the post.

Heretofore the monthly affair has been formal. But those were the days before the "pleasure-driving" ban by OPA. Tonight, in street dresses, swing skirts, business suits and similar informal attire, the boys and girls will scramble aboard crowded buses or street cars, ride to the Seventh Street wharves, hike several blocks, probably to arrive unscathed at Washington Barracks and say, "Ho-hum; c'est la guerre."

Gabriel Turbay Coming to U. S.

Dr. Gabriel Turbay, Foreign Minister of Colombia and until recently Colombian Ambassador to this country, is leaving Barranquilla by plane on Monday for this country. He is coming to Baltimore to undergo medical treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Dr. Turbay left Washington in September when he was named Foreign Minister. His successor has not been appointed.

Post Staff Photos—Kelley

He lost his heart at the Stage Door Canteen and also his partner last evening when Robert Gilbert, above, of the Navy, cut in on Sergt. Ned Ryan and took his partner, Miss Estelyn Miller, away.

Entertainment to Be Given for Scotch Society

The 148th birthday anniversary of Scotland's famous poet, Robert Burns, celebrated wherever Scotsmen are gathered, will be the occasion of a concert and dance to be given by the St. Andrews Society of Washington on January 25 at Pierce Hall, Fifteenth and Harvard Streets.

Proceeds of the entertainment will go to the Scottish Clans Evacuation Clan, which aids in the evacuation of children from the bombed areas of Great Britain to greater safety in the Highlands of Scotland.

Sir Ronald Campbell, British Minister, will speak at the event, which begins at 8 o'clock, and there will be the piping-in of the Haggis by a guard of bagpipe players and clansmen armed with Lochaber axes. A recitation of Burns' address to a Haggis will be given by Col. Henry G. Perring of Baltimore. Dancing will be to the tunes of a Vienna Syncopators Orchestra, with Highland reels and strathspeys.

Typical Scottish refreshments will be served, including the famous meat pies of the Balmoral Baking Co. of New York.

Mrs. Robert Lister Macneil is chairman of the Scottish Clans Evacuation Plan for merica.

Royal Olmerts On Honeymoon

Royal E. Olmert and his bride, the former Miss Lucy Ann Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eppa L. Norris, who were married on Monday in the rectory of the Church of the Nativity, are now on a short wedding trip. The bridegroom, son of Joseph Olmert, is in the armed forces and has recently returned from Australia.

Miss Florence M. Hartman was the bride's only attendant and Kenneth Olmert was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the Columbia Country Club.

Betty Rogers Is Engaged to Leon LeBuffe

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rogers announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Rogers, to Leon A. LeBuffe, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. LeBuffe, also of Washington.

Miss Rogers was graduated from Georgetown Visitation Convent Junior College and later attended George Washington University. Mr. LeBuffe is an alumnus of St. John's College High School and will be graduated from Georgetown University this month. He is a member of the United States Army Reserve and is waiting call to active duty.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Post Staff Photos—Kelley

There isn't much room for jitterbugging on the crowded floors of the Stage Door Canteen these days, but now and then a hardy couple, such as the one at the left, try a bit of it anyway.

Purely Personal

Col. Armando Revoredo, Air Attache of the Peruvian Embassy, is spending a few days in New York at the Waldorf-Astoria.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edward Gallagher, because of the ban on pleasure driving, have canceled their cocktail party which was to have taken place tomorrow afternoon.

* * * *

Mrs. Benjamin Smith has returned to her apartment at the Wardman Park from Biloxi, Miss., where she has been visiting her son, Col. H. B. Smith, and his family for the holidays.

* * * *

Squadron Leader John Frost, RAF, and Mrs. Frost, with their young son, John Frost, jr., arrived in Washington yesterday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Platt of Chevy Chase. Until recently, the British flyer has been stationed in Washington. His new post is to be Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Frost and their son have just come from London to be with him.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall have left their home on Tracy Place to spend several days at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

* * * *

Mrs. Leland Harrison is in New York for a few days' stay at the Westbury.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan B. Scott are spending several days in New York at the Hampshire House.

* * * *

Lieut. Loren E. Heron, U. S. N. R., of Roslyn Estates, Long Island, who is visiting his sister, Mrs. A. P. Reeves, at her home on Jocelyn Street, was joined yesterday by Mrs. Heron. Mrs. Heron is the former Miss Mary Hitchcock Ramsay, granddaughter of the late Admiral Francis Ramsay of Washington.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Beverly Mason and their two sons, Billy and Randolph, have returned to Washington after a visit to Mrs. Mason's father, Dr. Archibald C. Randolph, at Grafton, Middleburg, Va. Mrs. Mason will make another visit to her father later in the season to take part in the fox hunting.

* * * *

Mrs. David P. Godwin, who is better known to the literary world as Thelma Strabel, author of "Reap the Wild Winds" and other novels, has left Washington for New York. She will spend the winter at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Butterworth are among the Washingtonians in New York at the Barbizon-Plaza Hotel.

G. B. Venners Living Here

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blackburn Venner have returned from their wedding trip and are now making their home with Mrs. Venner's mother, Mrs. Edmund Monroe Anderson.

Mrs. Venner is the former Miss Lucy Johnston Anderson. Mr. Venner is the son of Mrs. William Ashton Venner and the late Mr. Venner of Washington.

The marriage took place recently in St. Paul's Church. The Rev. Ernest A. DeBordenave officiated.

Mrs. Hesse Weds Lloyd D. Wright In Simple Rites

With a small group of close friends in attendance, Mrs. Lucretia Armour Hesse of New York and New Canaan, Conn., and Lloyd Dell Wright of Washington, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich, were married Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Wardman Park Hotel.

The Rev. Richard M. Mussen of the Sherwood Presbyterian Church officiated.

The bride wore a brown costume suit with orchids and a bird of paradise hat. Mrs. R. Carl Mitchell was her only attendant and J. Kirby McDonough of Dallas, Tex., served as best man.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wright will live at 4801 Connecticut Avenue.

Miss Fleishman Is Engaged To Mr. M. E. Lewis

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleishman announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Fleishman, to Melvin Earl Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Lewis.

The bride is on the faculty of the public schools of the District of Columbia and holds a bachelor of arts degree from George Washington University.

Mr. Lewis is on the accounting staff of the Public Utilities Commission and is completing graduate work at American University. He also holds degrees from Southeastern and George Washington Universities. Mr. Lewis is a member of the board of the Louis D. Brandeis, Zionist District, a vice president of Hapoel Mizrachi of America and vice chairman and treasurer of the Civilian Defense Committee of the Sixteenth Street Highlands Area. He is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social sciences honorary fraternity.

Alice Erickson Recent Bride

Miss Alice C. Erickson of Washington, and Lieut. Harry H. Baker formerly of Washington, now a student in the United States Army School for Special Service at Lexington, Va., were married in Lexington at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening. The Rev. J. J. Murray officiated.

Lieut. Baker, who is well known in Washington theatrical circles, is now taking special military training at the Army School on the campus of historic Washington and Lee University in Lexington.

Mrs. Baker's former home was in Tacoma, Wash.

Work of Nurse's Aide Corps Lauded by Hospital Heads

That the Nurse's Aide Corps of the Red Cross is contributing one of the outstanding services of any group of women in the war effort, is the consensus among superintendents and heads of Washington's hospitals.

Coincident with the opening this month of four new classes for the aides, was the high praise awarded the corps yesterday by Administrator James C. Caposella of Emergency Hospital.

"The work of this group of women cannot be over-emphasized," he said. "In fact, without their valuable assistance in the past few months, I don't know how the hospitals could have carried on."

Mr. Caposella pointed out that in many instances during the present emergency, much essential work in wards and dispensaries would have gone undone, without the help of the aides.

"Every woman who possibly can, should inestigate this opportunity to help," he continued, "for the dearth of registered nurses is bound to grow worse this year, as the armed forces call for more and more medical personnel."

From the chief administrators at Gallinger, and Providence came similar sentiments for the more than 550 women in Washington who are actively engaged in this service.

Sister Rosa of Providence, one of the Southeast institutions where new recruits are badly needed, expressed hope that her staff of 15 or 20 aides might be doubled this year.

"The women who have helped us here have been of the finest type," she said. "They have been most untiring, most faithful and most helpful. I only hope that we may enlist more and more of their kind into the service."

With the need for nurse's aides growing greater each day, the District Red Cross is going forward with a renewed drive for membership. In the Southeast section of the city, a class for volunteers will open on January 25 at Chamberlain Vocations School.

Three other new classes will open this month. Two will be held at Walsh House, the first from 2 to 4 o'clock, beginning January 14, and the second from 10 to 12 o'clock, beginning January 18. A class at Freedmen's Hospital will open on January 18.

Women entering the corps are required to have 80 hours of training, 45 of which must be taken in actual hospital work. The training period over, the aides are committed to a minumum of 150 hours of work a year in the hospital to which they are assigned.

So important has their work become, that OCD has requested that aides do not accept any civilian defense duties, with the exception of membership in the emergency medical field units. Aides serving on the latter units are on call in event of air raids.

Mrs. Hugh Rowan, chairman of the Nurse's Aides Corps in the District, has maintained a steady routine of graduating three classes every four weeks, and membership is rapidly approaching the 600 mark.

In addition to the general hospitals in which the aides are trained and serve most of their required hours, they do assignments at special hospitals, including Children's Columbia, Home for Incurables, Mount Alto and the Army-Navy Blood Center.

Couple to Live In Manhattan

After a brief wedding trip here, Mr. and Mrs. Vito Francis Reciniello have gone to New York, where the bridegroom is stationed with the United States Coast Guard.

Their marriage took place on New Year's Eve at the Methodist Church in Waynesboro, Va. The bride is the former Miss Susan Louise Spilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spilman of Forest Hill, Waynesboro, and Mr. Reciniello is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Reciniello of South Ozone Park, Long Island, N. Y. Officiating at the 8:30 ceremony was the Rev. Arthur McKinley Reynolds.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ancestral wedding gown of ivory satin trimmed with seed pearls and lace, a court train and her veil of illusion was showered with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and tea roses. Her matron of honor was her grandmother, Mrs. William A. Moon. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Clarence Kite, jr., Miss Rachel Young and Miss Edith Michael of Staunton. Anthony Reciniello of Rome, N. Y., acted as best man. Groomsmen were William Bruce Spilman, Nicholas Reciniello, jr., and Edwin Davisson.

The bridegroom attended New York University. The bride attended Fairfax Hall Junior College at Waynesboro, the University of Iowa, the University of Virginia, and the Feagin School of Dramatic Art in New York City.

Mrs. Taylor Leaves

Mrs. Myron C. Taylor has returned to New York City after spending several days with Mr. Taylor, who has an apartment at the Mayflower. He is the President's special representative to the Vatican.

Virginia Girl Married to H. H. Jennings, jr.

Purcellville, Va., Jan. 7.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Yvonne Curtis Paxson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Paxson of Purcellville, and Henry Herbert Jennings, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jennings of Middleway, W. Va. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock Sunday evening in the Market Street Methodist Church, Winchester, Va. Only the immediate families attended the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. R. W. Vanderberry, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was unattended, was attired in a gray wool suit with fuchsia accessories and wore a corsage of orchids. She is a graduate of Lincoln High School and attended Mary Washington College and the National Art School in Washington.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Handley High School in Winchester and of the Shenandoah Military Academy. He is now in defense work.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was given the couple and a few friends by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Halvosa at their home in Winchester.

Mary Hunter Engaged to Wed

Col. and Mrs. Rosser L. Hunter of Edgemoor, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Anne Hunter, to Lieut. (j. g.) James Creighton McKay, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. McKay of Washington.

Miss Hunter is a senior at the University of Maryland and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Lieutenant McKay was graduated from Cornell University and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. No date has been set for the wedding.

Helen Laughlin Engaged to Wed LeRoy O. King, Jr.

Col. and Mrs. Robert V. Laughlin of Fort Lewis, Wash., and Chevy Chase, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen March Laughlin, to LeRoy Ordway King, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. King of Georgetown.

Miss Laughlin attended Sidwell Friends School in Washington and is now a sophomore at the University of Washington in Seattle. She is a member of Alpha Phi international fraternity.

Mr. King is a senior in engineering at Lehigh University and enlisted last year in the Navy under the V-7 plan. Immediately following graduation he will enter officer training school.

Colonel Laughlin was recently transferred from Washington as judge advocate of the Second Army at Fort Lewis.

Couple Return From Honeymoon

Now making their home in Washington are Mr. and Mrs. Fred John Melisano, who have just returned from their wedding trip.

The former Miss Christine Onofry and Mr. Melisano were married in St. Peter's Church at a 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony with the Rev. Charles W. Nelson officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lucia E. Onofry. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Silvio Onofry and Mr. Melisano is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Melisano of New York City. Best man was Pat Simonetti of New York.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Amy Southwell To Be Married

Mrs. Leo S. Hamburger of Newton, Mass., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Amy Southwell, to Ensign Palmer S. Chambers, jr., United States Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer S. Chambers of Sewickley, Pa.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wellesley College in 1937 and studied at the Royal College of Music in London. Ensign Chambers received his degree form Yale and is attached to the Navy Department here.

CHARM CLINIC By Colette

If teen-age wants to appear older—
Do place straight, severe lines about the face and neck. Use cold colors.
Don't—
—Do
Don't wear gay, youthful round lines or bright warm colors.
Chicago Sun Syndicate

Fight Against Leprosy in Africa To Be Described in Talks Here

That there is more than one battle of Africa and that, crucial though the military one is, the others have been going on for decades and will be going on for decades after military victory is assured, will be the theme of Mrs. Julia Lake Kellersberger who speaks to two Washington audiences on Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Kellersberger's first address on "The Battle of Africa" will be in the Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church at the morning service; her second will be before the monthly meeting of the Washington Auxiliary of the American Mission to Lepers, of which Mrs. G. C. D. Townshend is president, in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church at 10:30 Monday morning.

Mrs. Kellersberger is promotional secretary of the American Mission to Lepers and the wife of Dr. Eugene R. Kellersberger, the mission's general secretary and an authority in the fields of leprosy and African sleeping sickness. Dr. Kellersberger has worked for 24 years as medical missionary in the Congo, where Mrs. Kellersberger joined him as a bride in 1930. Together they founded the Bibanga Agricultural Leper Colony and planted the first chaulmoogra trees ever to be cultivated in Africa. (The oil of the chaulmoogra fruit is the best specific treatment now known for leprosy.) These and her other Africa experiences she has written about in two books, "Congo Crosses" and "God's Ravens."

The American Mission to Lepers, Inc., with national headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, is an organization having an independent board of directors but acting as the auxiliary body of all Protestant missions which carry on a ministry anywhere in the world for people with leprosy. It customarily gives financial aid to approximately 100 mission stations in 29 countries. Although 21 of these stations are at present temporarily out of communication, the mission is called upon for a full schedule of aid to the remaining 79 stations where the costs have been made greater than ever, and supplies and staff harder to find on account of the war.

The directors of the mission also expect conquered areas, such as Burma, Thailand, occupied China and the Philippine Islands to emerge from Japanese occupation sooner than is sometimes thought, and they are accordingly building up a "reconstruction fund" to meet the debts, repairs and other dire needs under which the occupied stations will then be suffering.

SPECIAL!
WARM STOCKINGS
Made of 100% Spun Nylon

$1.85 Value $1.35 pr.

They look like winter sport stockings. They're toastly warm but not scratchy. They fit well, wear well, launder easily and dry quickly. Perfect for country wear, your war job or cold days in town. Two styles—plain and ribbed effect. Also in white or uniform blue. Sizes 8½ to 10½.

Street Floor—Hosiery

Kann's
"The Avenue"—7th, 8th and D Sts.

News of the Women's Clubs

By Genevieve Reynolds

Only a war could change the lingo of the high-powered fashionists or style experts. Remember everything was "ultra, ultra smart or chic; those mad, gay hats." Now the line of chatter has turned to wearability, craftsmanship, quality and government regulations.

GENEVIEVE REYNOLDS

In fact, until World War II slapped us in the face, the fashion experts were troubling their pretty heads to find new terms. Now the smart gals of the fashion world who once wrinkled their brows over how to make every woman look well dressed have discarded the frothy pattern. Looks as if they are going to be real assets in the emergency.

All this was evidenced at the recent monthly meeting of the Washington Regional Group of the Fashion Group, Inc. The local regional group, which came into existence last year with the small nucleus of seven, now is getting on its legs, as it were. Miss Marshall Adams is the regional director, Miss Katherine Cleveland, treasurer and Miss Helen Voght secretary. There are approximately 30 members in the local organization and is growing daily as more and more fashion experts team up with the Government and move to Washington.

Instead of concentrating on high styles, the local group shows signs of becoming an efficient filtering agency. That is, it will interpret Government policy to you and me. Miss Meredith Howard will serve as liaison officer between the Government and embassy groups. Mrs. Alice Perkins, a member of the staff of Women's Wear, is the voluntary contact officer between stores and Government.

Such matters as transportation, fabrics, durability and careful buying will be stressed by the members. In fact, Miss Hazel Howard of the OWI News Bureau emphasized those points at the group's meeting this week when she appeared as principal speaker.

Members of the Washington Regional Group are made up of the fashion editors of the local papers, representatives from retail stores, trade publications and Government agencies. Working in conjunction with Fashion Group, Inc.—composed of more than 3000 members—the local group is sprouting new ideas daily.

Did You Know That . . .?

"The League of American Pen Women in the District of Columbia," by Elizabeth Simons Tilton, is just off the press. It is the only historically complete recital of the founding and development of the league within the District and the influences which led to organizing of the National League of American Pen Women. Artistically bound in blue and gold, the appearance of the book invites reading of the great human story, which in 274 pages covers the period from 1897 through 1942.

Chock full of human interest as well as historical data, the story revolves around the vivid personalities of the founders and league presidents. The White House and several of its mistresses walk across the pages of this book. Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has a prominent place, having joined the league several years ago and also having extended many gracious social attentions to its members. In addition, you'll find an account of the distinguished role that the league played in World War I.

Members of the book's publication committee included Mary Meek Atkeson Moore, Maidy N. Campbell, Leona Patterson Yiller, Nellie Walker Irish, Peal Eley Seal, Annable Glenn Lawyer and Elizabeth Simons Tilton.

A talk on the benefits to which Coast Guardmen and their families are entitled will be given for the wives of men in the service and others interested in the subject, by Lieut. Comdr. William H. Carroll of the Coast Guard Budget and Planning Section, at headquarters, 1300 E Street Northwest, Monday afternoon, January 11 at 1:30 p. m.

In his talk Commander Carroll will give a detailed explanation of the procedure to be followed should the family of a Coast Guardsman be faced with any one of several emergencies. He will analyze the operations of Coast Guard Welfare and the work the women of this organization are doing to relieve the officers at headquarters so that they may be released for other necessary duties.

In addition to the talk by Commander Carroll, there will be a regular monthly business meeting of the Washington Unit of Coast Guard Welfare at which Mrs. Rufus B. Lank, chairman of the unit, will preside. Assisting Mrs. Lank are Mrs. Leo Robbins, treasurer; Mrs. Irwin J. Stephens, secretary, and Mrs. Russell J. Roberts, welfare chairman. Mrs. Roberts will give an extended report on the organization's accomplishments during December, one of its most active months.

Mrs. Frank Pollio, entertainment chairman, will outline her program for a series of district teas to take place within the next month. These teas will be given in the various sections of Washington expressly for the members of the unit and their friends.

* * * *

Bring out your best bib and tucker. Monday and Tuesday calendars are chock full of interesting places to go. For example, there's the WOMAN'S NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CLUB'S luncheon 12:30 o'clock at the clubhouse, honoring the gals of the press. That's Monday. Also, slated for the same day are the AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN—Washington branch's tea. At that time Dr. Ruth Henderson, senior specialist in the Office of Education, will speak on "The National Program for the Education of the Children of Working Mothers." Judge Fay L. Bentley will be the hostess. Then the College Park Branch of the A. A. U. W. is meeting 8 p. m. on the University of Maryland campus. Speakers will be Mrs. Ruth Wilson Tyron, editor of the A. A. U. W. Hostesses are Mrs. Judson Haney, Mrs. Arthur Harding, Miss Marian Johnson, Mrs. Allen J. Fisher and Mrs. John G. Jenkins.

On Tuesday the women scribes will turn out full strong at the WOMEN'S NATIONAL PRESS CLUB'S supper meeting, 6:30 o'clock at the Willard Hotel. All will be there to fire questions at two of the honored guests, Clare Boothe Luce and Winifred Stanley—the two new glamour girls of the Congress.

* * * *

North Carolina's new member of Congress, Representative Cameron M. Morrison, who had served his State as Governor and Senator before entering the House of Representatives this year, will be the center of attraction, along with Mrs. Morrison, at the annual Congressional Night reception and dance of the North Carolina Society Saturday night, January 16, at the Shoreham Hotel.

Officers and members of the Board of Governors of the Society will entertain the congressional party at an informal reception in a suite at the Shoreham prior to the formal reception to begin in the ballroom at 9:30 p. m., Dr. Emery Woodall, society president, announced.

A number of young officers from North Carolina, stationed in the various branches of the armed services here, will be special guests of the society for the formal reception and dance, Dr. Woodall said.

The congressional delegation to be honored at the function will be composed of Senator and Mrs. Josiah W. Bailey, Senator and Mrs. Robert R. Reynolds, Representative and Mrs. Robert L. Doughton, Representative and Mrs. A. L. Bulwinkle, Representative and Mrs. Herbert C. Bonner, Representative and Mrs. Harold D. Cooley, Representative and Mrs. William O. Burgin, Representative and Mrs. Morrison, and Representatives John H. Kerr, Graham A. Barden, John H. Folger, Carl T. Durham, Zebulon Weaver and J. Bayard Clark.

* * * *

Mrs. Nathan B. Williams will be hostess to members of Chapter B, P. E. O., at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, at her home, 3917 McKinley Street. Assisting her will be her daughter, Miss Helen B. Williams, Mrs. E. O. Woodruff, and Miss Marion Woodruff.

Following a business session including committee reports, a program on Latin America will be given, which will include a discussion of the "Religions, Ancient and Modern," by Miss Josephine Jones, and a paper on "Mexico," by Miss Williams.

The luncheon which usually precedes the meeting will be dispensed with this month, it was announced, and the cost donated to the Red Cross. The birthday fund has also been diverted to that organization.

Committee reports will include the national defense report by Mrs. Sidney R. Jacobs, and a resume of the educational projects at Cottey College, the junior college for girls located at Nevada, Mo., which is owned and operated by the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

* * * *

The American Women's Voluntary Services will conduct a standard Red Cross nutrition course at headquarters, 2170 Florida Avenue Northwest, beginning Monday, from 1 to 3:30 p. m.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Malcolm Moss, head of the A. W. V. S. training classes in nutrition, states that 10 classes complete the 20-hour course. Registrants will meet every Monday and Wednesday through February 10.

Mrs. John Hader, nutrition expert, who has had wide experience and intensive training in this subject both in this country and abroad, will conduct the classroom work. Each day following the lecture period, A. W. V. S. nutrition aides will give demonstrations of methods in cooking in order to retain food values and vitamins.

Registration for the course is now open. Phone the A. W. V. S. nutrition department, or the registration desk, DUpont 1478.

Confederate Groups To Honor 3 Heroes

Honoring three Southern heroes, Gen. Robert E. Lee, Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson, and Mathew Fontaine Maury, Confederate organizations in Washington will entertain with a program at the Confederate Memorial Hall, 1322 Vermont Avenue Northwest at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Judge Pleasant D. Gold of the Board of Veterans Appeals will give an adress in which he will evaluate the qualities of these soldiers in the light of present-day military requirements.

Music will precede the address, and a social hour will follow. Mrs. Harold Walbridge Robbins, division president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will preside. The public has been invited.

'Yolka' to Be Given In Russian Church

The annual "Yolka" (Christmas tree) will be given by the St. Nicholas Sisterhood of the St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church at 4 p. m. tomorrow at St. Thomas Hall, Eighteenth and Church Streets Northwest.

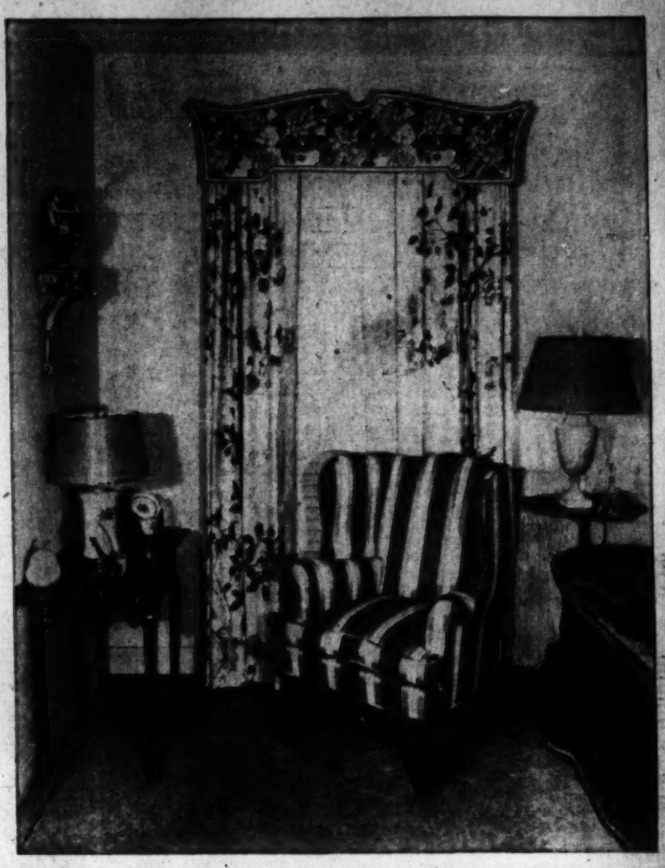
The program will include recitations and singing by the young folk, the singing of the traditional Christmas carols by the Russian church choir, and numbers by singers from the Club Balalaika. Proceeds will go to the American Red Cross. Tea and Russian pastry will be served.

To Mark Birthday

The Rev. Seth R. Brooks will be the guest speaker at the fortieth birthday celebration of Katherine Montgomery Chapter, D. A. R., Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Clarence A. Weaver, 1614 Q Street. A special musical program has been arranged. Mrs. Alice Weaver Newhard, regent, will preside.

For An Old Corner

Here pictured is a pleasant solution for the furnishing of an odd corner back of the sofa. The comfortable striped chair nd table make this a convenient and attractive retreat for sewing, reading or catching your breath in the midst of a busy day.



Bring Your Garden Indoors

Of course the Christmas holly, mistletoe, and other holiday greens have long since gone to their reward. But didn't they brighten up your window, the hall table, the bare spot over the mantel? The colorful reds and greens are apt to be sadly missed—and the furtive and watery January sun is no cheer-spreader!

Why not blow yourself to a post-holiday morale-lifter, and make it a plant? Just to prove that you're no piker when it comes to cheer-spreading, make it a hardy blossoming plant. These varieties are apt to be more on the prima donna side than the foliage types, but the bright blooms will more than repay you for your trouble.

Hardy blossoming plants include the African Violet, the Begonia, the Impatiens, and the Shrimp plant.

The African Violet likes a warm, humid atmosphere (shades of OPA!) and is allergic to cold drafts and to water on its leaves. It responds to a short daily sunbath, after which it may be moved to an east or north window that gets strong light, but not sun.

Pot this plant in any container with a hole in the bottom through which its roots can absorb tepid, not cold water from the saucer you set the pot in. Never water it from above, as its crown of hairy leaves will curl up and die if wet. Note whether all water poured in saucer is absorbed within a few hours. If some water remains overnight, the plant is waterlogged, and should be allowed to dry out a few days.

Pests to exterminate include mealy bugs and mite, an almost invisible insect that hangs out under the leaves. To discourage the mysterious mite, place some camphor flakes in the dish under the plant. The fumes will fix him!

Like your natty little velveteen jumper, the African Violet thrives if the steam from your hot bath or the boiling teakettle is allowed to penetrate the room it inhabits.

On the pink-flowered Begonia and an interior decorating note—if your bathroom has shelf space, dress it up with tiny begonia plants set in shiny pots to match the color scheme.

If fuel rationing orders are in effect in your apartment, begonia gets a break, provided you water it properly, supply humidity to the air and guard against begonia-bugaboos — thrips, mites and leaf miner.

Do your duty by drainage if you expect to be a proud begonia-grower. When you pot the plant, remember to see that the bottom has enough pebbles, bits of charcoal, and broken pots in it to fill one-third the capacity.

Other items to remember: don't deluge your begonia with water. Nature equipped it to breathe in moisture from the air (bathroom steam again); avoid rot by picking off decayed leaves, dead blossoms and stems; pinch back long scraggly limbs. And if begonia leaves keep dropping off, the chances are your room is too dry and hot. And that means you're being unpatriotic, anyway!

As for impatiens, that little charmer with the peculiar title, it will warm your heart with a constant succesion of little red or salmon pink or white blossoms.

The Shrimp plant is often overlooked as an easy-to-grow house plant. Its shrimp-like bracts of pink with white pendants accounts for its name.

Use pieces of broken flower pot for the bottom layer

THE Cosmos ROOM

José Morand
and his orchestra
featuring PEPITO
and JANE COURTNEY
DANCING
5:30 TO 7:30 9:30 TO 1:30
MINIMUM $1.50
SATURDAY $2.00
FOR RESERVATIONS
CALL METROPOLITAN 2626
Carlton HOTEL
16TH & K STS.

Since 1893
PERIOD FURNITURE
GIFT ITEMS
ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES
Catlins' INC.
1324 NEW YORK AVE. N.W.

DROOP'S
STEINWAY AND OTHER PIANOS
Hammond Solovox, Organ and Novachord Phonographs, Radios, Records.
MUSIC STORE • 1300 G

The Shoreham Blue Room
DINING—DANCING
ENTERTAINMENT
CONNECTICUT AT CALVERT

PUBLIC SALE
Valuable Household Adornments and Works of Art
From The
Estate of Lady Julia Reckitt
of Little Green, Hampshire, England
Lawrence W. Douglas, Administrator
Estate of Mrs. Alfred P. Thom
Estate of Anna S. M. Chapin
by Order of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.
And From Other Sources

Embracing in part, Knabe Ampico Grand Piano, French Walnut Louis XVI Case, 27 Piece Repousse Silver Table Service, English and American Silver, Paintings, Water Colors, Sporting Prints, Unusual Collection of Oriental Rugs, English, French and American Furniture (Antique and Modern), Fine Table China, Glassware, Bric-a-Brac, Hall Clocks, 3-Piece Clock Sets, Tapestries, Aubusson Carpets, Bronzes, Mirrors Lamps, Ship Models, Bed and Table Linens, Rich Draperies, Fireplace Brasses, Etc.

TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION
At Sloan's Galleries
715 THIRTEENTH STREET
JANUARY 12th to 16th BOTH INCLUSIVE
AT 2 P. M. EACH DAY
ON EXHIBITION
Today and Monday 9 to 6
and Tomorrow Afternoon 2 to 5
Catalogues on Application to: Terms: Cash
C. G. SLOAN & CO. INC., Auctioneers
Established 1891

QUALITY SINCE 1860
Lansburgh's
7th, 8th and E Sts. NAtional 9800

Very Tough 'Characters'—these Genuine
ALLIGATOR SHOES
10.95

They're high-hat in style but alligators do live a long, long time . . . and their tough skins have excellent wearing qualities! Pretty shoes they make—too—with a high gloss that lasts as long as they do! Nothing could possibly be smarter . . . these will appeal to both your love of luxury—and your practical sense!

A. Brown pump with open toe, with high heel, sizes 4½ to 9.
B. Brown oxford with open toe, red, high or Cuban heel, 4½ to 9.
C. Wall-toe pump in brown or with Cuban heel; sizes 4½ to 9.

Women's Shoes —Second Floor

Nelson B. Bell About the Showshops

'This Is the Army' Now Garnering Third Million

Stupendous Soldier-Show Without Precedent; "Counterattack" on Way to the National; Items of News and Gossip of the Theater

SO, TRUE TO HIS RECENT WORD, Nat Dortman, chairman of the civilian publicity committee for "This Is the Army," has finally gotten around to mimeographing his recapitulation of the unprecedented financial record, to date, of the greatest hippodrome in the history of show business, with a gross of two million dollars now to its credit.

IRVING BERLIN

The New York run of this staggering all-soldier show, beginning last July 4, netted $651,518 in three months. Washington added $110,205 in two weeks; Boston, $121,571 and Detroit, $165,390. Chicago, where the unprecedented attraction is currently appearing, is expected to kick in an additional $150,000.

To Philadelphia, however, goes the palm for the largest sum paid to see the cast of 300 uniformed servicemen perform—$203,308 in two weeks at the mammoth Mastbaum Theater.

Approximately 600,000 people thus far have given unbridled vent to their exultation over the magic handiwork of Mr. Whiskers, big-time producer of theatricals, as well as everything else.

Only it hasn't been so much Uncle Sam as Irving Berlin who has been primarily responsible for the miraculous success of this unique and unparalleled entertainment. It was he who conceived the idea, wrote the book, composed the music and then assumed a stellar spot in the performance, bearing all of his own traveling and other expenses as well as contributing all boxoffice and sheet music royalties to the Army Emergency Relief Fund, for which the whole thing was planned and executed. The music royalties alone, up to now, amount roughly to something like $125,000. Furthermore, the Warner Brothers, as everyone must know by this time, are picturizing the martial spectacle, with all profits also accruing to the Army Relief Fund. Anybody who knows Irving Berlin will understand the sincerity of the only comment he has ever made about his part in the enterprise: "I only wish I could do more." There is something more his Government could do. A Congressional Medal of Honor, for instance, bestowed by the President at the White House.

That Russian Offensive Proceeds

The Russian offensive is progressing in the American theater as everywhere else. Katharine Cornell's "The Three Sisters" and the Theater Guild's "The Russian People" having come and gone, another Moscovian melodrama of the savage fighting fronts will be breaking itself out on the stage of the National Theater the week of January 25. This is something pretty stirring called "Counter-attack"—all in one word—by Janet and Phil Stevenson, the latter a former erudite publicist on the staff of the Playwrights' Company. Janet is his wife. Their American version is based on a play by Ilya Dershinin and Mikhail Ruderman and concerns a group of Nazi invaders and a band of Russian defenders trapped together in the cellar of a bombed building. What a situation! Morris Karnovsky, Barbara O'Neil and Martin Wolfson will have the principal roles. The piece will open in New Haven on January 21 and come to Washington immediately prior to its Broadway premiere in the Windsor Theater.

⁂

Sometimes when the Warners' boys put on a preview screening, they really put on a preview screening. Take yesterday for example. In addition to "Road to Morocco," coming up at the Earle in a week, they squirted a full newsreel onto the screen and a ripsnorting Technicolor short subject, "The Fighting Engineers," tipping its hat respectfully to Camp Belvoir, over yonder across the river. Here is a service short, with Richard Travis, Robert Armstrong and James Flaven in the leads, that will practically knock your ears off. You'll be seeing it next week. As for "Morocco," I have seen those amiable pathfinders, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dottie Lamour, in some pretty goofy business, man and boy, but this one wins the sequin straitjacket!

⁂

In observance of "United Nations Week," Norwegian Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne will sponsor a special invitational preview of Columbia's "The Commandos Strike at Dawn," starring Paul Muni and Lillian Gish, in the Departmental Auditorium on Thursday evening, January 14, at 8:30 o'clock. The invitations, being sent out by the Norwegian Embassy, are expected to assemble an international audience of imposing importance for the screening.

Dots and Dashes

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt this morning will address the Connecticut Avenue Junior Workers, in the Uptown Theater at 10 o'clock, on the topic of "Activities of the Children of England Under Wartime Conditions" . . . The Junior Workers were organized to aid the war effort by collecting all kinds of salvagable scrap . . . The Harlequin Dramatic Society Honor Key last night was presented to Managing Director Harry Anger of the Earle Theater, at Knights of Columbus Hall . . . First time the key ever has been given to anyone off the Catholic University campus . . . The Earle is at it again—anyone buying a ticket as late as midnight tonight will see another special weekend performance of the entire bill, headed by Jack Benny and Ann Sheridan in "George Washington Slept Here," on the screen, and Dave Apollon, on the stage . . . John "Poor Butterfly" Golden will send his "Counselor-at-Law" on tour in the spring, despite its capacity Broadway run . . . Paul Muni may be expected here in it in mid-March or early April . . . At the National, of course.

Where-Have-I-Heard-That-Before Note

"How many miles to the gallon?"

LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Hot on Mama's Heels!

Hollywood, Jan. 7.—No stopping Marlene Dietrich's 17-year-old daughter, Maria Manton. The girl has the most driving ambition of any youngster in town—and now she's stepping from the Max Reinhardt Theater into the movies. Dr. Eugene Frenke has signed Maria for the second femme lead with Anna Sten in "The Girl From Leningrad." He gave her the contract after seeing her tear through the Tallulah Bankhead role in "The Little Foxes" in Pasadena.

SUSAN HAYWARD

At the very start of her career, Maria put her foot down firmly about trading on her mother's fame. She changed her name from Dietrich to Manton just so no one could think she was climbing to fame on her mother's reputation.

Susan Hayward put her foot down, but firmly, when she was handed the script of "Good Fellow." In other words, she refused to accept the lead in this movie, and Susie wasn't temperamental, either. She is entitled to a break at Paramount and if she doesn't get it there she should get it elsewhere.

For two years I've been saying that Susie deserves better roles. In "Forest Rangers" she gave Paulette Goddard plenty of competition and every time she has had a decent part she has come through with flying colors. Helen Walker has been handed "Good Fellow," and, let it be said in favor of Buddy De Sylva, he saw Susie's side and has not suspended her.

⁂

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The John Garfields have dated the stork for July; Groucho Marx has discovered Dale Foster and this time he isn't clowning; Freddie Bartholomew, can you believe it, reports for Army duty next Tuesday. He is only 18; Helen Hart, sister of Bob Sterling, will wed Bob Fulstone, one of young Sterling's fellow cadets at Santa Ana.

Phil Reed, who gave Ginger Rogers such a rush, is now whispering sweet nothings in Helen Vinson's ear; wowie! Did John Loder fall for Hedy Lamarr when they were introduced at the Players! Who can blame him? Kay Aldridge dining with Lieut. Larry Rockefeller, a brother of Nelson, was a vision;

Author a Frequent Capital Visitor

ISABEL LEIGHTON

the palpably photogenic coauthor of "Spring Again," the comedy in which Grace George and C. Aubrey Smith will be seen as co-stars at the National Theater week after next. Formerly associated on Vogue with Representative Clare Boothe Luce, a bit of a playwright on her own account, Miss Leighton now also is spending much of her time in Washington, gathering material for new writings concerning women in the Navy

HEDDA HOPPER

So He Couldn't Take It!

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 8.—Guess George Raft couldn't stand the gaff. Anyway, he turned down part opposite Betty Grable in "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." Gene Kelly, whose contract is shared by David Selznick and Metro, gets it. Gene was last seen opposite Judy Garland in "For Me and My Gal." . . . Ralph Rainger's last song, called "There's Danger in a Dance" in "Coney Island," which Betty did with Hermes Pan, was the most expensive sequence ever put on the screen. It cost Twentieth Century $187,000, which tops "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" in "The Great Ziegfeld" by $38,000 . . . What a title for Marlene Dietrich's new play—"One Man's Venus!" She's got the glamour girls back East fighting mad. On one arm is Jean Gabin, on the other Erich Remarque—and bringing up the rear, her husband.

GEORGE RAFT

Hard to Top Your Best

If Metro is planning a remake of "Anna Karenina" for Greta Garbo, neither Garbo nor her manager, Leland Hayward, knows anything about it. I'll be surprised if they make it, because "Anna" was one of her finest pictures, and it's pretty hard to top yourself . . . I hope you didn't miss Col. Zanuck on the March of Time. He put in more information in six minutes than they've ever had on that show . . . Orson Welles has a mad on at a fan magazine. It wasn't the story that got Orson's goat, but the writer, John Franchey. He got bigger billing . . . Wonder why no one ever though of putting "Private Lives" into a musical, with Fred Astaire starred? Come on, Paramount, you own the rights.

Coupla Nice Guys

Eddie Cantor went down to spend three days at Palm Springs, but when he heard the Army had taken over El Mirador Hotel for a hospital, he put on the first benefit of the year there, taking Jimmy Durante with him. Those two worked together 32 years ago in a Coney Island honky-tonk. Jimmy played the piano and Eddie was a singing waiter. No. they didn't remember their old routine, but they tried mighty hard . . . Oona O'Neill, Eugene's daughter, who was the 1941 No. 1 glamour girl, according to the Stork Club voting (which is a laugh), has just gotten a Metro contract. Being Eugene's daughter isn't hurting her any.

The English film industry is up in arms over what they consider unfair treatment of "In Which We Serve." First, the censorship fight—then the Academy Award disqualification. But it's going to be a hot time in the old town tonight when "The Next of Kin" arrives. That was made by the English government itself. Universal will release it. "Next of Kin" is about a Commando raid which fails because of loose talk. It's full of profanity, and the chief feminine character is an English girl turned German spy. She's a dope fiend, whose passion for drugs enables the Nazis to keep her under control. O. Boy! will that be a hot one for the Hays office to handle!

Good Neighbors

The first thing Bob Hope did when he heard the Bing Crosby's house had burned down was to phone form Arrowhead and ask the family to move in with them. But Bing's four boys are living with Bill Goodwin, a neighbor, and Dixie is at Larry Crosby's. Bing stays at a Hollywood apartment until his picture "Dixie" is finished. It's a strange coincidence that in the picture, owing to Bing's carelessness, he starts five fires—burns down two houses, two theaters, and a river boat. . . One of the first to reach the scene of the fire was Bette Davis. It was thru the burning of a Christmas tree that she was all but marred for life.

One man's Meat

Victor McLaglen and Gene Tierney will co-star in "Tampico." That's one which Jean Gabin turned down. No one is feeling the leading man shortage more than Twentieth, and their John Payne joins the air force this week. . . New Year's comment—"I'm not a wolf—I'm just a Twentieth Century Fox!" . . . The John Garfield's are again expecting. . . Phil Silvers is heading overseas in two weeks to entertain troops. He won't say where he's going, but he's buying shorts. . . Those who frequent the Monte Carlo in New York should know that Eugene Haron, a former page boy, is now a lieutenant in the army . . . Before the public was let in on the secret that Stirling Hayden and Madeleine Carroll were man and wife, they were asked to leave the Gloucester inn because they wouldn't admit the truth.

Show Time

STAGE

National—"This Little Hand," at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Gayety—Burlesque at 12 noon, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

SCREEN

Palace—"Stand By For Action" at 11:15 a. m.; 1:55, 4:30, 7:05 and 9:40 p. m.

Earle—"George Washington Slept Here," at 10 a. m., 12:20, 2:50, 5:15, 7:40, 10:10 p. m. and 12:35 a. m. Stage shows at 11:45 a. m., 2:10, 4:35, 7:05, 9:30 p. m. and 12 midnight.

RKO-Keith's—"Once Upon a Honeymoon," at 11:15 a. m., 1:40, 4:20, 6:55 and 9:35 p. m.

Capitol—"Reunion in France," at 10:15 a. m., 12:55, 3:35, 6:15, 8:53 and 11:40 p. m. Stage shows at 12:05, 2:45, 5:25, 8:05 and 10:50 p. m.

Metropolitan—"Now, Voyager" at 10:45 a. m.; 12:50, 3:05, 5:15, 7:30 7:30 and 9:45 p. m.

Columbia—"Springtime in the Rockies" at 11 a. m., 1:10, 3:20, 6:30, 7:40 and 9:50 p. m.

Little—"First All-Dance Film Festival," at 11 a. m., 1:05, 3:10, 5:15, 7:25 and 9:30 p. m.

Pix—"The Cat People," at 1:20, 3:50, 6:30, 9:20 p. m. and 12:05 a. m. "The Falcon's Brother," at 2:30, 5:10, 7:40, 10:30 p. m. and 1:20 a. m.

Trans-Lux—Newsreel and shorts at 10:15 and 11:30 a. m., 12:45, 2, 3:15, 4:30, 5:45, 7, 8:15, 9:30 and 10:45 p. m. and 12:05 a. m.

Ambassador—"George Washington Slept Here" at 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

AMUSEMENTS

NATIONAL SYMPHONY
HANS KINDLER, Conductor
Tomorrow, 4 P. M.
CONSTITUTION HALL
Vorspiel and Liebestod from Tristran and Isolde.
MAHLER FOURTH SYMPHONY
Edwina Eustis, Soloist
Tickets 55c-$2.20
SYMPHONY BOX OFFICE
1330 G St., N. W. National 7322

Washington's Newsreel Theatre
TRANS-LUX
Opens 10 a.m. Sun. 1 p.m.
Specials in the News
JAPS BLASTED AT GUADAGANAL, ROMMEL'S TROOPS, IN AFRICA
78th CONGRESS CONVENES
20 OTHER EVENTS: WMAL NEWSCAST
Plus—
Unusual Occupations; "Wizard of the Fairway," with Golf Expert Montague; Donald Duck: "Wings for the Fledgling."
ADMISSION 27c TAX 3c
Midnight Show Saturday

GAYETY
Gala MIDNITE SHOW TONITE BURLESQUE
LAST DAY HINDA WASSAU
STARTS TOMORROW PHYLLIS AYRES

AMUSEMENTS

NOW RKO KEITH'S
OFF. U. S. TREASURY ON 15TH
GINGER ROGERS • CARY GRANT
in Leo McCarey's
"ONCE UPON A HONEYMOON"
with
WALTER SLEZAK • ALBERT DEKKER
ALBERT BASSERMAN
Added
WALT DISNEY'S DONALD DUCK
cartoon in technicolor
"DER FUEHRER'S FACE"
from which came the song hit!
New Added Attraction
"ARMY CHAPLAIN"
with Father Gilbert Hartke, O.P., of the Catholic University . . .
Third in the new series
"THIS IS AMERICA"
Coming.. "ARABIAN NIGHTS" In technicolor

EARLE
Make up a Party Tonight and Attend SPECIAL MIDNIGHT
COMPLETE STAGE & SCREEN
SHOW TONIGHT at 12:00
No Advance in Prices
Doors open 9:30 a.m.
2nd & FINAL WEEK
Jack BENNY
Ann SHERIDAN in Warner Bros.
'GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE'
And On Stage
DAVE APOLLON
Rhoss Sisters - Rozyettes
GEO. WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE Also Today at Ambassador
Buy WAR BONDS & STAMPS

METROPOLITAN
3rd & FINAL WEEK
Doors Open Today 10:30 a.m.
LAST FEATURE TONIGHT, 9:45 p.m.
BETTE DAVIS • PAUL HENREID
in WARNER BROS. Triumph
'NOW VOYAGER'

LEONARD LYONS

Times Square Ticker

New York, Jan. 8.

Some friends of the late Sam Harris were telling stories about the beloved producer. Ben and Rose Hecht told of their play, "Maneating Tiger," which Sam produced—and which flopped at the tryout performance in Altoona, Pa. Harris met the saddened playwrights later, drew $2,000 from his pocket and offered it to Hecht. "Here is an advance on your next play," was Harris' encouraging expression of faith . . . "You've lost so much on this play, I couldn't take the money," Ben told him. "But if the next play is any good, I'll bring it to you."

AL JOLSON

Hecht and Charlie MacArthur wrote that next play—the memorable hit, "The Front Page." At that time MacArthur's wife, Helen Hayes, was starring in Jed Harris' "Coquette." One of MacArthur's aides therefore took this new play to Jed, instead of to Sam Harris. Jed immediately accepted it . . . Hecht went to Sam Harris, to explain. "I wanted to bring it to you first," he began, "because of the promise I made that night you offered the $2,000 advance. But this is what happened." . . . "That isn't important," Sam Harris assured him. "Just the fact that you remembered is enough."

⁂

I saw this copy a few years ago, and discovered the notes yesterday. It's a copy of a confidential message sent by the Will Hays office, on January 24, 1938 . . . The letterhead was that of "The Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc.—5504 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, Calif.—Gladstone 6111." . . . The message on it was "FEATURE: 'They Gave Him a Gun' . . . COMPANY: Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer . . . TERRITORY: Japan . . . DELETIONS: All scenes of kissing. Delete any footage which includes the idea that war is not altogether glamorous and noble.—J. I. Breen."

⁂

Al Jolson will be master of ceremonies at the President's Birthday Ball in Washington . . . Charles Freeman, former head of the United Booking Office, is going to England to supervise the Red Cross entertainment program there. Freeman has three sons in the service . . . Leonard Weisberg, the taxi-driver hero of the Esposito holdup, who still has an Esposito bullet in his neck, now has a job—as an assistant manager at Loew's.

⁂

Edmund Gwenn returned this week to his role in "The Three Sisters." He had become ill on Christmas Day, phoned the manager of the Park Lane, where he's staying, and asked him to recommend a doctor. Gwenn then phoned that doctor and reported his symptoms. The doctor said that it probably was flu and promised to phone a druggist to prepare a prescription which would be filled and delivered. "What is your name?" asked the doctor. Gwenn told him. "Edwin Webb?" asked the doctor . . . "No, no. Edmund Gwenn," said Gwenn. "You know, the actor" . . . "Oh, yes. The actor. I have the name now," said the doctor . . . The medicine was duly delivered to Gwenn. On each bottle was written the patient's name—"Errol Flynn."

⁂

When Bob Hope reported to work for his new picture, "They Got Me Covered," he saw Dorothy Lamour, his costar, fully dressed. "Dotty, dear," Hope advised, "you'd better go home and put something off" . . . On January 18 at Carnegie Hall, Zlatko Balokovic, the violinist, will attend in a duo-capacity. As President of the American Slav Congress, he will preside at the Unity Festival. And as a noted violinist, he will perform with three Slav singers from the Met. Opera . . . Ann Gorio, who was in Albany the day Dewey was inaugurated, told a waiter: "I'd like 'Egg Foo Yong.'" . . . The waiter went to the kitchen, then reported: "Sorry, you can't have it. The chef doesn't feel like making it."

Columbia

With Betty Grable, John Payne and Cesar Romero in the stellar roles and such as Carmen Miranda, Charlotte Greenwood and Edward Everett Horton in support—not to mention Harry James and his orchestra—patrons of Loew's Columbia Theater this week probably will never notice that the plot of "Springtime in the Rockies" is just a trifle threadbare. It is the old one about the famous stage stars who break up a successful partnership to go their separate ways—with the customary results.

But Twentieth Century-Fox this time has rejuvenated the whole thing with music, song, some very elegant dancing, sprightly humor and a gorgeous application of Technicolor. The result is something exceedingly easy to take—especially with Miss Miranda singing "Chattanooga Choo-Choo" in her native Portuguese, if that is what it is. Short subjects added, of course.

Metropolitan

Intelligent treatment and meticulous attention to detail have been accorded the most recent film to utilize the talents of Bette Davis. Since the subject dwells largely on psychiatry, this is no more than the picture deserves. As a result, the film is at once both a fascinating and human drama that gives understanding to the problems of maladjustment and frustration.

Currently in its second week at the Metropolitan Theater, "Now, Voyager" tells the story of the daughter of a wealthy family who, unwanted at birth, grew up to suffer the tyranny of a dominating mother. Her subsequent cure at the hands of a capable man of science and eventual understanding of her life and that of others is told through the excellent portrayals of such outstanding actors as Paul Henreid, Claude Rains, Gladys Cooper, Ilka Chase, John Loder and Bonita Granville.

AMUSEMENTS

Constitution Hall, Sun., Jan. 17, 4 P.M.
World-Famous Violinist
HEIFETZ
In Full Recital—Seats: $1.65, $2.20, $2.75
Mrs. Dorsey's, 1300 G St. (Drew's) NA. 7151

Constitution Hall, Sun., Jan. 24, 4 P.M.
HELEN TRAUBEL
Soprano. Mat. Open—Seats: $1.10, $1.65, $2.20
Mrs. Dorsey's, 1300 G St. (Drew's) NA. 7151

LITTLE
LAST 4 DAYS!
FIRST DANCE-FILM FESTIVAL
Ballet Russe
The MOSCOW THEATER BALLET
CARMAN AMAYA • KATHERINE DUNHAM • BILL ROBINSON • PAUL DRAPER • LA CUCARACHA
NOW VIVIEN LEIGH ROBERT TAYLOR WATERLOO BRIDGE

AMUSEMENTS

NATIONAL AMERICA'S OLDEST THEATRE
LAST 2 TIMES!
Today at 2:30—Night 8:30
"Chills Your Blood—You'll Love It! A. H. Woods' show exactly what the theatre needs."
—Katharine Smith, Times-Herald.
THIS LITTLE HAND
"A Carnival of Feminine Fury—and Fun." —Nelson B. Bell, Post.
PRIOR TO BROADWAY PRICES
EVES. and SAT. MAT. 55c $1.10 $1.65 $2.20 (plus tax)
ORCHESTRA and BALCONY
REG. NEXT MON.—SEATS NOW!
BOSTON COMIC OPERA CO.
Gilbert & Sullivan OPERAS
REPERTOIRE
Mon. Eve., Jan. 11th, "The Mikado;" Tues. Eve., Jan. 12th, and Wed. Mat., Jan. 13th, "Trial by Jury" and "Pinafore;" Wed. Eve., Jan. 13th, "Iolanthe;" Thurs. Eve., Jan. 14th, "Ruddigore;" Fri. Eve., Jan. 15th, and Sat. Mat., Jan. 16th, "Pirates of Penzance;" Sat. Eve., Jan. 16th, "The Mikado."
Evs., 55c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20
Mats. Wed. & Sat., 55c, $1.10, $1.65

Today's NEIGHBORHOOD MOVIES

All Time Schedules Given in Warner Bros. Ads Indicate Time Feature Is Presented.
Matinees All Theaters

AMBASSADOR 16th & Col. Rd. COL. 5305. Mat. 1
Jack Benny, Ann Sheridan, in "George Washington Slept Here," at 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30.

APOLLO 624 H St. N.E. FR. 5300 Mat. 1 P. M.
Robert Newton, Anna Neagle in "Wings and the Woman," at 1:00, 3:50, 6:50, 9:50 Richard Dix, Wendie Barrie in "Eyes of the Underworld," at 2:30, 5:30, 8:30.

AVALON 5619 Conn. Ave. N.W. WO. 2600. Mat. 1 P. M.
Ann Miller, Jerry Colonna in "Priorities on Parade," at 1:45, 3:35, 6:00, 7:50, 9:40. G-Men vs. Black Dragon.

AVE. GRAND 645 Pa. Ave. S.E. LI. 2046 Mat. 1 p.m.
Guy Kibbee in "Scattergood Survives Murder," at 1:00, 2:55, 6:50, 9:50. Bela Lugosi in "Bowery at Midnight," at 2:50, 5:30, 8:45. Secret Code.

BEVERLY 15th and E Sts. N.E. LI. 2300. Mat. 1 P. M.
Parking Space Available to Patrons.
Richard Greene in "Flying Fortress," at 1:00, 2:55, 4:45, 6:40, 8:15, 9:50. Overland Mail, Cartoon.

CALVERT 2324 Wisc. Ave. N.W. WO. 2345. Mat. 1 P.M.
Parking Space Available to Patrons.
Richard Greene in "Flying Fortress," at 1:00, 2:50, 4:45, 6:40, 8:15, 9:50. Overland Mail (mat. only) cartoon.

CENTRAL 425 9th St. N.W. MET. 2341. Open 9:45
Pat O'Brien, George Murphy in "Navy Comes Through," at 10:28, 1:40, 5:00, 8:15. Hedy Lamarr, Walter Pidgeon in "White Cargo," at 11:45, 3:00, 6:20, 9:35.

COLONY 4935 Ga. Ave. N.W. GE. 6500. Mat. 1 P.M.
Diana Barrymore, Robert Cummings in "Between Us Girls," at 1:25, 3:25, 5:30, 7:30, 9:35. Overland Mail.

HOME 1230 C St. N.E. TR. 8188. Mat. 1 P. M.
Johnny Mack Brown, Tex Ritter in "Little Joe, the Wrangler," at 1:30, 4:00, 6:30, 9:00. Wallace Ford, Luana Walters in "Inside the Law," at 2:30, 5:00, 7:30, 10:00. Secret Code, Cartoon

KENNEDY Kennedy Nr. 4th N.W. RA. 6000. Mat. 1 P.M.
Parking Space Available to Patrons.
Pat O'Brien, George Murphy in "Navy Comes Through," at 1:50, 4:05, 6:20, 8:00, 9:45. G-Men vs. Black Dragon.

PENN Pa. Ave. at 7th S.E. FR. 5300. Mat. 1 P.M.
Parking Space Available to Patrons.
Richard Greene in "Flying Fortress," at 1:00, 2:55, 4:45, 6:40, 8:15, 9:50. Spirit of West Point, Overland Mail.

SAVOY 3030 14th St. N.W. COL. 4948. Mat. 1 P.M.
John Wayne, Anna Lee, John Carroll in "Flying Tigers," at 1:35, 3:35, 5:20, 7:20, 9:20.

SECO 8244 Ga. Ave., Silver Spring SH. 2540. Parking Space
Matinee 11 A. M.
Lynn Roberts, George Holmes in "Man in the Trunk," at 11:15, 2:15, 6:45, 9:45. Constance Bennett, Broderick Crawford in "Sin Town," at 12:45, 3:45, 6:45, 9:45. Overland Mail, cartoon.

SHERIDAN Ga. & Sherman N.W. RA. 9400. Mat. 1 P.M.
Ann Miller, Jerry Colonna in "Priorities on Parade," at 1:50, 4:00, 6:05, 7:50, 9:35. Adv. of Smiling Jack.

SILVER Ga. Ave. & Colesville Pike SH. 5500. Mat. 1 P. M.
Parking Space Available to Patrons.
Richard Greene in "Flying Fortress," at 1:50, 3:50, 5:50, 7:50, 9:50.

TAKOMA 4th & Butternut Sts. GE. 4312. Park. Space
Matinee 1 P. M.
Irene Hervey, Kent Taylor in "Halfway to Shanghai," at 1:00, 3:40, 6:20, 8:45. Basil Rathbone, Evelyn Ankers in "Sherlock Holmes and Voice of Terror," at 2:05, 4:45, 7:25, 9:50. Overland Mail (mat. only) cartoon.

TIVOLI 14th & Park Road N.W. COL. 1800 Mat. 1 P.M.
Richard Greene in "Flying Fortress," at 1:45, 3:55, 6:05, 8:00, 9:50.

UPTOWN Conn. & Newark N.W. WO. 8400 Mat. 1 P.M.
George Sanders, Herbert Marshall in "Moon and Sixpence," at 1:40, 3:40, 5:40, 7:40, 9:45. Pete Smith Novelty.

YORK Ga. Ave. & Quebec Pl. N.W. RA. 4400. Mat. 1 P.M.
Dead End Kids in "Mistown," at 1:55, 4:00, 5:55, 7:55, 9:55. King of Mounties.

HYATTSVILLE Wash.-Balt. Blvd. Hyattsville, Md.
WA. 9776. Hyatts. 0222. Free Parking
Double Feature—Richard Dix in "TOMBSTONE, THE TOWN TOO TOUGH TO DIE."
Eddie Bracken, June Preisser in "SWEATER GIRL."

BETHESDA 7719 Wisconsin Ave. Bethesda, Md.
WI. 2868 or BR. 9636. Free Parking
Double Feature—Richard Dix in "TOMBSTONE, THE TOWN TOO TOUGH TO DIE."
Jean Parker, John Archer in "HI NEIGHBOR."
On stage in person at 2:46, 7:14, 9:13:
HAPPY JOHNNY AND HIS WBAL RADIO GANG

CIRCLE 2105 Pa. Ave. N.W. RE. 6184
Matinee 1 P.M. Continuous
Lloyd Nolan, Donna Reed in "APACHE TRAIL." Feature at 1:50, 4:00, 6:00, 8:05, 10:10. Also special added attraction, "MISS POLLY," shown at 1:10, 3:15, 5:15, 7:20, 9:25.

CONGRESS 2951 Nichols Ave. S.E. TR. 8700
William Tracy in "ABOUT FACE," at 1:07, 3:10, 5:15, 7:15, 9:20. Lloyd Nolan in "APACHE TRAIL," at 1:50, 3:55, 5:55, 8:00, 10:00.

FAIRLAWN 1342 Good Hope Rd. S.E. Lincoln 9193
Basil Rathbone in "SHERLOCK HOLMES AND THE VOICE OF TERROR." Also Comedy, cartoon, and Technicolor musical, "LA CUCARACHA."

HIGHLAND 2533 Pa. Ave. S.E. AT. 7811
Errol Flynn, Alexis Smith in "GENTLEMAN JIM," at 1:00, 3:10, 5:20, 7:25, 9:30. News and cartoon.

GREENBELT Adults 25c Free Park.
Double Feature
Roy Rogers in "SUNSET ON THE DESERT" and East Side Kids in "LET'S GET TOUGH." Continuous 2:30; last complete show at 9:00

HISER 6970 Wisc. Ave., Bethesda, Md. WI. 4848. BEadley 0165
Double Feature
At 1:15, 4:05, 6:55, 9:55.
Marjorie Main and Lee Bowman in "TISH," also George Sanders and Lyn Bari in "THE FALCON TAKES OVER," at 3:00, 5:55, 8:50.

LIDO 3227 M Street N.W.
Triple Attraction:
"MR. BUG GOES TO TOWN" (Technicolor)
"BILLY THE KID, SHERIFF OF SAGE VALLEY."
"PERILS OF NYOKA."

DUMBARTON 1349 Wis. Ave. N.W. Mich. 1184
Triple Attraction:
"THE QUARTERBACK" (Thrilling Football Story)
"VENGEANCE OF THE WEST."
"RIDERS OF DEATH VALLEY."

REED Phone ALex. 3445. Parking Space Available for Patrons
"WHITE CARGO."
Hedy Lamarr and Walter Pidgeon.

RICHMOND Ph. Alex. 9226 Mat. Daily at 1:30
"OMAHA TRAIL."
James Craig.

PARISH HALL McLean, Va. 3, 7, 9 P. M.
Jeanette MacDonald and Robert Young in "CAIRO."

STATE Ample Free Parking 2 to 11
"GENTLEMAN JIM."
Errol Flynn, Alexis Smith.

LEE A Treat for the Entire Family 2 to 11
"LONE PRAIRIE."
"BOSTON BLACKIE IN HOLLYWOOD."

WILSON 1720 Wilson Blvd. Phone OX. 1480. 1 to 11
"FOR ME AND MY GAL."
Judy Garland, George Murphy.

ASHTON 5166 Wilson Blvd.
Open Daily 12:45
"NEATH BROOKLYN BRIDGE."
East Side Kids.

BUCKINGHAM Glebe-Fersh. Dr. Phone OX. 0444
"WHO DONE IT?"
Bud Abbott and Lou Costello.

ARLINGTON Cor. Pike & S. Fillmore St. OX. 2900
"MY SISTER EILEEN."
Rosalind Russell.

VILLAGE 1307 Rhode Isl. Ave. N.E. Phone Mich. 9227
"WHITE CARGO."
Walter Pidgeon, Hedy Lamarr.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

NEWTON 12th & Newton Sts. N.W. Phone Mich. 1839
Double Feature:
"PRIORITIES ON PARADE," Ann Miller, Jerry Colonna.
"THE MAN IN THE TRUNK," Lynn Roberts, George Holmes.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

JESSE 18th nr. Rhode Isl. Ave. N.E. Phone DUpont 9861
Double Feature
"YOUTH ON PARADE."
John Hubbard, Martha O'Driscoll.
"HOME IN WYOMIN'"
Gene Autry, Smiley Burnette.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

SYLVAN First and R. I. Ave. N.W. Phone NOrth 9689
Double Feature:
"I LIVE ON DANGER."
Chester Morris, Jean Parker.
"APACHE TRAIL."
Lloyd Nolan, Donna Reed.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

ACADEMY 535 8th St. S.E. LI. 9616
Double Feature:
"X MARKS THE SPOT."
Damian O'Flynn, Helen Parrish.
"BOSS OF HANGTOWN MESA."
Johnny Mack Brown.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

STANTON 6th and C Sts. N.E.
Double Feature:
"THE OLD HOMESTEAD."
Weaver Brothers and Elviry.
"KING OF DODGE CITY."
Bill Elliott, Tex Ritter.
Matinee at 1 P. M.

APEX 48th St. and Mass. Ave. N.W. Phone WOodley 4600
Take the Crosstown Bus Direct to the Door. Doors Open at 12:30.
Errol Flynn, Alexis Smith in the story of Jim Corbett.
"GENTLEMAN JIM."
Also cartoons and latest war news, plus Chapter 12 of the serial, "Secret Code."
Feature at 2:00, 4:35, 7:05, 9:45.

ATLAS 1331 H St. N.E. AT. 8900
Cont. 11 A. M. to 11 P. M.
Double Feature Program.
The Dead End Kids in "MUG TOWN."
Plus:
"BERLIN CORRESPONDENT"
With Virginia Gilmore, Mona Maris.
Also Chapter No. 9 of the Serial, "King of the Mounties," showing matinee and evening. Also: A Surprise Show on the Stage at 2 P. M. only.

PRINCESS 1319 H St. N.E. TR. 9600
Cont. 11 A.M. to 11 P.M.
Double Feature Program.
"BAD MAN OF THE HILLS"
With Charles Starrett, Russell Hayden.
Plus:
"SMITH OF MINNESOTA"
With Bruce Smith, Arline Judge.
Also: Chapter No. 10 of the Serial, "Don Winslow of the Navy."

Washington's Newest Theater
SENATOR Minn. Ave. at Benning Rd. N.E. TR. 2600
Doors Open at 12:30.
"FOR ME AND MY GAL"
With Judy Garland, George Murphy.
Plus: Cartoon, "Serenade in Swing," and Latest War News.
Also, Final Chapter of the Serial, "Riders of Death Valley," and First Chapter of the New Serial, "Secret Code," at Matinee Only.

Buy War Bonds and Stamps at WARNER BROS. THEATERS
For Additional Information Phone Theaters Direct
ARLINGTON-FALLS CHURCH, VA. Information Phone OXford 1139—D. C. 1365
BERNHEIMER'S THEATERS
KOGOD AND BURKA THEATERS

PIX MIDNITE SHOW Tonite 12:30
2 FIRST-RUN THRILLERS
DE MARE GIRL TURNS INTO KILLER LEOPARD!
CAT PEOPLE
THE FALCON'S BROTHER with GEORGE SANDERS

BUY YOUR BONDS AND STAMPS AT ANY LOCAL THEATER

Davis Named To Important Senate Post

Senate Republicans yesterday appointed a prewar isolationist—James J. Davis of Pennsylvania—to the Foreign Relations Committee, which may have a powerful voice in deciding the type of peace to be ratified after the hoped-for 1944 victory.

They declined to exercise their right to another appointment which, on the basis of seniority, would have placed on the powerful committee a colleague who has been a firm supporter of the Administration's foreign policy—Warren R. Austin of Vermont.

The action came at what was termed a short harmony conference which reelected Charles L. McNary of Oregon as Senate minority leader and left undisturbed Austin's unofficial position as assistant minority leader.

Sought to Oust Austin

A group of Republicans reportedly had been gunning to oust Austin from this post because of his foreign-policy stand. McNary said, however, that the Austin issue was not raised. He pointed out that under Republican committee rules he (McNary) is vested with power to appoint an assistant minority leader, but had not exercised it.

Had the Republicans exercised their right to name two men to the committee, the Democrats would have had to withdraw one of their colleagues to make room for the second Republican. It was pointed out that when the Democrats came into power—and the G. O. P. had a preponderant membership—they did not require that any Republicans be taken off important committees to make way for the Democrats. Hence, it was explained, the Republicans were merely returning a courtesy.

G. O. P. Fights

A strong fight was made by Republican interventionists, notably Senator White of Maine, to have Austin named to the committee ahead of Davis, who is Austin's senior.

Davis told reporters yesterday that he is "neither an isolationist nor an interventionist." His pre-Pearl Harbor record includes votes against the original lend-lease authorization and compulsory military training.

He recalled that he was an onlooker at the Versailles Peace Conference and that he was the first American civilian to enter Germany after the Armistice. He went into Germany on a relief mission for the Loyal Order of Moose.

McNary Waived Post

Davis did not have first claim on the appointment. McNary was entitled to it by seniority, but he waived in favor of Davis. The Democrats have promised McNary the next vacancy on the committee. He is expected to waive his seniority rights again in favor of Austin.

The Republicans also were entitled to name three men to another important committee—appropriations. Instead they chose only two—Clyde Reed of Kansas and Harold Burton of Ohio.

McNary explained that while the Republicans technically were entitled to another position on both committees, they waived for the time being with the understanding they would exercise their right the next time a Democrat leaves the committees. This apparently was in keeping with the so-called reciprocal courtesy arrangement.

The conference also:

1. Re-elected Wallace H. White of Maine as conference secretary.

2. Authorized McNary to nominate Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan for Senate president pro tempore if the Democrats again submit the name of ailing Carter Glass of Virginia.

3. Indorsed McNary's agreement with Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley under which Republicans will have an average of two men to the Democrats' three on important committees, and the following committee assignments made by McNary on the basis of seniority:

Agriculture—Gerald P. Nye, N. Dak., Eugene Milliken, Colo., and Harlan J. Bushfield, S. Dak.

Banking and Currency—Arthur Capper, Kans., Joseph H. Ball., Minn., and C. Douglass Buck, Del.

Finance—John Thomas, Idaho, Hugh A. Butler, Nebr., and Millikin.

Military Affairs—Chapman Revercomb, W. Va.

Naval Affairs—Charles H. Tobey, N. H., and Raymond Willis, Ind.

Territories and Insular Affairs—Robert A. Taft, Ohio, Ralph O. Brewster, Me., and Butler.

She'll Christen S. S. Robinson

EMILY ROBIN MILLER,
15-year-old niece of the late United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson went down to Houston, Tex., this week to christen one of Uncle Sam's latest Liberty ships, in the name of her distinguished uncle. The ship Joe T. Robinson soon will be carrying war supplies to Uncle Sam's soldiers. Miss Miller's middle name was given her out of respect for Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who was Majority Leader of the Senate at the time of his death. Miss Miller lives in Little Rock, Ark.

U.S. Subs Take Heavy Toll of Enemy Ships

By the Associated Press

New York, Jan. 8.—American submarines are taking heavy toll of enemy-shipping in the war, the Navy announced today, but the total of ships destroyed is undoubtedly much larger than has been revealed.

The publicly announced figures were given as 150 Japanese ships listed by the Navy as hit, with 70 per cent sunk and the balance sunk or damaged.

Against that record, only five United States submarines have been reported lost, the Navy said. The Sea Lion was destroyed at Cavite Navy Yard in the Philippines, the old S-26 lost in a collision off Panama, and the Shark, Perch and Grunion were listed as "overdue and presumably lost."

The Navy quoted a bare department communique: "United States submarines have reported the following results of operations against the enemy in Far Eastern waters—a destroyer sunk."

Story of How It Was Done

Then this story of the operation was told:

"On the bridge of a United States submarine a few weeks before this communique came from the Navy Department's press section, the officer of the deck chatted with one of his lookouts.

"Kelly, what do you make of it," he asked.

"Looks like the topworks of a destroyer, sir."

"I can't see it, but I'll take your word for it. How you can see a 'can' tonight is beyond me."

"Kelly's last name was Anastasia. His other nickname was "Cat's Eyes." Though his vision in the daytime was somewhat on the myopic side, at night this little lookout was without an equal.

The zigzagging Jap destroyer headed on in the direction of the patrolling United States submarine, which dived and watched the enemy vessel.

"Looks like a setup," said the skipper. "She'll never know what hit her."

The captain jockeyed the craft into position. "Fire one," he said. An almost imperceptible jar gently rocked the submarine as the oily torpedo shot from the tube.

Never Knew What Hit Her

"'Set 'em up in the other alley," directed the captain. Another "tin fish" was ready.

"Fire two." A pair of tremendous explosions lifted the Jap warship, ripped her hull and sent her down in the moonlight. The captain was right. The Jap had never known what hit her.

Aboard the submarine—Lieut. Comdr. Theodore C. Ayiward, U. S. N., commanding—there was jubilation, back slapping, hooting, yelling and cheering. This sinking, it was learned later, meant a Navy Cross for the skipper, a soft-spoken, brown-haired, lanky Kentuckian from Fort Thomas. It also meant promotions for four of the crew and a line in the department's communique.

The Navy also told the following story of another submarine, captained by Lieut. Comdr. William H. Brockman and assigned to patrol a mid-Pacific area:

In a week of monotonous patroling the crew became disgusted over the lack of action. On June 4, the submarine dived a little after 4 a. m. Later, Captain Brockman intercepted a message saying that many Jap planes were headed toward the spot where he was.

At about 8 a. m. the submarine saw masts on the horizon. In a few minutes four ships were visible—a Jap battleship and three cruisers. But Jap planes also had sighted the submarine and were spraying lead at its periscope.

The submarine kept boring in. The battleship was a scene of frantic activity. The battlewagon opened up with its whole broadside battery, seeking to blast the submarine out of the sea.

But as a torpedo sped toward the huge ship, the Jap turned sternmost and fled at full speed.

2 From District Will Be Listed in College Who's Who

William Wetmore of 3636 Fessenden Street Northwest, student at Duke University, and Miss Jane Almy Chapin of 3329 Runnymede Place Northwest, of the University of Maryland, will be listed in the annual publication, Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities for 1942-43, it was announced yesterday.

Wetmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wetmore, will receive his degree in mechanical engineering from Duke in April and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He was on the Dean's List and during his freshman and sophomore years was on the basketball squad.

Miss Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Chapin, is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, secretary-treasurer of the Student Government Association and secretary of Mortarboard.

D. C. Facing Shortage Of Poultry

With a serious poultry shortage threatening, whether because of seasonal shortages, increased demand, OPA regulations, or all three, District retail butchers yesterday reported a dearth of beef, lamb and veal.

While District poultry dealers mapped plans for an appeal to OPA to revise ceiling prices, the Office of Price Administration was planning yesterday for an investigation into a "black market" swelling through the Eastern seaboard in defiance of the OPA regulations.

Little hope for immediate betterment of the meat and poultry situation could be discovered in Washington yesterday. Many retail dealers said they had not felt any shortage of poultry yet, but the wholesalers declared that the shortage had not had time to hit retailers, but maintained they would begin to feel the pinch within a day or two.

Plenty of Pork

One ray of hope appeared on the horizon—there's plenty of pork in the markets for those that like pork.

The causes of the Washington shortages are numerous and confusing.

Many wholesalers here attribute the coming shortage to the OPA price ceilings under which they cannot operate profitably. Some are asserting that the OPA is forcing them out of business altogether.

Other poultry wholesalers say the shortage is seasonal, aggravated by increased demand because of the meat situation. Still other wholesalers claim that the chickens are a week behind in growth because the protein content of the food, meat scraps, cod liver oil, etc., is no longer available.

The Meat Problem

As to the meat shortage—lend-lease and military demands are usually listed as causative factors. Robert Wilson, secretary of the National Restaurant Association, threw in another cause last night. He says it's the major cause—the drafting of labor off the farms.

"We've just got to keep more men on the farms, or rather get men back on the farms, if we're going to feed our armed forces, our own population and part of the rest of the world besides. We can't raise food or meat without men."

Wilson declared that the restaurant association was keenly interested in helping meat and poultry dealers stay in business. "We are mutually dependent," he said.

From ten years experience dealing with Government officials, Wilson expressed confidence that if any of the governmental regulations are making it impossible for citizens to do business, the Government will alter the regulations, "if the facts are rightly presented."

DIED 1

ACKERT, BURNETT H. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at the Edmonston Home near Rockville, Md., BURNETT H. ACKERT, 81 years of age, member of the Columbia Typographical Union, 101, of Washington, D. C. Remains resting at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase funeral home of Wm. Reuben Pumphrey until 3 p. m., Saturday, January 9. Funeral services and interment Kingston, N. Y.

ALEIDER, JENNIE S. Suddenly, on Thursday, January 7, 1943, at her residence at 5406 Earlston Drive, Westgate, Md., JENNIE S. ALEIDER, beloved wife of the late John E. Aleider and mother of Mrs. Mabel D. Gates. Funeral from Harry M. Padgett's funeral home, 131 11th st. se., on Saturday, January 9, at 8:30 a. m. Requiem mass at St. Peter's Church at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment St. Mary's Cemetery.

BAER, GERTRUDE ROBINSON. On Friday, January 8, 1943, GERTRUDE ROBINSON BAER, of 5435 Conn. ave., beloved wife of Bernard Baer and devoted mother of Joan Baer. Remains resting at the Bernard Danzansky & Son funeral home, 3500 14th st. nw. Notice of funeral later.

BARNES, GEORGE P. On Wednesday, January 6, 1943, at his residence, 4309 8th st. nw., GEORGE P. BARNES, beloved husband of Clara B. Barnes and brother of Eugene Barnes of Philadelphia, Pa. Funeral from the chapel of P. A. Thalhimer, 436 7th st. nw., on Saturday, January 9, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery. Charter member of Petworth Lodge, No. 47, F. A. A. M.

BUCKINGHAM, ABRAM. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at Casualty Hospital, ABRAM BUCKINGHAM, beloved father of Lemuel C. Buckingham. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Saturday, January 9, at 12 noon. Interment Woodbine, Md.

BURROUGHS, SAMUEL. On Friday, January 8, 1943, SAMUEL BURROUGHS, husband of the late Elizabeth Burrouns. Services at Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin st. nw., on Monday, January 11, at 10 a. m. Interment George Washington Memorial Cemetery.

CHRISTIAN, Aviation Cadet CONRAD W. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at Bainbridge, Ga., Aviation Cadet CONRAD W. CHRISTIAN, beloved son of Maj. and Mrs. Earl H. Christian and brother of Constance and Carol Christian, formerly of Georgetown, D. C. Remains resting at Chambers Georgetown funeral home. Services at St. John's Episcopal Church, Potomac and O sts. nw., on Monday, January 11, at 9:30 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Arlington National Cemetery.

DAVIS, IRENE DOUGLASS. Suddenly, on Wednesday, January 6, 1943, at her residence, 1313 Euclid st. nw., IRENE DOUGLASS DAVIS, beloved wife of the late Calvin C. Davis, sr.; mother of John Douglass, Martha W., Calvin C., Mary W., George A. and Margaret I. Davis, and great-aunt of William W. and John R. Stapler. Remains resting at the above residence until Saturday, January 9, at 9:30 a. m. Mass at St. Paul's Church, 16th and V sts. nw., at 10 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Fort Lincoln Cemetery. Services by Chambers.

DENHAM, WALTER E. On Wednesday, January 6, 1943, WALTER E. DENHAM, beloved brother of Randolph Denham and Rosa L. Haas. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Monday, January 11, at 1 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Georgetown Cemetery, A.

DENTON, ALMA M. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at her residence, 1410 G st. se., ALMA M. DENTON, beloved wife of Thomas J. Denton and sister of Walter Nezrell and Mrs. Annie Rowe. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Monday, January 11, at 11:30 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery.

DICE, HARRY. On Wednesday, January 6, 1943, HARRY DICE, beloved brother of George W. and James Dice, Mrs. Hailey Rogers and Mrs. Catherine Hough. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Saturday, January 9, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Congressional Cemetery.

DOYLE, ELLIS COFFER. Suddenly, on Thursday, January 7, 1943, ELLIS COFFER DOYLE of Branchville, Md., brother of Mrs. Evie Fleshman, Mrs. Annie Taylor, Walter Doyle, Mrs. Bessie Gates and Frank Elton Doyle. Services at Chambers Riverdale funeral home on Saturday, January 9, at 1:30 p. m. Interment Ivy Hill Cemetery, Laurel, Md.

EDELEN, AMIE M. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at her residence, Silesia, Md., AMIE M. EDELEN, beloved wife of Richard D. Edelen and mother of Edwin Edelen. Funeral from the above residence on Monday, January 11, at 8 a. m. Requiem high mass at St. Mary's Church, Piscataway, Md., at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment church cemetery.

DENHAM, WALTER E. On Wednesday, January 6, 1943, WALTER E. DENHAM, beloved brother of Randolph Denham and Rosa L. Haas. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Monday, January 11, at 1 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Georgetown Cemetery, A.

DENTON, ALMA M. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at her residence, 1410 G st. se., ALMA M. DENTON, beloved wife of Thomas J. Denton and sister of Walter Nezrell and Mrs. Annie Rowe. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Monday, January 11, at 11:30 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery.

DICE, HARRY. On Wednesday, January 6, 1943, HARRY DICE, beloved brother of George W. and James Dice, Mrs. Hailey Rogers and Mrs. Catherine Hough. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Saturday, January 9, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Congressional Cemetery.

DOYLE, ELLIS COFFER. Suddenly, on Thursday, January 7, 1943, ELLIS COFFER DOYLE of Branchville, Md., brother of Mrs. Evie Fleshman, Mrs. Annie Taylor, Walter Doyle, Mrs. Bessie Gates and Frank Elton Doyle. Services at Chambers Riverdale funeral home on Saturday, January 9, at 1:30 p. m. Interment Ivy Hill Cemetery, Laurel, Md.

EDELEN, AMIE M. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at her residence, Silesia, Md., AMIE M. EDELEN, beloved wife of Richard D. Edelen and mother of Edwin Edelen. Funeral from the above residence on Monday, January 11, at 8 a. m. Requiem high mass at St. Mary's Church, Piscataway, Md., at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment church cemetery.

FLESHMAN, DOW E. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, DOW E. FLESHMAN, beloved husband of Rose Fleshman. Graveside services at Arlington National Cemetery on Monday, January 11, at 1 p. m. Friends are invited to call at the W. W. Deal funeral home, 4812 Georgia ave. nw. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Arlington National Cemetery.

LORD, GEORGE HARRISON. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at the Washington Sanitarium, GEORGE HARRISON LORD, beloved husband of Olive Lord and father of Harrison Luther Lord, Miss Dorothy Lord and Mrs. Claris R. Hallidweil. Services at the Takoma Funeral Home, 254 Carroll st., Takoma Park, D. C., on Sunday, January 10, at 2 p. m. Interment George Washington Memorial Park.

GRAHAM, HORACE A. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at his residence, 202 Shepherd st., Chevy Chase, Md., HORACE A. GRAHAM, beloved husband of Laura W. Graham and father of Mrs. Charles E. Detmer of Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. John H. Halley of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. M. R. Weigle of Kensington, Md.; Julian P. Graham of Monterey, Calif., and David E. Graham of Manila, Philippine Islands. Services at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw., on Monday, January 11, at 1 p. m. Interment Glenwood Cemetery.

GRIMM, JOHN S. Suddenly, on Thursday, January 7, 1943, JOHN S. GRIMM, beloved husband of Lucille P. Grimm (nee Emory). Funeral from his late residence, 1846 Upsbur st. nw., Monday, January 11, at 9 a. m. Interment Loudon Park Cemetery, Baltimore, Md.

HACKMAN, CARRIE G. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at her residence, 1236 11th st. nw., Mrs. CARRIE G. HACKMAN, beloved sister of Emma A. Devendorf and Mary Frances Dunton. Remains resting at Hysong's funeral home, 1900 M st. nw., where services will be held on Sunday, January 10, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Interment private.

IRISH, NELLIE WALKER. On Thursday January 7, 1943, at Sibley Memorial Hospital, NELLIE WALKER IRISH, beloved wife of the late Marshall Hugh Irish and mother of Frederick W. Irish. Friends may call at the Lee funeral home, 4th st. and Mass. ave. ne., where services will be held on Saturday, January 9, at 1 p. m. Interment Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

KIDWELL, MARY J. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at Georgetown Hospital, MARY J. KIDWELL of 1801 Foxhall rd. nw., wife of the late Lewis N. Kidwell and sister of Mrs. Bertha E. Maddox and Mrs. John W. Tallentire. Services at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw., on Saturday, January 9, at 11 a. m. Interment Oakton, Va.

KIRK, ANNIE B. Suddenly, on Wednesday, January 6, 1943, at the home of her son, Rudolph Kirk, Shelton, N. J., ANNIE B. KIRK, widow of Charles F. Kirk. Memorial services at Friends Meeting House, Sandy Spring, on Sunday, January 10, at 12 noon.

LITTLEFIELD, CHARLES WEBSTER. On Saturday, January 2, 1943, at American Hospital, Paris, France, CHARLES WEBSTER LITTLEFIELD, beloved husband of ary Ashe Littlefield, of Fonda, N. Y. Interment Pere la Chaise Cemetery, Paris.

LOURIM, JOHN DWIGHT. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at Otsego, N. C., JOHN DWIGHT LOURIM. Funeral services at Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin st. nw. Notice of funeral later.

LOVE, THOMAS BUCHANAN. Suddenly, on Friday, January 8, 1943, at his residence, 1525 8 st. nw., THOMAS BUCHANAN LOVE, beloved husband of Lydia Janney Love. Services will be held at his home Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

MERRICK, EARNEST M. On Friday, January 8, 1943, EARNEST M. MERRICK. Services at Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin st. nw., on Monday, January 11, at 2 p. m. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery.

OWENS, MARGARET (MAGGIE). On Wednesday, January 6, 1942, at her home, Old Germantown, Md., MARGARET (MAGGIE) OWENS, beloved wife of George T. Owens. Remains resting at Gartner's funeral home, Gaithersburg, Md. Funeral services on Saturday, January 9, at 2 p. m., at Neelsville Presbyterian Church. Interment church cemetery.

PARKER, JOSEPH M. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, JOSEPH M. PARKER, beloved son of Grace D. and the late Dr. Joseph M. Parker. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Monday, January 11, at 10 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Notice of interment later.

PERRY, DR. BENJAMIN C. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at Georgetown University Hospital, DR. BENJAMIN C. PERRY of 7200 Hampden Lane, Bethesda, Md., husband of Mrs. M. N. Perry. Remains resting at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase funeral home of Wm. Reuben Pumphrey. Funeral services at St. John's Episcopal Church, Bradley lane, on Sunday, January 10, at 3:30 p. m. Interment private.

PLUMMER, MARGARET JULIA. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at her home, 509 K st. ne., MARGARET JULIA PLUMMER, beloved wife of Clarence Plummer. Remains resting at Gartner's funeral home, Gaithersburg, Md. Funeral services, Sunday, January 10, at 2:30 p. m., at the Grace Methodist Church, Gaithersburg, Md. Interment Forest Oak Cemetery.

SILL, WALTER E. On Thursday, January 7, 1943, at his residence, 2301 Nicholson st. se., WALTER E. SILL, beloved husband of Catherine A. Sill. Funeral from the above residence on Saturday, January 9, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery.

TURNER, WALTER H. On Friday, January 8, 1943, WALTER H. TURNER, beloved husband of Frances S. Turner and nephew of Marion E. Grimes. Funeral from the W. W. Deal funeral home, 4812 Georgia ave. nw., Monday, January 11, at 11 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Rock Creek Cemetery.

WATERS, SOPHRONIA. On Friday, January 8, 1943, at her residence, 3115 Mount Pleasant st. nw., SOPHRONIA WATERS, sister of Archibald C. Waters and aunt of Nellie L. Freesburg. Remains resting at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw. Services at the above funeral home on Monday, January 11, at 2 p. m. Interment Glenwood Cemetery.

WELSH, EDWARD R. On Monday, January 4, 1943, EDWARD R. WELSH, beloved husband of the late Mary Welsh and father of Raymond Welsh. Funeral from the W. W. Deal funeral home, 4812 Georgia ave. nw. Notice of time later.

—Deaths—

Announcements of Services by Chambers

Deceased	Undertaker
Dice, Harry	W. W. Chambers Co.
Davis, Irene Douglass	W. W. Chambers Co.
Buckingham, Abram	W. W. Chambers Co.
Doyle, Ellis C.	W. W. Chambers Co.
Parker, Joseph M.	W. W. Chambers Co.
Jennings, Charles C.	W. W. Chambers Co.
Kelly, Josephine	W. W. Chambers Co.
Schirmer, Katherine	W. W. Chambers Co.
Merrick, Ernest M.	W. W. Chambers Co.
Burroughs, Samuel	W. W. Chambers Co.
Taylor, Sarah E.	W. W. Chambers Co.
Denton, Alma	W. W. Chambers Co.
Christian, Conrad	W. W. Chambers Co.

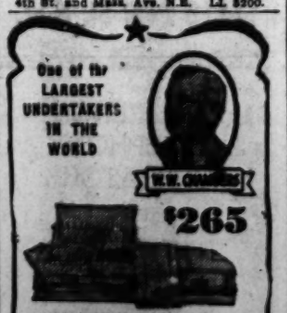
FUNERAL DESIGNS 2

GUDE BROS. CO., Florists
1212 F St. N.W. National 4276.

Geo. C. Shaffer 900 14th St. N.W.
Phone NA. 6106.
Expressive Floral Tributes, Moderate Prices.
Open Evenings and Sundays.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS 3

J. WILLIAM LEE'S SONS CO.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS.
CREMATORIUM
4th St. and Mass. Ave. N.E. LI. 8200.



Complete Funeral with 60 Services
For many years W. W. Chambers has maintained excellence of service and quality at low cost. In spite of rising costs, Chambers still offers fine funerals for less.

Chambers

14th at Chapin N.W. CO. 0428
3977 M St. N.W. MI. 0123
517 11th St. S.E. AT. 0700
Riverdale, Maryland WA. 1331

LEGAL NOTICES 4

DEAN HILL STANLEY, Attorney.
910 Shoreham Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding a Probate Court. Estate of Daniel A. Hickey, deceased. No. 61049. Administration Docket 130. Application having been made herein for probate of the last will and testament of said deceased, and for letters testamentary on said estate by Ruth T. Hickey, it is ordered this 6th day of January, A. D. 1943, that John Edward Hickey and Donald Francis Hickey, minors, and Ruth T. Hickey, custodian of said infants, and all others concerned, appear in said Court on MONDAY, the 18th day of February, A. D. 1943, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause why such application should not be granted. Let notice hereof be published in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post once in each of three successive weeks before the return day herein mentioned, the first publication to be not less than thirty days before said return day. Witness, the Honorable EDWARD C. EICHER, Chief Justice of said Court, this 6th day of January, A. D. 1943. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 9.16.23

WILLIAM C. ASHFORD, Attorney.
Investment Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding Probate Court. No. 61014. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the State of Maryland, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia ancillary letters testamentary on the estate of Robert T. J. Barber, late of the State of Maryland, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 16TH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1943; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 16th day of December, 1942. VIRGINIA B. JONES, Leonardtown, Maryland. Attest: (Seal.) KELLA A. BROWN, Deputy Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 26.2.9

FREDERICK S. TYLER and J. FONTAINE HALL, Attorneys.
Woodward Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia holding Probate Court. No. 59509. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscribers, who were by the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia granted letters testamentary on the estate of Minna S. Johnson, deceased, have, with the approval of the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, holding a Probate Court, appointed MONDAY, the 18th day of January, 1943, at 10 o'clock a. m., as the time, and said Court room as the place, for making payment and distribution from said estate, under the Court's direction and control, when and where all creditors and persons entitled to distributive shares or legacies or the residue, or parts thereof, are notified to attend, in person or by agent or attorney duly authorized, with their claims against the estate properly vouched. Given under their hands this 31st day of December, A. D. 1942. ROBERT BAIRD, A. GEARY JOHNSON, NATIONAL SAVINGS AND TRUST COMPANY. By B. L. COLTON, Vice President. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 26.2.9

J. E. SINDERMAN, Attorney.
Woodward Building.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the District of Columbia. Dora Lobel Markowitz, 1826 Irving St., N.W., plaintiff, vs. Isaac Markowits, 1346 Crotonia Ave., Bronx, New York, defendant. No. 17876. The object of this suit is to obtain an absolute divorce on the grounds of desertion. On motion of the plaintiff, it is the 30th day of December, 1942, ordered that the defendant, Isaac Markowitz, cause his appearance to be entered herein on or before the fortieth day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, occurring after the day of the first publication of this order; otherwise the cause will be proceeded with as in case of default. Provided, a copy of this order be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post before said day. EDWARD C. EICHER, Chief Justice. Attest: (Seal.) CHARLES E. STEWART, Clerk. By HILDA MARIE GOWEN, Deputy Clerk. 2.9.16

THEODORE D. PEYSER, Attorney.
842 Investment Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding Probate Court. No. 60843. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the District of Columbia, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia letters of administration c. t. a. on the estate of Mary F. Adams, late of the District of Columbia, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 14TH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1943; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 17th day of December, 1942. THEODORE D. PEYSER, 842 Investment Building. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 26.2.9

HAMILTON & HAMILTON, Attorneys.
Union Trust Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding Probate Court. No. 60863. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the District of Columbia, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia letters testamentary on the estate of Henry C. Fuller, late of the District of Columbia, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 6th DAY OF JANUARY, A. D. 1944; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 6th day of January, 1943. JOSEPHA M. FULLER, 3704 Huntington Street Northwest. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 9.16.23

JOHN A. BRESNAHAN, Attorney.
622 Tower Building,
Washington, D. C.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding Probate Court. No. 61071. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the State of Virginia, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia, letters of administration on the estate of John Alton Cook, late of the District of Columbia, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 30TH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1943; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 30th day of December, 1942. JAMES B. COOK, 2806 Monument Ave., Richmond, Virginia. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 9.16.23

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the District of Columbia.—Notice of Limited Partnership: No. 135. Notice is hereby given that the partnership hereinafter named, now being all of the general and special partners of a limited partnership formed pursuant to the laws of the State of New York, and desiring to continue to do business in the District of Columbia as a limited partnership, has filed in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court for the District of Columbia a certificate of limited partnership which contains the terms thereof. The name of the firm under which such partnership is to be conducted is SMITH, BARNEY & CO. The general nature of the business intended to be transacted is that of underwriters, distributors and custodians of, and brokers and dealers in, stocks, bonds and other securities and investments of every kind and character, including grain and other commodities. The names of all the general and special partners interested therein distinguishing which are general and which are special partners, and their respective places of residence are as follows: (Special Partners) Henry E. Butler, P. O. Box 111, Red Bank, N. J.; Philemon Dickinson, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia County, Pa.; Edwin A. Fish, Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.; John W. Castles, Convent, N. J.; (General Partners) Joseph R. Swan, 435 E. 52d St., New York, N. Y.; Radcliffe Haughton, Jr., Orchard, Pa.; Charles S. Chesten, Skippack Pike, Whitemarsh, Pa.; J. Ford Johnson, jr., Ambassador Hotel, Park Avenue and 51st St., New York, N. Y.; John W. Cutler, 56 E. 80th St., New York, N. Y.; Edwin A. Fish, Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.; Burnett Walker, 1021 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.; Charles B. Harding, Rumson, N. J.; Edward B. Smith, jr., "Sweetwaters," Providence Road, Edgemont, Pa.; Irving D. Fish, Fox Run Lane, Greenwich, Conn.; Fred E. Koechlin, 641 Union Avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.; W. Edwin Williams, 900 Charlotte Road, Plainfield, N. J.; Edward C. Sayers, Washington Lane, Meadowbrook, Pa.; Ralph B. Johnson, 50 E. 10th St., New York, N. Y.; William Barclay Harding, Holmdel, N. J.; Ogden Phipps, Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y.; Karl Weisheit, 221 Boulevard, Mountain Lakes, N. J.; Phillip W. Brown, Haddon Road, Scarsdale, N. Y. The amount of capital which each special partner shall have contributed to the partnership is as follows: Henry E. Butler, $250,000; Philemon Dickinson, $100,000; Edwin A. Fish, $400,000, John W. Castles, $200,000. The period at which the partnership is to commence and the period at which it is to terminate is as follows: The partnership formed at the close of business on December 31, 1937, shall continue from and after the close of business on December 31, 1942, for the term of one year to and including December 31, 1943, subject to earlier termination upon certain contingencies set forth in said certificate. Filing the certificate as aforesaid and this publication are occasioned by the retirement of Harcourt Amory as a general partner at the close of business on December 31, 1942.

LEGAL NOTICES 4

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

JAMES A. CROOKS, Attorney.
Washington Loan & Trust Bldg.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding a Probate Court. Estate of Sidney S. Suit, deceased. No. 61026, Administration Docket 130. Application having been made herein for probate of the last will and testament of said deceased and for letters of administration c. t. a. on said estate by Nellie Marie Suit, it is ordered this 29th day of December, A. D. 1942, that William R. Suit, John Suit and the unknown heirs at law and next of kin of Sidney S. Suit, deceased, and all others concerned, appear in said court on MONDAY, the 8th day of February, A. D. 1943, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause why such application should not be granted. Let notice hereof be published in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post once in each of three successive weeks before the return day herein mentioned, the first publication to be not less than thirty days before said return day. Witness, the Honorable EDWARD C. EICHER, Chief Justice of said Court, this 29th day of December, A. D. 1942. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 2.9,16

WALTER M. BASTIAN, Attorney.
National Press Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding Probate Court. No. 60770 Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the District of Columbia, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia letters testamentary on the estate of Clara Pennington, late of the District of Columbia, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 4TH DAY OF JANUARY, A. D. 1944; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 5th day of January, 1943. WILLIAM N. PAYNE, Jr., 336 Pennsylvania Avenue Southeast. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 9.16.23

C. RUDOLF PETERSON, Attorney.
Munsey Building.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Columbia, holding a Probate Court. No. 60908. Administration. This is to give notice that the subscriber, of the District of Columbia, has obtained from the Probate Court of the District of Columbia, letters testamentary on the estate of Harry Michael, late of the District of Columbia, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 28TH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1943; otherwise they may by law be excluded from all benefit of said estate. Given under my hand this 28th day of December, 1942. MARIE TURNER MICHAEL, 3900 Conn. Ave., N.W. Attest: (Seal.) VICTOR S. MERSCH, Register of Wills for the District of Columbia, Clerk of the Probate Court. 2.9,16

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the District of Columbia. In re application of Abe Osofsky for change of name, Civil Action No. 18127. Abe Osofsky, having filed a complaint for a judgment changing his name to Abe Berlin and having applied to the Court for an order of publication of the notice required by law in such cases, it is, by the Court, this 22d day of December, 1942, ordered that all persons concerned show cause, if any there be, on or before the 6TH DAY OF JANUARY,

HELP, MEN 16

Continued From Preceding Page.

BARBER—Steady; good for $55 week; two barbers for Sundays. 3545 Georgia ave.

BARBER

For Payne's Barber Shop in Annandale. Guarantee $35 week. Phone ALex. 1778.

BARBER—Good salary; steady employment; day work only. Apply in person. Army War College Exchange, Army War College, 4th and P sts. sw.

BARBER—Steady; $40 guarantee. Fox Shop, 1344 G st. nw.

BARBER, $35 guar. and comm.; 65c shop. 5851 N. Wash. blvd., Arlington, Va.

BARBER—Steady; $40 guar.; comm. 65 per cent. 2438½ 18th st. nw.

BARBER to take second chair; good guar.; 65%; short hours. 5307 Georgia ave.

BICYCLE MECHANIC

Must be experienced; permanent position; good pay.

APPLY
738 9TH ST. N.W.

BOOKKEEPER

25 to 30 years, who is experienced in bookkeeping procedure; prefer young man who is draft-exempt; good opportunity with good corporation. Apply in person to Mr. Smith, 1337 E st. nw., 9 to 4 weekdays.

BOOTBLACK, $22.50 guar., tips as good. 2480 16th st. nw., Dorchester House.

BRANCH ASSISTANTS

Boys over 15 for circulation work. Apply to Mr. Woodward, 1346 H st. nw., between 4 and 8 p. m.

CIGAR AND DRUG CLERK. Excellent opportunity. Striner's. TR. 7666.

COLLECTORS (2)

PERMANENT POSITION
GOOD SALARY

EXPERIENCED MEN ONLY
MR. CRILLEY
209 WOODWARD BLDG.
NA. 2003

DISHWASHER or bus boy. Langmead's Arm-Chair Lunch, 831 14th st. nw.

DISHWASHER

Sober; 4-10 p. m. daily; 2-10 p. m. Sunday; meals included; $14. Apply between noon and 2 p. m.

WILSON'S
8636 Colesville Rd., Silver Spring, Md.

DRIVERS

Sales promotion man; 5-day week. Must have D. C. permit. Apply 1121 5th st. nw.

ERRAND BOY

Colored; steady job. Apply
RINALDI & SCOGNA
1403 H ST. N.W.

FLOOR MANAGERS

2 or 3 nights a week; experience not necessary.
CLARENDON BOWLING CENTER.
1047 North Irving St. Arlington, Va.

FOOD CHECKER

Wanted at once—hours 5 to 2 a. m.; good pay; no Sunday work; steady job. Apply Chef,
Madrillon Restaurant
Wash. Bldg., 15th and New York Ave. N.W.

GAS STATION attendant with experience. Good salary. Apply 3015 12th st. ne.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES

living in nearby Virginia who have light car for part-time work evenings; salary; pleasant work, no soliciting or canvassing. Apply by letter giving telephone number for personal interview. Box 137, Wash. Post.

GUARD (MALE)

Trustworthy, dependable man to guard building. Permanent position. Forty-hour week. Inside work. In reply give age, qualications, experience, telephone if any and address. References required. Good salary. Box 127, Washington Post.

JANITOR

Full-time ob. Must be able to do painting and general repair work. 1021 7th nw.

LABORERS

Apply Defense Housing Project, 4800 Nichols Ave. S.W.

MACHINISTS AND INSTRUMENT MAKERS

Apply Bowen & Co., 4708 Bethesda ave., Bethesda, Md.

MAIL ROOM WORKER, EXPERIENCED. PLEASANT WORKING CONDITIONS. SALARY OPEN. MRS. BALL, DE. 1050.

MESSENGERS

With or without bicycles; 16 years or over. 929 H st nw.

PORTER

for delivery. Apply Schulze's Pharmacy, 1832 Columbia rd. nw.

PRESSER for dry-cleaning department; good salary. Apply STERLING LAUNDRY, 1021 27th st nw.

RESTAURANT HELP

All types. Washington Restaurant Association, 2003 Eye st. NO FEES.

SUBSCRIPTION SALESMEN

Full time or part time. Good commissions for a few hours evenings. Salary and commissions for full time. Apply in person to Mr. Abernethy at 2037 K Street N.W., 9:30 to 11 A. M., or phone ORdway 1657 after 7 P. M.

COUNTER MEN

18-50 YEARS OLD

Little Tavern Shops, Inc.

Interviews—Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, 10 A.M.-12 Noon. Also Monday, Wednesday, 6-8 P.M.

Apply Room 210, Homer Bldg. 13th and F Sts. N.W.

FOR INFORMATION, call SLiso 6500

THE SHOREHAM HOTEL
2500 Calvert St. N.W.

DISHWASHERS

Good wages, meals and uniforms

Dependable workers will find quick advancement.

APPLY
STEWARD'S DESK

MANAGERS

Men with or without previous newspaper circulation experience to manage home delivery district for The Washington Post. Permanent position with excellent opportunity for advancement. Must have automobile. Salary and car allowance ad. Apply in person to Mr. Lyerly at 2813 16th Street N.E., between 4 and 6 P. M., or phone DUpont 1756 for appointment.

HELP, MEN 16

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

RELIEF CLERK for Saturdays and Sundays. Hamilton Hotel Cigar Stand, 14th and K sts. nw.

Refrigeration Mechanic

Commercial installation and service experience.

KOGOD-DUBB
STORE FIXTURE CO.
1711 14th St. N.W.

RESTAURANT HELP

White counterman, kitchen help; good meals, good wages. Wearley's, 418 12th st. nw.

SALESMEN

FOR RUGS AND CARPETS
EXPERIENCE UNNECESSARY
SALARY. CALL HO. 9278

STATISTICAL CLERK, $150

Advancement for Competent Man.
ADAMS AGCY., 204 Colo. Bldg., 14th & G.

STENOGRAPHER

Immediately $150 Month.
Bradshaw Placement Service
1420 New York Ave. N.W.

TRUCK DRIVERS

White, to drive trucks and learn business. $18 per week to start.
Good Chance for Advancement
Apply 1235 10th St. N.W.

TRUCK DRIVERS COLORED

for trash and ash routes. Good wages and advancement for steady men. Apply BOWIE'S
510 Delaware Ave. S.W.

WINDOW ASSISTANT

Young man, 17-20, interested in learning window display work.

No experience necessary.

High school education required. Prefer young man with art training.

Apply 4th Floor
L. FRANK CO.
1200 F St. N.W.

Laundry Routeman

For established routes. Married man preferred. Excellent opportunity. Experience not necessary.

Q. & S. Laundry
Bladensburg, Md.

Shift Operator

For Service Station

Experienced

Good Salary Open to the Right Man

Apply

Burner's Esso Station
New York, New Jersey Avenues and Third St. N.W.

Working Chef

Medium Sized Hotel Kitchen.

Will fit salary to the right man.

Write Box M-887, Washington Post

PORTERS

Colored

Good opportunity for neat-appearing young men who know how to clean.

Lerner Shops
1111 F St. N.W.

MECHANICS . . .

MECHANICS' HELPERS

BODYMEN BODYMEN HELPERS
GAS ATTENDANTS
AND GREASE MEN

Wanted By The

PENNSYLVANIA GREYHOUND LINES

Attractive Wages

Apply 1345 New York Avenue N.E.

ATTENTION!!

COLORED MEN WANTED
TO LEARN BUILT-UP ROOFING

70c Per Hour to Start
STEADY WORK AND CHANCE FOR ADVANCEMENT TRANSPORTATION FURNISHED

Apply

N. W. MARTIN & BROS.
ROSSLYN, VA.

HELP, MEN 16

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

TRUCK DRIVER

Colored. Local Experience.
1021 7th St. N.W.

UPHOLSTERER

to take charge of department. Good pay. 3402 Rhode Island ave. ne. UNion 0811.

USHERS DOORMEN

Apply
EARLE THEATER
ROOM 732
8 P. M.

PART-TIME WORK — Men with light panel delivery trucks who are interested in working from 3:30 to 7:30 a. m. See Mr. Smith, Washington Post Bldg., 1337 E st. nw., or call NA. 4200, Ext. 311, 9 to 11 a. m.

WE CAN USE two middle-aged colored men to sell subscriptions; good pay for sober, aggressive men. See Mr. Abernethy at 2037 K st. nw., 9:30 to 11 a. m., or phone ORdway 1657 after 7 p. m.

ELEVATOR OPERATORS

Men—White

DEFERRED OR OVER DRAFT AGE

Apply in Person
TIMEKEEPER'S OFFICE
Mayflower Hotel

WANTED

2 YOUNG MEN
Colored

21 or over to work in beverage department of

SHOREHAM HOTEL

Apply
Mr. Ware—Wine Room

Part-Time
Experienced

Hotel Clerk and Night Auditor

For Relief Work
Salary and Meals

Hotel Martinique
1211 16th St. N.W.

Construction Men

on Housing Project

Openings for construction superintendent, construction estimator, material checker, and others with experience on public or private housing projects. Please give information regarding recent projects on which you have been employed. Box 135, Washington Post.

Porters
Truck Drivers
Grocery Clerks
Meat Cutters

Short Hours, Good Pay

Apply

Shoreham Market
2618 Conn. Ave. N.W.

Branch Assistants

Boys over 16 years of age, white or colored, for early morning and evening work in Washington Post branches. Apply in person between 4 and 6 P. M. to Mr. Stein, 407 H Street N.E.

or to

Mr. Woodard, 1346 H Street N.E.

or to

Mr. Sherman, 210 7th Street S.E.

Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

HELP, MEN 16

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

HOUSEMEN

Several colored housemen; steady, year-round, inside job. Good pay.

Apply at Once
Housekeeper
Ambassador Hotel
14th and K Sts. N.W.

Collectors (2)

One full time and one part time to collect active monthly accounts for large publisher.

Experience not necessary.

Excellent commission and transportation allowance.

No selling or canvassing.

Write giving age, address, telephone number, hours you can devote and experience, if any.

Box 132, Washington Post

BRICKLAYERS
Common Laborers

Steady Work
All-Winter Job

Report Ready to Work at

KAYWOOD GARDENS
28th & Upshur Streets
Mount Rainier, Md.

DRIVER

For Linen Service Route

Apply after 4 P. M.
Mr. Melia

Washington Linen Service
1805 Wisconsin Ave. N.W.

Draftsmen & Mechanical Engineers

For 100% Defense Work in Newark, N. J.

Must be experienced and have deferred classification

Do not apply if at war work at full skill

Box 136, 1457 Broadway, Suite 617 New York City

Manager and Assistant Manager in Alexandria

Men with or without previous newspaper circulation experience for home delivery districts of The Washington Post in Alexandria territory. Full time or part time. Must have automobile in good condition. Salary and car allowance paid. Apply in person to Mr. Mock, Washington Post Branch Office, 103 S. Washington Street, Alexandria, Virginia.

Wool Pressers
Wool Spotters
Asst. Dry Cleaner

Perfect Working Conditions
Day Work
Permanent Positions
Apply at Once

SOUTHERN DRY CLEANING CO.
223 N. Payne St.
Alex., Va.

HELP, WOMEN 18

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

SALES CLERK—Woman, for selling of artists' materials in old established firm. 40-hour week. ½-day Saturday. Phone NA. 6396 for appointment.

SEAMSTRESS

EXPERIENCED LADIES' AND MEN'S WORK. APPLY AT ONCE. DEPENDABLE CLEANERS, 2006 COLUMBIA PIKE, ARLINGTON, VA.

Stenographer; construction; $35-$40. Wood Agency, 710 14th N.W.

Stenogs.-typists; office personnel. ADAMS AGENCY, 204 Colo. Bldg., 14th-G.

STENOGRAPHER

Immediately, $150 Month
Bradshaw Placement Service
1420 New York Ave. N.W.

TYPIST

Experienced; 39-hour week; pleasant work. Telephone Mr. Ball, DE. 1060.

TYPISTS

Accuracy and speed required. Previous experience not necessary. Salary, hours and working conditions good. Include in reply age, experience if any, training, references, telephone if any, and address. Box 128, Washington Post.

TYPIST-GENERAL OFFICE WORKER

Some experience preferred; must be high school graduate. Call NA. 8418 for interview.

WAITRESSES

for part-time luncheon or dinner; excellent working conditions. No Sunday work. Apply
MAYFAIR RESTAURANT
327 13th St. N.W.

WAITRESSES

Good salary and tips. Meals and uniforms furnished. Apply
HARRIS HOTEL
17 Mass. Ave. N.W.

WAITRESSES
FOR FULL OR PART TIME

APPLY
SENATE RESTAURANT
IN THE U. S. CAPITOL

WOMEN

TO WORK AT SODA FOUNTAIN; DAY WORK ONLY; NO SUNDAYS, NO NIGHT WORK. APPLY SERVICE PHARMACY, 17TH AND EYE STS. N.W.

YOUNG WOMEN NEEDED for messenger work. Apply Western Union, 0317 New York ave. nw., second floor.

YOUNG LADY

For general office work; no experience necessary; permanent position.
Standard Cigar & Tobacco Co.
51 Eye St. N.E.

BOYD'S shorthand, typewriting saves time. BOYD'S SCHOOL, 1333 F ST. N.W.

INTERESTING position for intelligent young lady who enjoys meeting people. Apply Photograph Studio, downstair book store, S. Kann & Sons.

SALARY $30 WEEK

Hours, 9:30 to 5:30. ½-day Saturday every 5th week, all other Saturdays off. Interviews Saturday until 12:30 p. m. Monday until 5:30 p. m.
FREDERICK W. BERENS, INC.
1627 K St. N.W.

BRANCH CLERK

Woman, living in Alexandria, to handle telephone calls and do light clerical work in the Alexandria Branch Office of The Washington Post. Apply in person to Mr. Mock, 103 S. Washington Street, Alexandria, Va.

Women—If you don't find your position in the Help Wanted Column today—place a "Situation Wanted" Ad in The Post. A 3-line ad costs only 22 cents.

Bookkeeper-Stenographer, $30

Small Office; Complete Charge.
ADAMS AGCY., 204 Colo. Bldg., 14th & G.

BUS GIRLS
GLASS WASHERS (3)

Day work, 7 a. m. to 4 p. m.
RED CIRCLE FOOD SHOP
1 Mass. Ave. N.W.

CASHIER

Under 35 years of age, for mortgage loan office. One with insurance, bank, finance or real estate office experience preferred. Knowledge of bookkeeping and typing helpful.

CASHIER

FOR NIGHT WORK
CHILD'S RESTAURANT
1340 NEW YORK AVE. N.W.

CLERKS

Intelligent women for office work. Good salary and hours. Pleasant working conditions. Replies must include experience if any, age, telephone if any, address and references. Box 126, Washington Post.

CLERK-TYPIST

Position available for experienced girl in accounting department. Must be good typist. 5½-day week. Good working conditions. Apply in person to Mr. Smith, 1337 E st. nw., 9 to 4 p. m. weekdays.

COLOR ARTIST

for portrait work. Apply Gold Craft Portraits, 716 13th st. nw.

CREDIT WORK

Young girl, 20 to 30 years of age, who is experienced in collection procedure; must be good typist; 5½-day week position; good opportunity for advancement. Apply in person to Mr. Smith, 1337 E st. nw., 9 to 4 weekdays.

FOLDERS

Experienced only; good salary; steady position. Apply Miss Moran, Arcade Sunshine, 713 Lamont st. nw.

FOOD CHECKER

Wanted at once Food Checker. Hours 5 P. M. to 2 A. M. Good pay; no Sunday work. Steady job. Apply Chef—
Madrillon Restaurant
Wash. Bld., 15th & N. Y. Ave.

FOUNTAIN GIRL

Part time. Government employes can make extra money working 3 nights per week. Experience not necessary. Prefer one living in Arlington.
CLARENDON BOWLING CENTER.
1047 North Irving St. Arlington, Va.

GENERAL CLERK

Young girl, experienced in clerical routine with typing ability; must be able to type 45 to 50 words per minute; 5½-day-week position; in accounting department; good opportunity for advancement; interesting work. Apply in person to Mr. Smith, Washington Post Building, 1337 E st. nw., weekdays, 9 to 4.

LADIES, 20 to 35, white, hrs. 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., salary $25 week, neat appearing, to call on homes and record information. No selling. Mr. Rosser, NA. 6264, 1-7 p.m.

LADIES, 18 TO 45

$23.50 WEEKLY; REFINED CO-WORKERS AND CUSTOMERS. APPLY 3101 14TH ST. NW., 8:30 TO 8 P. M.
POPPINO'S FOUNTAIN OF HEALTH

PORTRAIT NEGATIVE

retouchers. Salary or piece work. Apply 716 13th st. nw.

RESTAURANT HELP

All types. Washington Restaurant Association, 2003 Eye st. nw. NO FEES.

SECRETARIES, $135

Private Industry; Permanent.
ADAMS AGCY., 204 Colo. Bldg., 14th & G.

YOUNG WOMAN

for general clerical work for large corporation. Salary will be paid according to ability and experience. Excellent opportunity for right woman.

Apply
1119 21st St. N.W.

EXPERIENCED TELEPHONE OPERATORS

Apply
Employment Office
725 13th St. N.W.
Monday thru Friday
8:30 A.M. to 5 P.M.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.

HELP, WOMEN 18

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

YOUNG WOMEN

18-55 Years

- An eleven for chain laundry and cleaning stores. Openings throughout city and nearby Virginia.
- Excellent chance for advancement.
- Apply in person—

8:30 to 10 A. M.

SMITH CLEANERS
4913 Georgia Avenue

WAITRESSES

(White)

Experienced

Good Salary Plus Meals and Uniforms

6-Day Week

Hotel Martinique
1211 16th St. N.W.

HELP, WOMEN 18

(Continued from Preceding Column.)

WAITRESSES

21-35 Years

Hotel Experience Preferred But Not Necessary.

Apply Mrs. Winfield
Coffee Shop
Willard Hotel
10 A. M. to 12 Noon or 2-6 P. M.

HOSTESS

Experienced

For Dining Room

Permanent Position

6-Day Week

Hotel Martinique
1211 16th St. N.W.

COUNTER ATTENDANTS

Colored or White

For new, large beverage bar. Must be neat appearing. No experience necessary. Excellent salary and pleasant surroundings.

APPLY 8 A.M. to 4 P.M.

1119 21st St. N.W.

RESERVATIONISTS
and STENOGRAPHERS

EXCELLENT FUTURE

No one considered presently employed in defense work

APPLY IN PERSON, PERSONNEL DEPT., SAT., JAN. 9, 8:30 A. M.-4 P. M.; SUN., JAN. 10, 1-3 P. M.

WASHINGTON NATIONAL AIRPORT — PCA — PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL AIRLINES

Hangar No. 3

WOMEN WANTED

over 25 yrs. of age
for work in our stores

•

Experience not necessary.
We will train you. Full salary while training.

•

Every effort will be made to place you near your home

•

Employment Office will be open SUNDAY after 10:00 A. M.

Other days except Saturdays 8 A.M. to 4 P.M.

SAFEWAY

4th and T Sts. N. E.

Continued on Following Page.

HELP, WOMEN 18

(Continued From Preceding Page.)

WAITRESS
White, Experienced
Full Time
$15 Week, Including MEALS
TIPS
UNIFORMS
STRATFORD HOTEL
25 E St. N.W. NA. 5261

Women Managers and Assistant Managers
For Branch Office Stores
Paid While Learning
Permanent Positions
Apply Mrs. Inman
Palace Laundry
9th & H Sts. N.W.

ASSORTERS AND SHIRT PRESS OPERATORS
Mr. Christensen
The Tolman Laundry
5248 Wisc. Ave. N.W.

Young Lady
To Work in Laundry Store
Call Office
Good Salary
Pleasant Working Conditions
Apply Mr. Young
Gordon's Laundry
8025 Georgia Ave.

Young Mothers
With school-age children, to work between the hours 10:00 A.M. and 3:00 P.M. 60c per hour. Pleasant surroundings and excellent promotional opportunities.
Apply
1119 21st St. N.W.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
Desires the Services of Saleswomen
Office Workers
Tabulating Machine Operators
Typists
Stenographers
Secretaries
Girls 16 years of age or older
Apply Employment Office
9th Floor
9:30 to 6:00 Daily, Except Thursday,
12:30 Till 9 P. M.

HELP, MEN AND WOMEN 19

HELP KEEP FOOD PRODUCTION LINES MOVING
Make Good Money
In This Essential Work
CAFETERIA HELP NEEDED
IN GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS IN WASHINGTON AND IN PENTAGON BUILDING IN ARLINGTON, VA.
NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
IMMEDIATE PLACEMENT
APPLY 8 A. M. to 4 P. M.
1119 21st STREET, N.W.

COUPLE or man to work on farm. Apply 659 Maryland ave. ne.

HELP, DOMESTIC 20

COOK-HOUSEWORKER
2 ADULTS; EASY WORK; GOOD WAGES; PREFER LIVE IN. OL. 5838.

COOK—Housework, no laundry; $15 week and carfare; live out; references. WO. 8415.

COOK—G. H. W.
COLORED; 3 ADULTS; LIVE IN; $50 MO. 3615 CHEVY CHASE BLVD. WI. 2404.

GIRL OR WOMAN—G. H. W.
Arlington; 4 in family; near bus; no laundry; live in. Phone GL. 2083.

GIRL, colored, dependable, g. h. w.; small apt.; cooking, and care of child 2½ years old; $14 week and car fare. AD. 0931.

GIRL, general housework, private family; $40 mo., paid weekly. 1365 Irving st. nw. DE. 1121.

HOUSEKEEPER
Reliable; for 2 adults; live in; Brentwood car bus. Call WA. 5990 after 11 a. m.

HOUSEKEEPER
Experienced cook, g. h. w. and help care for youngsters; Thurs. afternoon and alternate Sundays off; live in or out; $15 week to start. OL. 9058.

INFANTS' NURSES (white), $25 to $100 month. LADIES EXCHANGE, 1705 De Sales st. nw. National 4365.

NURSEMAID OR HOUSEWORKER
White; 2 children, no laundry; good wages; small house; on bus; upstairs room. Box M-884, Washington Post. WI. 7664.

PRACTICAL NURSE, White
GENERAL HOUSEWORK. COOKING; BABY'S LAUNDRY ONLY; SLEEP OUT; 6 DAYS A WEEK; NO EVENINGS; ALEXANDRIA. CALL RE. 7500, EXT. 74850, BEFORE 5:15 P. M.

PRACTICAL NURSE
WHITE, CALL WO. 2960.

WHITE or colored woman, to help with the care of semi-invalid, also help with housework; may live in; good salary. Ext. 4668.

WHITE MAID for g. h. w. and care of 2 children; employed mother; evenings and Sundays free. No cooking or laundry; live with family. Write or call immediately. Mrs. E. A. McDonald, Apt. 2046-D, Quantico, Va., or phone Quantico 4361.

WANTED woman to take care of 2 children; live in. WO. 1171.

YOUNGSTER GIRL for 2 full days and 6½ days and 2 hours on Sunday. References required. GE. 1186 after 10 a. m.

HELP, DOMESTIC 20

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

RELIABLE WOMAN, WHITE OR COLORED, GENERAL HOUSEWORK, LIGHT LAUNDRY; SMALL APT.; OCCASIONAL CARE OF INFANT; HEALTH CARD; $50 MONTH. NO. 9096, 2500 QUE ST. NW.

EXCELLENT COOK
White or colored; live in or out; small fam.; other help; $15 wk. & bonus. EM. 4042.

$70 MONTH, LIVE-IN
White; good plain cook, general housework; upstairs bedroom and private bath. Write Box M-891, Washington Post, or phone Michigan 0634.

SITUATIONS, MEN 22

Clerk, Help Bookkeeper, accountant; Wharton grad.; exp. HO. 7496.

SITUATIONS, WOMEN 23

STENOG., capable, wishes work; 4 evenings per week; business firm or doctor's office. Eve., 6-9, WO. 8543.

SWITCHBOARD work in hotel or apartment building; substitute evening; preferably with room. Box 136, Wash. Post.

WANTED—Editing, proofreading, typing, etc. to do at home. Reasonable rates. DU. 6000, Ext. 605.

SITUATIONS, DOMESTIC 24

COLORED WOMAN WANTS DAY'S WORK. DU. 4514.

COLORED GIRL, mother's helper, wishes work after school. MI. 6123.

MONEY TO LOAN 26

ON diamonds, watches, jewelry, silverware, etc. No adv. arrangements necs. Lowest int. rates. Rosslyn Loan Co., Rosslyn, Va.

ON DIAMONDS, watches, jewelry, silverware and miscellaneous articles. Louis Abrahams, 3225 Rhode Island ave. ne.

PERSONAL LOAN COS. 28

(Operating under uniform small loan laws)

PERSONAL LOANS.
CONSUMERS CREDIT SERVICE, INC.
3227 R. I. Ave. Hobart 4400.

ALL LOANS at 3% per month, from $50 to $300. Call DOMESTIC FINANCE CO., Alexandria 1715.

ALL LOANS AT 2% PER MONTH.
HOUSEHOLD FINANCE CORP.
7914-16 Georgia Ave. Silver 4400.

IF YOU NEED MONEY CALL LENDERS
REPUBLIC 1397, NIGHT AND SUNDAY. WARFIELD 4234, DAILY.

WINNIE WINKLE — Patty Would Rather Play Solitaire — BY BRANNER

PERSONAL LOAN COS. 28

(Operating under uniform small loan laws)

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

A FRIENDLY LOAN SERVICE.
H. G. ZWALLY, MANAGER.
AYARES SMALL LOAN CO., INC.
7902 Georgia Ave. SH. 3700.

CONFIDENTIAL
LOANS
TO Employed Women
ON SIGNATURE ALONE
NEW REDUCED INTEREST RATES
Phone MISS HOOVER TODAY and receive the money today.
SHEPHERD 2500
MARYLAND PERSONAL BANKERS
7912 Ga. Ave., Silver Spring, Md.

REAL ESTATE LOANS 29

MONEY ON SECOND TRUST
We will buy second-trust notes. D. C., nearby Md. or Va. Reasonable rates. NATIONAL MORTGAGE & INVEST. CORP. 1312 New York Ave. N.W. NA. 5833.

FIRST TRUST LOANS
ANY TYPE—ANY AMOUNT
PROMPT FRIENDLY SERVICE
WAGGAMAN-BRAWNER REALTY CORP.
1427 EYE ST. N.W. ME. 3860.

BUSINESS OPPS. 33

APARTMENT, boarding, rooming houses wanted immediately; clients waiting. John J. McKenna, REpublic 5345.

20 ROOMS, DOWNTOWN
Rooming house, in nice condition; near 15th and K sts. nw.; 6 baths; 1st commercial; income quoted over $750 mo.; furniture above average. Inspect, $2,000 down.
EDWIN L. ELLIS
"Capital's Largest Guest House Broker."
1010 Vermont Ave. Room 217. RE. 5140.

ROOMS, FURNISHED 37

Check the following rooms and if you need additional assistance—place a WANTED-TO RENT ad in The Post. An experienced ad writer will gladly help you. Call NAtional 4200, Extension 391.

A ST. SE., 3533, Apt. 204—Single rm., newly furn., in two-bedroom apt., for girl. Conv. trans. FR. 8300, Ext. 515

ALTON PL. NW., 4421—1 sgle. rm., also dble. rm.; suit. 1 or 2; 1 blk. crosstown bus; gentiles; references. EM. 7573

AMES ST. NE., 3309—Large front room; twin beds; married couple or ladies; all home privileges; reasonable.

ARL.—Lg. bright rm. for 2; comf. home of elderly cple.; 10c bus fare to Govt. bldgs. GL. 0529.

ARLINGTON, VA., Lyon Park—Two young ladies to share bright rm.; new home; conv. to Pentagon Bld.; bus; next bath; unl. phone. 822 N. Daniel. CH. 8492.

AVONDALE (2012 Hayden rd.)—Corner room in new private home. Gentleman. FREE TRANSPORTATION. UNion 2757.

B ST. NE., 1210, blk. bus—Beau. twin bedrm., $4 each; single room. FR. 8629.

B ST. SE., 1375—Double room, nicely furn.; private home; near Navy Yard and Armory. LI. 7922.

C ST. NE., 918—Dble. frt. rm. for one, $5 wk.; also single rm., $4; gentlemen.

CHAPIN ST. NW., 1435—A-1 large twin bedroom, private bath; near 14th st. car, 1st cab zone. 1 or 2 gentlemen; reas.

CHEVY CHASE, D. C. (30 min. d'town)—Rm. for 1-2; new det. home; gas heat; no other roomers; gentile. EM. 3519

CHEVY CHASE, MD., 6816 Oak Lane—Large front room, adjoining bath in new private home; gentiles; $40 mo. double. OL. 4569.

CHEVY CHASE, D. C.—Beautifully furnished room for 2 young ladies, next to shower bath; close to transportation. Gentiles. EMerson 6580.

CHEVY CHASE, 4200 Military rd.—Large room, suitable 2 Gov't girls, gentiles; good transportation. Call OR. 6997.

CONN. AVE., 2737, near Wardman Pk.—Nice room for 2 gentlemen; unlimited phone. AD. 0817.

D ST. N.E., 916—Nice, warm, front, twin bedroom; modern conveniences; $5 each.

DUPONT CIRCLE—Jewish; two adj. rms., pvt. bath; en suite for 4. NO. 4005.

DUPONT CIRCLE (1640 21st st. nw.)—Cheery rm. with fireplace, twin beds; on quiet st. Men defense workers. Call after 4 p. m.

FORT DAVIS ST. SE., 1718—Frt. rm., semi-pvt. bath; twin beds. LU. 7439.

FRANKLIN ST. NE., 2005—Pleasant sgle. rm.; pvt. home; on crosstown bus line. RE. 5600, Ext. 2394; after 6, DU. 4218.

GA. AVE. NW., 5804—Double rm., conv. trans; suitable 2; $35. RA. 4916.

HAMILTON ST. NW., 26—Bright sgle. rm. Gentile. GE. 2583.

KENNEDY ST. NW., 1213—Double room; suitable 1-2 gentile men. GE. 5441.

KENNEDY ST. NW., 1213—One double; also share rm. w. twin beds; young man, gentile gentlemen. GE. 5441.

L ST. NW., 1347—Apt. bldg.; fine, well-furn., 2nd floor; coal heat; settled man; $7.

LAMONT ST. NW., 628—Newly furn. room, twin beds, next bath; priv. home; laundry privil.; unl. phone; ½ block car. 15 min. downtown. Gentiles. RA. 2389.

MASS. AVE. NW., 3819—Comf. cor. rm., new Beautyrest mattress; semipriv. bath. Gentleman. WO. 8523, bet. 7 and 10 p. m.

NEBRASKA AVE. NW., 5237—Room for girls; unl. phone; semipvt. bath. Call after 6 p. m. WO. 8244.

NEWTON ST. NW., 1514—Newly dec. and furn. bright rooms with running water, shower bath; dbles. and triples; best trans. to all depts.; ladies only.

PRIMROSE RD. NW., 1638—Large double rm., alcove furn. for sitting rm. or study; new det. home, ½ blk. to 16th st. bus. Men only. Single, $35 month; double, $40. GE. 4139.

QUINCY ST. NW., 1333—2 large adjoining rooms, inclosed porch, private shower bath, running water in room; single or double. Men. GE. 3390.

R ST. NW., 1608—Dble. rm.; adj. bath; twin beds; girls. DU. 3139.

RANDOLPH ST. NW., 1306 (off 14th st. car)—Frt. bedrm., pvt. lav. TA. 3192.

RANDOLPH ST. NW., 430—Large front twin bedrm. for gentile gentleman to share; 2 wardrobes. $5 week. TA. 2856.

SILVER SPRING, 9416 2nd ave.—Large twin bedroom; gentleman; $20 ea. SH. 4409.

WEBSTER ST. NW., 339—Attr. front sgle. rm., near bath; unl. phone, exc trans.; private home. Gentleman. TA. 4394.

3RD ST. NE., 718—2 large newly furn. rms. for four; near transp. FR. 7263.

8TH ST. NW., 4922—Single rm.; gentile man; near bath; bus at door; all conv. GE. 8687.

8TH ST. NW., 4315—Double; twin beds; next bath; 2 Govt. girls, $5 week each; also sleeping porch for 1 hour work day; unlim. phone, plenty heat and hot water. TA. 4023 after 7 p. m.

8TH ST. NW., 4215—Large front dble. rm. for 2. Private home. Taylor 6066.

10TH ST. SW., 307—Twin bedroom; $3.50 and $4 each; nicely furn.; plenty heat; c. h. w.; near Govt. bldgs. DI. 5562.

10TH ST. NE., 4720—Large rm., twin beds; for 2 girls; new house; Jewish home. NO. 9397.

ROOMS FURNISHED 37

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

13TH ST. NW., 5323—Front master bedroom, new private home; coal heat; 1 blk. from car and bus; for 2 ladies, $40, or 3, $55 month. Limit phone. TA. 6025.

14TH ST. NW., 2813—Room, suitable for gentleman. CO. 7809.

14TH ST. NW., 4506—Large rm., newly furn.; lady to share; Jewish. RA. 2573.

14TH ST. NW., 4600—Dble. rm., twin beds, nicely furn.; also sgle. rm.; pvt. home. Phone and maid service. GE. 6760.

14TH AND BELMONT STS. NW.—Congenial young woman to share small apartment. AD. 0665 or GE. 1977.

16TH ST. NW., 5917—Single rm., bath; gentleman; also double, 2 gentlemen. OR. 1168.

18TH ST. NE., 3300—Front room, c. h. w., unl. phone; gentleman. NO. 7680.

18TH ST. NW., 1713—Attrac. rm. for 2 girls; $15 month each. DE. 3243.

18TH AND COL. RD.—In apt. with young couple. Double exposure: 2 closets, twin beds, next bath; $35 sgle., $45 dble. CO. 7761.

44TH ST. NW., 5108—Lovely room, double or single; 2 windows; large closet; semi-private bath, tub and shower; private home; coal heat; good trans. OR. 5609.

908 K ST. NW.—Two double rooms (front). Plenty of heat. ME. 3346.

809 C ST. NE.—Nice warm room and closed porch; private home; excel transportation; phone; reasonable. AT. 6789.

NEAR 4th and Rhode Island—Large front room; 2 gentile girls; radio in room; $4 each; 15 minutes downtown. AD. 5421.

GOVT. employed woman—Simply furn. rm. with comfortable clean bed; convenient Army-Navy bldgs. Lend Lease; ½ block Watergate Inn; $25. RE. 8668.

DOWNTOWN, 1220 16th st. nw.—Beautiful double room; unl. phone; $32.50 each.

4602 14TH ST. NW.—Room for two men with twin beds. GE. 4647.

REF. young lady to share rm. with another, $20; priv. bath, twin beds. WO. 2777.

N.W.—Large front rm., twin beds, unlimited phone, laundry privileges. Good transportation. 2 girls. GE. 9064.

1631 R ST. NW.—Large rm., priv. bath; suit. 3 girls. MI. 5965.

ROOM for 2, twin beds, private bath; no smoking or drinking. SH. 9293.

GENTLEMEN (2)—Here is a grand newly furn. room in priv. home; twin beds; bus at corner. $20 each. WO. 8670.

COLORED—Comfortable furn. front room in Christian home; steam heat; conv. trans.; 1 or 2 gentlemen. DI. 1329.

ROOMS, SUBURBAN 38

ARLINGTON, 509 S. 24th st.—Couple; sunny rm.; good board; nr. bus, Pentagon and Navy Bldgs. Phone JA. 1847-W.

ARLINGTON, VA. (conv. 10c bus to D. C. and Pentagon)—Private room, semipvt. bath, unlimited phone. Gentile gentleman. 3733 N. 23rd rd. GL. 2184.

CHEVERLY, MD. (3117 Cheverly ave.)—Double bedroom and sitting room, adj. private bath; swift bus at door. UN. 1056.

FALLS CHURCH—Large room, twin beds, comfortable home; coal heat; 1 block to Constitution ave. and Pentagon Bldg. bus. Falls Church 1949-R.

HOUSEKEEPING SUITES 41

HYATTSVILLE—2 rms. en suite, connecting bath; for 3 or 4; kitchen privileges. WArfield 9102, evenings bet. 6 and 9.

N.W.—South rm.; l.h.k.; warm, light; Gentile lady; $35. RA. 3460, after 5.

NR. 14TH & PARK NW.—2 large housekeep. rms. for 3 or 4 refined girls. GE. 1264.

ROOMS, WANTED 42

FURNISHED ROOM, private shower, etc., wanted; nr. Thomas Circle; gentleman. Box M-883, Washington Post.

2 OR 3 RMS., family of 4 adults, with or without kit privil.' RA. 0192, Charles.

ROOMS WITH BOARD 43

CONN. AVE. NW., 4107—Just 1 vacancy left; girl to share room; coal heat; fire escape; home-canned food. OR. 1217.

NEWTON ST. NW., 1515—Comf. double rm., single beds, excellent food, unlimit. phone. Good swift trans. CO. 0032.

P ST. NW., 1733—Vac. for girls; sgle. beds; exc. trans.; home cook., privil. AD. 0954.

SHERIDAN ST. NW., 728—Vacancy for 2 girls, pvt. home, home privil., unlimited phone. Convenient transp. TA. 5966.

14TH ST. NW., 5215 (on car line)—Twin bedrm. for young lady to share; all home priv. Excel. Kosher cooking. TA. 5188.

16TH ST. NW., 1914—LGE. TRIPLE RM., 5 WINDOWS; COAL HEAT; SHOWERS.

16TH ST. NW., 3035—Vacancy for young lady; excellent transportation. AD. 6266.

18TH ST. NE., 3711—Double rm., also single rm., next bath; near trans. Private home. $45 month each. MI. 1430.

22ND ST. NW., 3313—Just 1 vacancy left; girl to share triple room, as near home-like as you will find. AD. 3782.

A BOARDING CLUB DOWNTOWN (1124 12th st. nw.)—Attr. furn. room, single, double; excel. meals; walking distance.

TOWN CLUB (1800 Mass. ave. nw.)—FAMOUS FOR FOOD; vacancies for two ladies; 1 in triple; 1 in double DU. 1364.

CHILDREN BOARDED 45

MOTHER will care for small child during day for working mother. $12 wk. LI. 4184.

MOTHER will care for 2 children, daytime (2-5 yrs.). Silver Spring, Md. SH. 7079.

COUNTRY BOARDING SCHOOL—Boys, girls, 2-14. High standards; reasonable; 18 miles from Phila. Train service. Tanglewood School, Cheyney, Pa.

TABLE BOARD 46

EYE ST. NW., 1824—Newly furn. dining rm.; ladies, gentlemen; $4 wk., $15 mo.

CONVALESCENT HOMES 47

BEAUTIFUL country home for convalescents and elderly people; excellent nursing care; tray service. Marlboro 6-M.

REST HOME.
Well balanced home for the fastidious seeking rest and health; kind nurses, abundance of heat; nourishing food; licensed; doctor's reference. WI. 8784.

APARTMENTS, FURN. 50

1-RM. APT. for Govt. woman worker; semi-pvt. bath; $45 month. AD. 8148.

UNIVERSITY PARK, MD.—2-rm. apt., l. h. k.; G. E. range, refs., heat, h. w., elec. incl. Adults. Empl. couple pref. WA. 1333.

WANTED, 2 Government girls to share modern apt. DI. 3139, eves. 7-9.

GENTILE GIRL to share apt.; pref. wife of service man. Call RE. 2866, ext. 516. 2222 Eye st. nw., Apt. 516.

YOUNG officer to share furn. apt.; $10 wk. 1717 17th st. nw. MI. 7910

N.W. SECTION—Gentile girl to share 2-room apt.; $38 mo. GE. 7084, eves.

YOUNG LADY desires another (25-30 years) to share 3 rooms and bath in N.W. section. Apply Cosmetician, 12th & G sts. nw. EX. 5240.

BACHELOR HOME, Chevy Chase, Md., operated by 5 naval officers. Desire 1 or 2 young naval or Army officers for replacements; attr. mod. house; breakfast and dinner serv.; conv. trans.; about $85 mo. Reply by letter, stating education and civilian background. Box 139, Wash. Post.

APARTMENTS WANTED 54

CHEVY CHASE—Small furnished or unfurnished apt. wanted by couple and daughter; limit, $75. WO. 7139.

ELDERLY GENTLEMAN wants 2-rm. apt., kitchenette, bath, in private house; very well furn. and very quiet. Fr. ME. 5192.

EMPL. COUPLE wants furnished room, kitchenette, bath; close in. Give details. Box 129, Washington Post.

SUBLET small furn. apt., N.W. section, 3 months; officer and wife. EX. 8668.

APARTMENTS WANTED 54

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

3-RM. FURN. APT.—About $50, wanted by responsible couple with 2-year-old child. Mrs. Edwards, FR. 3666.

ONE or two rms., kit., furn. apt.; couple and child; near school. NA. 2182 between 9 and 5:30.

TWO-BEDRM. apt., N.W., by Englishman and mother; no children, pets; up to $125 mo. Mr. Gorer, 3604 Davis st. nw. OR. 6446; office hrs., RE. 7500, ext. 74828.

3-ROOM FURNISHED APARTMENT.
About $50, wanted by responsible couple with 2-yr.-old child. Mrs. Edwards, FR. 3666.

EMPLOYED lady desires 1 room, private bath apt., furn. or unfurn., N.W. or near Capitol. NA. 3120, Ext. 251.

GOVT. EMPLOYE (Protestant widow 36 yrs. old), who plays contract bridge, wishes to share an apartment with similar type lady, effective January 15. Connecticut Avenue transportation essential. RE. 7400, Ext. 2522, 8:00 to 4:30.

2 GOVERNMENT GIRLS
Want 1 or 2 room furnished apt. with kitchenette, bath; nw.; about $60. AD. 8027.

HOUSES, FURNISHED 57

DUPONT CIRCLE VICINITY.
Eight-room home; air-cooled; 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, library, living room, dining room, kitchen. Beautifully furnished. Oriental rugs, china, sterling silver, cutglass, napery, linens; coal furnace; automatic hot water, Kelvinator. For small high-class family. Owner reserving a bedroom. Rent, $175. Phone owner, NO. 0542, 2 to 5 p. m.

SILVER SPRING—6-rm. bungalow, 3 bedrms., elec. refrig., coal heat with blower; well furnished; 1-year lease; $125. Early possession. Can be inspected Sunday morning. Owner, SLigo 9582.

SUBURBAN RENT 60

BRICK HOUSE: living room 24x14, fireplace, master bedroom, bath, shower, auto. heat and hot water, laundry tub, indoor garage, nice yard. OL. 6264 after 11:30 a. m.

NEWLY DECORATED 8-room dwellings: electricity and bath; in town of Herndon; $40 month. Many other bargains.
R. C. PRINTZ
Herndon, Va. Herndon 69.

HOUSES, RENT, SALE 62

10 ROOMS, 2 baths; Chevy Chase, D. C. FULTON R. GORDON, owner, 1427 Eye st. nw. Call DI. 5230, until 9 p. m.

WANTED TO RENT 63

R. A. F. officer requires small 4 or 5 room house, unfurnished, for immediate rental; 2 in family. Call DE. 9000, Ext. 104.

UNFURN. 2 or 3-bedrm. house or apt. for duration; N.W. or nearby Va., wanted by 2 adults and infant, by Feb. 1. OL. 2779.

3-BEDROOM HOUSE, unfurn., 1½ baths. Northwest D. C. or Maryland or Virginia. $75 to $100 per month. NAtional 6888 or DIstrict 4800. Ask for E. M. Finstad.

DESK SPACE, RENT 67

PRIVATE branch office, specialized phone, mail, secretary service. EX. 1439.

STORES FOR RENT 69

LARGE STORE at Wisconsin ave. and Van Ness st. nw.; about 34x90 feet.
LINKINS CO., 1 Dupont Circle.

713 F STREET N.E.
18x37 FEET—$45
JOHN F. DONOHOE & SONS
314 Penna. Ave. S.E. LIncoln 0084.

BUSINESS PROP., RENT 78

NEAR 14TH AND K STS. N.W.
Four-story loft building, about 7,000 sq. ft. of floor space; elevator; available immediately. LINKINS CO., 1 Dupont Circle.

SALE INVESTMENT PROP. 81

BRICK, 1 year old, 2-family apt. Gas heat. Near Bolling Field, in Congress Hts. Owner, with other interests, has reduced price for quick sale. Terms. DIXIE REALTY CO., NA. 8880. After 6 p. m. call Mr. Downs, NO. 9245.

SALE D. C. HOUSES 83

American University Park
By owner. 6-room semidetached brick. Large living room, screened porch off dining room, large kitchen, tiled bath, master bedroom with 4 windows, light basement. Coal. Automatic hot water, built-in garage. Completely redecorated. Near transportation and shopping. Vacant. 5115 45th st. nw. NO. 7445 or OR. 2511, $6,950.

BROOKLAND—VACANT
2902 10TH STREET N.E.
OPEN TODAY, 5 TO 8 P. M.
Row brick, 6 rooms, bath, hot-water heat; built-in garage. To be sold as is. $7,500. Call MR. LUCAS, HObart 8330.
Thos. D. Walsh, Inc. DI. 7557

BUCHANAN ST. NR. 6th; 6 r. & b.; a.m.i.; 3 porches; $8,450. Nr. York Theater, 7 r. & b.; a. m. i.; $8,950. Brookland, 12th; 7 r. & b.; a. m. i.; gar.; $7,950. Possession, low terms on above. Homes Md., Va. N. E. RYON CO., 1216 N. Y. ave. NA. 7907. GE. 6146, res.

COLORADO AVE. (near 16th st.)—Detached, 10 rooms, 3 baths; lot 37x155 feet; a handsome house; $16,500; terms.
R. M. DeSHAZO.
1123 14th St. N.W. NA. 8520.

GEORGETOWN
IMMEDIATE POSSESSION.
Completely redecorated, in very excellent condition, this 3-story brick home is a fine value at $16,750. Well located, convenient to everything, it includes 3 bedrooms and 1 bath on 2d floor, 2 bedrooms and bath on 3d floor, living room, dining room, reception room and kitchen on 1st floor. Large finished basement room. Coal heat, new furnace.

FRANK S. PHILLIPS, DI. 1411.

KENYON ST. N.W., 400 block—Colored, 6 rms., bath; coal heat; 2-car garage; 2 screened porches; deep yard; nicely kept; terms. NO. 3527 or NO. 0757.

WESLEY HEIGHTS
4 BEDROOMS. 3½ BATHS.
Owner has just spent approximately $1,000 in redecorating this spacious home. It is now vacant and ready to move into. Includes living room (16x32), butler's pantry, master bedroom with fireplace, maid's room and bath. 2-car garage. On a large corner lot in one of Washington's finest restricted locations, it is very fairly priced at $22,500. Very convenient terms can be made for responsible purchaser.

FRANK S. PHILLIPS DI. 1411

WEST CHEVY CHASE
GAS HEAT.
$10,500
6-room brick home, substantially built; very large kitchen, lavatory and maid's room in basement; finished attic; attached garage. Terms.
C. ALLEN SHERWIN. 4845 MASS. AVE.
EMERSON 9122.

BRICK BUNGALOW, near Takoma Park Sanitarium; living room with fireplace, two bedrooms and bath; full basement; coal hot-water heat; 2-car garage; wooded lot; 100-foot frontage. $5,750.
ROBERTS E. LATIMER. GE. 1266.

NR. COL. RD. & BELMONT
A 14-room home that can be easily converted into 4 apts. or is suitable for a rooming house. Will meet all zoning and safety regulations. Has outside fire escape. For full details and location, call EM. 1290 until 9 p. m. F. A. TWEED CO., 3504 Conn. ave.

SALE D. C. HOUSES 83

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

"A PERFECT HOME"
This picture detached brick Colonial home has seven unusually large rooms, 2½ baths, maid's room and bath, and is less than one year old. Located in a splendid new subdivision. Bought by a naval officer, it is unexpectedly offered for sale due to his transfer from the city. The back yard is especially desirable for children. Call MEt. 1143 until 9 p. m.
J. WESLEY BUCHANAN, Realtor.

CORNER 13th AND SPRING RD.
Attractive Colonial brick, 7 rooms, "4 bedrooms," 2 baths with showers, porches, auto. heat, etc. Convenient to everything. Excellent condition. Only $9,450, on terms. "YOUR NEIGHBOR BOUGHT FROM US."
Leo M. Bernstein & Co., ME. 5400.

$6,500
ASHTON HEIGHTS, VA.
Close-in, just off Wilson Blvd. Attractive large detached home, needing a little improvement; has seven rooms (4 bedrooms), bath; hot-water heat (coal). Lot 46x150. Excellent value. Vacant.
L. T. GRAVATTE
729 15th St. Realtor. NAt'l. 0753.

UNUSUAL VALUE IN GEORGETOWN
Brick house; smart location; 9 rooms, 2 baths; $11,950.
FRANCES POWELL HILL
2900 DUMBARTON AVE.
HO. 2901 DE. 3422

6-ROOM BRICK
VACANT
Modern home, vicinity Navy Yard; 3 nice bedrooms, bath, screened porch, recreation room, gas heat. Terms. DIXIE REALTY CO., NA. 8880. After hours, GE. 5354.

NR. 16th & DECATUR N.W.
11-room detached brick, 2 baths; very large lot; hot-water heat, stoker; $17,500.
A. D. CRUMBAUGH
4908 Wis. Ave. Realtor. WO. 1-3-6-4.

OWNER TRANSFERRED FROM CITY.
MASS. AVE. EXT.
LARGE, TREE-SHADED CORNER LOT. SIX NICE ROOMS—TWO FULL BATHS.
$10,750.
This charming medium-size home has all of the features you expect to find only in higher-priced property. All three bedrooms are of good size. There is a built-in garage, side porch, G. E. air-cond. heat, rockwool insulation in ceilings and side walls, and storm windows.
EMERSON 9122.
C. ALLEN SHERWIN. 4845 MASS. AVE.

"DUTCH COLONIAL"
A grand value in a detached brick home located just off 16th Street in one of the highest elevations in the entire city. Eight bright rooms, 2½ baths and 2-car garage. It is offered for sale due to the transfer of the owner from the city. At $15,950, it is an excellent value. Call MEt. 1143 until 9 p. m.
J. WESLEY BUCHANAN, Realtor.

COLORED—Near Kenyon and Warder sts. nw. 6 large rooms and bath; hot-water heat; excellent condition. Priced for quick sale. Mr. Wills, HO. 2827.

HOUSES WANTED 84

PETWORTH
Have client waiting. Wants to buy a 6 or 7-room brick row house, in good condition. Must be able to get occupancy within 60 days. Will pay up to $8,750 cash.
FRANK S. PHILLIPS DI. 1411

DESIRE detached brick home in good N.W. location, D. C. Lavatory first floor. Prefer gas heat. Up to $15,000. Ready now. Give address and price. Box 140 The Washington Post.

DO YOU WANT TO SELL YOUR HOME? WE HAVE CLIENTS WAITING. CALL OH. 7322 TODAY.

PRINCE GEORGES CO.—Houses and farms for sale or rent. O. B. ZANTZINGER, JR., 8816 Wash.-Balt. Blvd. WA. 1819.

WANTED NEARBY VA.—HOUSES, FARMS
EDWARDS REALTY CO.
6005 N. Wash. Blvd. CH. 4733.

WE APPLY SPECIALIZATION AND CONCENTRATION to our selling methods. We have purchasers for property—low-priced, medium-priced, as well as the higher class, and can procure adequate prices, comparable with the excellent present-day market. Also mortgage loans at 4-4½%, and insurance at lowest rates.
MOORE & HILL CO.
Everything in Real Estate Since 1900.
804 17th St. N.W.
Wm. A. Hill.

SALE SUBURBAN HOUSES 86

—MARYLAND—

BUNGALOW.
Facing new Government bldg., at Suitland, Md.; 2 bedrooms, modern bath, living room, dinette and kitchen; attractive yard. Reduced to $5,250. Call Mr. Lawton.
ADELBERT W. LEE.
3211 Pa. Ave. S.E. LI. 1000.

NEW HOMES IN SILVER SPRING.
MOUNT VERNON CORP.
Machinist Bldg. NAtional 5536.

$7,500
Nearby Md.—Owner must sell immediately, newly decorated 7-room, 1½-bath home; auto. heat; close to bus, stores, school; $1,000 cash; $65 month.
SUBURBAN REALTY.
SH. 4161. EVES., SH. 8285.

BUNGALOW—$6,950
Silver Spring—5 rooms; 1-fare zone; just over D. C. line; auto. heat; full basement; built-in garage; easy terms.
SUBURBAN REALTY.
SH. 4161. EVES., SH. 8285.

$15,000
CHEVY CHASE, MD.
Ideal home for the larger family; 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, 2nd floor; finished rooms and bath, 3rd floor. Very fine lot, 120x140; gas furnace, 2-car garage. For appointment to inspect call EDWARD H. JONES & CO., WO. 2300, till 9 p. m.

Brand New $8,750
YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO PURCHASE 3-BEDROOM, BATH, ALL BRICK HOME FOR ONLY $1,000 CASH, $65.00 MONTH. Large corner lot. Close to bus, shops, in Takoma Park.
COLLIER-BLADY CORP.
SH 3352 or ME. 1234.

$12,750
CHEVY CHASE, MD.
West of Conn. ave., 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, attic, heated sleeping porch. Fine wooded lot, 65x150, built-in garage. Terms. For inspection call EDWARD H. JONES & CO., WO. 2300, till 9 p. m.

WHITE BRICK
Less than 2 years old, with large wooded lot, center-hall plan, large living room and dining room. Large library or first-floor bedroom with full bath; second floor, 4 well-proportioned bedrooms and 2 baths. Attractive Chevy Chase (Md.) location. Owner transferred. Quick possession. Call Mr. Smith.
ALLIED REALTY CORP. Wis. 6649.

A REAL BUY!
See this 6-room brick, 2-story home, in Bethesda, Md., less than a year old, new-house condition; conveniently located for transportation, schools, churches and shopping facilities. This house is the best buy we know of and with a reasonable down payment can be purchased for $8950.
GRAHAM-HALL, WI. 3250.

—VIRGINIA—

Alexandria, Va.—Brick-and-shingle home; 9 rooms, 2 inclosed porches, 2½ baths, 3 fireplaces. Laundry and maid's room in basement. Coal hot-water heat. Two-car garage. Lot 130x85. Cost $23,000; will sell for $17,000.
R. L. KANE, INC.
101 South Washington St., Alexandria, Va. Alex 3013, evenings, Alex. 2904.

SALE SUBURBAN HOUSES 86

(Continued From Preceding Column.)

—VIRGINIA—

ARLINGTON—HANDSOME BRICK HOME. Beautiful wooded grounds, 6 spacious rooms, 2 baths, maid's room and large screened porch and sun deck. Garage. Near bus. Priced for immediate sale at only $10,850; $2,100 cash, balance less than rent. CRAIN, CH. 3259.

ARLINGTON—3-room house, bath; $6,000; $1,000 down and $50 mo.; near 10c bus. OX. 1040.

ARLINGTON, VA., 820 N. Wakefield st.—Block bus. Brick bungalow, 5 rooms and bath, $6,000, terms. OWNER, CH. 6734.

ARLINGTON
2-story, 4 bedrooms; modern; garage; coal hot-water heat; vacant; $6,500, terms. Call Mr. Donahue, CH. 2440. N. C. HINES & SONS, INC., REALTOR.

ARLINGTON—Close in; 2-story frame,

Contract Bridge

By Florence Osborne

"The bidding of this hand is submitted for comment," writes a contributor who signs himself "Mr. North," concerning the cards shown in today's box.

"Mrs. East claims that while the four no trump bid was not strictly orthodox her redouble of the six club bid should have been left in, and would have gone down but one, and that the responsibility for any worse disaster would have been hers.

"On the Spot"

"Mr. West says that he was on the spot with only one club, and that he changed to his five-card suite as a measure of protection. The penalty was a set of five, doubled and vulnerable.

"Mr. North (husband of Mrs. East) added fuel to the flames by criticizing the Blackwood four no trump in that situation, and stating that a five-club bid by friend wife over the original bid would more nearly express the value of the hand and shut out any further bidding, unless her partner had some additional values.

"Mrs. East would like to have some unbiased expert agree with her bidding. Can you accommodate her, or would you trail along with the opposite sex in this instance?"

We can agree with Mrs. East in part, at least. Mr. West was certainly a sissy to jump out and into six spades. He ought to have had more confidence in his partner's club holding.

But Mrs. East's use of the Blackwood bid was not very good. We would prefer Mr. North's suggestion of a five-club call.

Five clubs could be made easily, declarer giving up a heart and a club trick. Six could be made by finessing Mr. North for the club ing, but there is no entry to the West hand to attempt a finesse. For this reason and because the queen of diamonds falls, doubleton, East or West can make six diamonds, but not six clubs. But six diamonds is not an easy declaration to reach, and five clubs, bid and made with 100 honors, is a good enough result.

Today's Hand

East-West Vulnerable
NORTH DEALER

Mr. North
♠ A Q 8 7
♡ A J 10 9 8
◇ Q 5
♣ K 6

Mr. West
♠ K J 10 6 5
♡ Q 7 2
◇ 10 9 6 4
♣ 5

Mrs. East
♠ none
♡ 3
◇ A K J 3
♣ A Q J 10 9 8 7 3

Mrs. South
♠ 9 4 3 2
♡ K 6 5 4
◇ 8 7 2
♣ 4 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	4 NT	Pass	5 ♣
Pass	6 ♣	Pass	Pass
Dbl	Redbl	Pass	6 ♠
Dbl	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: A ♡.

Month's Leave in 1941 Makes Major Hero of Raid on Munda

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 8.—If Maj. Donald J. Yost had not been given a month's leave December 5, 1941—11 days before his thirty-first birthday—he would not be the hero today of a pre-Christmas raid on the Japanese island base of Munda, New Georgia.

Major Yost's squadron, a delayed dispatch from Guadalcanal revealed yesterday, accounted for 9 Jap Zeros in its sortie, and Yost personnally shot down six and chased three others off the tails of his mates.

The former Princeton University student was stationed with the Marine Corps at Wake Island last December. December 5 he was given a month's leave, and arrived in the United States December 6, just before the Marines began their gallant stand against the enemy at the island outpost. All in the garrison were captured or killed.

The last time his mother heard from him, Major Yost's thoughts were all with his squadron. It was just before their first raid.

"I am taking with me," he wrote her, "29 of the cream of American manhood, all boys about 22 or 23. They are a fine bunch. I hope I have taught them the right things—I think I have. They are green, but they are good, and they are eager to go.

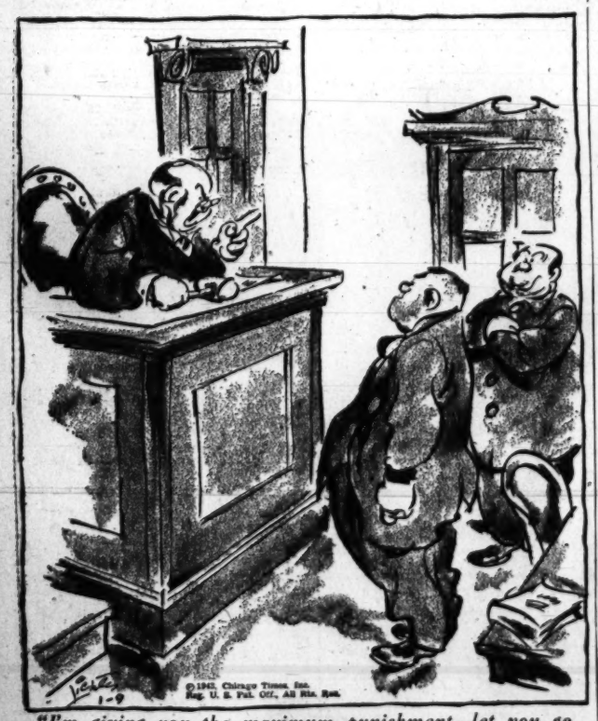
"We should make a fine showing. You can bet that I'll do my best. I hope only that they'll all come back when it's over, but I suppose that is too much to expect."

At least some of his hope has been realized. So far they have all come back.

Yost was born December 16, 1911, at Bethesda, Pa. His family moved to Dover, Del., and to Meadeville, Pa., before settling in Princeton.

Grin and Bear It

By Lichty



"I'm giving you the maximum punishment—let you go free to worry about taxes, rationing, shortages and everything else like the rest of us!"

Private Lives

By Edwin Cox

PROFESSOR ROMMEL
IN THE DAYS WHEN NAZI FIELD MARSHAL ROMMEL WAS CHASING THE BRITISH IN LIBYA, HE USED TO ENJOY GIVING LECTURES ON MILITARY TACTICS TO THE DISGRUNTLED ENGLISH OFFICERS HE CAPTURED. SINCE THEN, THEY'VE RETURNED THE COMPLIMENT!
DINNER-TABLE BAUBLES
THOSE WIDE SILVER BRACELETS OF SWIMMING CHAMP ESTHER WILLIAMS ARE OLDFASHIONED FAMILY NAPKIN RINGS—WITH THE NAMES LEFT ON!
TIME FOR A RHYME
WHEN HE FINDS HIMSELF WITH A RARE MOMENT OF LEISURE, HIGHPOWERED HENRY J. KAISER IS APT TO USE IT FOR DASHING OFF A BIT OF INSPIRATIONAL POETRY.
1-9-43

RIGHT AROUND HOME — BY DUDLEY FISHER

HOLD THE PHONE. I'LL ASK SUSIE.
DO YOU WANT TO PLAY SOME BRIDGE TONIGHT?
SURE! I'LL BE READY IN FIVE MINUTES.
WE'LL BE RIGHT OVER!
WHERE ARE WE GOING?
?

JOE PALOOKA — A Spot in the Country — BY HAM FISHER

DARLING, I KNOW THE SWEETEST SPOT IN THE COUNTRY. WE COULD SPEND A WEEK THERE. IT'S SIMPLY DIVINE. THERE'S A LOVELY INN---
UH--ER-WHO'LL BE--ER-A-YOUR CHAP'RONE
OH YOU CUTE OLD BASHFUL BABY. I'LL STAY WITH A DEAR FRIEND OF MINE. SHE HAS A COTTAGE THERE.
GEE THAT WOULD BE JIST HEAVEN. I CAN'T WAIT FAST ENOUGH. LET'S GO.
I'LL RUSH TO MY FLAT AND PACK-- MEET YOU AT WATERLOO STATION AT THREE.
SWELL. I'LL GO AN' SHOP FER A COUPLA THINGS.
OH BOY OH BOY.
LE'SEE, I'LL HAFTA WRITE A NOTE TJERRY AN' BATEE SE.

NAPOLEON AND UNCLE ELBY — BY CLIFFORD McBRIDE

1-9
NICE KITTY. STEADY, GIRL. NO SENSE IN YOUR BEING AFRAID OF NAPOLEON. HE WOULDN'T HURT A FLY, HERE. I'LL HOLD YOU UP SO YOU CAN GET ACQUAINTED.

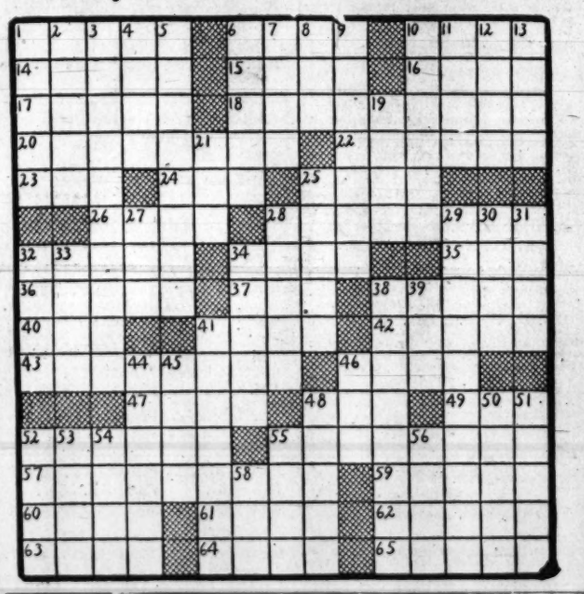
JANE ARDEN — Camouflage — BY MONTE BARRETT and RUSSELL ROSS

ALL CLEAR? HAVE YOU MEMORIZED THOSE POINTS WHERE WE'RE GOING TO STRIKE?
ALL SET!
REMEMBER, NO MATTER WHO FALLS THE REST MUST CARRY ON!
NOW FOR A LITTLE BEAUTY TREATMENT—THIS TRICK WAS BORROWED FROM THE COMMANDOS—AND IT WORKS!
UGH! AND THEY PAY FOR THIS IN BEAUTY SHOPS—
REDUCES VISIBILITY—WE WANT NO WHITE FACES SHOWING IN THE DARK—
HOW DO I LOOK?
THE POT CAN'T CALL THE KETTLE BLACK!

SUPERMAN — Hear Superman 5:30 P. M. Today—WOL — BY JERRY SIEGEL and JOE SHUSTER

ALL I KNOW OF THE VOICE IS THAT HE HAS FORCED ME TO AID HIM IN THE SPREADING OF FALSE RUMORS.
AND WHY DID YOU AGREE TO HELP HIM?
MY PARENTS ARE HELD BY THE NAZIS IN GERMANY... I WAS TOLD THAT THEY WOULD BE HARMED IF I DIDN'T AID HIM....
IF YOU ASSIST ME IN CAPTURING THE VOICE, I PROMISE THAT YOUR PARENTS WON'T BE HARMED. YOU MAY FORWARD CLUES TO CLARK KENT OF THE DAILY PLANET, WITH WHOM I AM OFTEN IN CONTACT. IS IT A DEAL?
UNKNOWN TO EITHER THE MAN OF STEEL OR FRIEDA HENLEY, A CONCEALED MICROPHONE HAS TRANSMITTED THEIR EVERY WORD TO THE VOICE'S DISTANT DEN....
THEN I'LL EXPECT TO HEAR FROM YOU!
BY ALL MEANS—YES!
SO FRIEDA IS TO WORK HAND-IN-GLOVE WITH THE MAN OF TOMORROW! INTERESTING! LEADING BOTH OF THEM TO THEIR DOOM WILL NOT ONLY BE SIMPLE BUT INTERESTING!

Daily Cross Word Puzzle



ACROSS

1 Tartarus
6 Avenue
10 Impose upon: colloq.
14 Go-between
15 Succulent plant
16 Fencing sword
17 Sew slightly
18 Ruler
20 Threatened
22 Former bete noire
23 Philippine Island peasant
24 Jutting rock
25 Busy assemblage
26 Horn blast
28 Mine products
32 Mendicant
34 Secret Chinese society
35 Pastry
36 Joins firmly
37 Droop
38 Higher
40 Wing
41 Lucid
42 Founded
43 Drubs
46 Quadragesima
47 Floods
48 Deserter
49 Work
52 Autocrat
55 European manifestation
57 Dictatorial
59 Sheeplike
60 Australian cedar tree
61 Scruff
62 Abridge
63 Formerly, Fr.
64 Fine stoneware: Fr.
65 Toboggans

DOWN

1 Custom
2 Lizard
3 Arbitrary
4 Grafted: her.
5 Persons with powerful voices
6 An essay
7 Estate of absolute tenure
8 Bibber
9 Zetetic
10 Trade: Fr.
11 Javanese tree
12 Proportion
13 Associate
19 Middle of a church
21 Speck
25 Swing
27 Noted for acorns
28 Bewails
29 Turn turncoat
30 Ignited
31 First principle
32 Cap of a mushroom
33 Function
34 Overlords
38 Conspirators
39 Anathema
41 Towering
44 Approval
45 Relate
46 Insipid sap of various trees
48 Springs
50 Conical
51 Timbers
52 Adduce
53 Love god
54 Epic poetry
55 Cat's-paw
56 Grandparental
58 Impel by rowing

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER

A	S	C	E	N	T		P	A	S	T	U	R	E	S
S	T	A	L	E	R		E	S	C	U	L	E	N	T
P	A	R	A	P	E	T		H	A	M	U	L	A	R
E	M	A	N	A	T	E	S		D	I	L	U	T	E
R	I	M	E	S		L	E	D		D	A	M	I	A
A	N	E	T		V	A	R	E	C		T	E	C	K
T	A	L		L	A	M	I	N	A	T	E	D
E	L		R	E	L	O	C	A	T	E	S		H	A
		C	A	T	E	N	A	T	E	D		D	E	N
M	A	L	M		T	E	T	U	R		R	E	S	T
A	R	E	A	S		S	E	R		C	E	C	I	L
S	C	A	R	A	B		D	E	R	O	G	A	T	E
S	A	V	A	G	E	S		S	I	M	I	L	A	R
A	N	E	M	O	N	A	L		D	E	N	O	T	E
C	E	R	A	S	I	N	E		S	T	A	G	E	D

Victory Sidelights

Model Village to Be Demolished by Bombs In OCD Air Raid Demonstration Tomorrow

A model village will be demolished by bombs in a simulated air raid at 3 p. m. tomorrow in Catholic University's athletic stadium, the Office of Civilian Defense announced yesterday.

All types of bombs used by the enemy will figure in the raid, for which more than 400 volunteers have been selected for participation under direction of William G. Sweetman, expert on explosives.

Preceding the "bombing" will be a parade of all branches of Civilian Defense personnel in full uniform and all rolling equipment. There will be no admission charge.

Nurses Review Course Will Begin January 18

A nine-week refresher course for inactive nurses will be inaugurated at Doctors Hospital January 18, it was announced yesterday by the District Graduate Nurses Association.

The course, to run from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. five days a week, will cover medicine, surgery and obstetrics. All inactive nurses are urged to attend in an effort to alleviate the present serious shortage in their profession. Further information may be obtained by calling Miss Lucy Masten, director of nurses, at Republic 4600.

Nutrition Classes To Open January 22

To aid in instructing Washington women in making the most of their rationed food supply, the District Red Cross will open a brush-up course for college graduate nutritionists January 22 at Walsh House, 2020 Massachusetts Avenue Northwest, it was announced yesterday.

Upon finishing the course, the nutritionists will become qualified instructors for housewives. The course will continue on Fridays from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. for six weeks.

At the same time, the local Red Cross chapter urged residents of the Southeast to register immediately for nurse's aides classes, as the need for aides in this area is particularly acute. Registration which began January 5 will be continued on January 12, 13, 15, 19 and 20, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon in the Chamberlin Vocational School.

OCD Needs Clerks For Volunteer Work

The Office of Civilian Defense yesterday issued an appeal for 100 volunteers to handle clerical work necessary for an immediate investigation of the fire-control apparatus of all rooming houses here. Registration is conducted at the OCD office at 2324 F Street Northwest, or the civilian defense booth at 1321 Pennsylvania Avenue Northwest.

WPB Eliminates 700 Varieties Of Garden Tools

The War Production Board yesterday prescribed simpler patterns and restricted the material to be used in the manufacture of tools, for victory gardens after April 8.

The order, which will eliminate 700 sizes, styles, grades, and finishes of edged and tined hand tools and produce an estimated saving of 800 to 1000 tons of steel annually, applies also to industrial tools.

The implements, which must be fabricated solely from carbon steel, include garden rakes and hoes, hay forks, coke and coal forks, road rakes and cotton choppers. Farmers and victory gardeners will be given a choice of two or, in some cases, three grades of tools.

Bolivian Envoy, Wallace Will Broadcast Today

Vice President Wallace and the Bolivian Ambassador to this country, Don Luis Fernando Guachalla, will appear on the Pan American Holiday radio program to be broadcast today at 12:30 p. m. from the Mayflower Hotel, it was announced yesterday.

Last of a series of broadcasts to stimulate American interest in the culture of Latin America, the program will include the award of a trip to Mexico to Miss Eugenia Demetriou of Long Island, N. Y., who won a recent contest for singing in Spanish.

Radio Highlights

Pan-American Holiday. Eugenia Demetriou, first prize winner in a Nation-wide contest for amateur singers, will be presented in the final program of the series. WRC—1:00 p. m.

Lakme, with Lily Pons in the title role will be broadcast from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House. Wilfred Pelletier will conduct. WMAL—2:00 p. m.

Musical Matinee, conducted by Frank Black, will present a new vocal artist, Ellabelle Davis, Negro soprano. WRC—2.00 p. m.

Your Hit Parade brings America's favorite tunes of the week in order of their popularity, with Mark Warnow's orchestra playing them. WJSV—9:00 p. m.

Eleanor Powell, the film star who makes both work and sport of her favorite activity—dancing—will be guest of Bill Stern on his "Sports Newsreel." WRC—10:00 p. m.

Dr. Charles Glen King, scientific director of the Nutrition Foundation, will outline "Today's Research in Nutrition." WMAL—10:45 p. m.

Treasury Presents Henry Hull in "The Youth of America Speaking." WINX—11:15 p. m.

Saturday Night Bandwagon. Helen Mencken, David Ross, Stephen Schnabel and Charles Webster in a verse drama written by veteran announcer and poet David Ross. It is entitled, "Proclaim the Morning." WOL—11:15 p. m.

Saturday, January 9 — Washington — Eastern War Time

WMAL 475M-630KC	WRC 316M—980KC	WOL 229M—1260KC	WJSV 208M—1500KC
Today's Prelude. 6-7; Hit'mark 7:05-9; News at 7 and 8:30; Claude Mahoney at 7:45.	Bill Herson. 6:05, 6:45, 7:05, 8:05. Dawn Detail. 8:15; News. 6, 7, 8 A.M.	Dawn Pat. to 8:30; Brown. 8:35-9:30; News by Jefferay at 6:30, 7:30 &8:30	Sun Dial. 6 to 7. News. 6:45 & 7:30; Godfrey 7 to 9:15; News. 8.
9:00—Breakfast Club	Housewives' Music Room	Art Brown At the Organ	Arthur Godfrey " "
9:15—	News, Banghart	Homemakers	Morning
9:30—Breakfast Club	Symphony Hall	News; H'makers	Melodies
9:45—
10:00—News; Rabbi Gerstenfeld	Symphony Hall	Homemakers Mr. Moneybags	Lawless '20s Light Classics
10:15—	" "	Arlington on	Hillbilly Champs
10:30—National Frolic	" "	the Air	" "
10:45—Hank Lawson	String Serenade
11:00—Alexandria	The	Arlington on	Vesta Eales
11:15— On	Creightons	the Air	God's Country
11:30— The	Coast Guard	U. S. Army	Let's Pretend
11:45— Air	on Parade	Band	" "
12:00—News; Rogers	News; Music	News; Army-Navy House Party	Armstrong Theater
12:15—Ear Teasers	Consumers Time	Music You Like	Stars Over
12:30—Farm and	Whatcha K'w Joe	Henry Jerome	Hollywood
12:45— Home Hour	Devotions
1:00—Vincent Lopez	Pan American	Russ Hodges	Country
1:15— Orchestra	Holiday	Sports Page	Journal
1:30—M. Howard	Star Parade	" "	Saturday Concert
1:45—Melodies	News	Mr. Moneybags	" "
2:00—Metropolitan	Frank Black's	Russ Hodges'	Men
2:15— Opera,	Musical	Sports Page	and Books
2:30—"Lakme" with	Matinee	Russ Hodges'	Spirit of '43
2:45 Lily Pons	Saturday Special	Sports Page	Spirit of '43
3:00— " "	Golden	Russ Hodges'	Brick Church
3:15— " "	Melodies	Sports Page	Choir
3:30— " "	Charles Dant's	" "	Hello From
3:45— " "	Orchestra	Hay Burners	Hawaii
4:00— " "	Fort Bragg	Russ Hodges'	Matinee at
4:15— " "	Cavalcade	Sports Page	Meadowbrook
4:30—	Music of the	Russ Hodges'	Week-end
4:45—Sol Lewis	Americas	Sports Page	Whirl
5:00—Little Show	Doctors at	Navy	Cleveland
5:15— " "	War	Bulletin	Orchestra
5:30— " "	Musicade	Board	" "
5:45—Clyde Lucas	Alex Drier	" "	" "
6:00—Dinner Music	News	Prayer; Sports	Sports; Frax. Hunt
6:15—News; Rogers	Musicade	Bowling Series	Hemisphere Music
6:30—Little Show	Robert St. John	News; Compton	Labor News
6:45—Army Band	Musicade	Syncopations	World Today
7:00—"Over Here"	Noah Webster	Richard Himber's	People's
7:15— " "	Says	Orchestra	Platform
7:30— " "	Ellery Queen	Barn Dance	Thanks to
7:45— " "	Mystery	Arthur Ravel	the Yanks
8:00—Earl Godwin	Abie's Irish	Service Men's	Crumit and
8:15—Gilbert and	Rose	Hour	Sanderson
8:30—Sull. Operetta	Truth or	This Is the	Hobby
8:45— Orchestra	Consequences	Hour	Lobby
9:00— " "	National	Chicago	Your
9:15—Ed Tomlinson	Barn Dance	Theater	Hit
9:30—Spotlight	Can You	of the	Parade
9:45— Bands	Top This?	Air	Saturday Night
10:00—Foreign Policy	Sport Newsreel	John B. Hughes	Serenade
10:15— Association	Serenade	Central Union	Soldiers with
10:30—John Gunther	Let's Play	Mission	Wings
10:45—Nutrition	Reporter	Ina Ray Hutton	Eileen Farrell
11:00—News	News; Music	Interlude; News	News—Eliot
11:15—Message of	Story Dramas	Saturday Night	Arch McDonald
11:30— Israel	Music You	Bond Wagon	"Moon Dial"
11:45—R. Heatherton	Want	Johnny Messner	Dancing in Dark

250W—WINX—1340KC

News Every Hour on the Hour	1:00 News; Tony Wakeman	7:00 News; Money Calling
6:00 Jerry Strong	2:00 News; Tony Wakeman	7:30 Lookin' With Len
6:30 Morning Offering	2:30 Music	7:45 Balalaika
6:45 Jerry Strong	3:00 News; Tony Wakeman	8:00 News; Sunday School
7:00 News; Jerry Strong	3:15 Music	8:15 Frankie Carle
8:00 News Roundup	3:45 Tony Wakeman	8:30 Traffic Court
8:06 Breakfast with Jerry	4:00 News; Tony Wakeman	9:00 News; Jam Session
9:00 News; Bob Callahan	4:15 Music	9:30 The Bible Way
9:30 Win With WINX	4:45 Tony Wakeman	10:00 News
10:30 Traffic Court	5:00—News	10:30 Barn Dance
11:00 News; Varieties	5:15 Ramblers	11:00 News; Sports
12:00 News Roundup	5:30 Inkspots	11:15 Treasury Presents
12:15 Hawaiian Orchestra	5:45 News Roundup	11:30 Ted Fiorito
12:30 Luncheon Music	6:00—Tony Wakeman	12:00 Midnight Newsreel
	6:15 Bing Crosby	1:00 Sign Off
	6:30—Hollywood Orch.

250W—WWDC—1450KC

6:00—Sunrise Serenade	11:15—Rosebud Jr. Chorus	6:30—Welcome Stranger
6:45—Devotions	11:30—Bing Crosby	7:00—Business and Hitler
7:00—Let's Go Washington	12:00—Dixieland Jamboree	7:15—Music
7:15—Let's Get Moving	12:15—Rev. Clifford	7:30—Xavier Cugat
7:30—Let's Go Washington	12:30—Dixieland Jamboree	7:45—Foreign Observer
8:00 D C Dollars	12:45—Washington Headlines	8:00—Air Force
8:30—Musical Clock	1:00—Concert Hour	8:15—Horace Heidt
8:45—Rev. Clifford	1:15—Earl Donoho	8:30—Bible Quiz
9:00—Novatime	1:30—Concert Hour	9:00—Jump 'n' Jive
9:15—Serenade	2:30—Vincent Lopez	10:00—Hockey Game
9:30—Alice Lane	2:45—"On Stage"	10:30—Word of Life
9:45—Harry Horlick	3:00—What You Know, Joe?	11:00—Jack Stevens
10:00—Guy Lombardo	3:30—1450 Club	11:15—"Washie" Bratcher
10:15—Town Crier	5:30—Local News	12:00—Sign Off
10:30—Kapital Kids	5:45—Sports—Carson
11:00—Dizzy Digest	6:00—Freddy Martin

Victory Book Appeal Is Renewed Here

By the Associated Press

The District Committee of the 1943 victory book campaign, with headquarters at the Franklin Administration Building, Thirteenth and K Streets Northwest, yesterday renewed its appeal to residents to donate books for soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardmen and merchant seamen, at home and abroad.

The campaign started January 5 and will be concluded March 5.

Books left may be left at any of the public libraries, or for three cents a pound, mailed to Gift Book, Victory Book Campaign, Southwestern Branch Public Library, Seventh and H Streets Southwest.

Following are the libraries where books may be left:

The Public Library, Central Building, Eighth and K Street Northwest; Anacostia Branch Library, 1537 Good Hope Road Southeast; Catholic University Library, Michigan Avenue Northeast; Chevy Chase Sub-branch Library, 3815 Livingston Street Northwest; Conduit Road Sub-branch Library, 4954 Conduit Road Northwest; Eastern High School Sub-branch Library, Eighteenth and East Capitol Streets; Georgetown Branch Library, Wisconsin Avenue and R Street Northwest; George Washington University Library, 2023 G Street Northwest.

Mount Pleasant Branch Library, Sixteenth and Lamont Streets Northwest; Northeastern Branch Library, Seventh Street and Maryland Avenue Northeast; Petworth Branch Library, Georgia Avenue and Upshur Street Northwest; Southeastern Branch Library, Seventh and D Streets Southeast; Southwestern Branch Library, Seventh and H Streets Southwest; Takoma Park Branch Library, Fifth and Cedar Streets Northwest; Tenley Sub-branch Library, 4539 Wisconsin Avenue Northwest, and Woodridge Sub-branch Library, 2206 Rhode Island Avenue Northeast.

Rockets Speed Nazi Bombers On Take-Off

New York, Jan. 8.—Rockets are used to give quick acceleration at the take-off of the German Junkers 88 medium bombers, and rocket bombs are being used extensively by the Russians, according to C. G. Grey, noted English aircraft authority in a review of world aircraft developments of 1942 which appeared today in the annual issue of The Iron Age.

Grey notes that rocket-propelled starts have been used for fully two years by the Germans. He quotes an escaped Dutch flier as saying that "few things are more terrifying than to see a Nazi bomber, fully loaded with bombs and gasoline, take off at night with a huge rocket blazing under each wing, and knowing that if one engine cuts out the plane will turn over in one burst of flame."

Rocket bombs are used by the Russians for ground attacks on rails under each wing of the Stormovik bomber-fighter. The bombs are fired electrically and are given their direction by the rails. This, with rocket propulsion, gives a much flatter trajectory than ordinary bombs.

Grey describes how Hurricane fighters are used by the British to combat the big four-engine German Focke-Wulf Kurriers which harry Atlantic convoys and start their trips from a big airdrome near Bordeaux in the south of France, flying around Ireland to Iceland and Norway.

At a Norwegian airdrome runways two miles long are provided for the reutrn take-off. Hurricanes were catapulted from the decks of big merchant ships. After shooting down or driving off the raider, Hurricane pilots had to bale out to avoid drowning by coming down on the water.

"Until 1942," Grey writes, "tactics of the use of aircraft carriers seem to have been misunderstood by every Nation.

As an example of the intelligent use of carriers he cites a great convoy taken to Malta in October. Three carriers were used so that fighters from one could protect another while its fighting planes were in the air to protect ships in the convoy.

Teachers' Salary Topic of Special Citizens Meeting

Failure of Congress to provide salary increases for District school teachers will be discussed at a special meeting of the newly appointed committee on education of the Federation of Citizens' Association at 8 o'clock tonight, in room 713 of the Woodward Building.

T. Paul Mudd of Randle Highlands Citizens Association, has been named chairman of the committee; Mrs. H. W. Draper of the Progressive Citizens of Georgetown is vice chairman, and Frank P. Randolph of the Bradbury Heights Association, secretary.

D. C. Child, 7, Hurt By Fall Through Window

Dorothy Dunn, 7, of 1832 North Capitol Street, was taken to Sibley Hospital suffering from a possible brain concussion suffered when she fell through a window at 1814 North Capitol Street yesterday.

She was playing on a ledge outside the window, with Mary Ann Moyer, 5, of 1812 North Capitol Street, when she fell through the window and to the floor of a room.

400 a Minute

Navy's New Antiaircraft Gun Shown

The first demonstration and exhibit of a new and highly effective ship-board antiaircraft gun took place yesterday at 4 p. m. at the Stone Paper Tube Co., 900 Franklin Street Northeast. The firm manufactures protective paper covers for the shells used in the gun's operation.

The gun was mounted on the rear of a platform truck and employes of the plant heard a lecture on its mechanism and use by Warrant Gunner Jack Schafer, U. S. N., of Tacoma, Wash., and his two chief gunner mates, Leslie Voris of Newport, Ky., and Jack Batchelor of Teague, Tex. All three men are veterans of Pearl Harbor, Coral Sea, Midway and Guadalcanal. Now, after completing special schooling, they will demonstrate the gun from coast to coast, before returning to active duty.

The gun, Schafer explained, fires 20 mm. shells at a rate of about 400 per minute, has a range of a mile and weighs about 1700 pounds. It was designed before the war began by a Swiss inventor named Orliken. Two British officers learned of the gun and reported its qualities to the British ordnance office, but it was rejected for undisclosed reasons. After the sinking of the Repulse in December 1941, however, the British government turned over the specifications for the shipboard weapon to the United States for manufacture. Now, parts used in its assembly, come from various plants located in 38 States.

Schafer was an assistant gunner officer at the opening battle of Gaudalcanal and praised the effectiveness of the new gun over the types then in use.

"When we first began to meet Jap air attacks," he said, "we would try to knock down the bombers first, and go after the Zero fighters. Now, we go after the Zeros first—thanks to this gun we can finally get at them—and find that the bombers jettison their loads when they see they have lost their fighter protection. Our antiaircraft scores have risen as a result."

D. C. Day Care Plan Approved By Committee

Thirty members of the Child Care and Protection Committee of the Civilian Mobilization Division, District Defense Council, yesterday approved a coordinated program of day care services, it was announced by Mrs. Henry P. Chandler, chairman of the committee.

The program provides for the coordination of a program of mothers counseling, foster day care and home maker service, all of which are to be operated by the Board of Welfare, with the program of nursery schools and extended school services for young school children to be operated by the Board of Education as a part of the public school system.

The plan also provides for a director of services for children of working mothers.

Mrs. Chandler said that working mothers will pay fees according to their incomes and stated that 400 mothers have called to date inquiring about day care for 462 children. Thirty-two per cent of the children in need of this service have been under 2 years of age.

It is estimated that to operate 10 nursery schools for five months would cost $160,506; that tuition fees would amount to $52,110, leaving a difference of $108,396.

The actual application of funds must be made by the District Commissioners as legal sponsors on behalf of the operating agencies, the Board of Public Welfare and the Board of Education. FWA Lanham Act funds and the President's Emergency Fund could both provide the needed money.

Commissioners Accept Councilor Resignation

The Commissioners last night accepted the resignation of James A. Councilor as member of the Board of Public Welfare. Councilor, who lives at 1701 Kalmia Road Northwest, submitted his resignation because of the pressure of other duties, he said.

In addition to his regular accounting work, Councilor, a member of the District Republican Committee, had been doing accounting for the Metropolitan Police Boys Club, the Community Chest and the War hospitality committee. He said that although he was urged to remain on the Welfare Board he felt that his other duties did not leave him the time to give that the welfare work deserved.

Youth Seeking To Enlist, Doesn't Know U. S. Marines

Houston, Tex., Jan. 8 (U.P.).—Sergt. Eugene Smith of the Marine Recruiting Office was stopped by a young man today who asked the way to the Naval Recruiting Office. The youth said he wanted to fight the Japs.

"Why don't you join the best fighters in the world—the Marines?" asked Sergeant Smith.

"Who's them?" asked the prospective fighting man.

Sergeant Smith turned and walked away.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES — Translation From a Phony Pony — BY MILTON CANIFF

MORNING, PRINCESS ROJO! YOU OKAY?
YES, PLEEP CORKEEN!
HEY!
IT'S JOE JITSU! I THOUGHT THE OREMLINS GOT YOU... AND THERE YOU STAND—ALL BATHED, SHAVED AND SHOE-SHINED!
THIS PERSON DOES NOT COMPREHEND THE SPEECH OF THE IMPRISONED ONE! CAN IT BE REPEATED IN MY LANGUAGE?
HE SAYS HE AND THE GIRL WILL ESCAPE AND HAVE NAZI VENGEANCE ON US CHINESE! IT IS FORTUNATE THAT I KNOW THE EVIL WAYS OF THESE ENEMIES OF OUR FAIR LAND!

MARY WORTH'S FAMILY — BY DALE ALLEN

NO! NO! IT CAN'T END LIKE THIS!···SO NEAR THE GOAL!··· BUT SO FAR···!
SHE ISN'T DELIRIOUS, MISS PRANG···BUT SHE KEEPS REPEATING THOSE WORDS···AND PLEADING TO CONTINUE HER TRAIN TRIP!
I'LL TRY TO CALM HER···
PLEASE···YOU MUST SAVE YOUR STRENGTH!··· BUT IF THERE'S SOME MESSAGE WE CAN TAKE···?
NO···NOT TO YOU···YOU WOULD NOT UNDERSTAND!
BUT SHE WOULD! SHE CAN HELP ME! SHE IS WISE···AND GOOD! GO! LEAVE US ALONE TOGETHER!

MICKEY FINN — Virgin Territory! — BY LANK LEONARD

Y-YOU MEAN IT W-WORKS?
IT'S SWELL! AND ALL THE FELLOWS IN MY BARRACKS WANT TO BUY ONE—HOW MUCH DO THEY SELL FOR?
W-WAIT A MINUTE! ARE MARINES—A-AND SOLDIERS—ALLOWED TO BUY THINGS LIKE THIS—WITHOUT PERMISSION FROM THE GOVERNMENT!
WHY, SURE! WE CAN BUY ALL KINDS OF STUFF OVER AT THE P. X.
WHAT'S THE P.X?
THE POST EXCHANGE! IT'S LIKE A STORE—EVERY MARINE BASE AND ARMY CAMP HAS ONE!
THAT'S ALL I WANT TO KNOW! YOU'RE COMIN' WITH ME!
?

MR. AND MRS. — Making Sure of Him — BY ARTHUR FOLWELL and ELLISON HOOVER

WAIT A SECOND. I WANT YOU TO MAIL THIS LETTER
I DONT SEE WHY YOU TRUST ME WITH IT
YOU ALWAYS SAY I KEEP LETTERS IN MY COAT FOR DAYS AND DAYS
WELL, SO YOU DO. BUT THIS ONE WILL BE ALL RIGHT, I'M SURE
HOW COME YOU CHANGED YOUR MIND?
I'M DATING THIS LETTER TEN DAYS AHEAD
JUST FOR THAT I'LL MAIL IT TODAY

DIXIE DUGAN — Steady! — BY J. P. McEVOY and H. J. STRIEBEL

THE SEAM ON THIS CAN ISN'T GOOD—UNLESS IT'S AIR TIGHT, FOOD WILL SPOIL.
UH—HUH
AND CAN AFTER CAN AFTER CAN IS OPENED AND INSPECTED BY THIS LITTLE GENIUS OF THE CANNERY
LOOK—THEY'RE NOT EVEN PACKED IN NICELY—WHAT A WASTE OF SPACE!
YOU—YOU MEAN ALL THAT FRUIT IS SPOILED?
OH NO—THEY'RE JUST NOT CANNED AS EXPERTLY AS WE CAN 'EM—EH, DUGAN?
SMART GUY!
MA—STEADY!

DON WINSLOW OF THE NAVY — Last Rites — BY FRANK MARTINEK

SECOND FLOOR! THIRD FLOOR! STILL THAT BLOOD TRAIL KEEPS CLIMBING! WHY WOULD A WOUNDED MAN DRAG HIMSELF UP HERE?
MERCEDES, YOU STILL HAVEN'T TOLD ME WHAT THAT BIG BLAST WAS THAT WE HEARD OUTSIDE.
QUIET DON. TRY TO SLEEP
YOU WON'T BE BOTHERED BY ANYTHING MORE. A GUARD'S BEEN POSTED OUTSIDE YOUR DOOR, AND...
A GUARD? BUT WHY? WHAT—??
BANG! BANG!
ENOUGH BULLETS... LEFT FOR YOU—AND ME, WINSLOW!! WE WILL...ENTER THE NEXT WORLD... TOGETHER!!

BIG CHIEF WAHOO — BY SAUNDERS AND WOGGON

THAT WAS A CLOSE ONE, MARKO! LUCKY YOU HAD THE LONG KNIFE HANDY!
YES, FRIEND ROPER!
SAY! THAT'S WHY YOU BROUGHT ALONG THE FROG-STICKER, AND MADE ME STRAP ONE ON! YOU KNEW WE'D TANGLE WITH SHARKS!
YES, FRIEND ROPER!
BUT NOT ALL SHARKS SWIM IN THE SEA! WE SHALL MEET WORSE ONES ON KONA-KONA ISLAND!
IT IS NOT SAFE TO WALK THE STREETS OF BRIMSTONE BAY WITHOUT A LONG KNIFE!

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED

KID, IT'S THE MATE—BULL—HE'S COMING ABOARD ALL ALONE--
TIE HIM UP, TAMMIE!
BUT KID AND TAMMIE ARE UNAWARE THAT THEIR ESCAPE FROM THE SHIP IS EXPECTED BY SIR CECIL
SO YOU DON'T REMEMBER ME, EH, KING?--I'M SIR CECIL. YOU CAME HERE WITH MY ARCHEOLOGICAL EXPEDITION--
THIS...MAN HELPED ME--I-I-NEVER-SAW--YOU-BEFORE-
HMM--WITHIN THE HOUR I'LL KNOW IF YOUR AMNESIA IS FAKED--AND IF IT IS, YOU AND YOUR YOUNG FRIENDS WILL DIE!

DONALD DUCK — "Chivalry" Is Not Dead! — BY WALT DISNEY

TODAY in Washington

Births

James and Florence Adams, girl.
Herbert and Virginia Angel, girl.
Samuel and Elizabeth Argent, girl.
Alfred and Margaret Bahr, boy.
Hyman and Sara Black, girl.
George and Dolores Bowley, boy.
Floyd and Clara Boyles, boy.
Clarence and Catherine Braseral, boy.
Howard and Reita Brinner, boy.
George and Katherine Brophy, girl.
Louis and Patricia Cardelia, girl.
James and Ruby Cassidy, boy.
William and Vivian Catlett, girl.
Marshall and Ruth Clinard, boy.
John and Genevieve Closson, girl.
William and Patricia Coleman, boy.
Edward and Martha Conover, girl.
Mayo and Ethel Dillon, boy.
Ricardo and Clara Dia, girl.
Urban and Elizabeth Donnelly, boy.
Arthur and Sue Dove, boy.
Herbard and Grace Drimmer, girl.
Frederick and Caroline Emeny, girl.
Harry and Jean Fowler, boy twins.
Samuel and Lena Goldstein, girl.
Raphael and Esther Gonzales, girl.
Robert and Virginia Greenberg, boy.
William and Louise Holl, girl.
Ovington and Dora Hazn, girl.
Charles and Marjorie Heine, boy.
Joseph and Anna Higgins, girl.
John and Helen Jones, boy.
Reece and Viola Jones, boy.
Leon and Viola Kidwell, boy.
Abraham and Louise Klein, girl.
Paul and Mary Knepper, boy.
Stephen and Gladys Kulik, boy.
Herman and Nora Kilsheimer, girl.
Billy and Nancy Kirts, girl.
William and Gladys Leahy, boy.
Daniel and Bernice Leonard, boy.
Owen and Sadie Loveless, boy.
Francis and Anna Maguire, girl.
Harvey and Cora Major, boy.
Eugene and Virginia Mikkelsen, boy.
George and Meta Mills, boy.
John and Dorothy Moore, boy.
Wallace and Irene Morgan, boy.
Joseph and Mary McKenna, boy.
James, Jr., and Virginia McMichael, boy.
Wilbur and Emma Ness, girl.
Lloyd and Victoria Oliver, boy.
Raoul and Margaret Ortel, girl.
Harry and Marion Pearce, boy.
Jeptha and Lillian Rogers, boy.
Matthew and Virginia Rose, boy.
Edward and Marie Shackelford, boy.
Solomon and Elsie Shapiro, girl.
Foster and June Sherwood, boy.
Dale and Helen Shields, girl.
Walter and Frances Slawski, boy.
George and Constance Smith, boy.
Walter and Travis Smith, boy.
Howard and Alice Spieth, boy.
Andrew and Elizabeth Stack, girl.
Frederick and Margaret Stock, girl.
Samuel V. and Elizabeth Steep, boy.
Frank and Ruth Strimes, boy.
Carl and Goodie Swisher, boy.
Henry 2d and Violet Thornton, boy.
Sigmund and Eleanor Timberg, boy.
Foster and Ethel Tinsley, boy.
Raymond and Nellie Tomlinson, boy.
William and Stephanie Tracy, girl.
William and Charlotte Train, girl.
Merle and Ruth Troup, girl.
Bedford and Charlotte Uhler, Jr., boy.
Simon and Agatha Wachtel, girl.
Jay and Janet Westcott, girl.
Louis and Mary Williams, girl.
Richard and Margaret Wittmann, girl.
Holden and Dorothy York, girl.
Kenneth and Mary Yourd, girl.
Calhoun and Martha Adgerson, boy.
Joseph and Mary Bailey, boy.
Hugh and Thelma Baker, Jr., boy.
Frank and Gladys Barnes, boy.
Rupert and Sean Brashars, boy.
Willie and Mary Brown, girl.
Walter and Exie Bryant, boy.
Wilbur and Marian Carpenter, boy.
Eddie and Sarah Carter, girl.
Wilbur and Ruth Cash, boy.
John and Lillie Cooper, girl.
Nebraska and Carrie Deese, girl.
Leonard and Vivian Dorsett, girl.
Arthur and Naomi Dunston, girl.
Schuyler and Thelma Eldridge, girl.
John and May Ellis, girl.
Maurice and Frances Farr, girl.
William and Frances Fletcher, girl.
Perry and Deon Gill, boy.
Benjamin and Helen Gross, girl.
Neal and Beatrice Harris, girl.
John and Ada Henderson, girl.
Kenneth and Lucille Hall, girl.
Clarence and Carolyn Hobby, boy.
Richard and Mary James, boy.
Earl and Carsino Johnson, boy.
William and Olga Johnson, girl.
Lewis and Sadie Morgan, boy.
Smoot and Harriet Morton, girl.
Edward and Hilda Nash, girl.
James and Bertha Nix, girl.
Lila and Bessie Peterson, boy.
Oscar and Burtie Phillips, girl.
Leroy and Lillie Plummer, boy.
Roy and Gertrude Powell, boy.
Edward and Sylvia Randall, girl.
Wesley and Enid Robinson, girl.
George and Roberta Smallwood, girl.
Wallace and Ina Stenchel, boy.
Richard and Mildred Stevens, boy.
Merrill and Hazel Thomas, girl.
Ivory and Myrtis Turner, boy.
Lucas and Charlotte Wren, boy.
William and Helen Young, girl.

Deaths

Ellen Sullivan, 85, 3304 9th st. ne.
Mary J. Kidwell, 80, 1801 Foxhall rd. nw.
John J. Hollingsworth, 78, 5613 14th st. nw.
John J. Larkin, 72, 1724 Allison st. ne.
George P. Barnes, 65, 4209 8th st. nw.
Pierce DuBois, 65, 6622 First st. nw.
Paul Higgins, 55, 637 Newton pl. nw.
Clarice Amidon, 52, 206 10th st. ne.
Ellis C. Doyle, 48, Berwyn, Md.
Grace Washington, 88, 404 South Capitol.
John H. Wood, 75, 43 D st. se.
Marie McClellan, 68, 1503 Hamlin st. ne.
Willard Whitley, 32, 706 19th st. ne.
Annie Morris, 32, 808 New Jersey ave. nw.
Milton H. Lyles, 7 days, 704 R. I. ave. nw.

Concerts

SOLDIERS' HOME BAND ORCHESTRA
Stanley Hall—5:30 P. M.
John S. M. Zimmermann, bandmaster.
Franklin B. Charles, assistant.
March, "Thundering Cannons" ....Wacek
Overture, "Athalia" .....Mendelssohn
Entr'acte—
(a) "A Bowl of Pansies" .....Reynard
(b) "At Sunset" .....Deppen
Excerpts from comic opera, "The Gondoliers" .....Sullivan
Popular numbers—
"Just Like a Butterfly" .....Woods
"Japanese Sandman" .....Whiting
Waltz, "Mon Plaisir" .....Roberts
Finale, "To the Front" .....Hume
"The Star-Spangled Banner."

ORGAN RECITAL
The Washington Chapel
Sixteenth Street and Columbia Road Northwest. Tonight, 8 p. m., presents a popular program of lighter music for voice and organ, with servicemen as special guests; D. Sterling Wheelwright, organist, and Edna C. Wheelwright, soprano, assisting.
"Impromptu for Organ"..Coleridge-Taylor
"Little Fugue in G Minor" .....Bach
"Morning Song" .....Kremer
Voice—"Air of Salome" (Herodiade), Massenet
"Will o' the Wisp" .....Nevin
"Meditation a Sainte Ciotilde" .....James
Hymn reveries, "Sweet Is the Work."
.....McClellan
"An Old Melody" .....Arranged
Voice—
"By the Bend of the River," Edwards
"Slumber Boat" .....Gaynor
"The Sleigh" .....Kountz
"March Triumphant" .....Verdi

First-Aid Nursing Class Series To Start Monday

New classes in first aid, home nursing, clothing renovation and knitting will be started at Webster School, Tenth and H Streets Northwest, on Monday it was announced yesterday by Miss Maude E. Aiton, administrative principal of Americanization work for the District.

Miss Dorothy J. Donally will direct the classes. She is a member of the Americanization staff and a registered Red Cross nurse.

Standard first aid courses will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Home nursing will be taught Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. The renovation classes will be held Mondays and Wednesdays from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. and the knitting classes will meet on Friday from 1 to 3 p. m.

Gets Year on Bomb Scare

Newark, N. J., Jan. 8 (AP).—A year in prison and a $100 fine were the penalty imposed today on Bernard J. O'Donnell, 21, who assembled a bomb in the Federal Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co.'s Kearny plant and then announced he had discovered it.

Applications for Marriage Licenses

Stuart Lewis, 32, 2032 Clappe Street Northeast, and Ruth Ransford, 25, 1105 Irving Place Northeast. The Rev. G. W. Brent.

Willie Jackson, 31, 5207 B Street Southeast, and Elizabeth Catherine Banks, 29, 604 D Street Northwest. The Rev. G. R. Ferguson.

J. B. Coay, 26, 417 R Street Northwest, and Albreatha Fobbes, 24, 1718 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest. The Rev. J. L. Henry.

Henry George Ford, 31, 215 R Street Northwest, and Anna Lee Lane, 20, 223 R Street Northwest. The Rev. G. O. Bullock.

Fred Carson, jr., 21, 24 Logan Court Place Northwest, and Lucille S. Belle Walker, 21, 421 M Street Northwest. The Rev. E. K. Tyler.

James Henry Marshall, 46, 1111 New Hampshire Avenue Northwest, and Ada Randall Price, 47, Gainsville, Va. The Rev. E. C. Smith.

James Archie Gales, 20, 1126 Tenth Street Northwest, and Bessie Gaither, 16, 820 M Street Northwest. The Rev. C. H. Hamilton.

William Harrison Triplett, 36, Chevy Chase, Md., and Martha Louise Wilson, 25, 2120 Kalorama Road Northwest. The Rev. C. T. Warner.

Robert Churchill Webster, 31, 4808 Ellis Street Southeast, and Velma Lura Zimmerman, 19, 2300 Forty-ninth Avenue Southeast. The Rev. G. B. Faucett.

William English, 20, 1812 Fourteenth Street Northwest, and Lelia Anna Morse Tyler, 1841 Vernon Street Northwest. The Rev. K. W. Roy.

John Edwin Clements, 23, 1445 Ridge Place Southeast, and Eleanor Elizabeth Ahrendts, 20, 923 Eleventh Street Northeast. The Rev. P. D. Wilbur.

James Carroll Strohm, 20, 1304 Staples Street Northeast, and Helen M. McMahon, 18, Landover, Md. The Rev. P. J. Dougherty.

Burley James Ross, 23, Tampa, Fla., and Alma Taylor, 17, 38 L Street Northwest. The Rev. C. H. Hamilton.

Evans Alexander Black, 38, 1340 Vermont Avenue Northwest, and Grace Isabelle Chavies, 36, 718 Harvard Street Northwest. Judge Fay L. Bentley.

Bernard Hughes, 21, and Delores Marshall, 18, both of 802 Second Street Northwest. The Rev. C. T. Murray.

Frederick F. Burhaus, 26, Hagerstown, Md., and Leah Florence V. Herbert, 25, 1738 M Street Northwest. The Rev. E. E. Wolfe.

Charles Bernard Spring, jr., 24, Lovettsville, Va., and Katherine Jeannette Lease, 20, 1316 Underwood Street Northwest. The Rev. Bernard Broskamp.

George Hall, 20, 108 M Street Southwest, and Dorothy Clark, 16, 1211-A South Capitol Street. The Rev. B. H. Whiting.

Edward Fillmore Sullivan, 21, 147 Thirteenth Street Northeast, and Marjorie Helene Fields, 18, Bradbury Heights, Md. The Rev. Phillip Goertz.

James E. Moore, 39, 1481 Florida ave. ne., and Hattie Barksdale, 36, 1760 U st. nw. The Rev. C. F. Murray.

John Henry Combers, 25, 1132 13th st. nw., and Corinne L. Hartman, 25, 1125 12th st. nw. The Rev. J. W. Rustin.

Calvin C. Smith, 29, Salisbury, Md., and Elna Margaret Walker, 26, 3723 DuBois pl. se. The Rev. Bernard N. Schneider.

Wallace James Mattson, 20, 1318 Columbia rd. nw., and Mary Rita Du Busky, 20, 219 Kennedy st. nw. The Rev. L. A. McGlone.

Rickard Benswanger, jr., 22, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Betty Eiseman, 19, Chevy Chase, Md. The Rev. Norman Gerstenfeld.

Thomas John Ford, 21, and Evelyn Louise Garten, 21, both of Alexandria, Va. The Rev. B. N. Schneider.

David Crosby Adkins, 39, 5201 38th st. nw., and Mildred G. S. Browne, 36, 2420 16th st. nw. The Rev. Petef Marshall.

Victor Anthony Mier, 19, 2750 14th st. nw., and Carrie Elnora Simpson, 19, Alexandria, Va. The Rev. J. C. Ball.

Richard Emerson Bayne, 21, and Alice Abernith Steele, 20, both of Clarksburg, W. Va. The Rev. S. E. Rose.

George Clifton Dayton, 24, 2741 I st. nw., and Irene Catherine Guck, 21, 1630 Park rd. nw. The Rev. R. P. Rebetti.

Edwin B. Koonce, 23, Abilene, Tex., and Betty N. Faster, 22, 1607 D st. ne. The Rev. J. L. Black.

Richard Lambert Parkin, 23, Lake Geneva, Wis., and Patricia Gertrude Johnson, 19, 2426 20th st. nw. The Rev. Amano Eyler.

Rupert Samuel Cornett, 33, Tyner, Ky., and Helen Marie Munroe, 27, 735 Eighth st. se. Judge Fay L. Bentley.

Franklin Jefferson Albert Gaskins, 24, 913 I st. nw., and Mary May Carmel Neckert, 23, 3610 Veazey st. nw. The Rev. H. D. Collins.

James T. Martin, 28, 50 G st. nw., and Lucille Sylvia Nuneay, 25, Readville, N. C. The Rev. J. L. Heney.

Joseph Burke Hollon, 23, 214 Ascot pl. ne., and Christine Vernabelle Binswanger, 21, 210 Ascot pl. ne. Judge C. D. Neilson.

Valentine A. W. Klein, jr., 37 Todd pl. ne., and Eugie E. Mayer, 23, 50 U st. nw. The Rev. L. F. Miltenberger.

William Levitt, 23, Atlanta, Ga., and Ruth K. Trowbridge, 22, 1515 Sixteenth st. nw. The Rev. L. F. Gatti.

James Evans Montgomery, 23, 1828 A st. ne., and Jane Lois Malcher, 21, Silver Spring, Md. The Rev. James H. Miers.

James Alvin Landen, 24, 2730 Twenty-eighth st. nw, and Mildred E. Brincefield, 20, 2627 Evarts st. nw. The Rev. J. E. Briggs.

Walter C. Bethea, 42, Newbern, N. C., and Anna Russo, 32, 815 Eighth st. ne. Judge F. L. Bentley.

Marriage Licenses Issued at Rockville

David Miller, 22, Quantico, Va., and Nancy Nicoll, 21, Silver Spring, Md.

Carl Bremson, 30, and Annie Powers, 23, both of Takoma Park, Md.

Denvil G. Casto, 22, Washington, and Eleanor S. Rinker, 22, Arlington, Va.

John Alfred Parish, 21, Dayton, Ohio, and Rosemary Harris, 21, Bethesda, Md.

Richard Randolph Vetter, 23, Gaithersburg, Md., and Martha Lorraine Higgins, 22, Derwood, Md.

James Everett Shipley, 28, Knoxville, Tenn., and Virginia Lucille Redue, 24, Washington.

What's Going on And Where

Meetings

Biological Society of Washington, National Museum, 7:30 p. m.

"Experiences in Wartime Germany," Mary Anne Kullmer, OWI specialist, speaker, Washington Professional Chapter, Alpha Chi Sigma, George Washington University Student Club, 8:30 p. m.

Luncheons

Gridiron Club, Willard, 12 noon.

Workers Defense League, Phyllis Wheatley, Y. W. C. A., 901 Rhode Island Avenue Northwest, 1 p. m.

Dinner

Soroptimist Club, Willard, 6:30 p. m.

National Sojourners, Mayflower, 7 p. m.

Entertainment

Special lecture on Italian painting in the Widener collection, Mr. Walker, critic; National Gallery of Art, 2:30 p. m.

United States Army Band, Fort Myer band auditorium, 11:30 a. m.

United States Soldiers' Home Band, Stanley Hall, 5:30 p. m.

Organ recital, Washington Chapel, 8 p. m.

Columbia Lodge, dance, Willard, 8 p. m.

Bell's Buddies, Stage Door Canteen, 9 p. m.

George Washington Medical School dance, Wardman Park, 10 p. m.

Alpha Lambda Phi Sorority, dance, Wardman Park, 10 p. m.

The Weather

Weather Conditions

Forecasts:
For the district of Columbia—Moderate temperatures.
For Maryland—Moderate temperatures.
For Virginia—Moderate temperatures.
Temperatures—Highest, 35; lowest, 21.

Departures From Normal
Accumulated excess of temperature since January 1, 1943, 4 degrees.
Excess of temperature same January 1 1943, 4 degrees.
Deficiency of precipitation since January 1, 1943, .93 inch.
Temperatures same date last year—Highest, 16; lowest, 7.

	Last 24 hours High	Low
Washington	35	21
Albuquerque	45	23
Atlanta	43	37
Bismarck	37	13
Brownsville	74	48
Cheyenne	41	13
Chicago	25	16
Columbus	26	16
Des Moines	27	11
Detroit	23	16
Fort Worth	61	31
Kansas City	32	11
Louisville	26	16
Memphis	54	31
Miami	80	70
Minneapolis-St. Paul	28	6
New Orleans	66	42
New York	31	21
Pittsburgh	26	16
St. Louis	32	16

"BUBBLE" JEWELRY... IRIDESCENT AND CHIC

Taking Uncle Sam's advice? Keeping last year's dress on duty this year? Then give it a new lift and sparkle with this delicately tinted "bubble" jewelry! Here's a pulse-quickening pick-me-up for every costume!

Necklaces... 1 and 2-strand choker styles, 2.00, 3.50 and 4.50

Earrings... smart 3-button style..... 1.00

Spiral Bracelets.. lightweight and lustrous, 2.00

Plus 10% tax

Jewelry, Main Floor, F St. Building, The Hecht Co.

THE HECHT CO.

OUR OWN EXCLUSIVE

Margy RAYON HOSE 79c

Sheer and Semi-Sheer Weights

Our famous Margy hose is widening its circle as fast as a pebble that's pitched in a pond! Remember these are the new rayons! They're glamorous! They're sheer! They're dull-finished to make your legs look slimmer than ever! The 75-denier sheers are rayon from top to toe. The 100-denier semi-sheers have lisle tops. Both come in rich suntan and neutral shades. Sizes 8½ to 10½.

Hosiery, Main Floor, F St. Building, The Hecht Co.

NEW! PATROL COAT... ALL WEATHER FASHION

6.95

The coat that knows no season and copes with every kind of weather. Smart as a whip in rain or sleet or snow. Just as good-looking when skies are smiling. The secret? It's designed and made as beautifully as a dressy coat... with soft dressmaker details... pleated back... huge slit pockets. In natural water-repellent cotton gabardine. Sizes 12 to 20.

Rainwear Dept., Main Floor, F St. Building, The Hecht Co.

The Hecht Co. January Toiletry Event

DOROTHY GRAY BLUSTERY WEATHER LOTION

A greaseless, soothing lotion... use it often... and use it generously... to prevent and relieve chapped skin... also as a foundation for your face make-up.

A large 12-ounce bottle..... $1

Toiletries, Main Floor

DOROTHY GRAY DRY SKIN MIXTURE

A smoothing, soothing cream that's practically indispensable for women with dry skin... and those who have to use hard water. Special value!

Generous 2-ounce jar..... $1

Toiletries, Main Floor

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER NIGHT CREAM

A rich, creamy-textured lubricating cream that softens and smooths your skin as you sleep. Especially helpful now, during blustery weather.

A large 2¾-ounce jar..... $1

Toiletries, Main Floor

HYGIENE NEEDS

Kotex—box of 54, 89c—2 boxes	1.75
Modess—box of 56, 89c—2 boxes	1.75
Kleenex—package of 440, 25c—4 for	98c
Hecht Co. Facial Tissue (1000)	47c
Ardsley Toilet Tissue (white)	1.50 doz.
Hickory Dress Shields	3 for 1.15
Hickory Sanitary Belts	35c and 50c
Kleinert Sanitary Belts	29c
Kleinert Bra-Forms	1.25 and 1.50
Kleinert Sanitary Aprons	$1
Kleinert Garter Belts	75c, $1, 1.25

HAIR PREPARATIONS

Ogilvie Sisters' Castile Shampoo	1.25
Ogilvie Sisters' Special Hair Preparation	2.00
Fitch Shampoo	98c
Vitalis	59c
Vaseline Tonic	63c
Kreml Shampoo	59c
Jordeau's Waterless Shampoo	1.10

Toiletries, Main Floor

DEODORANTS AND MOUTH WASH

Arrid	59c
Fresh No. 2	43c
Neet Cream	29c
Etiquette Cream	39c
Sno-Mist	59c
Yodora	25c
Zonite	70c
Odorono	59c
Listerine	59c
Pepsodent	59c

SOAPS AND FLAKES

Lifebuoy	75c doz.
Lux	75c doz.
Sweetheart	84c doz.
Woodbury's	84c doz.
Sayman's	90c doz.
Swan, medium	68c doz.
Rinso	22c box
Lux Flakes	22c box

MISCELLANEOUS

Mavis Talcum	59c
Johnson & Johnson Talcum	39c
Palmolive Shave Cream	39c
Barbasol	jar 59c
Dr. West Tooth Brushes	47c
Tek Tooth Brushes	29c
Nylon Bristle Hair Brushes	$1

Toiletries, Main Floor

Tussy Wind and Weather Lotion. An all-purpose lotion for face, body and hands. Excellent powder base, too.

8-ounce Bottle..... 50c

16-ounce Bottle..... 1.00

Frances Denney Oil Blend and Throat and Neck Blend. The Oil Blend smooths and softens dry skin and the Throat and Neck Blend works miracles on your throat-line.

3½-ounce Jar of Either One..... 2.75

Some Toiletries Subject to 10% Tax.

CREAMS AND LOTIONS

Ponds' Cream	87c
Pacquin's Hand Cream	79c
Hind's Hand Cream	39c
Hopper's Homogenized Cream	79c
Woodbury's Cold Cream with Lotion	69c
Ensemble Cream	$1
Noxzema	49c
Albolene	89c
Jergen's Cream	79c
Jergen's Lotion	72c

SALE OF ASSORTED FRAGRANT SOAPS

And what an assortment! Olive and palm soaps, baby castile, medicated soaps, pine tar soaps, cold cream soaps and others. Packed 6 doz. to a carton.

1 Dozen Cakes..... 59c

6 Dozen Cakes..... 3.39

Toiletries, Main Floor

TOOTH PASTE—POWDERS

Pepsodent	39c
Kolynos	29c
Iodent No. 2	34c
Pebecco	39c
Phillips	29c
Dr. Lyons' Powder	69c
Squibb's Tooth Paste	49c
Vray	39c
Bost Tooth Paste	2 for 40c

Toiletries, Main Floor

The Store of Nationally Famous Merchandise... The Hecht Co.

F STREET, 7th STREET, E STREET — NATIONAL 5100